QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Charles A. Davis.

CHARLES A. DAVIS was born October 7, 1802, and died at the Naval Hospital in Portsmouth, Va., February 20, 1867. He possessed a strong mind and vigorous intellect. He was tender in feeling, affable in manner, and impressive in style. He was a strong friend, a great lover of the Church and her ordinances, and in tone and temper a Christian gentleman.

In 1824 he was admitted on trial in the Baltimore Conference. During his itinerant life he filled many important appointments. He served our Church in Philadelphia, Washington City, New York, Montgomery Circuit, Md., Alexandria, D. C., Annapolis, Md., and twice in Winchester, Va. In May, 1832, he was one of the secretaries of the General Conference at its session in Philadelphia. For several years he was clerk in one of the departments of the general government in Washington, where he was received into the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and filled an appointment in Richmond, and also in Portsmouth, Va. While in Portsmouth he received the appointment of chaplain in the Navy, nearly ten years before his decease. In this position he served his country with great acceptability and signal usefulness. Perhaps no officer in his position was more universally loved by both officers and men. Returning from a long voyage, while our country was convulsed with the war of the rebellion, without an apparent struggle, he decided for the old flag, and his duties immediately called him to posts of danger and toil. He did not shrink in the hour of peril, but held on his way till the close of the war, when, in comparative old age, he was transferred to the Naval Hospital at Portsmouth, Va., where he faithfully performed his duties until released by death. The organization of the Virginia and North Carolina Conference on the 3d of January, 1867, opened the way for his reunion with the traveling ministry of the Church of his youth; into this Conference the hoary-headed Christian minister, already ripe for glory and very near his home in heaven, was received with open arms.

During his sickness he suffered greatly, but with patience and resignation, often with overflowing joy. He was evidently ripe for heaven, and waited with Christian anxiety for his dismissal from the body that he might be present with Christ. On the evening of his departure he expressed a wish to Mrs. Davis that he might be permitted to finish his course that night. About two hours from that time he expired, leaving upon his face the glow of rapture which had so permeated his being for weeks before the final moment. He was buried with masonic and military honors on the 22d of February, attended to the grave by a large concourse of people, composed of civilians, soldiers, and sailors. The funeral sermon was delivered by the Rev. T. H. Haynes.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. J. Cole.

Rev. W. J. COLE died of consumption at the house of Captain Henry Gibbs, Plymouth, July 13, 1867, aged twenty-four years. He reluctantly left his work in the South, by the advice of physicians, about the middle of May, to seek health and vigor in a Northern seaport town.

He commenced preaching at the age of eighteen, under the direction of the Canadian Wesleyan Conference. His first appointment was as junior preacher on the circuit which embraced his own home. He urged his way from one preaching place to another, through Canada forests, breasting its winds and snows with great zeal and energy, often leaving heated, crowded churches at night to ride many miles to be in time for his next public service. Results which proved fatal followed. A heavy cold, which settled on his chest, forced him to leave his chosen work. Without bidding them adieu who were at home, for fear of being dissuaded from his purpose, he left Canada to seek in a more congenial climate health and work at the same time. He arrived in Charleston in November, 1865, and was cordially welcomed by the missionary of the Methodist Episcopal Church in this city. After a few days' rest and refreshment he went as a pioneer to found a large Methodist Church in Camden. The colored people hailed him with joy as a messenger God-sent. A circuit was immediately organized, and he lived to see ten preaching places established and an ample church erected and nearly paid for, and over six hundred members gathered into the fold. But he fell a martyr to his zeal, with his sickle in his hand. Many a minister has preached his half century sermon with less accomplished for God and humanity than did our dear Brother Cole in his brief but earnest ministry. He possessed uncommon mental power. His intellect was clear and discriminating, and of a metaphysical cast. His energy and perseverance knew no obstacle. His personal presence was prepossessing, urbane, and dignified. He had a remarkable winsomeness of manner, which engendered in the hearts of those with whom he met in social intercourse great personal affection. "The memory of the just is blessed."

REV. JOHN A. H. MOORE was born of Christian parents in Pocahontas County, Virginia, was converted to God at a camp-meeting held on Greenbank Circuit in 1856, and connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1858, under the presiding elder, he traveled on Monroe Circuit, and in the spring of 1859, at Lewisburgh, Virginia, was received on probation in the Baltimore Annual Conference, and returned to the same field of labor. In 1860 he was appointed to Frankford Circuit, and in 1861 to White Sulphur, both in Virginia, since which time he attended no session of this body, nor received any appointment in our work. On the ninth day of March, 1867, he was recognized as a member of this conference, and assigned a superannuated relation; but, strange coincidence, on the very day that this conference recognized his relation, in great peace, at his home in West Virginia, he passed away from earth, fell asleep in Jesus, and was, we trust, received into the Church triumphant in heaven. May we meet him there!

QUEST. 13. What is the Number of Church Members, etc.?

* Obituary not received.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

C. E. Carpenter.

CYRUS EVANS CARPENTER was born in Carroll County, Indiana, April 2, 1838, and with his father's family came to Iowa in June, 1850. He was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church near Batavia, Iowa, January, 1852, and was made a class leader at the age of 19. He was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference at Fairfield Station, April 19, 1858. The winter following he went to Missouri, and was admitted on probation in the Annual Conference at the spring session at St. Joseph. His first appointment was to Coal Camp Circuit; second, to Spring Fork. At the next conference he was ordained deacon, and appointed to Prairie City Circuit in the spring of 1861. Shortly after conference, March 21, he was united in marriage with Miss Elizabeth Jane Hughes, of Henry County, Missouri. His field was a frontier work in Western Missouri, and the war having begun he was driven from it and fled to Kansas, where, with his family, he remained till August, thence came to Fairfield, Iowa, and spent the fall and winter following. He returned to Missouri in the early spring of 1862, and at the session of the conference of that year was appointed to Macon City, and was returned to the same in 1863. During the latter session he was ordained elder, by Bishop Ames, at Hannibal. In 1864 he was appointed to Sedalia Circuit, and reappointed in 1865. In the spring of 1866 he was appointed to Clinton Circuit, where his health permanently failed, and on October 16 he preached his last sermon. At the session of the conference in March, 1867, he received the relation of superannuate. Hoping that his health might be improved, he came from his home in Missouri to Iowa, to see his mother and other friends, and left them to go to his home in heaven. He, accompanied by his devoted wife, arrived at Fairfield, Saturday, April 20, and with her and a fond mother and sister and brothers by his dying bed, to wipe the death-damp from his brow, he fell asleep in Jesus's arms Tuesday evening, May 21, 1867, about 8 o'clock. The night previous to his death, on his being informed that his friends thought him approaching closely to the shore, he manifested no alarm, but exultation, and during the night gave the writer his views of the doctrine of the atonement, remarking, "I wish I had language to tell it, it is beyond expression; it is broad, but it is spread all over with glory!" During his rejoicing he repeated,

> "Bright angels are from glory come,
> They're round my bed, they're in my room,
> They wait to waft my spirit home."

"My companion is all that is difficult to give up. The Lord gave me a good companion, we have lived in peace." "As I wait for the morning, so I wait for the appearing of my Lord."

He was a worthy man, having the confidence and esteem of all classes. Brother Carpenter was a man of more than ordinary mind, yet so modest as to hold his powers in the background. A good theologian, a good preacher, a good singer, kind and amiable in his deportment, he was always successful as a pastor. Revivals followed his labors, and societies grew in all the elements of strength. May his mantle fall on his brethren in the Missouri and Arkansas Conference!

* Obituary not received.

1. Rev. JOHN P. SWANGER was born in Mifflin Co., Pa., Feb. 15, 1836, and died in the city of Baltimore, June 29, 1867. During a revival of religion that occurred in the Kishicoquillas Valley, in the year 1854, he became the subject of converting grace, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, being then in his eighteenth year. In 1859 he was received on trial in the East Baltimore Conference, and from the date of his entrance upon the great work of saving souls he consecrated all his ransomed powers to the service of his Master in the ministry of reconciliation. His appointments were successively as follows: 1859, Orangeville; 1860, Sunbury; 1861–2, Hanover; 1863, Great Island; 1864, Lycoming; 1865–6, Bellefonte; 1867, Greenmont Avenue, Baltimore. Much depended upon the adaptation of the man to the work when he was appointed to the last-named place. To the great joy of the little Church, however, they soon recognized in Brother Swanger a pastor who would meet their wants and make their enterprise a success. They clustered around him fondly, and rarely has a minister more rapidly gained upon the affections and confidence of a people than he did during the short time that he was with them. His illness was of short duration. No one apprehended his death till a few hours before it occurred. When apprised by his physician of his dangerous state he manifested no alarm, but calmly said, "If it is God's will that I shall go now I am ready. I have made my preparation before, and it is only a question of time whether I go now or in the future." Thus firmly resting upon the Rock of Ages, he saw the tide of death rising around him till the moment of his departure was at hand; when, bidding adieu to the weeping friends that stood around his bed, he gently floated upon that tide into the haven of eternal rest. On the Sabbath following his remains were taken to his church, and in the midst of the stricken flock and a large number of sympathizing friends the funeral services were held. Appropriate remarks were made by Rev. Joseph France, P. E., Brother J. S. Brown, and Brother Barnes, after which the body was conveyed to the Northern Central Depot. Then it was taken to Bellefonte, in Pennsylvania, where, amid the sorrow and regret of his former parishioners at that place, it was finally interred. Brother Swanger was a man of dignified and gentlemanly manners, clear and vigorous in his intellect, attentive and influential as a pastor, and earnest and lively in his Christian experience. In him the Church has lost one of its most prominent, prudent, and effective ministers, his brethren a faithful colaborer in the vineyard of the Lord, and his family a devoted and affectionate member.

2. Rev. JOHN GUYER was born in Huntingdon County, Penn., Feb. 13, 1808; and when about twenty-two years of age was born again at a camp-meeting in Clearfield County, Penn.

In the year 1834 he was received into the Baltimore Annual Conference on trial, and appointed second preacher to Sunbury Circuit, Penn. His appointments subsequently ran as follows: 1835, Northumberland, Pa.; 1836, Bath, Va.; 1837, Severn, Md.; 1838, West River, Md.; 1839–40, Lewisburg, Va.; 1841, Augusta, Va.; 1842–3, Columbia-street, Baltimore; 1844, Frederick City, Md.; 1845, Shepherdstown, Va.; 1846, Danville, Pa.; 1847–8, Williamsport; 1849, Jersey Shore; 1850–1, Lewisburgh; 1852–3, Patapsco Station, Md.; 1854–5, Chambersburgh, Pa.; 1856–7, Bellefonte Station; 1858–9, Bloomsburg; 1860–1, High-street, Baltimore; 1862–3, Lewistown Station; 1864–7, Northumberland District. From the commencement of his ministry Brother Guyer commanded the entire confidence of the appointing power. Giving ten years to the itinerancy as a single man, he was intrusted with the most important of our rising charges, and in no instance failed to answer the purpose of his appointment. His subsequent was in beautiful harmony with his earlier ministry; he was a man of earnest piety, sound judgment, and superior pulpit and administrative qualities.

His pulpit style was solid rather than brilliant; the cast of his mind more analytical than ornate. His sermons were admirable expositions of the text, abounding with instruction, judiciously expressed, and earnestly delivered. They who were favored with his ministry always retired from the place of worship feeling that they had learned something to their profit. His social qualities were of a character to command to himself, first, respect, which soon ripened into esteem; an esteem to grow by the intimacy and years of one's acquaintance with him.

His religious experience, naturally corresponding to the philosophical cast of his mind, seldom arose to rapture, and was for the larger part of his membership and ministry in the Church beclouded at times by suggestions of doubt—of doubt, not as to the genuineness of God's work in him, but rather from those severe apprehensions of duty by which he was always prone to test himself. However, at a camp-meeting held for Berwick and Espy charges, in the summer of 1866, having long and prayerfully reflected on the subject, he was enabled to so consecrate himself to God in the exercise of a sanctifying faith that he was baptized with that perfect love which casteth out all fear; and he went forth confessing and proclaiming, from his enlarged experience, even to the day of his death, that the blood of Christ cleanseth from all sin.

His decease took the most of his friends by surprise. Early in the month of September last he officiated at the funeral of his old friend and colaborer, the Rev. John Anderson. How little could he, how little could any who heard him, have imagined that when the preachers of his district should be next convened it would be around his coffin! But so it transpired.

Feeling as the autumn advanced the pressure of an unaccountable and growing feebleness, he concluded to visit his brother, the Rev. George Guyer, at Tyrone, Pa., hoping by rest and suitable recreation to recover his usual health. In this he was disappointed. Growing ill, he summoned medical aid, and learned that dropsy of the bowels had set in, and in a form so virulent as to give but little hope of his recovery. A surgical operation brought only temporary relief. His pain at times was very great; but he bore it without complaint. Early in his affliction he remarked that he did not recognize this sickness as unto death, but rather as a chastisement from the Lord, because he had contemplated changing his relation to the conference at its coming session. "If," he added, "my affliction be, as I suppose, a chastisement, I shall get well, otherwise I shall not recover; in either case it will be all right." On one occasion he said, "It is sweet to die;" and on another, "It was a remark of old Mr. Adams, that 'living or dying makes but little difference to the Christian; if we live, we have Christ with us; if we die we are with Christ.' But, added he, I think it makes a good deal of difference. If we live we have Christ with us truly, but we suffer. If we die, we are with Christ, and our sufferings are at an end." When conscious that death was rapidly approaching he requested his brother George to lead in prayer, in which he joined with hearty responses.

A few moments before his departure, which occurred at 7 o'clock on the morning of Dec. 13, 1867, he requested his two sisters to sing the hymn,

"Rock of ages, cleft for me,"

and as they finished the last couplet,

"Rock of ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in thee,"

he responded distinctly, Amen! and immediately expired.

Thus died our brother as any one who knew him well would have expected John Guyer to die, like a Christian philosopher.

Farewell, hero of the cross! At our conference sessions we will miss thee; thy place is vacant in the pulpit and social circle, but not in heaven. Sleep on, and take thy rest; for "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

3. Rev. John Anderson was born in Frederick County, Md., December 24, 1803, but removed early in life to Center County, Pa. He lived some years without knowing experimentally the power of renewing grace, a fact that was the deep regret of his after life. At a camp-meeting in Mifflin Co., Pa., on the 8th of October, 1829, he, in the strength of his early manhood, was induced "to give his wanderings o'er by giving God his heart." From the time of his conversion Brother Anderson bent his energies zealously to the work of advancing the Redeemer's kingdom. Regarding himself as a monument of grace, he seemed anxious to repair any injuries which might have been occasioned by his previous irreligion. In the year 1834 he was received into the Baltimore Annual Conference on trial, and appointed junior preacher to Covington Circuit, Va. Subsequently he traveled successively Sunbury, Phillipsburg, Clearfield, and Stafford Circuits. In 1839 he was transferred to the Missouri Conference, and was appointed successively to the following charges, namely: Potosi, Warrenton, Lexington, and Arrow Rock. Upon the adhesion of the Missouri Conference to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, he, declining to accompany it into its new relations, labored, under the direction of our bishops, in the State of Illinois until the conference was reorganized under the auspices of the old Church. He was retransferred to the Baltimore Conference in the spring of 1854, and, upon the division of the conference in 1857, became identified with the East Baltimore Conference, and so remained to the time of his death.

As a preacher Brother Anderson was clear, earnest, and successful; seldom failing to reap the fruits of his labors in extensive revivals of religion. But few men better understood the workings of the popular mind, or were more successful in commanding its sympathies. He was eminently a man of the people, cheerful in his disposition, and familiarly friendly in his manner, having a kind word for almost every one he met. Hence, he seldom if ever failed to be a favorite with the masses. Yet his genial nature was accompanied by an unflinching deference to principle, which he never surrendered to friendships or circumstances. If the occasional almost uniform playfulness of his disposition and aptness at humorous repartee misled at any time the casual observer to imagine that his general social intercourse was not religiously edifying, an intimate knowledge of the man would readily dissipate the ungenerous suspicion. He was so accessible that the distressed and doubting readily sought him as a friend and safe adviser. Indeed, it was under such circumstances that the accuracy and depth of his personal piety became most appreciable. Said a gentleman of high social and intellectual position and great moral worth, "When I am religiously depressed and in doubt, there is no one who does me more good, and with whom I would rather converse, than Brother Anderson; there is so much in his religious experience suitable to my own case that he is invariably edifying to me."

Toward the latter part of August last he attended a camp-meeting for Manor Hill Circuit, Pa., and from thence went over into Center County, the scene of some of his most interesting religious reminiscences. Returning to Sunbury, his place of residence, on Saturday, he started out on Sabbath morning to fill his appointments, three in number. The day was oppressively warm, and the labor evidently too great for his strength. As he was returning from evening service afoot, in company with the brother at whose house he expected to sojourn for the night, he suddenly fell in the road. In answer to the query of the brother as to the cause of his trouble, he complained of a misery in his head and heart, adding that he feared that he was about to be afflicted as he had been some five years before. He spoke not again; but upon being conveyed to his lodgings, in answer to a question from his physician as to the locality of his suffering, he placed his hand first upon his head and then over the region of the heart. Shortly afterward he became unconscious, and so remained until his decease, which occurred on Tuesday evening, September 10, 1867.

Farewell, veteran brother! We shall miss thy cheerful sallies at our conference sessions and in our social and clerical intercourse; but nobly and laboriously doing thy part in the vineyard of the Lord, thou hast ceased at once to work and live.

4. Rev. Israel B. Cook was born in 1789, and died March 7, 1868, in the 79th year of his age.

We find his name in our Minutes for the first time in 1813, in connection with Lycoming Circuit, then a very extensive field of labor, and thereafter successively at Northumberland, Bridgewater, Lycoming, Juniata, Canaan, Shamokin, Northumberland, up to 1822, when he became superannuated. He subsequently located, but was at length readmitted, though not placed upon the effective list.

Encumbered with bodily infirmities, and struggling with difficulties, his years passed on, until, exhausted and helpless, he required the most careful and devoted attention of his family. He could converse but little, but he was distinct and satisfactory when interrogated respecting his Christian experience, and his hopes and prospects of a glorious immortality.

On the day before his departure he said to his daughter, "Angels are waiting for me;" and there lingers no doubt with those who knew him best that his redeemed spirit was conducted to the "house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

5. Rev. Amos Smith was born in Frederick Co., Virginia, April 30, 1795. He embraced religion and united himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church at the age of sixteen. He was converted at a camp-meeting held near Winchester, Virginia, during the month of August, 1811.

During the war of 1812 he served as a soldier in one of the Virginia volunteer companies. He was present at and took part in the defense of Baltimore city during the memorable bombardment of Fort M'Henry.

With a view to preparing himself for the duties of the ministry he entered Asbury College, in Baltimore city, the only Methodist institution of learning then in operation in the United States. He remained here until he had made considerable advancement in the languages and mathematics. In the spring of 1820 he was admitted on trial to the Baltimore Conference, and appointed to Greenbrier Circuit, in Virginia. Here he commenced a long life of usefulness. The territory then embraced by this circuit was very large, comprising all of Greenbrier and part of Monroe County. He at once saw convincing proof that he had been truly called of God. Everywhere the Holy Spirit accompanied his teachings, and the saving power of the Gospel was demonstrated. He remained in this charge the second year. During this time a change was made in the lines of the Baltimore and Kentucky Conferences, by which he became a member of the latter. On the 29th of September, 1822, at a session of conference held in Lexington, Kentucky, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Enoch George. He was then appointed to Monroe Circuit in Virginia. He was returned to this circuit the second year, and during that time the people of the charge expressed a desire to be returned to the Baltimore Conference, and requested him to take the matter in hand, and, if possible, effect such a change. Through his instrumentality the desired change was effected, and he, with the charge, came back to the Baltimore Conference.

On the 10th of April, 1825, at a session of the Baltimore Conference, held in Baltimore city, he was ordained elder by Bishop Joshua Soule. He was then appointed to Huntingdon Circuit, in Pennsylvania. On the 30th of January, 1826, he was married to Eliza M'Cain Ramsey, of Bedford county, Pennsylvania. In 1826 he was appointed to Lycoming, and in 1827 to Bellefonte Circuit, in Pennsylvania. Both of these circuits were very large. The latter then embraced a territory which now employs about thirty preachers, and the former was still larger. He afterward had charge successively of Lewistown, Trough Creek, and Huntingdon Circuits in Pennsylvania. In 1835 he was appointed to Harford Circuit in Maryland. He remained here but eighteen months. During the fall of 1836, desiring to make better provision for his family, he resolved to locate and move to the West. With the consent of his presiding elder he went with his family to Lancaster, Ohio, where his brother resided. This he has often remarked was the struggle of his life. He was offered a good position as teacher of an academy in Lancaster, and his prospect of success in worldly affairs seemed flattering. But he could not overcome the deep sense of his duty as a minister of Christ. One day, on returning to his family from the company of some gentlemen with whom he had been consulting with regard to his business affairs, he seemed depressed in mind, and when asked by his wife what could be the cause of it, he replied, "It is useless for me to make the effort. I cannot locate. Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel of Christ." He at once resolved to abandon every project that might interfere with his duties as a minister, and to devote the remainder of his days to the cause and glory of God. He has often said that he then experienced the cheering peace of religion in a richer fullness than he had ever known it before. He immediately returned to the Baltimore Conference, and in the spring of 1837 was appointed to Gettysburgh Circuit, in Pennsylvania. He entered upon his duties with new and, if possible, greater zeal than ever. In 1839 he was appointed presiding elder of the Chambersburgh District. During the winter of 1841–2 his health gave way, and he was compelled to resign the office of presiding elder. In the spring of 1842, having improved in health, he took charge of West River Circuit in Maryland. He afterward had charge of Fayette-street Station in Baltimore city, and Calvert and Bladensburg Circuits in Maryland. In 1848, at the request of the people, he was returned to West River. In all of these charges his labors were attended with the richest success. During his terms on Calvert and West River, some of the most remarkable and glorious revivals ever known in the history of Methodism on those circuits occurred. In 1850 he was appointed to Hereford Circuit in Maryland. Some time previous to this he had purchased a farm in Bedford, now Fulton County, Pennsylvania. In 1851 he was appointed to Shirleysburg Circuit in Pennsylvania, and moved his family to the farm. He afterward had charge of Hancock Circuit in Maryland, and Concord Circuit in Pennsylvania. In 1857, when the conference was divided, residing in that part of the territory, he became a member of the East Baltimore Conference. He was then returned to Shirleysburgh Circuit, and afterward had charge of Newport and Coalmont Circuits in Pennsylvania. In 1863, beginning to feel the weight of years, he applied for and obtained a superannuated relation. This closed his active relation to the conference. He did not, however, cease to labor. His usefulness did not end here. He continued to preach from Sabbath to Sabbath, generally two or three times a day. Up to the winter of 1866 he was as active in the superannuated relation as he would have been in the effective work. About the first of January, 1867, he was taken with a violent attack of inflammatory rheumatism. With this he was confined to his room, and most of the time to his bed, until about the last of February. His sufferings were great, but through all he never murmured. His language was, "The will of the Lord be done." It was hoped he would be restored to entire health, but the disease had settled about the organs of the heart, producing what is termed pericarditis. He was again confined to his bed. Here he lay for about six weeks fluctuating between life and death. His sufferings were intense; but the peace of God which passeth understanding kept his heart and mind through Christ Jesus. Daily and hourly he held sweet communion with his Maker. His constant theme was the infinite beauty and perfection of the atonement. At times he would have violent attacks, accompanied with great difficulty in breathing. One night, in a conversation with his son, after stating what disposition he desired should be made of his worldly affairs, he said: "I do not think it is the purpose of the Lord to call me at this time. But I may go in one of these attacks, and the will of the Lord be done! If I go in this way, I wish you all to know and remember that I go with the full assurance that I shall receive the crown of life which the Lord, the righteous Judge, hath prepared for me. I have long studied the plan of salvation. For fifty-six years it has been opening up and brightening to my mind, and I see it now infinitely lovely and perfect. In it I see God as a father of unbounded love, and Christ as an all-meritorious sacrifice, redeeming a lost world. The Holy Spirit, sent by Christ from the Father, witnesseth with my spirit that I am the object of this great love, redeemed by this great sacrifice; that God is my father, and will be my portion forever. My works cannot save me. I have labored for nearly forty-seven years in the ministry. I have tried to do my duty. I have wronged no man. My object in life has been the glory of God. Under my ministry I have seen many converted to God. But all this can profit me nothing. I trust in the rich atonement of Christ." During this conversation he seemed to be receiving new grace and peace in believing. His countenance lighted up with a holy smile, and his son saw that God was truly with him. As he had supposed, it was not the purpose of God to call him at this time. Unexpectedly to all save himself, he improved so to be able to leave his room about the last of April. He then removed to M'Connellsburgh in Pennsylvania. Here he resided in peace and quiet some eight months—until the death-angel summoned him home. During this time his communion with God was intimate and uninterrupted.

In the following December his disease assumed a worse form. The violent attacks from which he had suffered so much during the previous spring returned. Calmly he waited and watched for the closing hour. Nearer and nearer he approached to his God. All his temporal affairs were settled. Life's work was finished. Heaven had set its seal to his spotless record.

One evening, just a short time previous to his death, while conversing with a friend, the doctrine of the immortality of the soul was brought up. He expressed the most unbounded confidence in its truth. He seemed to have a foresight of the glorious destiny of the Christian, and was enraptured at the thought that he should soon enter upon and realize eternity in its grandeur and duration. He said: "If I were well again I would like to preach from that passage: 'Who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel.'" On Sabbath night, just a week previous to his death, he called his wife to his side, and, addressing her, said: "I feel a change. I shall go home soon. I am going down into the valley, but I find it all light as I never expected to see it. I am not alone. God and kindred spirits are with me." On Friday evening previous to his death he said of his children, "They will come. They will all come to the glory land." He then prayed devoutly for them and his wife, mentioning each by name. On Sabbath evening, the evening before his departure, he said, "I think I shall go home to-night." A holy calm had settled over his mind and heart. About 10 o'clock at night it was seen by the members of his family that he was sinking. He again committed himself to God, and exhorted his children to meet him in heaven. The long-looked-for hour had come. The death angel had served his summons. No doubt of triumph came to darken his hope. Mighty in grace and faith, his heart quailed not. At 3 o'clock on the morning of the 20th of January, 1868, at the age of seventy-two years, and in the forty-eighth year of his ministry, while sitting in his chair, he calmly fell asleep. He was a man of fine intellectual parts. He possessed a strong, vigorous, and well-balanced mind. He was an independent thinker, and a clear and forcible reasoner. He was a man of extreme modesty. This trait of his character amounted, if possible, to a defect. It influenced him greatly in his ministerial relations, and prevented his taking any active part in the deliberations of his conference. Kind, noble, and generous in his disposition, in his social relations he elicited the highest esteem and kindest regard of all who knew him. He often made, but never lost, a friend. As a husband and father he was a model. No one could be more devoted. Next to the interests of the Church he sought the welfare of his family. He was a great reader and close student of the Bible. It was truly the man of his counsel, the star of his hope, the friend of his heart. He was truly a man of prayer. It was his custom, regularly observed, to pray in secret five times a day. As a minister, he acted from the purest motives, and was unreservedly devoted to the cause of his Master. As a theologian, he was well versed in all the doctrines of the Bible, especially as advocated by the Church of his choice. During the early part of his ministry he read the New Testament in the original Greek repeatedly. In his preaching he was remarkable for his perspicuity of style. Possessing a mind of logical cast, all his points were thoroughly and convincingly demonstrated. His sermons were always deeply spiritual, and full of religion and love. He was a model pastor and a great revivalist. In this last respect he had but few if any superiors in the conference. Impressive in style, and endued with power from on high, the hearts of sinners quailed and bowed before his efforts. Throughout his life he never had a charge in which he did not see the work of the Lord prosper under his care. Everywhere Zion rose in beauty and triumph from the dust, and chanted the anthems of jubilee while he watched and wept upon her walls. It is not too much to say that he was instrumental in the conversion of thousands. Many of these still live to honor Methodism, and many have gone up to reap their reward, and no doubt stand as his witnesses before the throne to-day. But few men of his day have done more for Methodism than he did. When he entered the Church she was in her infancy. He assisted in laying her foundations deep and wide. While he entertained the kindest regard for and desired to cultivate peaceable relations with, all other branches of the Church, the Methodist Church was the idol of his heart, and her glory the object of all his efforts. There are many Churches scattered throughout the various charges in which he labored which stand as monuments of his devotion to her interests.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. Quinn, J. M. Purner, G. T. Barr—3.

1. Rev. WILLIAM QUINN was born June 20, 1790, and died at his residence, near Newtown, Md., December 13, 1867, in the seventy-eighth year of his age. His conversion occurred about his sixteenth year. Three or four years afterward he commenced to preach the unsearchable riches of the Gospel, and was, in 1817, admitted on trial into the Philadelphia Conference. From this time, with all the ardor of his nature, he went forth upon his high mission, laboring in whatever field was assigned him. Frequently during this period the Lord was pleased in a marvelous manner to own and bless his ministry with the ingathering of hundreds of immortal souls. There are doubtless many of these, having passed on before him, who, on the bleak December day he left us, welcomed him with joy into the presence of his Lord, and now call him blessed. His various fields of labor as indicated in the Minutes were: Talbot Circuit, 1817; Caroline, 1818; Dauphin, 1819; Lewistown, 1820; Dorchester, 1821–2; Accomac, 1823–4; and Annamessex, 1825. He then took a supernumerary relation until 1838, when, entering again the active work, he served the Church on Salisbury Circuit 1839–40; Kent, 1841–2; Milford, 1843–4; and Berlin, 1845. Declining health then admonished him to take a more quiet relation. Though sundering the ties which knit him to the itinerancy, his subsequent life at Newtown was no exception to the zeal for God which had characterized his earlier days. With the burden of years coming upon him, he continued to labor for his Saviour. In every good word and work he was foremost. His genial face and venerable form could be seen in almost every assembly where God was to be honored or the community blessed; and though he had been for nearly sixty years laboring for his God, yet the last Sabbath of his life found him amid the devotions of the sanctuary, and those who heard his voice in prayer that day will not soon forget the holy trust he manifested, or the anxiety he expressed for the welfare of Zion. It pleased God to spare his servant the weariness of a protracted sickness; only a few days had passed in pain, when at once he closed his labors and his life. The few weeks previous to his decease seemed to be marked by vague foreshadowings of the coming event. It was noticed that his prayers at the family altar had deepened in strength and increased in spirituality, as if there had come to his soul an earnest of the worship of the upper world. As death drew near his testimony was clear as to his acceptance with God. To the Rev. Dr. Murray, who visited him, he said: "The God who blessed my youth will not, I know, forsake me in my old age." Once, during a painful operation which was being performed upon him, he checked himself when he would have groaned, and said, "No. I can endure far more than this, if it be necessary, to glorify Jesus Christ." These words tell the story of his victory over the ills of this mortal state. The traits of his character were strongly marked. As a Christian his faith was a habit, and his love for Christians was too pure and lofty to be weakened or alienated by local differences. Truly he exemplified charity by the tender interest he manifested in all with whom he associated. If he was impulsive, he was liberal and magnanimous, and readily forgave all injuries inflicted upon him. A spirit of self-sacrifice marked his intercourse with men, and made him the friend and assistant of all. Crowning the rest, however, was the serenity and hopefulness of his temperament, which raised him above gloom and discontent. He had a warm, young heart, out of which came affection as buoyant and noble in his age as in his earlier days. The strength of his intellect was most clearly demonstrated in his writings and pulpit ministrations. He had a thorough and profound knowledge of theology, and taught its great doctrinal points with clearness and unction. He was an untiring student to the close of his days, and has left behind expositions of Scripture which would enrich any library. In his family relations he was an affectionate husband and father, and the weight of years rather sanctified than weakened the bonds that allied him to his loved ones. Indeed, everywhere and in all relations he gave evidence that the grace of God had not been bestowed in vain. It sustained him amid the varied experiences of a long life; it threw luster about his closing hours, and it has added another veteran to the noble army of heroes in the kingdom of glory. He will be missed in the community, in the Church, and, most of all, in the hearts that made up the joy of his home; and many a thought will turn to the hour when, amid the silent fall of the snow, he was laid away in the little graveyard in the field. Yes, he will be missed, but "he rests from his labors, and his works do follow him." May the virtues and fidelity of his life, glorified by his triumphant exit, give light to many a spirit searching after the true God! May his death be an eloquent tongue, pleading the claims of the Master to whom he has gone!

2. Rev. JOHN MILTON PURNER was born at Brick Meeting-house, Cecil County, Md., March 31, 1833, and died at Princess Anne, Somerset County, Md.,

on Sunday morning, September 29, 1867, in the thirty-fifth year of his age, and the tenth year of his itinerant ministry. He was born again at Elkton, Md., in January, 1854, under the ministry of Rev. E. J. Way, and it is believed he never lost the evidence of his acceptance with God. In 1856 he removed to Oxford, Pa., where he did business until he entered the itinerancy, and where he was known as a man of sterling Christian integrity. In 1857 he was appointed a class leader, and in 1858 he was licensed to exhort by Rev. T. B. Miller, then the preacher in charge on Oxford Circuit. Soon after conference, in 1858, Brother Purner was appointed assistant preacher to Rev. H. Sanderson, on Lewistown Circuit, by Rev. H. Colclazer, then presiding elder on Snow Hill District, and at a camp-meeting held on the circuit that year his doubts as to his call to the ministry were all removed; and in 1859 he, with twenty-seven other brethren, was admitted on probation in the Philadelphia Annual Conference, of which he continued a useful and worthy member until his departure to the saints' everlasting rest.

Brother Purner was junior preacher on Laurel Circuit, Del., in 1859, and on Church Creek Circuit, Md., in 1860. In 1861 and 1862 he was in charge on Aries Circuit, Md.; in 1863 and 1864 he was in charge on Sharpstown Circuit, Md.; and in 1865 was nominally appointed junior preacher on Princess Anne Circuit, Md., to permit him to go to the Biblical Institute, Concord, New Hampshire. In 1866 he was in charge of Atlantic Circuit, Va., and in 1867 he was in charge of Accomac Circuit for a short time, whence he was removed by the presiding elder, Rev. V. Smith, and appointed in charge of Princess Anne Circuit, Md., where he closed his labor and his life after a few weeks of severe affliction, borne with patience and resignation to the will of his heavenly Father. At his own request his remains were taken to the Brick Meeting-house, his native place, and there interred in the cemetery on Tuesday, October 1, 1867, with appropriate funeral services, there to rest in hope of the general resurrection and eternal life.

Brother Purner was exemplary in all the relations of life. As a Christian, he was a good man, full of faith and the Holy Ghost. As a Methodist preacher, he was plain, practical, earnest, and faithful, and an earnest and constant worker in the vineyard of the Lord. Several Church edifices were erected through his zeal and indomitable energy, and many souls were added to the Lord through his instrumentality who will be stars in the crown of his rejoicing in the day of the Lord. Appointed to labor in that part of the field where to be loyal to the country and to Methodism costs something, he was ever truly faithful to his country, his Church, and his God, under the most trying circumstances. He was not "carried to the skies on flowery beds of ease." The tribulations through which he passed no doubt shortened his life. He was, in fact, a martyr in the cause of his country and his Church. Eternity alone will reveal the suffering he and his family endured from the enemies of the country and of the M. E. Church. During the last year or two of his life he enjoyed, and delighted to lead others into the enjoyment of, that perfect love which casteth out all fear. The salvation he had preached to others he enjoyed in his own soul. To his weeping family he said, "I am healed, soul and body." To his brethren in the ministry he sends this last message: "Tell my brethren I died at my post."

O may we triumph so,
When all our warfare's past,
And, dying, find our latest foe
Under our feet at last.

3. Rev. Gideon T. Barr was born near Quarryville, Lancaster County, Pa., December 4, 1832, and departed this life July 1, 1867, in Enterprise, in the same county. Like his Divine Master, he was thus cut off in the prime of manhood, in his thirty-fifth year.

When about ten years old he was deeply convinced of the importance of a change of heart by reading an account of the life and happy death of a Sunday-school scholar. He wept, and prayed that God would make him good. In after life he believed that he was then converted; but he did not speak of the change, and the impression faded away. His mother, a Christian woman, and a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died when he was about twelve years of age. He never forgot her instructions and prayers, and, under God, they led him to seek the favor of the Lord in his seventeenth year.

A few months before his death he gave an account of his conversion, so far as his wife could remember, in these words: "I had been seeking the pardon of my sins for some time, and had prayed earnestly, sometimes in the fields, and in the barn, and my own room. I told no one of my convictions. I thought I could obtain and enjoy religion all to myself. I became more wretched, and resolved one Sabbath to attend a class meeting which met in a school-house near my home. On the way I met some of my companions. They asked where I was going. I told them I was going to meeting, and that I intended to lead a new life, and was determined to be a Christian. They told me I was too late; meeting would be out before I got there. I went home, and the next Sabbath started again earlier than before, and went around another way to avoid them. I went into that little meeting with a burdened heart. The leader, a good old man, who had been my mother's leader, said to me after class, 'I knew what brought you here as soon as you entered the door.' I arose to speak, and told them how I had been seeking the Lord, and how burdened and wretched I felt; when, thank God! the burden was rolled off, and I was a new creature." After his conversion he was very studious, and used all available helps toward mental improvement. He joined the Church at the Mount Hope appointment.

During the autumn of 1855 he taught school at Hempfield, and spent his Sabbaths in Lancaster. On the 16th of November he preached his first sermon. Rev. Dr. Bartine, the pastor, had announced preaching in the lecture room on Friday night. "But, lo!" said Brother Barr, "when the night came the sexton lighted the audience room. I told Dr. Bartine I could not preach there. He stepped out of the study, and in a short time returned and said, 'Gid, it has been spread abroad somehow that you are to preach, and I guess you had better do so.' The time came, and he and I went up, and how I felt you can imagine. There was a large congregation. Well, I began. I had a good man by my side, and the blessed arm of the Lord around me." On the 24th of November he was licensed to preach by the Duke-street Quarterly Conference without a dissenting voice. In the spring of 1856 he was received on trial in the Philadelphia Conference, and appointed to Halifax Circuit with Rev. H. B. Mauger. The next year they were both appointed to Radnor. In 1858 he was in charge of Hummelstown Circuit. The next year he was reappointed. On the 18th of May he was married to Miss Kate R. Binkley. In 1860–1 his appointment was Perryville; 1862–3, Tremont; 1864–5, St. Clair; 1866, Allentown. He labored hard during this Centenary year, and was often much exhausted after Sabbath work. In February, 1867, he took cold while in the discharge of his ministerial duties, but was so far restored as to attend the session of the conference. During the session he grew worse, and many may remember his emaciated appearance at that time. Had only ordinary zeal in the cause of God animated this devoted spirit he would probably have desisted from the work of the ministry at that time, and given chief attention to the restoration of his feeble health; but so indomitable was his will, so cheerful and hopeful a view did he take of his case, and so ardent was his love for the holy calling to which Christ and the Church had summoned him, that he continued on the effective list, and received an appointment to Dauphin Circuit. For nearly three months he continued to preach on this his last field of labor. His physical weakness was extreme. So death-like was his appearance that he attracted the attention of all who saw him. About the first of June he went, accompanied by his family, to the home of his father-in-law, hoping to find relief; but he gradually grew weaker, until he died.

The death-scene was very bright. He asked the time of day. His wife replied, "Two o'clock." "Ah!" said he, with such peculiar significance as to indicate that he knew when he would depart. His sister-in-law was standing at the foot of the bed weeping. He said, "Annie, where is your trust now?" He said to his mother-in-law, "Ma, you thought I was dying this morning." "Yes," she said, "we were afraid you were going to leave us." He replied, "I knew I was not dying then." His wife asked, "Do you know you are dying now?" "Yes," he replied; and then gave her into the hands of the Saviour. The doctor coming in, he said, with a great deal of emphasis, "Doctor, I'll show you how a Christian can die." His little daughter went up close to the bed. Her grandmother said, "Here's Adele, papa." Looking at his dear child, he finished his sublime antithesis, "Adele, darling, shall show you how a Christian can live." Some Christian friends were singing. He said, "Can't we have a shout? If I had strength I'd praise the Lord." Almost his last words were, "Halleluiah! Halleluiah!" Adele said, "Have the angels come for papa?" He looked and smiled. He had often spoken of the pains of dying. He anticipated a severe struggle; but he was very free from pain, and passed away so calmly and gently that the moment of death could hardly be determined.

In his study Bible are many passages marked. Among them is Jeremiah xiii, 16, "Give glory to the Lord your God, before he cause darkness, and before your feet stumble upon the dark mountains, and while ye look for light he turn it into the shadow of death, and make it gross darkness." On the margin he wrote, "It is not gross darkness for the Christian, but simply a shadow." So he found it.

Our departed brother was pleasing and attractive in address, neat and engaging in personal appearance, cheerful and buoyant in spirits, genial and affable in conversation, studious and thoughtful in his mental habits, careful and thorough in his pulpit preparations, effective and superior in his pulpit ministrations. He was laying the foundation for what would have claimed for him, under God, an exalted and commanding position among his brethren. In the preparation-state of that ministry which he did fulfill he showed himself a workman that needed not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth; and through his instrumentality much people were added unto the Lord, and the Church of God was edified and established.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Ebenezer Blake, George W. Bridge—2.

1. Rev. EBENEZER BLAKE was born in Durham, Me., April 29, 1786, and died in West Bridgewater, Mass., January 2, 1868, in the eighty-second year of his age.

Brother Blake was blessed with a happy family, a most excellent wife and two lovely daughters, both of whom died in early womanhood. His wife shared with him the burdens and blessings of his itinerant life for more than forty years. Shortly after the death of Sister Blake his sister took him to her home, where she watched over him with tenderness until the weary wheels of life stood still. We are not informed in reference to his parents or of his conversion. But we know what is more important—that he was converted. He was blessed with an iron constitution. He commenced his itinerant life at the age of twenty-one, in the spirit of his Divine Master. He followed the direction God gave to the Prophet Isaiah, cried aloud and lifted up his voice like a trumpet. He was not in the common acceptation of the term an educated man, neither was he a "blind leader of the blind." Father Blake gave good evidence of being moved by the Holy Ghost to preach the Gospel. He answered fully during his long ministry this question in our Discipline, Have they fruit? It has pleased the Lord to give him seals to his ministry which I doubt not may be found in Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island. Dr. James Porter was converted through his ministry. He was never a fence man, but always advocated what he believed to be right. He had a rough exterior, but a tender heart. He was admitted on probation in the New England Conference in 1807, and appointed to the Tuftonborough Circuit, New Hampshire District, Elijah Hedding, Presiding Elder; 1808, Lunenburg; 1809, Canaan; 1810, Falmouth, Portland District, Joshua Soule, P. E.; 1811, Bethel; 1812, Durham, his native town; 1813, Scarborough, Oliver Beal, P. E.; 1814–15, Poplin, on the Boston District, Charles Verger, P.E.; 1816–17, New London, Asa Kent, P. E.; 1818–19, Pomfret; 1820–21, Tolland, Erastus Otis, P. E.; 1822–23, Hebron, Joseph A. Merrill, P. E. In 1824 we find him, for the first time, in Massachusetts, at Somerset, and this year the New England Conference honored him with a seat in the General Conference, which set in Baltimore; 1825, Mansfield; 1826, Cambridge, Lynn District, John Lindsey, P. E.; 1827–28, Easton and Stoughton, New London District, Edward Hyde, P. E.; 1829, Fall River and Little Compton; 1830–31, Provincetown; 1832, Saugus; 1833–34, New London, Springfield District, O. Scott, P. E.; 1835, Springfield, Asbury Chapel; 1836, South Hadley and Chicopee; 1837, Chicopee; 1838, Warehouse Point; 1839, Wapping, A. U. Swinerton, P. E.; 1840, Norwich North and Falls; 1841, Nantucket, Fair-street; 1842, Woonsocket, R. I.; 1843 he superannuated, and in 1844 he returned to the work again, and was stationed at Portsmouth, R. I.; 1845, Granville, Conn.; 1846–47, Voluntown; 1848–49, Hopewell; 1850–51, back again to Nantucket, Fair-street; 1852, Northwest Bridgewater; 1853, Pembrock. This was his last appointment. In 1854 he superannuated and located himself and family at Mystic Bridge, Conn., where he lived until the death of his wife in the midst of kind friends. I lived two years at Mystic Bridge when he lived there, and visited him often. On one of my visits I read to him the six hundred and seventy-second hymn of our hymn book, and when I came to the verse,

> And now in age and grief Thy name
> Doth still my languid heart inflame,
> And bow my faltering knee;
> O yet this bosom feels the fire,
> This trembling hand and drooping lyre
> Have yet a strain for thee,

the good old man shouted.

Father Blake preached the Gospel five years in New Hampshire, four years in Maine, two years in Rhode Island, eighteen years in Connecticut, and seventeen years in Massachusetts; for forty-six years he was an active, laborious, and successful minister of the Gospel of the blessed God. During several years, especially the last year of his life, he lost the use of his mental powers very much. He had attended to the important concerns of his soul when he was sound in body and mind, and we doubt not when the last and great call came the chariots of Israel and the horsemen thereof, with their attendants, were in waiting in the chamber where this good and venerable father met his fate. His funeral was attended at the house of his nephew-in-law, Mr. Hayward, on Saturday, January 4, Rev. Bros. P. Townsend, J. Howson, J. F. Sheffield, and Walter Ela, conducted the service. His son-in-law, Brother Crandall, took his remains to New London, Conn., to rest beside his wife and children. They were a united and happy family on earth, and now all sleep side by side in the grave, and are reunited forever in heaven.

2. GEORGE WASHINGTON BRIDGE was born in Betherston, Kent County, England, November 27, 1817. When ten years of age, through the instrumentality of the Sabbath-school of which he was a member, he was led to Christ, and at the age of sixteen received license as a Local Preacher. From that time he faithfully fulfilled the duties assigned him in the plan of the circuit where he resided, laboring during the week in his secular employment and preaching on the Sabbath. Many precious souls were given him as the fruit of his toils, and his life in his native land is believed to have been one of eminent usefulness.

When about thirty years old, though at what precise date cannot now be stated, he emigrated with his wife to America, and in 1849 was settled as a mechanic in Stockbridge, N. Y., where he soon became known as a humble Christian, a devoted Methodist, and a faithful, acceptable Local Preacher. As such he would have been contented to live and die. But early in 1850 he was appointed to the pastoral charge of the Church in that place, made vacant by the removal of the Pastor to the charge of a district, which post he filled for the remainder of the year with great fidelity and entire acceptability. At the session of the Oneida Annual Conference, in 1851, he was admitted on trial, and from that time until his death he did the whole work of a Methodist preacher. In Morrisville, Hamilton, Cortlandt, Chittenango, Cooperstown, and other places, his memory is precious.

In 1863, hoping in a residence on the coast to find relief from a lameness which had afflicted him from early life, he was transferred to Providence Conference, and stationed at the Center Church in Provincetown; in 1865 at the Centenary Church in the same place; and in 1867 at Edgartown, where, in the midst of well-planned and earnestly active labors, he died of typhoid fever, October 28, 1867.

Mr. Bridge was a man of good sound commonsense, a warm, affectionate heart, and a vigorous will. From the day of his connection with the itinerancy he was a constant, untiring student, and he used all his knowledge for Christ. He was a consecrated man, and brought all his powers of body and mind to the work of the ministry. By public preaching, pastoral visiting, and personal effort, he sought to confirm believers and save sinners; and in almost every charge he served the work of God prospered in his hands. He was free from guile, tender in spirit, ardent in friendship, unselfish in heart. No lover of contention, he sought peace with all men; but he would not even to peace sacrifice humanity, truth, or duty. His personal experience was clear; he trusted unwaveringly in the blood of Jesus, and the power of the Holy Spirit was with him. His preaching was of an eminently practical character, aiming directly at the salvation of the hearer.

Mr. Bridge died well. In his brief illness, in the midst of intense pain, he prayed and praised and triumphed. In delirium his thoughts were on sacred things. In his last hour he prayed, pronounced the apostolic benediction, and then, when raised up at his desire, exclaimed, "I am going up higher," and died.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

E. F. Newell, S. Puffer, O. S. Howe—3.

1. Rev. EBENEZER FRANCIS NEWELL was born in Brookfield, Mass., Sept. 1, 1775, and died in Johnsonville, S. C., March 8, 1867, at the advanced age of ninety-one years, six months, and eight days. He was converted January 19, 1800, and united with the Church at St. Stephen's, N. B., June 29, the same year. His license to preach was given March 23, 1806, at Loudon, N. H., Rev. John Broadhead, Presiding Elder. Bishop Asbury ordained him Deacon, June 17, 1809, at Monmouth, Me.; and he was ordained Elder June 24, 1811, by Bishop M'Kendree, at Barnard, Vt. Beginning to preach on Pembroke Circuit, N. H., from the date of his license, and to travel Center-Harbor Circuit, N. H., the June following, he prosecuted his life-work when all of his early contemporaries had crossed the flood. His "name is as ointment poured forth." The pen falters that begins a conference memoir of one whose memory can never die.

Father Newell first married Fanny Butterfield, at Sidney, Me., October 21, 1810. He married, second, at Brookfield, Mass., February 14, 1826, Mrs. Polly Blanchard, and was transferred from the Maine Conference to this, in 1831, when he established his home at Brookfield, where it continued until her decease in 1852.

He located in 1819, on account of the impaired health of his first wife, but re-entered Conference in 1821. He was supernumerary one year, 1825, laboring for the benefit of the Maine Wesleyan Seminary. He superannuated in 1842. While effective in Massachusetts he preached from Marlborough to Monson, and from Uxbridge to Lunenburg. From 1842 to 1847 he prosecuted his labors in the vicinity of Brookfield, and northerly to Royalston. He first visited South Carolina in 1847, traveling home with horse and carriage the next year in season to be present at Conference.

After 1852 he devoted himself with untiring perseverance to visiting Churches, being welcomed everywhere. Children and grandchildren of early converts, and numerous relatives, rose up before him in reverence; and in places where he had never come till invited by ministers now in charge, he was, if possible, received with greater favor even than by those who had before profited under his ministry. He returned from a second tour South in August, 1856, to the house of his then just departed Presiding Elder, Rev. J. D. Bridge, Wilbraham. His third return was compelled on the breaking out of the rebellion; but he again went thither in the spring of 1866 for the purpose of establishing a freedmen's school, whence, from the home of his only son, he was transferred to the host above, long awaiting his coming. His grave is with that of his only daughter, who had accompanied him on his first visit to the South. Rev. W. W. Mood preached on the occasion of his funeral from the words, "Thy brother shall live again."

"I promised the Lord," he once said, "at the commencement of my ministry, that I would not disappoint a congregation so numerous as the souls that went with Noah into the ark; and through goodness I have kept my promise." With this purpose ever in mind, he was able always to discourse felicitously and to edification. In his later years, therefore, were he present, we said, "Days should speak," and in the multitude of his years he taught wisdom.

"I have always proposed to pray in the family visited," he said further, "and thus I leave with it the responsibility of a refusal of the opportunity." Rarely would he remain half an hour in a house without praying audibly. These prayers were brief, and expressive of immediate needs.

"I am in no hurry to go, brother," he quickly responded in one of our latest conferences, to an intimation by a Bishop that he might soon depart to heaven. "Heaven had come down his soul to greet;" he had found glory begun below; and loving most dearly the Conference with whom he waited, the Christian society which every-where welcomed him, and the souls of perishing sinners, he was content, "in age and feebleness extreme," to live for Christ, though to die were far better.

Greatness has been for years lost from sight in an estimate of our venerable father. But, in a word, he was pre-eminently good, genial, quiet, blessed, blessing; and now that he is not upon earth our interest is to observe the Elisha upon whom may have fallen the mantle of this Elijah.

2. Rev. Stephen Puffer died in Lunenburg, Mass., April 23, 1867, aged seventy-one years. Father Puffer was born in Westminster, in this State, in February, 1796. He was converted when about eighteen years of age, and soon became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. After a severe struggle of mind as to what was his duty, he was licensed to preach, and in 1823 he was received into the New England Conference on trial, and was stationed on Scituate Circuit. Here he labored successfully for one year; and his health failing he was discontinued at the next Conference at his own request. In 1826 he was again admitted to the Conference on trial, and was ordained Deacon in 1827. He was stationed at Fall River in 1828, and at Newport in 1829. In 1830 he received a superannuated relation to the Conference, and up to his death remained in that relation. He resided in Hingham and the vicinity for some time, and preached as his strength would permit. He was much beloved, and did much to build up the Church in places where they were not able to support a stationed preacher. He engaged in such business as afforded him a support, and preached and labored all his strength would allow without hope of pecuniary reward, and often contributed liberally out of his own means to help the cause he loved. Many who have been blessed by his labors and benefactions still cherish his memory with the most pleasing recollections.

When the New England Conference was divided, in 1840, he fell into the territory embraced in the Providence Conference. Some six years since he was transferred to the New England Conference, and from that time till his death resided in Lunenburg, and in that vicinity did all he could to promote his Master's cause. During the recent extensive revival in Fitchburg he rendered much valuable service. He was always connected with the Sabbath-school, and took a lively interest in its welfare. He was the leader of a large class of young converts, composed mostly of youth of the Sabbath-school, which he met weekly while able. These youths are now nearly all members of the Church, and feel much indebted to him for his instruction.

For the last eight months previous to his death, his health had become so much impaired that he could do but little but to suffer for Christ, and pray for the prosperity of his cause. He was always cheerful and happy, willing to live and ready to die. Brother Puffer was verily a good man; a very sweet and useful preacher. He was always benevolent. Many will miss his charities. He has left several thousand dollars in various gifts to the Church of his choice. He has left a widowed companion to mourn his loss, with whom he had lived for more than fifty years. She did all that kindness and affection could to make him comfortable; and often cheered him by encouraging words, and speaking of their reunion in heaven where sickness and death will never come.

No man was more highly esteemed by the community, or dearly loved by the Church, than Father Puffer. But he has gone; still his works remain. The laborers fall, but the work goes on.

3. Rev. Oliver S. Howe.—A character like that of Oliver S. Howe admits of no adequate statistical estimate. Here, therefore, it is fitting that the record be brief. Born in Lynn, September 6, 1824; assured of his acceptance as a child of God in February, 1840; in 1847 and 1848 a student in the Wesleyan Academy at Wilbraham, then for about a year an assistant teacher in the same institution; licensed to preach September 14, 1849; in 1850 stationed under the Presiding Elder at Danvers; admitted to the New England Conference in 1851; appointed to the following fields of labor: in 1851, at Ballardvale; in 1852, at South Wilbraham; in 1853–56, as a teacher at Wilbraham; in 1857, at Union-street, Springfield; in 1858, at Maple-street, Lynn; in 1859–60, at Somerville; in 1861–62, at Weston; superannuated on account of the failure of his health in 1863; died in Christian triumph in Wilbraham, April 7, 1867.

The life of this dear brother finely illustrates the practical wisdom of moral worthiness. Embarrassed always by physical weakness and constitutional tendency to disease, those forms of success which require protracted effort have to but a limited extent been possible to him. Indeed, from a worldly view, his life may seem almost a failure. He has performed no such deeds as the world calls great; and he has left behind him no such monuments of his power as are usually deemed essential to perpetuate one's name among men. Yet who that knew Oliver S. Howe will hesitate to affirm that his life has been a glorious success? True, so far as appears, it was from his consciousness of right that he first sought and early found Christ as his Saviour and friend, and through him so learned to love the right that duty became to him henceforth a chief pleasure. To this sympathy with the good and the true are traceable, in no small degree, the fine development and discipline of his own mind and character. It smoothed away the frictions of life, and imparted to that which had otherwise been but toilsome drudgery the charm of a fine art; and it thus enabled him to make the most of his limited opportunities for culture, and gave him that knowledge of his own heart, and that complete command of his own powers, which specially distinguished him, and made him always a valued friend and every-where an efficient worker. As under the influence of genial suns and gentle showers life and beauty and wealth leap forth from the earth, so, warmed into life by faith and love, the faculties of our brother's mind seemed spontaneously to spring into joyous and healthful activity in the pursuit of whatever calling Providence offered to him. Unbounded faith in the wisdom and love of God, and in the possibilities of man by grace, and love to both as the ruling passion of his life, lifted him above the world, and made him strong in his weakness, cheerful in his distresses, triumphant in his disappointments, and his whole life a victory and a benefaction.

As a teacher in our academy Brother Howe was greatly beloved and respected. His ardent love of truth, the minute thoroughness with which he himself mastered the studies of his department, the uniform neatness and clearness of his style of thought and expression, and, most of all, a genial enthusiasm, which brought his pupils at once into sympathy with his own mind, admirably qualified him for the work of an instructor.

The same qualities of mind and heart made him also during the years of his active ministerial life always an instructive, useful, and highly-acceptable Christian pastor and teacher.

But never did the Christian manhood of Brother Howe appear in greater beauty and strength than during the years of his disability for professional work. Though an invalid and a sufferer, rather than be dependent he cheerfully gave his wasting energies to business pursuits. Gracefully had he worn the honors of active professional life in his Master's service; gracefully he laid them aside at the Master's bidding. But in doing this he laid not aside the elements of his power as a Christian minister. In the performance of his last work, that of book-keeper in the Wesleyan Academy, he preached daily to the hundreds of young persons about him, by his pure, noble, unselfish Christian life; commanding ever the same unqualified respect and confidence which had attended his ministrations in the pulpit.

When at length compelled to desist from work, he was still a victor through abounding grace. He carried with him the kingdom of God to his sick room, and there for long months endured with Christian fortitude the pain and weariness of slow decline. He had but little of worldly goods; yet he was not poor. Preciously was the divine promise verified to him in respect to temporal as well as spiritual support. He was rich in that faith in God which had never failed him, and in friends who loved him as a brother, and felt it to be a privilege to make him a sharer with them; and to the last he too, feeling it to be more blessed to give than to receive, claimed a brother's right of all which he received to give back the Lord's tithe into his treasury. In passing triumphantly to his reward he has left to his excellent wife and his two promising sons not the gold that perishes, but that which is better, the legacy of precious memories, of a good name among men, of prayers that have reached the ear of Heaven, evermore during their pilgrimage to call down blessings upon them, of a bright example of Christian faithfulness and of pure affections, to be their solace during the period of their separation, and the bond of their reunion in the life above.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

J. Hanan, A. Still—2.

1. Rev. JAMES HANAN was a native of Kentucky, and at the time of his death was about seventy-seven years of age. Of his early history we know but little. He has been heard to state that he was converted to God when quite young, and soon after united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Having served the Church for a number of years in the capacity of Exhorter and Local Preacher, in the year 1854 he was admitted into the Arkansas Conference, and appointed to the Bonham Mission in Texas, embracing a large extent of country. His labors were greatly blessed of God while on this charge, and many souls were gathered into the fold of Christ. In 1855 he was sent to the Greason Mission, Texas. In 1856 he labored on a circuit in the State of Missouri, a portion of the southwestern part of this State at this time belonging to the Arkansas Conference. In 1857 he was appointed Presiding Elder of the Carthage District by Bishop Janes, and continued in this field until 1861, when he was transferred to the Kansas Conference by Bishop Morris, and appointed to the Osage Circuit, in the Ottumwa District, Mark Robertson, Presiding Elder. In 1862 and 1863 he traveled the Peoria Circuit, and in 1864 was placed on the superannuated list, somewhat against his wishes, believing that he was still able to do efficient service. He was like most old men, slow to believe that he was superannuated and worn out. Hence he continued to travel and preach and distribute books and tracts, visiting from house to house, talking with the families upon the Scriptures and religion, until the Master called him from labor to reward. Father Hanan was a fair preacher, plain and practical, a zealous advocate of old-fashioned Methodism, strong in faith, having implicit confidence in the promises of the Gospel. He was a faithful administrator of discipline, and rigid in economy. He suffered much for the cause of Christ, especially in the early part of his history as a Methodist preacher. He was truly a pioneer. Having accomplished the work given him to do, when Jesus called he was ready to go. He died in great peace on the fifteenth day of January, 1868, at the house of Doctor James Brooks, Coxe's Creek, Crawford County, Kansas.

Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints. May our last end be like his!

2. Rev. ABRAHAM STILL was born in Buncombe County, North Carolina, August 25, 1796, and was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at the age of seventeen. He was licensed to preach the Gospel in 1817, and ordained Deacon by Bishop M'Kendree, Holstein Conference, November, 1821, and ordained Elder by Bishop Soule in October, 1825. He traveled in Virginia and Tennessee until 1838, when he was transferred to Missouri, and with his family migrated to that State, where he labored as a successful itinerant minister and practicing physician, passing through all kinds of trials and privations in planting and developing the Church of his choice. At the division of the Church in 1844 he strongly adhered to the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was then appointed to the responsible and arduous duties of the Presiding Eldership, and for six years traveled over what was then known as the Hannibal and Platte Districts, fording the swollen streams and threading his perilous way over the prairies and through the forests, and bravely doing battle for Christ in the terrible conflict that has since resulted in the total overthrow of the "sum of all villainies."

In 1850 he was sent by the Missouri Conference to Kansas as a missionary to the Shawnee Indians, to which place he removed his family in the spring of 1851, and for three years labored in that charge, and as the mission was not remembered in the treaty between the Government and the Indians it was discontinued. In the fall of 1855 the first appointments to Kansas were made in connection with the Missouri Conference, and he served the Church as a Presiding Elder.

The next May the Kansas and Nebraska Conference was organized, and he continued in that office till the spring of 1859, doing the work of a pioneer minister over a very large extent of country, and doing it efficiently. In 1859 he was appointed to the Mineola Circuit, and in 1860 he took a superannuated relation. In 1863 he was made effective, and appointed to the Clinton charge, and was abundantly successful in winning souls to Christ. After this he sustained a superannuated relation to the Conference. But his zeal for the salvation of men increased, and nearly the last labors of his life were in a protracted meeting at Centropolis, where he preached with the special unction of the Holy Spirit, and witnessed the conversion of about forty souls to Christ. While preaching a funeral sermon the day after Christmas he was attacked with congestion of the lungs, and on the last day of the year 1867 he rested from his labors and went to his reward. Being endowed with strong mental powers he made good use of the limited facilities he enjoyed for acquiring knowledge. His preaching was plain, pointed, and practical; and as he had consecrated his entire being to God, so he besought others to do the same. May his example stimulate and his death warn us to be also ready!

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

J. W. Breakey, Lorin Clark—2.

1. Rev. JAMES WHEELER BREAKEY died during the session of the Conference which was held in the Bedford-street Methodist Episcopal Church, in the city of New York, April 10, 1867, at the residence of Rev. D. L. Marks.

Brother Breakey was the son of pious parents, and a native of Bethel, Sullivan County, New York. From his early childhood he was noted as being a very thoughtful boy. He became a very studious youth. Being the son of an industrious farmer he often took his books with him into the fields, and devoted his spare hours to close application to study. He read not for the mere purpose of reading, but to gain and treasure up knowledge for future use. He trained himself to think, and became the leading mind in the circle of his youthful associations.

He was converted, at a camp-meeting held in his native county, in the eighteenth year of his age, and immediately joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in Hurd Settlement, in his native town. From this time until he joined the New York Conference, a period of ten years, most of his time was employed in close application to study and teaching. As a teacher he was thorough. Many of his pupils bear an honorable and affectionate testimony to his faithfulness, and the deep interest he manifested in those committed to his care. During the two years previous to his entrance upon the active duties of the Christian ministry he was the principal of the Monticello Seminary, located at Monticello, the county seat.

By the Quarterly Conference of Monticello he was licensed to preach, and soon after, by the same Quarterly Conference, he was recommended to the Conference. He was received on probation in the New York Conference in the spring of 1856. His first appointment was to the Colchester Circuit, Monticello District. Here, as is well known to the writer, he made many friends, and did good service to the Church. His second appointment was to the Equinunk Charge, Wayne County, Pa. Here during his ministerial term a parsonage was built, many souls were converted, and the Church prospered. The next appointment committed to his care was Middletown, Orange County, at a very critical period in the history of the Church. He met the crisis, and accomplished his special mission in a most discreet and skillful manner. He was then appointed to Ellenville, Ulster County, the first charge on the district. Here he remained the full time allowed by the Discipline, and was successful in his work, and greatly beloved by the people. His next appointment was Montgomery, Orange County, where his memory is precious. His last appointment was at Coxsackie, Greene County, where he had labored with success, and had done the Church great service. The church edifice had been remodeled, enlarged, improved, and beautified during the second year of his ministry there at a cost of about five thousand dollars, and most of the money had been raised mainly by his influence and efforts. There was at the time of his leaving for Conference a very gracious revival in progress. So great was the religious interest in his charge that he remained and preached in Coxsackie on Wednesday evening, and did not reach the Conference until Friday morning, April 5, two days after the opening of the Conference. He had taken a severe cold and was quite unwell. I invited him to my house. At about half past eleven A. M. he was seized with hemorrhage of the lungs. The bleeding was soon checked, and, though feeble, we all thought he would soon recover his health and strength. On the following Tuesday morning he thought himself much better, and cherished the hope of returning home on Wednesday; but during the day he failed quite fast. His wife reached his room on Wednesday morning. His physician also came with counsel. In a few hours it was perceptible that he was near his end. He became conscious that he was soon to die, and inquired for me. He requested me to look after some matters of temporal interest to his wife. I then prayed with him, and his responses were frequent and earnest. When told that the Conference was about to close, and asked if he had any message to his brethren, he said, "Tell the Conference religion sustains me now; tell all my friends this." Then he shouted, "Glory, glory!" saying, "All is clear." Lifting up his eyes, and fixing them with a steady gaze as if on some object, he said with a smile, "I behold him! I behold him! I behold my Redeemer!" Then turning to those about him he said, "I shall take a city appointment this year in the city of the New Jerusalem." His wife inquired if he had any message to his father. "Tell him in a few more years we shall meet on the other shore. Tell all my friends this." He then kissed his wife, and said, "Come to heaven, dear." These were his last words. He died in a few minutes, without a struggle, on Wednesday, April 10, in the thirty-seventh year of his age and the tenth of his ministry. He had been married twelve years, and leaves to mourn his loss a wife, whom we commend to the prayers and sympathies of the Church. At his death his name was in the printed list of appointments for Coxsackie the third year; but his death being announced before the appointments were read another was appointed to the charge, and he entered upon the "city appointment in the New Jerusalem."

No language can describe the dying scene. Seldom is there such a combination of circumstances. A message had been sent to the Conference that he was dying. Only a short distance from his chamber there was a whole conference of ministers, with two Bishops, and all conference business suspended, devoting the time to special prayer for their dying brother. An indescribable glory filled the room in which the faithful minister and devoted Christian and friend was dictating his last messages, cheering those who were present with him, and committing his spirit to God in clear and blessed visions of his ascended and glorified Redeemer. It was rather the chamber of life than of death.

"Tread softly, bow the head; in reverent silence bow;
No passing bell doth toll, yet an immortal soul is passing now.
O change, O wondrous change! Burst are the prison bars;
This moment there so low in prayer, and now beyond the stars.
O change, stupendous change! There lies the senseless clod;
The soul from bondage breaks, the new immortal wakes and walks with God."

His remains were buried in Bethel, his native county.

As a friend Brother Breakey was true and confiding, and had a warm heart. Only those who were intimate with him knew the man. He was unassuming, and never crowded his claims upon the attention of others. As a minister of Jesus he was intelligent, and most thoroughly devoted to his great work. In his preaching there was at times a little hesitation in his manner, but this was soon more than compensated for in the richness of thoughts which he uttered. He was most emphatically an interesting preacher. As a pastor he was kind and prudent and faithful, and greatly beloved. Few men make firmer friends than did Brother Breakey. Some make them quicker, but none hold them longer. He never lost any by imprudence or unkindness. He was a true Christian, a very affectionate husband, and a valuable minister of Jesus Christ. His removal is a great loss to his friends, to the Church, to the Conference, and to the world; but heaven gains what earth loses. Man is immortal. The dead shall be raised incorruptible. We shall see him again.

2. Rev. Lorin Clark was born December 29, 1797, in Amenia, Dutchess County, New York, and died in Peekskill, January 29, 1868. His parents were pious Baptists. He was awakened to solemn thoughtfulness and anxious concern about his eternal state in his nineteenth year, and restlessly sought from that time a satisfying, scriptural evidence of his interest in the forgiving love of God. His description, as found in his diary, of those two great events which were so influential in shaping his subsequent course is as follows: "I was awakened in rather a singular manner. Theron Osborn, (who subsequently became a minister in the New York Conference,) my brother Orrin, and myself, after we had attended Church, stole away, and went on a fishing excursion in a small boat. While we were making ready Osborn looked up to me with a solemn, expressive look, and said, 'What if the boat should upset and we all be drowned? What would become of us?' As he was not a professor of religion, and, for any thing I knew, a careless sinner, those words rang through me like the sound of the last trump. My amusement was spoiled, but through divine mercy I was preserved. This solemn impression continued with me till I found pardon about three months after. I was going from dinner to the hayfield; I went alone. When I came to a fence I knelt down and prayed. I wept unusually in my humble address to God, and had an uncommon freedom in my expressions. So I went on from fence to fence, praying, melting, and weeping; but all this time I was not aware of any special change. I did not so much as think my blessed Saviour was come to ease me of my long, lone, and oppressive burden of guilt. But so it was. When I had arrived at the hayfield and commenced my labor, on a sudden, like the glow of a blazing meteor amid the darkness of the evening, all nature was lighted up with a beauteous glow and grandeur altogether supernatural. I raised my head, long cast down, and gazed on the fields, the forest, and the hills around me with a delight so new, so intense, so entrancing, that I was lost in wonder, love, and praise."

About the time of his conversion, or soon after, he united with the Presbyterian Church in Oblong, and subsequently receiving the impression which at length ripened into a settled conviction that he was called of God to preach the Gospel, and being desirous to qualify himself as fully as possible for the work, he went to an academy at Lennox, Mass., where he remained two years with the intention of preparing himself for college. But his religious views becoming Methodized, he chose to unite with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and upon his application license to preach was granted him by the New Haven District Conference, held at Southbury, Conn., October 5, 1824, signed Samuel Luckey, Presiding Elder. The spring following he was admitted on trial in the New York Conference, held in Troy, and appointed to labor on the St. Albans Circuit. His subsequent appointments were Whitehall, 1826; Stowe, 1827, and ordained Deacon; Bridport, 1828; Stowe, 1829, and ordained Elder; 1830–31, Amenia, his native town; 1832–33, Milan; 1834–35, Bedford; 1836–37, Rondout; 1838, Waterbury; 1839, Berlin, Conn.; 1840, Newington and Weathersfield; Peekskill, 1841; West Point and Phillipstown, 1842; Pine Plains, 1843; North East, 1844; Lapham's, 1845; Shrub Oaks, 1846–47; Bedford, 1848–49; Dutchess, 1850–51; Marlborough, 1852–53. Much of this time his fields of labor were large, often requiring long rides between appointments, preaching three times on the Sabbath, and meeting two or three classes, which was then the rule and not the exception. There were also many discomforts occasioned by the exposure and changes incident to the itinerancy, and, withal, the allowances for support were small and but seldom paid in full. But none of these things moved him from his purpose of preaching the Gospel during the space of twenty-eight years, which he did in season and out of season, generally with much acceptability, and frequently with marked success. In the spring of 1846 the writer united Lorin Clark in the marriage tie to Miss Ann Faurot, of Fort Montgomery, with whom he lived happily until death sundered the relation.

In the latter part of 1853 a severe attack of heart disease disqualified him for all further effective service in the ministry, and resulted in a change of his relation to the Conference at its next session. This done he removed his family to Peekskill, where he drew around him numerous friends, who esteemed and loved him for his many excellences and his long and faithful service in the ministry.

As it was the pleasure of his Heavenly Master to call his servant away suddenly from this mutable state, there were no utterances that fell from his lips in his last moments expressive of his hope and trust in Christ, the Rock of Ages; but we remember that he had aforetime, before many witnesses, for more than half a century, testified his faith in the Saviour, his joy in the Holy Ghost, and his hope of a blessed immortality, confirming the same by a well-ordered life and a godly conversation, thereby leaving an indubitable evidence that he has entered into rest, "the palace of angels and God."

As a man Brother Clark was guileless and magnanimous; in his friendships transparent and true. He possessed good natural abilities, a very respectable education, and a rich store of varied and useful knowledge that he knew how to use and apply; and, withal, he was modest of his attainments. As a Christian his piety was unquestionable, and his charity embraced all that love the Lord Jesus in sincerity. As a minister he was well versed in theology, ecclesiastical history, and Church polity. His preaching was characterized and animated by zeal for God and love for the souls of men. It was plain and practical, often powerful, always extempore, after the manner of the fathers. And the record of his twenty-eight years of ministerial service we doubt not will show in the final day that not a few were saved through his instrumentality.

The morning of February 1 his remains were taken from the family dwelling to the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Peekskill, where suitable devotional exercises were led by Rev. J. B. Wakeley, Presiding Elder, in which the congregation with much solemn thoughtfulness very feelingly joined. Some suitable remarks from the Presiding Elder and other brethren in the ministry followed, after which the body was removed to the vicinity of Fort Montgomery, on the west bank of the Hudson, for interment, and laid by kind hands in the beautiful cemetery that overlooks its everflowing waters.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

R. Travis, W. W. Brewer, H. N. Weed, T. A. Lovejoy, J. D. Bouton—5.

1. REV. ROBERT TRAVIS was born in Somers, Westchester County, December 15, 1795, and died in the city of New York, February 10, 1868, in his seventy-fourth year. He was converted to God in the old John-street Church in 1817, and joined the Conference in 1822, and was stationed on Suffolk Circuit, Long Island.

He subsequently filled appointments in Leyden, Mass.; Pittsfield, Mass.; Burlington, Vermont; Watervleit, N. Y.; Rome, N. Y.; Sullivan, N. Y.; Haddam, Conn.; Derby, Conn.; Cornwall, Conn.; Bedford, N. Y.; Duchess Circuit, and Pawling.

For three years he acted as Agent of the Wesleyan University, and for the most part during the last twenty-five years he was in a superannuated relation. During the last year of his life Brother Travis lost both his sons, his only children. One was a minister in the Episcopal Church, and the other a lawyer in Westchester County. He was deeply affected by these bereavements. His ministry was not marked by any such special facts and circumstances as to call for record in this place; but his record is with God. For many years he was a constant attendant upon the services of our Churches in New York City, and his very last service, ten days before his death, was in the administration of the holy sacraments in the Jane-street Church. He died in great peace, and is now without doubt among the saved in heaven.

2. Rev. W. W. BREWER'S name appears for the first time in the Conference Minutes of 1834. For twenty years he received his appointments regularly, and attended faithfully to his ministerial and pastoral work. In 1854 he was placed upon the superannuated list. He retired with his family to a comfortable home in Hunting Ridge, a beautiful rural district in the town of Stamford, Conn. As he had strength he preached to the people, and brought his energies to bear in the Sabbath-school. He strove earnestly to finish the work which God gave him to do. Brother Brewer was an earnest worker for God and man. During the last winter his health, never very firm, gave way, and after a brief illness he fell asleep in Jesus. An appropriate funeral sermon was delivered by Rev. W. C. Steele, and our departed brother's remains were interred in the graveyard at Long Ridge.

Brother Brewer was a good man, faithful in all the relations of life, a zealous minister, and a very industrious pastor. His record is on high, and in the day of reward many will call him blessed.

3. Rev. HORATIO N. WEED was born in Stamford, Conn., December 30, 1812, and died in Essex, Conn., May 11, 1867. He was converted to God some time in the year 1833, when in the twenty-first year of his age. He joined the New York Conference in 1845, and during the twenty years of his ministry served the following Churches, namely: 1845–46, Trumbull and East Village; 1847, Westport; 1848–49, Guilford; 1850, supernumerary; 1851–52, Windsor; 1853–54, Litchfield, 1855–56, Stepney; 1857–58, Burlington; 1859–60, Cheshire; 1861–62, Clinton; 1863, Durham; 1864–65, Essex. At the Conference of 1866 Brother Weed became superannuated, which relation he held until the time of his death. The subject of this memoir was known to the writer in the brighter days of his ministry, when his people were pleased to speak of him as the acceptable preacher, the faithful pastor, the affectionate husband, and judicious parent. His piety was rendered impressive by its consistency, and attractive by its amiableness. For a year or more previous to his death it became apparent to his friends that he was thoroughly broken down both in body and mind. Under such circumstances it is not strange that his feelings were not always buoyant and hopeful; for it is not at all times so easy to rejoice when we look at things about us through the dismaying medium of a decayed nature and shattered nerves. They do not like to listen to reason nor to grace. On the first Sunday of March, 1867, Brother Weed listened to his last sermon, partook of his last sacrament, and felt that he was going home to die. When near his end his pastor proposed the following questions, and received the following answers: "Brother Weed, present indications must lead you to examine the foundation of your hope. How does the Rock of Ages seem to you now?" "Firm, firm," was the reply. The morning preceding his death we informed him that he was nearing the end of his voyage. "And now, Brother Weed, the storm having spent its fury, does the heavenly port look attractive?" His answer was, "Yes, yes, blessed be the Lord!" The last struggle soon came, and he was no more among the living. His funeral was numerously attended by the different classes of citizens, and on a beautiful May day, when the trees were all blossoms, and the air all song on the banks of the beautiful Connecticut, we laid his body in the tomb to await the trump of the last day.

4. Rev. THEODORE A. LOVEJOY was born in Stratford, Conn., February 18, 1821, and died in Watertown, Conn., June 7, 1867.

He felt his need of Christ as he saw his room-mate, a Roman Catholic, kneeling in prayer, and at the age of twenty-one was converted to God in Brooklyn, New York. He soon identified himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in 1847 joined the New York East Conference, continuing a faithful and valued member of the same until his death. His grandfather was a Protestant Episcopal clergyman, and most of his relations were in that Church. His family designed him for the Protestant Episcopal ministry, and his early education had this in view. It was, therefore, no easy matter for him to be a Methodist, much less to be a Methodist preacher. But he was ready for any sacrifice. He loved the work to which the Master called him, and never lost sight of the great object of the Christian ministry, the glory of God in the saving of men. His highest ambition was to be a faithful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ. He had but two all-controlling principles in his life, love of Jesus and love of souls, and hence he could not help being a useful minister of the Gospel. His work of love is remembered gratefully by many who were favored with his ministry. He was cheerful, happy, and contented in every field. Brother Lovejoy was a good man; affable, sweet-spirited, loving, a man of deep and earnest piety. His religion was not an impulse from without, but an inspiration from within; an all-pervading life and power, beautifully uniform and consistent. He was always the same. All who knew him loved him, and those who knew him best loved him most. No one ever spoke aught against him. He was modest and unassuming, and only those who professed an intimate acquaintance with him could know how true and excellent a Christian man and minister he was. It was observed for some time previous to his departure, by those who knew him, that he seemed peculiarly ripe in all the Christian graces. His last sickness was brief and painful, but he was happy in Jesus. With a mind unclouded to the very last he was not afraid. The close of his earthly work was one of holy triumph. He said, "Tell my brethren of the Conference I love them; tell them to meet me in heaven." To his wife he said, "Dear, it is a glorious triumph; Christ is near; he is precious, very precious." And these were his last words, uttered just as he was passing away: "I want to praise him; I feel like praising him all the time."

5. Rev. J. D. Bouton. In the year 1835 Brother Bouton traveled the Deposit Circuit, New York: 1836, Jefferson Circuit; 1837-38, Delaware Mission; 1839-40, Cortright Circuit; 1841-42, Delaware Mission; 1843, Catskill and Durham; 1844, Durham; 1845, supernumerary; 1846-47, Orient, Long Island; 1848-49, New Utretch and Gravesend; 1850-51, Huntingdon South; 1852-53, Patchogue; 1854-55, Huntington; 1856-57, Rockaway; 1858-59, Jamaica; 1860-61, North Fifth-street, Williamsburgh; 1862-63, West Goshen, Conn.; 1864, Cornwall, Conn.; 1865-66, Ridgefield; 1867, superannuated. He died at his father-in-law's in Goshen, in November, 1867. There is good reason for saying that Brother Bouton was a dutiful son, a faithful brother, a devoted husband, a tender and judicious father, an exemplary and blameless Christian, a good preacher, an excellent pastor, and peculiarly gifted in prayer and exhortation. Brother Bouton was always acceptable and successful wherever appointed. All these points admit of ample illustration.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

William D. Cass.

Rev. WILLIAM D. CASS was born in Bradford, Vt., April 2, 1797. His parents were Methodists, and one of his earliest recollections was of a quarterly meeting in his father's barn, in which Martin Ruter, then a child, gave testimony for God. At the age of thirteen the subject of this notice was converted. He lost the enjoyment of religion, a fact he never ceased to deplore, and to which he often alluded in the last months of his life. A few years later he was reclaimed under the labors of the Freewill Baptists, of whose Church he became a member and an ordained minister, laboring in that capacity for several years.

In 1827 he changed his ecclesiastical relations and joined the New Hampshire Conference, and was stationed, with Samuel Kelley, at Northfield. His subsequent appointments were as follows: 1828, Tuftonborough; 1829–30, Plymouth; 1831, Newbury, Vt.; 1832, Salisbury, Mass.; 1833–34, Sandown; 1835, Nashua; 1836–39, Presiding Elder of Concord District; 1840, Presiding Elder of Claremont District; 1841, Henniker; 1842–43, Rochester; 1844–45, Presiding Elder of Dover District; 1846, East Sanbornton and Meredith, and Resident Agent for New Hampshire Conference Seminary; 1847, Agent for Seminary; 1848, located; 1849, in the regular work again, and stationed at Gilmanton; 1850–51, Salem; 1852–55, Presiding Elder of Haverhill District; 1856–57, Fisherville; 1858–60, Agent for Seminary; 1861, Chichester; 1862, Agent for Seminary; 1863, Salisbury; 1864–65 his appointment was at Sanbornton Bridge, and nominal; 1866, Agent for Seminary. His appointment last April was nominal again, at Sanbornton Bridge, where, on a farm, he spent the closing years of his life.

His last sermon was preached October 6, on the Centenary. He was eleven years a Presiding Elder, and once (in 1844) a member of the General Conference. In that celebrated Conference he distinguished himself not more by his courage and zeal in opposition to slavery than by his readiness and power in debate.

He was married in 1824 to Miss Laura W. Sanborn, of Bristol, who died at Plymouth December 5, 1830, leaving an infant daughter that survived her mother thirteen years. He was again married August 2, 1832, to Miss Betsey C. Knowles, of Northfield, who survives him.

His death has removed one of the powers of New Hampshire Methodism. With limited early advantages, destitute of elegance of figure and captivating manners, he accomplished more than a score of men who have all these without his untiring energy, his flaming zeal, and his indomitable will. He possessed great force of character. Courageous, hopeful, determined, he made himself felt in the world, and left it better for his earnest life. The influence of but few men in the State was so potent in behalf of education, temperance, freedom, and religion. He was a man of strong and vigorous intellect. Culture did little for him; nature did much. At no period of his life were his circumstances favorable to mental development, yet he was well read in Methodist theology, and was its able defender. His mind was inquiring, his observation close, and he learned more from nature and men than most do from books. His reasoning powers were strong. He could grasp a great subject. He had remarkable command of his powers, and could always speak at once with sense and profit for temperance, liberty, country, education, Sunday-schools, missions, or religion. In debate few equaled him.

As a preacher, though his manner was somewhat loud, he was always instructive and profitable, often eloquent, and sometimes, especially in his earlier ministry, overpowering. At protracted and camp meetings he often proclaimed the Gospel with almost irresistible power. He would urge the claims of God's law upon the sinner with overwhelming force. He ever maintained the dignity of an embassador of God, and never sought to say a witty thing in the pulpit, and never said a foolish one. Methodical, punctual, and careful, he was naturally a disciplinarian, and was sometimes a terror to evil doers both in and out of the Church. He was an able and useful rather than a popular minister, seeking success by laying foundations rather than building steeples; a man to be missed more instead of less as time shall wing its flight. As a Christian he was zealous, laborious, and faithful. His experience was clear and thorough. For a considerable portion of his life he enjoyed perfect love, and ever delighted in the theme. Under his prayers and exhortations sinners trembled and saints shouted, as listening to one who had access to the throne. His piety was not of the official stamp. Every-where and always he was interested for the cause of Christ. Not simply while he was Pastor or Presiding Elder, but evermore his heart beat warmly for the extension of the kingdom of God. The writer can bear witness to his valuable aid in sustaining the interest of religion in the community where his last days were spent. Relief from official responsibility is the severest test of ministerial piety; Brother Cass bore that test gloriously, and labored to the last. In his habits he was a rigid economist. Though receiving little from the Church for a lifetime of hard toil, by prudence and good management he acquired a comfortable estate. In his contributions he was liberal. He gave largely to education and missions, and cheerfully contributed to the support of the Gospel when he had ceased regularly to proclaim it. Some of the last acts of his life were to aid the Church, and to assist those of less pecuniary means than himself. In his home he was a model. Stern and uncompromising as he was in the world, in the family he was an example of cheerfulness, sociability, and kindness. It is not strange that his disconsolate widow and her aged mother feel that the light of their home has gone out.

His death was sudden. For months he had anticipated a rapidly approaching and abrupt summons. To meet it he girded up his loins and watched. At the general class, four days before his death, he gave a testimony most encouraging and convincing. Two days later he assisted in the sacramental service, addressing himself to the communicants with great appropriateness and feeling. On Tuesday, May 7, while laboring in his field, he seemed distressed about the heart, sat down as if to rest, and in the twinkling of an eye was with his Master in heaven.

Appropriate funeral services were held; the members of the institution in whose behalf he had labored so assiduously attended in a body; and a fitting and able discourse was preached by the Rev. Dr. Barrows on the words, "I have finished my course."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Jacob Beeman.

Rev. JACOB BEEMAN was born at Kent, Conn., March 12, 1780, and died in Bennington, Vt., February 15, 1868, in the eighty-eighth year of his age. His parents were pious and prominent members of the Baptist Church. In his early childhood they removed from Connecticut to Chatham, N. Y. He was converted in the morning of life. His conviction for sin was so deep and powerful, and his conversion so marked and clear, that (as he often expressed it) he was effectually and forever cured of any Calvinistic tendencies which his early training might have given. His first license to preach bears date March 19, 1808, signed Peter Moriarty. He was received into the New York Conference in 1809. His certificate of ordination as a Deacon bears date May 23, 1811, signed Francis Asbury, New York; another ordination of Elder bearing date May 26, 1813, signed William M'Kendree, Amenia, N. Y. He labored as an effective minister for twenty-six consecutive years. In 1835, his family being large, and his wife's health poor, he took a supernumerary relation to the Conference, and moved to Hoosick, N. Y. In 1843 he removed to Bennington, Vt., where the next year he buried his wife. In 1851, his infirmities increasing as the weight of years pressed upon him, by his own request his relation was changed to superannuated. Still he labored and preached as his health permitted. Four years last fall he had the second stroke of paralysis, which laid him aside from all active work. From this until the weary wheels of life stood still he patiently waited his release. He took a lively interest in the concerns of the Church and State, reading with avidity whatever related to the interests of either. His last illness of some three weeks was brought on by cold, producing hoarseness and cough, which prostrated him at once. Tuesday morning previous to his death his mind seemed to be lucid and clear, and as the family joined in prayer he said, "Never neglect prayer; I am almost through." His daughter said to him, "Pa, you used to tell the people when you preached that heaven was better than earth." He smiled, and said, "I think so now." The daughter said, "Pa, you know it is but two months to Conference; if you should get to the better land before, your brethren will want to hear from you." "Well," said he, "that will be no hard matter; tell them 'All is well;'" and with a countenance all luminous with the divine glory, added, "Tell them the blessed Gospel which I have preached to others for so many years sustains me in this hour." To a sister who was just leaving, and said to him, "Father Beeman, I hope we will meet in heaven"—"Yes," said the dying man, "I am almost there." These were among the last utterances of this man of God, and O how expressive! Though struggling with the last enemy he gloriously triumphed. On Saturday, February 15, about three o'clock, the Master said, "It is enough; come up higher."

"Servant of Christ, well done;
Rest from thy loved employ;
The battle's fought and victory won,
Enter thy Master's joy."

QUEST. 9. Who have been Expelled from the Connection this year?

None.

QUEST. 10. Who have Withdrawn from the Connection this year?

Joel Davis, A. T. Mattison—2.

QUEST. 11. Were all the Preachers' Characters Examined?

This was strictly attended to, by calling over their names before the Conference.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Silas Comfort.

Rev. SILAS COMFORT, D.D., was born in Deer Park, Duchess County, N. Y., May 18, 1803, and departed this life at his residence in Union, Broome County, January 10, 1868. His sickness was short, and his death sudden and unexpected. Two weeks previously he had conducted a quarterly meeting for Dr. Paddock, on the Binghamton District, and returned home in usual health and excellent spirits. The Saturday following he was attacked with pleurisy, which at first was considerably relieved. But an affection of the throat and bronchial tubes supervened, developing a serious diphtheria type. A counsel of physicians was held, and strong hope cherished that they would be able to control the case. But early in the consultation the filling up of the throat terminated life, and he expired in the presence of the consulting physicians.

Some apprehensions of danger had been entertained by the family and their Pastor. This led to a conversation with Doctor Comfort as to his mental leadings. He replied that he had no trouble; that he was feeling very much at peace; that he had been gathering round him the promises of God as far as his recollection served him at the time, and they afforded him great consolation. Still, it does not appear that he anticipated his so sudden departure. The funeral took place in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Union on the 13th. The funeral services were conducted by Drs. Paddock and Bristol, assisted by the Pastor in charge, Rev. D. A. Shepard. Other ministers, who served as bearers, were in attendance, and a numerous circle of mourning relatives, and a full congregation, attested the regard felt for the deceased. Resolutions of respect for Brother Comfort, and of condolence with his bereaved family, were subsequently passed and published by the Union Literary Association, of which he was a member, which were highly gratifying to his friends, as indicating the cordial esteem entertained for his character at home and by his neighbors. His childhood was marked by rigid truthfulness, strict integrity, diligence, manliness, and subordination to his parents, whom he profoundly respected and loved. His early educational advantages were quite limited. His subsequent honorable attainments in learning were due solely to private unwearied application. Converted at the age of nine, made a Class Leader at eighteen, and employed as a traveling preacher at twenty, it is easy to infer the decided and devout piety that stamped his early Christian life. In 1827 he was received into the Genesee Conference. Deeply impressed with the importance of mental culture, he became a most earnest and indefatigable student. Studying largely on horseback, reading by torch-light, conning his lesson amid the confusion of families, rising to his task uniformly at four o'clock, winter and summer, and to prevent failure at this point habitually carrying his own candle snugly stored in his valise; these were some of the means by which, especially in the early period of his itinerant life, he surmounted obstacles to literary progress, and made himself a scholar in the truest sense. The dead languages, science, general literature, biblical criticism, and systematic divinity, were thoroughly explored by him, and made tributary to the high purposes of his profession. He wrote several valuable volumes, and had another in fresh manuscript at his decease. His industrious pen contributed many and choice articles to the highest periodicals of the Church, some of which were republished on the other side of the Atlantic. It was not remarkable, therefore, that he was honored with the Doctorate from the Ohio Wesleyan University on the recommendation of some of the strongest names in the Church. He was in the work of the ministry forty-five years. While in charge of circuits and stations he was successful in winning many souls to Christ, and in building up the Churches in their most holy faith. He served sixteen years as an efficient Presiding Elder, and exhibited in this capacity great discrimination and prudence, and executive talent more than ordinary. He ably represented his Conference in the General Conferences of 1844, 1848, 1852. Some of his leading appointments in the Oneida Conference were the Pottsdam, Wyoming, Oneida, and Cazenovia Districts, and the Ithaca, Cazenovia, and Binghamton Stations. In 1835 he was transferred to the Missouri Conference, where he was appointed successively to Manchester, to St. Louis District, to the city of St. Louis, and to St. Charles District.

After an absence of some seven years in the West he returned again to the Oneida Conference. While in this Conference there came under his administration a trial of a white member of the Church. The principal witness, on whose testimony the decision of the case depended, was a well-known and reliable colored member. The practice had grown up in the Church not to admit colored members to testify against white members in those slave states where persons of color were prohibited from giving testimony against whites in the civil courts. This unjust and unchristian usage Dr. Comfort broke over, and he admitted the testimony of the colored member. For this he was censured by the Missouri Conference. Though against the advice of his brethren and the presiding Bishop, Dr. Comfort appealed the case to the next General Conference, which met in Baltimore in 1840. The General Conference reversed the decision of the Missouri Conference so far as the censure of Dr. Comfort was concerned. This was the more remarkable as in that day the South was all-powerful in Church as well as in State. Still, this was too great a concession to the antislavery principle. Dr. Few, of Georgia, introduced a resolution, which was adopted, declaring it "inexpedient and unjustifiable for any preacher among us to permit colored persons to give testimony against white persons in any state where they are denied that privilege in trials at law," which, however, was rescinded at the General Conference of 1844.

The Doctor's last prominent appearance before the public was at the reunion of Conferences at Ithaca in 1866, the year in which he became supernumerary, where he delivered the address of welcome from the Oneida to the Wyoming brethren, and was responded to by Bishop Thomson. "That address," says a leading member of the Oneida Conference, "was, by common consent of our body, a crown of glory to him and an honor to our Conference," though it never was the end of his ambition to shine. He aimed higher. He thirsted to be useful, to instruct, convince, and save men, and to glorify God; and that not merely by preaching, but by the example of a conscientious, devoted, self-denying life.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

S. R. Brockunier, Alexander Bell, Thomas J. Higgins—3.

1. Rev. SAMUEL R. BROCKUNIER was born in German Valley, Huntingdon County, Pa., June 12, 1795, and died in Bloomingdale, Ohio, July 22, 1867. His father, a native of Hagerstown, Md., was raised a rigid Lutheran, but was converted at an early age and united with the Methodist Church, then every-where spoken against. For this he was compelled to leave home, and was finally disinherited. His mother was a native of Frederick County, Md., and a devout Methodist. He was dedicated at birth to God and the work of the ministry, though not told of this until he started to preach. This act of consecration is suggestive of all the surroundings of his early life. Piety in example and precept was a living power in his boyhood's home. "My parents," he says, "had eight children, of whom I was the eldest. I had the fear of God set before me from my infancy. Among my earliest recollections are the prayers of my parents, and the religious meetings held at my father's house. The result of all these opportunities was that my mind became very early impressed with the necessity of becoming religious." In 1801 his father and family removed to Concord, Franklin Co., Pa., and united with the Church in which the Maclay family held membership. Rev. R. S. Maclay, our missionary to China, related during his visit to this country in 1861 that his mother and the mother of Brother Brockunier were members of the same class, and entered into arrangements to pray for their eldest sons that God would convert them and call them to the work of the ministry. Their prayers were answered, and in the case of Mrs. Maclay all her sons, five in number, were converted and became ministers. When in 1810 his father removed with his family to Allegheny County, Pa., near Sewickley, and crossed the river at Pittsburgh, there was but one house on the Alleghany side of the river.

His conversion and Church fellowship date back to February 17, 1812; and in the same year his father died, leaving a widow and a large family to his care. To this work, though a mere youth, he devoted himself manfully; and most dutifully and faithfully did he perform it all his life.

It was soon found that young Brockunier had gifts in prayer, class leading, and exhortation; and he was repeatedly urged by Rev. James B. Finley and Dr. Adams to enter the ministry, but long refused, not feeling that his duty lay in that direction. His scruples were at last removed, and he was licensed to preach at a quarterly meeting held at Young's School-house, five miles from New Castle, and was sent the same evening several miles to make his first effort. By a singular coincidence in his history his license to preach, signed by Rev. J. B. Finley, bears date a few years later, but on the same day of the same month on which he was converted. This was always with him a marked day, and observed with peculiar religious devotion. No other anniversary of his life affected him in the same way, or seemed to make so deep an impression on his mind.

He began an itinerant life in 1817, traveling "Chautauqua Circuit" under the Elder. His departure from home he thus describes: "On Tuesday, the 7th day of December, 1817, I left my little all, a widowed mother, four sisters, and two brothers, with a class of feelings I cannot describe. My youngest brother fled from the house when the time came for me to leave. I tied up my pocket Bible, Hymn Book, Discipline, and some clothes in a handkerchief, and took my line of march on foot for my field of labor, nearly two hundred miles distant."

Rev. Curtis Goddard, a most devout man, was his first colleague; and "Chautauqua Circuit," his field of toil, equaled in extent some European principalities, and even kingdoms. He thus describes it: "Commencing at Big Broken Straw, (now Youngsville,) thence up the Alleghany River to Warren and Kenzua, thence in a zigzag course to the outlet of Chautauqua Lake, (now Jamestown, N. Y.,) thence up on the north side of said lake to Mayville, thence to the shores of Lake Erie, thence down said lake to Walnut Creek and Conewonga to old Brother Kent's, thence across the country to Silver Creek, thence up the lake to Erie, Pa., thence to Luther Stone's and across the country to Mayville, thence down the north side of Chautauqua Lake to Tupper's and Chambers's, thence through a hemlock and pine wilderness to Little Broken Straw, thence down said stream to place of beginning. The distance around the circuit was between three hundred and four hundred miles, preaching thirty or forty times each round." Such was his first field; and his labors, hardships, and privations were abundant. Not less marked was his success. He organized many new societies, and built the first church on the circuit.

At the session of the Ohio Conference, held in Steubenville in 1818, he was received on trial with eighteen other brethren, of whom Dr. Charles Elliott is now the sole survivor. He was appointed, with Arthur W. Elliott, to Piqua Circuit, and had a year of prosperity. In 1819 he was sent to Zanesville Circuit with Thomas A. Morris, now our senior Bishop. In 1820 he was appointed to Tuscarawas Circuit, but at the end of six months was removed by his Presiding Elder, Wm. Swayze, to make room for Rev. W. Cunningham, and was sent to Cross Creek Circuit with Dr. Adams. In 1821 he was sent to New Castle Circuit, but before reaching it was requested to take charge of Steubenville Station, in place of John A. Waterman, who was then very sick and not expected to live. At the end of the first quarter, however, Waterman had so far recovered as to take his place, and he was then sent to Beaver Circuit. We can only indicate in brief his subsequent appointments. In 1822 he was appointed to West Wheeling Circuit; in 1823, to Cross Creek Circuit; in 1824, to Little Kanawha Circuit, and this year he was married; in 1825, Monongalia Circuit; in 1826, Short Creek Circuit; in 1827–28, West Wheeling Circuit; in 1829–30, Barnesville Circuit; in 1830–31, Cross Creek Circuit; in 1832, Williamsport Circuit; in 1833, Beallsville Circuit; in 1834, Alleghanytown Station; in 1835, Wellsburg; in 1836, Steubenville District; in 1837–39, Wheeling District; in 1840, St. Clairsville Station; in 1841, Washington Station; in 1842, Triadelphia Circuit; in 1843, Steubenville Station; in 1844–45, Barnesville District; in 1846–47, Cambridge District; in 1848–49, South Common Station, Alleghany; in 1850, East Liberty; in 1851–52, Manchester; in 1853, Martinsville; in 1854, Agent for Preachers' Aid Society; and in 1855 he was superannuated, and in that relation continued till death.

This is a life record, distinguished for long, active, laborious service, extending far back into the heroic age of Methodism, and standing in society with those grand, massive, noble spirits that planted Methodism along these hills and valleys and in the uprising towns and villages. Not least among Christian toilers so honored was Samuel R. Brockunier, wise in council, earnest and pathetic in the pulpit, affectionate in the social circle, a true man, an able minister of the New Testament, filling well every station of life. He was eminently successful in his fields of labor, having extensive revivals, gathering large numbers into the Church, and starting many young men in the work of the ministry. He was a man of great faith and prayer, punctually attending to family devotions morning and evening, visiting his closet after each meal, and often engaged in low ejaculatory petitions when sitting in his chair. The influence of piety so marked, yet unostentatious, is visible still in a well-ordered family, and in the tenderness and affection with which the memory of the departed husband and father is enshrined forever in their hearts. In the Church which he so faithfully and efficiently served, as well as in the home circle, he was revered and loved wherever known. And we have but to peruse the glowing tributes to his memory that appeared editorially in the Wheeling papers at the time of his death to obtain some idea of the high esteem entertained for him in the community where the last years of his life were spent.

After his superannuation he continued until within a year or two of his death to labor about as constantly and actively in pulpit service as if he had been in regular work. On special occasions, as at protracted meetings and camp-meetings, he was always a prominent worker. And to the very last he was called on not only for services in the pulpit, but in the sick room and at funerals; nor did he at any time refuse to go where good could be done. Yet for the last four or five years of his life his health was greatly impaired by a severe asthmatic affection. In April of 1866 his sons had him moved to the country, in the hope that fresh air might prove beneficial; but no permanent good resulted. While there he attended, whenever it was possible, the public means of grace at Scott's Meeting House, an appointment within the bounds of one of his early circuits, and occasionally, when able, preached for them. His last sermon was preached there; and it was expected that he would not survive to reach home. He recovered, however, and attempted to meet class sitting in his chair. So ended his public labors. The winter was spent in Wheeling. He was able to walk out at times, and twice to attend divine worship; but was mostly confined to his room. When taken back in the spring to the country he sank rapidly until death closed the scene. His sufferings were intense. He could not lie down, but night and day sat in his chair unable to find rest. Yet his faith failed not, and he often made his chamber of suffering vocal with words of praise and prayer, uttering with inexpressible emotion choice Scripture texts and beautiful verses from our hymns, and speaking words of comfort and holy Christian triumph to the weeping friends ever near. At one time while suffering a very severe paroxysm, and many tender hands were attempting to give relief in the gentle ministries of love, he repeated, gasping out a word at a time, that beautiful hymn beginning with

"Soon will the toilsome strife be o'er."

His brethren in the ministry frequently mingled in the company that lingered in his sick room, and found a mournful pleasure in witnessing his resignation and holy joy. To one of these he said: "My district, my circuit, my station are all reduced to the narrow compass of an arm chair; but through all my affliction my trust has been in the Rock of Ages." To another, just as he recovered from a severe paroxysm, he said in the words of the psalmist, and with labored breath: "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." Thoughts of heaven, "the sunbright clime" exempt forever from disease and death, ever kindled within him holy raptures. He had spoken of God having a thousand ways to bring believers home, and broke out in ecstasy, exclaiming, "Yes, home! home! home!" Speaking of a reunion of his family in the home of the good, he exclaimed, "Yes, that's the joy, that's the triumph, to find all in heaven!" These, and a thousand similar things, are cherished by the members of the broken family circle as precious legacies.

At the last his death, though long warded off by medical skill and affectionate home attentions, came suddenly. It was nearing the evening hour. He wished to be helped forward on his chair, made some exertion himself, and almost immediately breathed his last, calmly, no contortion, no convulsion; a single contraction of the heart, and all was over.

"How well he fell asleep,
Like some great river wid'ning toward the sea;
Calmly and grandly, silently and deep,
Life joined eternity."

2. Rev. Alexander Bell was received on trial in the Pittsburgh Annual Conference at its session in 1855, and placed on what was then called Graysville Mission. His subsequent appointments were Brownsville, Newport, Salem, Graysville, and Monroe; including in all a period of twelve years. Toward the close of his third year on Monroe Circuit his health became considerably impaired, and he was seriously threatened with an attack of apoplexy. At the Conference of 1867 he was placed, at his own request, in a superannuated relation. Soon after this he manifested alarming and increasing symptoms of mental derangement; and it was thought best by his friends to remove him to the asylum in the city of Columbus, that he might have the benefit of proper medical treatment. Here, on the 18th of November, 1867, he closed his earthly pilgrimage in a state of insanity.

Brother Bell was an earnest, faithful, and acceptable laborer in the ministry; and though it fell to his lot to cultivate some of our hardest fields, he did it willingly and with a good degree of success. His labor of love will long be remembered by many.

3. Rev. Thomas J. Higgins was born in Greene County, Pa., April 18, 1819. He experienced justifying grace at Rutledge's Meeting House, now within the bounds of the Springfield Circuit, December 19, 1837; and was licensed to preach by Rev. Robert Hopkins, January 13th, 1844. He was received on trial in the Pittsburgh Annual Conference at its session in 1846, and was appointed to Newport Circuit; he was afterward appointed to Barnesville, Woodsfield, M'Connellsville, Canton, Paris, Greensburgh, Indiana, Blairsville, New Brighton, and Richmond. In 1862 he was appointed to M'Connellsville District, where he labored acceptably and efficiently for two years; but being unable to endure the hardships of the district, he was compelled to retire, and was stationed in Kramer Chapel, Steubenville. His next appointment was Carrollton, and his last Mount Union. Here it pleased God to call our beloved brother from labor to reward. He died October 27th, 1867; but his end was peace. He gave full testimony that the power of that religion he had preached to others sustained and comforted him in view of approaching death.

Brother Higgins was a prudent, unassuming, and amiable Christian; a warm-hearted and faithful friend; and a preacher of more than ordinary abilities. His pulpit efforts were usually marked by clearness of thought, force of argument, earnestness of manner, and soundness of theological views. His removal from the walls of Zion is a loss to the Church, but to him it is doubtless an infinite gain.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

C. Giles, B. F. Brown, D. Ferguson, J. W. Cooper*—4.

1. Rev. CHARLES GILES was born near Fort Griswold, Conn., February 22, 1783, and closed his eventful life in the city of Syracuse, N. Y., August 30, 1867, aged 84 years.

His conversion to God was remarkable, and his call to the ministry was heeded without any compromise. In 1805 he was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference, and in 1808, at a session of the New York Conference, he was ordained Deacon. In 1810, July 20, at the first session of the Genesee Conference, his name appears. In 1829 he became identified with the Oneida Conference. When the Black River Conference was organized, in 1836, his name was recorded in its Minutes. With this body he wrought valiantly for God and man, and spent the remainder of his pilgrimage. He filled its most responsible charges, served as Presiding Elder, and was twice a delegate to the General Conference. His was the work of a real pioneer. His circuits were immense in size, which he traveled amid privation, self-denial, and suffering unknown to modern Methodist preachers. His first circuit embraced the territory now occupied by the Black River Conference, and about one third of the Oneida Conference. He was a self-made man; and in the departments of science, biblical knowledge, taste for the beautiful, and love of nature, his advancement inspired the people. Rich in fact, brilliant in thought, and intense in love for dying men, he was a man of vast power. Intellectual and emotional, his eloquence in the days of his prime was at times almost unearthly, and multitudes now sainted owe their conversion to his instrumentality. Amid privations and disabilities he kept the faith. At the name of Jesus his eye kindled with light, and his face flashed with intelligence, though superannuation and extreme suffering made his mind utterly oblivious to all earthly things.

He rests among the holy ones. His memory is enduring. His testimony for the truth is fixed in thousands of hearts. His voice mingles with the celestial chorals. Sing, shine, shout on, dear glorified brother! Thy mantle fall on us!

2. Rev. B. F. BROWN. Both physically and mentally Brother Brown was a remarkable man. His powerful and well-proportioned body with proper care and skill would have borne him triumphantly through labors and privations sufficient to overpower any ordinary man; but he had a mind and heart too large and too exacting for even his powers. The fires of his love and zeal burned so fiercely that all his self-control could not restrain his efforts within the bounds of his strength, and he had too soon to abandon the work he so much loved. His communion with God was not that of ordinary men. It was an absorbing, burning passion, which at any moment, whether in the prayer-meeting, the social circle, or the business interview, would seal up his consciousness to all earthly things, and prostrate his energies, to be gathered up by and by only to exert their first returning activity in uttering repeated shouts of "Glory to God!"

He died as he lived. He breathed out his life as if his soul had been released in answer to the rapturous prayer:

> O would he more of heaven bestow!
> And when the vessels break,
> Let our triumphant spirits go
> To grasp the God we seek.

In view of such a scene we ask triumphantly, "O, Death, where is thy sting?"

3. Rev. DAVID FERGUSON died in great peace February 28, 1868, in the town of Oswego, N. Y., in the fifty-ninth year of his age.

He was born in Western, Oneida County, and in May, 1831, was converted near Mexico, Oswego County. As early as 1837 he was employed by the Presiding Elder on Old Victory Circuit. The next year he was admitted on trial in the Conference, and appointed to North Manlius. He afterward served Hammond, Pierrepont Mission, Lisbon, Natural Bridge, Copenhagen, Ellisburgh, Pillar Point, Boonville, New London, Williamstown, Chateaugay, Norfolk, Parishville, Colton and Parishville, Hermon, Fort Jackson, Butler, and Oswego Center; thus continuing in the regular work for twenty-seven years. Four years ago, on account of failing health, he received a superannuated relation to the Conference, hoping that a brief respite from toil would recruit his wasted energies, and permit him to resume the work he loved so well. But in this he was disappointed. His mansion was ready, and God called him home.

Brother Ferguson was a good man, and a faithful and efficient minister of Jesus Christ. He exemplified in a consistent life the doctrines which he so earnestly preached to others, and shed a rich Christian influence upon all around him. He was a faithful Pastor, making Christ pre-eminent in all his intercourse with the people, and by close, pointed conversation led them to Christ and heaven. In the early part of his ministry especially revivals crowned his efforts, but his peculiar mission seemed to be to build up believers in the faith of the Gospel. As a preacher he was more solid than showy. His sermons were well arranged and full of thought, and listened to with pleasure and profit. He was a man of one work, true to his calling and faithful to his trust. He was found at his post till the Master said, "It is enough, come up higher." For nearly two years he suffered greatly from a scrofulous affection. His pain was often excruciating, but he suffered as a Christian. In him "patience had her perfect work," enabling him to say, "Thy will be done."

* Obituary not received.

Just before his departure he asked his friends to sing, and as they sung to him of heaven his spirit plumed its wings for immortality, and soon after took its flight to the home of angels and God.

"Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Z. H. Brown, K. Hadley, F. T. Daley*—3.

1. Rev. ZINA H. BROWN was born in Jericho, Vt., December 27, 1804, and died at Underhill, April 23, aged 62 years.

He was converted at the age of nineteen, licensed to exhort in 1840, and licensed as Local Preacher in 1843. He was employed on Fairfax Charge by the Presiding Elder in 1844–45. In 1846 he was admitted on trial in the Troy Conference, and appointed to Sheldon Circuit. He labored in Bakersfield and Enosburgh in 1847. He was admitted into full connection, ordained Deacon, and appointed again to Sheldon in 1848. In 1849 he was stationed at Swanton. In 1850 ordained Elder by Bishop Morris, and returned to Swanton. He also labored two years in each of the following charges: Franklin, Williston, Ferrisburgh, Brandon, and Starksborough. In 1861 he was stationed in Essex, and in 1862 received a superannuated relation; but the Preacher appointed to Cambridge failing in health he supplied that charge most of the year. In 1863 he was stationed at Stowe, and in 1864 appointed to the charge of St. Alban's District, which he occupied two years, when his health compelled him to retire from the effective ranks.

His sermons were perspicuous, instructive, dignified, and chaste. He was a Methodist of the old stamp, a lover of the peculiarities and institutions of the Church. With him there was no compromise of truth with error. He was open and manly in maintaining what he believed to be right, and in opposing what he regarded wrong. In September, 1866, he had a slight shock of paralysis, followed by bilious fever; from this he partially recovered, but on the 22d of April, 1867, while attempting to do some business, his writing became unintelligible, and he lost the power of speech. He arose, walked across the room as if looking for something, and seating himself again was soon discovered sinking from the chair. He soon became unconscious, and so remained until released by the Master, and welcomed by those who had already passed over upon the other shore. During the last two years of his effective service his uniform testimony in his love-feasts was, to an increase of his Christian faith, and a brightening of his prospects of a home in heaven. In a letter to one of his sons at a distance, a short time previous to his decease, he spoke of his departure, and expressed his firm faith and reliance upon his Saviour. To his companion he said, if called suddenly away, his last words would be, "My trust is in Jesus." Suddenly he was called, but it was only to an exchange of an earthly tabernacle for a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

* Obituary not received.

2. Rev. KIMBALL HADLEY was born in Rumney, N. H., November 5, 1814. He was converted at the age of fourteen years. After a long struggle with conscience, in June, 1842, he commenced to preach under the direction of Brother C. D. Cahoon, Presiding Elder, and that year labored on Warren Circuit, which included five or six towns. In 1843 he joined the New Hampshire Conference, and was stationed at Enfield. He also filled the following appointments: Walpole, Richmond and Hinsdale, Lempster, Haverhill, Gilmanton, Farmington and Milton, Hudson, Peterborough and Epping. In 1856 he was transferred to the Vermont Conference, and was stationed as follows: Wardsborough, Springfield, Proctorsville, Athens, Groton, Hardwick, and Albany. At several of these appointments there were glorious revivals, especially at Proctorsville and Groton. At the latter place the Church doubled its members. Also on Warren Circuit one hundred and twenty-five were converted. In 1867 Brother Hadley was stationed at Lunenburgh. March 14th he went to West Concord to exchange with Brother A. T. Bullard. On the 15th he preached in the morning, was suddenly taken ill at noon, and died in peace March 24th. His remains were carried to Rumney, N. H., and buried March 29th. Brother A. T. Bullard preached an able and comforting sermon on the resurrection from Col. iii, 4.

Brother Hadley was a faithful, clear, and excellent preacher, an attentive student, pursuing sciences more closely than many of his comrades. He was a brother beloved. He is gone "over" just before us. He standeth there beckoning us "onward and upward." In a letter before me from Sister Hadley she speaks of the great kindness manifested to her by Brother Bullard during the sickness and burial of her husband, and further says, "I feel very greatly afflicted; still the Lord sustains me. I have always loved the itinerancy, but my dear husband has taken his last appointment. It is a good one. I have no doubt of his happiness. My heart is bleeding, but the Lord is pouring in the balm to heal the wound."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Gorham Greeley.

Rev. GORHAM GREELEY was born in Readfield, Maine, December 16, 1801, and died in Belgrade, Maine, December 17, 1867, aged 66. He was converted to God at the age of fifteen, commenced preaching at eighteen, and admitted on trial to the New England Conference at the age of twenty, and was appointed to Georgetown, Maine, in 1821, and when the Maine Conference was organized in 1824 he became a member of that body, and continued to take appointments therein till 1844, when he was made superannuated. Unable to preach, he continued to attend class and prayer meetings and other means of grace. In January, 1863, he was employed by the American Missionary Association to labor among the Freedmen. He was enabled to perform a considerable amount of service, attended with good success, in the conversion of souls and the quickening of the Churches where he labored. In this work he took great satisfaction. Prostrated by an attack of malarial fever, in August, 1867, by the advice of his physician he returned to his native state, hoping to recover his health. Disappointed in this, yet he was so sustained by divine grace and cheered by a consciousness of the Divine Presence, that he could say, "Not my will but thine be done." To his wife one morning he said, "Last night I had the deepest communion with God that I ever enjoyed. I never before experienced so great a blessing." Brother Greeley was a good man, a faithful, devoted minister. Though not what is usually called a popular preacher, yet his modest deportment, refined manners, and chaste language rendered him an acceptable one, and God blessed his labors in the salvation of souls.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. Palmer.

Rev. W. PALMER was born in the State of New York November, 1812; he was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1834. He received license as an Exhorter in 1838, and as a Local Preacher in 1841. Having traveled nearly two years under the Elder he entered the itinerant ranks, where he labored as a devoted minister of Christ eight years, when by reason of failing health he asked a superannuated relation, occupying his time on his farm, and preaching as opportunity and strength would permit. He was ordained Deacon September 2, 1842, by Bishop Waugh, and Elder in 1856 by Bishop Baker. He was deeply devoted to the work of the ministry, and was successful in winning souls to Christ. He was kind, genial, and unassuming in his deportment. He said to his Presiding Elder about two weeks before his death, "Report me ready for work at Conference;" but his labors were about ended. The following day he was seized with inflammation of the lungs, and after a brief and severe illness he fell asleep in Christ in Warsaw, Indiana. A few moments before his departure, when all present thought him unconscious, he opened his eyes and said to his weeping wife, "I am permitted to return and say to you, Trust in Jesus." He left in his last and dying expressions much to comfort his bereaved and desolate widow and numerous friends, whom he has left for the society of the glorified in heaven.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

H. L. Bray, L. L. Shaw, J. Atwell—3.

1. Rev. HORACE L. BRAY was born at East Vassalborough March 19, 1831, and died in Thomaston February 21, 1868, aged thirty-seven years.

Favored with tender religious instruction, he received serious impressions in very early life. He publicly professed faith in Christ at the age of eighteen years under the labors of Rev. Charles C. Cone. It is believed that he was early conscious of a call to the ministerial work. His educational privileges were superior to those possessed by many of his brethren. He shared the advantages of Lincoln Academy, and also passed two years at Waterville College. Yielding to his convictions of duty, and accepting the Master's call to labor in his vineyard, he commenced preaching the Gospel in Arrowsic under the Presiding Elder in June, 1854, where he was blessed with a gracious revival. Thus it was early manifested to the Church that no mistake had been made in accepting the youthful hero of the cross.

In 1855 Brother Bray was received as a probationer in the East Maine Conference, and appointed to Pittston and Chelsea charge; in 1856 reappointed to the same charge; in 1857 stationed in Unity; in 1858 admitted into full connection, ordained Deacon, and appointed to Hudson and Bradford; in 1859 made supernumerary, and stationed at Brewer; in 1860 ordained Elder by Bishop Janes, and appointed to East Corinth; in 1861 made supernumerary, and at his request, by reason of feeble health, left without an appointment. During the year his health improved, and he preached six months at Beekman Hill Church, New York city; superannuated in 1862; joined the Twelfth Maine Regiment as Chaplain on the 19th of February, 1863, and arrived home on the 20th of August following. Ill health compelled him to retire from his interesting work in the army. In 1864 superannuated; at New Castle in 1865–6 as a supernumerary; in 1867 was placed on the superannuated list, which relation he sustained at the time of his death. He was married to Miss Mary E. Lennox, of New Castle, April 3, 1860. Their only child passed on before and awaited him in the Golden City.

Our departed brother possessed a rich experience in the deep things of God. During his pastorate in New York city he consecrated himself unreservedly to Christ, and gained the joyful assurance that "His blood cleanseth from all sin." Thus was formed a new era in his Christian life, and henceforth he was enabled from the treasures of his own experience to present Jesus as a complete Saviour. His brethren remember with tearful interest his earnest exhortations to holy living. For many years he labored under the embarrassment of very feeble health. "I live and preach," said he, "with only a thin curtain between me and eternity." When he lay down amid the shadows of this earth to pass the weary night, he felt that the shadows of eternity might fall upon him amid his slumbers. This abiding consciousness of life's brevity produced seriousness in his discourses, and often in the solemn appeal to his fellow-men he appeared as one who was soon to depart to enjoy the full reality of the truth presented. All respected him as a sincere and devoted Christian, and highly was he valued as an able minister of the New Testament.

Brother Bray was progressive, and even radical in the just sense of the term. He retained his interest in the active movements of the Church till life's latest hour. He encouraged Christian benevolence by precept and example, and was fully awake to every true moral reform. United in him were the sterner and milder graces of the Christian character. His heart beat in unison with the Saviour's, and in sympathy with the suffering. With the deep earnestness of a Christian heart he laid hold upon fallen humanity to lift it up to God. The great Master has early called him to his reward.

2. Rev. LEVI L. SHAW was born in Frankfort, Maine, (new Winterport,) September 4, 1822, and died in Newburyport, Mass., August 17, 1867, aged forty-five years.

The following, relating to his early life and convictions of duty, is from his own pen: "I was a subject of pious conviction from my earliest recollection. In fact, I cannot remember when I did not pray to God. During my childhood and youth I lived a very serious life on account of being under constant conviction. I received the impression in early youth that if I lived to be a man I would have to preach the Gospel. This led to a diligent reading and searching of the Scriptures. After having labored in vain for a number of years to be a Bible Christian, and keep it entirely to myself, I came to the manly conclusion to obey God fully and submit all into his hands. On the 17th of November, 1842, my soul was born from above. The work was clear and powerful. Received baptism and Church-fellowship as early as practicable."

Brother Shaw received license as a Local Preacher in 1846; was ordained Local Deacon in 1850 by Bishop Morris; in 1851 he was received as a probationer in the East Maine Conference and appointed to Brownville; in 1852 returned to the same charge. Subsequently he received the following appointments: In 1853–4 Dover and Atkinson; in 1855 ordained Elder by Bishop Ames and appointed to Corinna; in 1856 Lincoln; in 1857 Searsmont and Appleton; in 1858–9 Unity; in 1860 his health became impaired and he took a superannuated relation, which relation he sustained until called to the rewards of the Church in her triumphant state. During the time of his superannuation he labored for longer or shorter periods, and with acceptability, upon Bristol, Waldoborough, and South Vassalborough charges. He also served in the army as delegate of the Christian Commission. Thus he employed his time and strength as best he could in his chosen and loved work. Even amid weariness he regarded it as a pleasure to labor for Christ.

Brother Shaw was a conscientious and active laborer in the vineyard of the Lord. He possessed a clear and logical mind, and as a result system and order were very generally manifested in his discourses. He was bold and fearless in the presentation of divine truth. Naturally and religiously hopeful he received the allotments peculiar to his station, as coming from the hand of Providence; and with an eye single to the honor of Him who said, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature," he sought to spread the word of truth and win the wayward to God. During the period of declining health he was social, genial, and patient; a living exhibition of the power of divine grace to sustain in the severest trials. His bodily anguish the last few days of his life was extreme; yet in answer to prayer he was enabled to be patient and joyful to the end. His last words were expressive of signal victory. He has filled up his short life with labors for the welfare of the Church, and has gone to the heavenly world to receive the rewards of the faithful.

3. Rev. JOHN ATWELL was born in the town of Grafton, N. H., March 26, 1788, and died in Orono, Me., May, 30, 1868, aged eighty years. He was converted to God in early youth, entered the itinerant ministry in 1810, and was appointed to Tuftonborough, N. H. From this time until he received his last appointment in Orono, in 1858–9, he received annual appointments without interruption, and in the following order, namely: In 1811, Boothbay; 1812, Union; 1813, Orrington; 1814–5, Hallowell; 1816, Industry; 1817, Norridgewock; 1818, Industry; 1819, Hampden; 1820, Readfield; 1821, Exeter; 1822, Pittston; 1823, Vassalborough; 1824, Readfield; 1825–6, Livermore; 1827, Kent's Hill; 1828–9, Gardiner; 1830–1, Bowdoinham and Richmond; 1832, Bath; 1833, Wiscasset; 1834–5, Saco; 1836–7, Westbrook; 1838–9, Hampden; 1840, Orono; 1841, East Thomaston; 1842–3, North Bucksport; 1844–5, Belfast; 1846–7, Orrington; 1848, Bangor; 1849–50, Rockland; 1851–2, Castine; 1853-4, Hampden; 1855–6, Upper Stillwater; 1857–8, Orono. In 1859 he received a supernumerary relation and continued to reside in Orono, where he remained until he went to reside with the good in heaven. In 1860 he was superannuated. During the years 1859–60 he supplied the pulpits of Brick Chapel, Bangor, Oldtown, and Eddington part of the time. Since which time he preached as he had opportunity and strength.

Father Atwell was a man of good common sense, and, as might be expected, a practical man. He took a practical view of all matters that came under his observation. He was diligent and faithful in his Master's work. He was not educated in the schools, but upon the circuit, and here he obtained knowledge valuable to himself and profitable to his fellow-men. Upon the large circuits which he traveled in his earlier ministry he had better opportunities for the study of his own heart, the demands of a perishing world, the value of the human soul and the requirements of heaven, than for the study of books. However, he carefully studied the works of the Church of his time. His Christian experience was deep and thorough. His motto was, "Holiness to the Lord!" In a letter written to a friend in 1842 he said, "I am the Lord's, body and soul, for time and eternity." He was prudent in the management of all matters upon the charges where he labored. Societies were never involved in difficulties, but were often relieved from embarrassments by his timely and wise counsels. He possessed an almost unbounded charity. He believed evil of no one without good evidence, and put the best construction upon every thing. Nor did he speak evil of any one, but sought to find and bring forth the virtues of his fellow-men. As a preacher he was acceptable and useful, fluent in speech, earnest and deeply devotional in his manner. He not only taught publicly, but "from house to house." He witnessed gracious revivals upon nearly all his charges. In the letter already referred to he remarked, "I reflect with pleasure upon the hundreds I have seen hopefully converted to God, a large number of whom have died in peace and now rest in heaven, and many more are on the way, some in the ministry and others in the membership. I have seen many cloudy and dark days; but God has been my salvation hitherto, and I adore that mercy that has sustained me to the present. What remains for me is known only to Him who sees from beginning to end. My heavenly Father has given me an unusual degree of health for this long period of time, and I suppose that I have better health than any preacher of my acquaintance that has labored so long a period. To God be all the glory!" He was interested in life's affairs until his closing day. The night before his death he rested as well as usual, and at dawn his wife talked with him and found him comfortable. She lay down again for a season of rest, and awoke at six o'clock only to close his eyes in death. Thus suddenly but peacefully did the spirit of our venerable father in Israel ascend unto the heavens. "Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. S. Elsey.

Rev. W. S. ELSEY was born in Somerset County, Maryland, in the year 1805. At an early period in his life he removed to Cambridge, Md. At this place, under the preaching of the word of God, he was convinced of sin, and sought and found salvation through Jesus Christ our Lord. Faithful in the various relations of the Church, he in due time became a licensed local preacher and labored with great acceptance, and was successful in winning souls to Christ. He was one of the original members of the Delaware Annual Conference, organized in July, 1864. For three years he was Presiding Elder of the Choptank District. At the last session of the conference in Chestertown, Md., it was perceived his health was rapidly failing, and that his work was nearly done. He peacefully fell asleep in Jesus August 5, 1867, aged sixty-two. To all human appearances he was needed; but God saw best to remove him, and we are left to mourn.

Our departed brother was a good scholar, a plain and practical preacher, exact in all his business relations, and rendered the Church important service by his counsels and labors. But good and useful as he was, he has fallen and rests from his labors, and his works follow him.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

S. L. Congdon, John Robinson—2.

1. Rev. SYLVESTER CONGDON was born in Rhinebeck, Duchess County, N. Y., January 26, 1826, and died May 27, 1868, in the forty-third year of his age. He became a subject of converting grace and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, in Elmira, at the age of seventeen. In 1847, at the age of twenty-one, he was received on trial in the Genesee Conference, and stationed at Mecklenburgh and Hector, with E. H. Cranmer as his colleague. In 1840 he was appointed to Tyrone and Jefferson, with Chandler Wheeler. At the close of this year he was received into full connection and ordained Deacon at Elmira. There are many of us that retain a distinct recollection of the clear and edifying relation of his experience and call to the ministry on that occasion, an experience which has been beautifully demonstrated in his subsequent life. That year (1849) he was appointed to Barrington, and in 1850 to Rochester, North-street. In 1851 he was ordained Elder, and stationed at Clifton and Manchester. During this year he was married to Miss Laura Adgate, who, after sharing his itinerant labors for sixteen years, is now left to mourn the loss of a husband always sympathizing, affectionate, and kind. From 1852 to 1858 his appointments were: Rochester, Third Church; Port Gibson; Trumansburgh; Sodus; Rochester, Frank-street, and Elmira, Hedding Church. From 1859 to 1863 he was Presiding Elder of the Bath District, and a delegate to the General Conference in 1864. From 1863 to 1867 he was Presiding Elder of Elmira District. This office he sustained for eight years with great credit to himself and decided usefulness to the Church. At the close of his labors on the Elmira District, the Church at Corning, which had been in his district for eight years, desired him as its pastor, and he was accordingly appointed. Here his labors were greatly blessed in the quickened piety of the Church, and the conversion of many precious souls.

Among the mourners at his death was a class of converts who were waiting to receive baptism at his hands. With an enfeebled constitution, worn down by the extra labor of the previous winter, he was called in a remarkable manner to illustrate the more passive graces of the religion he had so faithfully taught. In the death of the three younger of his children, all within a week, and the severe illness of the others, he endured an affliction of unusual severity. His feelings while passing through this fiery ordeal are best expressed in the following extract from an unfinished letter written a few days before his death: "My dear brother, the Lord's hand is heavy upon us. We should have grieved over the death of either of our household pets. But terrible were the days and nights when we watched for little else than the coming of the 'angel of death,' when we turned from the 'tenantless house' to watch the slow ebbing of life in another, without a hope to cheer the gloom. First Eddie died—went to sleep in Jesus, April 25. In about a month he would have been six years old. That night Bertie was taken down sick. The next day baby was taken down. The next day, April 27, Wallie died, a sprightly boy, full of joy, wanting a few days of four years. During this week Chester, our oldest, was very sick, but toward the latter part began to recover, while the baby and Bertie grew rapidly worse. Two or three times the nurses supposed Bertie to be dying. On Saturday evening, May 2, baby Nellie died, and the physician said Bertie might possibly live until morning. In those darkest hours there were two or three moments of bitterness. I was ready to exclaim, O, Saviour, let us all come home to thee! But God gave me grace to say, 'It is the Lord; let him do what seemeth good in his sight.'"

This testimony to the faithfulness of God as affording a sufficiency of grace for the day of trial was the last record of his pen. The disease which terminated his life was typhoid pneumonia. When it became probable that he would not recover, he set his house in order to depart. The day previous to his death he took an affectionate leave of his family, giving them his last and dying counsel and blessing. Rev. J. N. Brown, who was present, says this was a most affecting scene, and attended with a faith and unction which he had scarcely ever witnessed before. After this, Brother Brown asked him if had any word to send to his brethren of the Conference, to which he replied, "Yes; tell my brethren that I set up no defense and offer no apology for my very poor, feeble, and imperfect effort in preaching Jesus; but I leave them all, with myself, at the foot of the cross to be covered all over with the atoning blood; I have no other trust. O how worthless and empty all earthly things seem to me now! How empty is all the world without Jesus! Tell my brethren that I love them dearly, and hope soon to greet them on the other side of the river. O how precious to feel that I am saved by the blood of Jesus Christ! that his blood can save such a poor, unworthy sinner as I am! I never felt before as I feel now the preciousness of the words of Mr. Wesley,

'I the chief of sinners am,
But Jesus died for me.'

Yes, for me, even for me!" When his wife requested him to be careful of his strength and rest a little, he replied, "O, Laura, I must talk, for I have but a little time, and my thoughts are now turning toward the other shore. O, my dear wife, I know it seems cruel for me to rejoice in prospect of going home when I know how much you need me here; but I cannot help it: I long to be up yonder." The above is only a small part of his dying testimony. His last words, while passing through the valley, were, "There is light ahead!" Thus ended a life which from early youth had been consecrated to God, twenty-one years of which had been employed in the ministry.

As a man he was endowed with a clear and comprehensive mind. His ready perception and clear discrimination between truth and error, right and wrong, with his characteristic conscientiousness, led him almost certainly to take the right position on all the great practical questions of his time, whether of Church or of State. On no such question was he ever long undecided or neutral. If not extreme, he was never lukewarm. In social converse he was genial, lively, and instructing. As a Christian he exemplified the spirit of Christ in humility, love, and zeal. His religion was not an appendage; but it was the vital part of himself, the very soul of his character: not something put on, but an internal principle of spiritual life, derived from a vital union with Christ. It was more than a principle; it was an ever-glowing passion. "The love of Christ constrained" him. As a minister of Christ he had few superiors. He was eminently evangelical and practical. He made no effort at rhetorical display. His aim was not to please a fastidious taste, but to present the truth clearly that it might be seen, and forcibly that it might be felt. In this he seldom failed.

To his family his death is a sad bereavement. To the Church it seems a great loss that one giving so great promise for the future should be cut down in the very prime of life. But God's ways, though inscrutable, are always directed by unerring wisdom and unchanging goodness. "He being dead, yet speaketh."

2. Rev. JOHN ROBINSON was born in the County of Wicklow, Ireland, August 14, 1801. He was converted to God in the fourteenth year of his age, and emigrated with his parents to the United States in 1818. Soon after the arrival of the family he identified himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church at Fishkill, N. Y.

In 1823 he moved with his parents to South Sodus, Wayne County, N. Y. Then they had no religious meetings; but finding a man of like spirit with himself, they established prayer meetings from house to house. A glorious revival, in which scores of sinners were converted, was the result. Rev. B. Sabin and Rev. W. Kent, then on the Lyons Circuit, were sent for. They organized two societies. In one of these societies the South Sodus Church had its origin. About this period he received license as a Local Preacher; extending his labors as far as Clyde, where as yet they had no Methodist Episcopal Church organized. There, also, his labors were owned of God in the awakening and conversion of nearly one hundred souls. There he labored two years under the Presiding Elder, Rev. A. Chase. In 1832 he was received on trial as an ordained Deacon in the Genesee Conference, and was appointed to the following charges: Leroy, Mount Morris, Bloomfield, Victor, Livonia, Vienna, Barrington, Pultneyville, Webster, Cokesbury, Richmond, North Bloomfield, Henrietta, Sodus, Springwater, Hector, Jacksonville, Junius, Alton, Marion, Baldwin, Thurston, Avoca, Caton, Pine Creek, and Jackson. On many of these charges there was a commendable increase in the membership during his ministry, as may be seen by the Minutes of the Conference.

In 1826 he was united in marriage to Mrs. Ninde, the excellent mother of the late Rev. W. W. Ninde and Rev. G. Ninde, both of precious memory. Under his religious culture these step-children were converted and called to the ministry, and others converted in some of his revivals have entered the same field of usefulness. Another youth, while looking in Nova Scotia for a literary institution at which to spend a few years, was induced by a letter received from the deceased to spend these years at Lima, and that has since resulted in twenty-six years of ministerial service within the bounds of the East Genesee Conference.

The deceased having spent the early years of his ministry in the work when very incompetent salaries were paid by the Church, the patrimony which both himself and his second wife had left them by their parents is nearly all spent, leaving a dependent widow and three daughters to look to the Church for a living. If the world provides for the support of the widow and orphan children of the patriotic soldier, who may have spent only a few months in his country's service, surely the Church should provide for the widow and children of him who has spent a lifetime, and also his patrimony, in her service.

During the Centenary year Brother Robinson was reappointed to his last charge. There his health failed, and after a lingering illness, in which he evinced much Christian fortitude, he closed his earthly pilgrimage in Starkey, Yates County, N. Y., January 9, 1868. Near the close of life he wrote, "If my dear wife and I had to begin life anew, we should choose life in the itinerancy rather than gold and silver, or any other earthly advantage." They had respect unto the recompense of the reward, upon which our departed brother has safely and triumphantly entered.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

P. D. Horton.

Rev. PETER D. HORTON was born in Orange County, N. Y., December 11, 1796. In 1817 he made profession of religion, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in Phelps, N. Y. He became an Exhorter in 1821; was admitted into the Genesee Conference on trial in 1824 and stationed at Northeast, Pa., and in 1825 at Chautauqua, N. Y. He then joined the Pittsburgh Conference, and was ordained Deacon in 1826, and Elder in 1828. He filled various charges. Since 1848 he had been in superannuation from feebleness of health. As a preacher he was vigorous and studious, making his sermons "usually short and always edifying." As a Christian he led a life of innocence, faith, and charity. He went to his rest from Nelson, Ohio, December 21, 1867. His funeral was conducted by his venerable fellow-laborer, Rev. Hiram Kinsley. "The end of that man is peace."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. M. Hevener, J. Shank, I. C. Cochran, J. A. Baughman, George Smith—5.

1. Rev. WILLIAM M. HEVENER died at Owasso, Mich., October 1867, aged sixty-one years. He was born in Asbury, Warren County, N. J., and at the age of twenty-one was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in Paterson, N. J., in 1825. He then felt that he was called to preach, and received a license as a Local Preacher in 1838, and was ordained a Deacon by Bishop Waugh in 1843, in Troy, N. Y. In 1854 he was admitted to the Michigan Conference on trial, and stationed in Brighton in 1855; he became a member of the Detroit Conference in 1856. In 1858 he was ordained Elder. His appointments in this Conference have been Plymouth, two years; Milford, two years; Lapeer, two years; Mount Clemens, two years; Clarkston, one year. He then, on account of poor health, took a superannuated relation, and soon after was called to rest in heaven. Brother Hevener was a faithful and useful preacher, uniformly acceptable and successful. His end was peaceful.

2. Rev. JOSEPH SHANK died at Fentonville, Mich., September 30, 1867, aged nearly forty-nine years. He was born in Schoharie, N. Y., and was converted at the age of twenty. In 1841 he was licensed to preach, and soon after joined the Oneida Conference. In 1864 he was transferred to the Detroit Conference, and stationed at Fentonville, where he remained two years. In 1866 he was appointed to Franklin, but in the winter, while laboring in a protracted meeting, his health gave way. He made a trip to the sea-coast to recover his health, but in vain, and returned to Fentonville, Mich., in July 1867, rapidly sinking. He was an earnest, devoted, and useful preacher. His last days were triumphant. His death-scene was peculiar, and made a deep impression upon those who witnessed it and upon the community. Seeming to imagine himself in a prayer-meeting, he insisted upon leaving his bed, knelt down by its side, and poured out a fervent and comprehensive prayer, called upon others to follow, and after a brief pause lifted up his hands and pronounced the benediction. He never spoke afterward. He literally "ceased at once to work and live." "He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him."

3. Rev. I. C. COCHRAN died October 25, 1867, in Utica, Mich., aged forty-six years. He was born in Vermont, and came to Michigan at the age of seventeen. He was converted in early life, and joined the Presbyterian Church. For several years he was a successful teacher, and in 1853 he became the principal of Clarkston Academy. As there was no Presbyterian society there, and as he was in perfect harmony with our doctrines and usages, he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was a faithful and useful layman. In 1861 he was admitted to the Conference on trial, and stationed at Holly, where he remained two years. In 1863 he was admitted into full connection, and stationed at Saginaw City, and the next year at Owasso. In 1865–66 he was supernumerary, and was principal of the Union School in Owasso, preaching every Sabbath. In 1867 he was made "effective," and stationed at Utica. Here he preached but three Sabbaths before he was seized by his last illness. He attended the last Conference in good health, and but about six weeks before his death read the Report of the Committee on "Memoirs," little thinking that in so short a time he also would join the Church triumphant in heaven.

Brother Cochran had a cultivated mind and a sanctified heart. His death was more than peaceful. "I expect to die a triumphant death if my work is done," said he; "but if the Lord has any thing more for me to do I shall recover." Among his last words were, "All is well!" A wife and three children mourn his loss. His body slumbers by the side of a beloved child in Clarkston, awaiting the resurrection of the just.

4. Rev. JOHN A. BAUGHMAN died in Detroit, Mich., March 1, 1868, aged sixty-five years. He was born in Harford County, Md., but early removed to Ohio, where, at the age of nineteen, he was converted, and united with the Ohio Conference on trial in 1823, and from that time to the year of his death was an active, energetic, and successful preacher of the Gospel, the only partial interruption being that he sustained a supernumerary relation in 1839. He labored twelve years in Ohio and thirty-two in Michigan. He was emphatically a pioneer preacher in both States, being in many places the first man to preach the Gospel to the people. His first two years in the ministry, 1823–24, were spent successively at Piqua and Oxford, Ohio. He then visited the far-off wilderness of Michigan and traveled the Detroit Circuit in 1825–26, and the next year Monroe Circuit. These two circuits at that time embraced whole counties, and were almost entirely without roads, and with a few scattered settlements at great distances from each other, and many of the places he could visit but once or twice during the whole year. The next year, 1827–28, he was stationed at Cincinnati, and subsequently at Hamilton, Greenville, Eaton, Milford, Union, White Oak, and Lebanon. In 1838 he was transferred to the Michigan Conference, and stationed at Monroe. His appointments in this Conference have been as follows: Tecumseh, Ann Arbor, Adrian, Dexter, Detroit First Church; Agent of the Bible Society four years; Presiding Elder of Detroit three years; Agent of the Conference Tract Society one year; Walnut-street, Detroit; Mount Clemens and Lee Chapel, Birmingham; Walnut-street again, and French Mission, Flint, Hudson, Adrian again, Clifton, Hancock, Houghton, and Lexington. He received forty-three appointments from the Bishop, and never failed heartily to do the work assigned him. He was a man of extraordinary physical strength, with a loud voice, a cheerful temper, and untiring industry. He was a warm-hearted Methodist minister, of strong faith, and greatly beloved of all, both children and adults. He was at home in the city or in the country, in family worship and pastoral visiting, or in the great camp-meeting. He attended every session of the Conference, and though he spoke but seldom he was always listened to with attention, and his counsel had great weight. He was a member of the General Conference of 1844, and correctly represented the sentiments of his Conference in that great struggle.

Brother Baughman labored in many revivals of religion during his long ministry, both on his own charges and with his brother ministers. He was an earnest evangelist. In the prime of his strength no man perhaps surpassed him in efficiency. For a short time during his ministry he was embarrassed with business difficulties, in which he was involved by others, but nothing could divert him from the great work of his life. He leaves a widow and two daughters to mourn his death. At the last session of this Conference, though seemingly in good health, he asked for a superannuated relation, stating that the fatigues of regular work wearied him, but expressed his intention still to labor for the Master, and hoping after a year or two to resume an efficient relation. He resided in Detroit, and with his accustomed energy aided the Presiding Elder and others, and was ready to respond to every call for assistance within his power. His last sermon was in February 16, 1868, in the Jefferson Avenue Church, Detroit, on "Faith, Hope, and Charity." He preached even with unusual fervor, and the power of the Holy Spirit was with him. Unable to preach in the evening of the same day, he was feeble afterward, but not alarmingly so, till on the night of March 1, without warning, he fell asleep in Jesus. He left no dying testimony, save that noblest and best, the history of his long life spent in the service of his Redeemer. Brother Baughman needs from us no eulogy. His labors will never be forgotten. As an advocate of abstinence from intoxicating drink, as an agent of the Bible Society, and as a preacher of the Gospel, he was known all over this State, and no man in it perhaps has contributed more to its genuine and solid prosperity. His exclamation, like ours, would be, "To God alone be all the glory!"

5. Rev. GEORGE SMITH died at his residence in Ann Arbor, May 4, 1868, aged fifty-nine years. He was born in Hampshire County, Virginia, but in early life was taken by his parents to Ohio, where he was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1830, at the age of twenty-one, he was licensed as a Local Preacher, and joined the Ohio Conference in 1833, and was appointed to Mount Gilead Circuit. The next year he traveled Doon Circuit. In 1835 he was ordained Deacon, and appointed to Medina Circuit. In 1836 he was appointed in charge of Mansfield Circuit. During this year the Michigan Conference was organized, and Brother Smith at its first session was ordained Elder, and stationed at Richfield for 1836–37. In 1838 he was married to Mrs. Elizabeth Smur, of Hudson County, Ohio, and the next September, at the second session of the Michigan Conference, was appointed Presiding Elder of the Detroit District. After filling this appointment four years he was Presiding Elder of Marshall District for four years. In 1846–47 he had charge of South Albion Circuit; in 1848, of Adrian; in 1849, of Ann Arbor; and in 1851 of Plymouth Circuit. From 1852 to 1856 he was Presiding Elder of Flint District, and from 1856 to 1860 Presiding Elder of Ann Arbor District. In 1860 he was appointed to Wayne Circuit, but from 1861 to 1865 he was again Presiding Elder of Adrian District. In 1865 he was stationed at Chelsea, and in 1866 he was again appointed Presiding Elder of Flint District, which position he held at the time of his death. Thus it will be seen that twenty-two out of the thirty-five years of his ministry, after he was admitted to the Conference, he held the office of Presiding Elder. His sound judgment, his comprehensive views, his impartial kindness, and the confidence in which others reposed in him, eminently fitted him for this responsible position. In all his appointments he was successful and useful, and many have been converted under his ministry. He was a hearty friend of the educational cause and of all the institutions of the Church. Careful, and rather inclined to be conservative in his views, and charitable toward all, he devoted himself to execute the demands of the Church, leaving it to others to change or modify its regulations. He was a member of the General Conference of 1844, and was one of the very few members from the Northern Conferences who voted against the action which led the Southern Conferences to secede from the Church. As a preacher Brother Smith was eminently earnest and practical, and thousands of people in all parts of our State will cherish his memory with deep affection. His last illness was sudden and protracted, and caused him great suffering; but though reluctant at first to give up his work, he bore his afflictions patiently, and with unfaltering confidence resigned his spirit into the arms of the Saviour. He deserves ever to be remembered as one of the pioneers of civilization and Christianity in the State of Michigan.

M. H. Hare, T. D. Boyles—2.

1. Rev. MICHAEL HUSTON HARE was born December 23, 1817, in Ross County, Ohio, and died July 27, 1868, in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, aged fifty years. At the age of fifteen he was converted at Rapid Forge, Ohio, and the next year connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church at the same place. He was licensed to preach when twenty-six years of age, in 1843, at Petersburgh, Ohio. At a Quarterly Conference of Highland Circuit, Ohio Conference, held July 19, 1845, he was recommended as a suitable person to be received into the traveling connection. On that recommendation he was received on trial into the Iowa Conference, at Burlington, September 2, 1845, among a class of fourteen, of whom were Michael See, John Harris, Landon Taylor, and the late John Jay. On Tuesday, September 2, 1847, he was received into full connection at Mount Pleasant, and was ordained Deacon by Bishop Waugh the following Sunday. August 12, 1849, he was ordained Elder by Bishop Janes at Fort Madison. He was Secretary of the Conference held at Burlington in 1852, reserve delegate to the General Conference of 1856, and a regular delegate to the General Conference of 1860. At the Conference held at Mount Pleasant in September 1865, in the temporary absence of the Bishop he was elected President of the Conference, receiving a very general vote. On the organization of the Thirty-Sixth Regiment of Iowa Infantry he was elected and appointed Chaplain, which relation he sustained until the close of the war; being the only chaplain from Iowa who served during the entire term for which the regiment was organized. He was mustered in, November 17, 1862, and honorably discharged in August, 1865, arriving at his home in Keosauqua September 10. Brother Hare was on the field during the entire day of the terrible attack of the rebels at Helena, July 4, 1863, serving as aid to his Colonel, where his coolness and bravery won him the respect of all, as well for his soldierly as for his ministerial qualities. He was captured April 25, 1864, at Mark's Mills, Arkansas, and at seven o'clock that afternoon started southward, and, without sleep or a particle of rations, was marched fifty-two miles after having been robbed of pocket-book, watch, blanket, knife, horse, saddle, and spurs, when rations in the shape of corn in the ear were served out to the prisoners. Arriving at Tyler prison after a most wearisome march, he remained nearly four months a prisoner, when he was liberated on parole. He never recovered from the effects of the terrible exposure and hardships of that march of five hundred miles and his subsequent imprisonment. Pulmonary consumption there began its deadly work, which ultimately brought him, in the midst of his usefulness, to the grave. He was appointed to the following charges during his ministry, all of which he filled: In 1845 to Farmington; 1846, White Breast Mission; 1847–48, New London; 1849, Keosauqua; 1850, Fort Des Moines; 1851, Iowa City Mission; 1852, Keokuk District, which he filled for four years; 1856–57, Asbury Charge, Mount Pleasant; 1858, University Charge, Mount Pleasant; 1859, Albia District, which he filled for nearly three years. In 1862 he was appointed Chaplain, and remained nearly three years; 1865, Old Zion Station, Burlington; 1866, Mount Pleasant Station; 1867, Keokuk District, where he "ceased at once to work and live." Thus for the space of nearly twenty-three years he battled manfully for Christ and humanity in circuits, districts, stations, missions, camps, and prisons, always with a noble and cheerful spirit. He died in great peace, and his body sleeps in the cemetery at Mount Pleasant, by the side of a Hammond, a Stewart, a Simpson, and a Worthington, all noble and venerated leaders in the great army who have fallen among us, and are now wearing their crowns of glory. He leaves a widow and seven children to the care of Him who has promised to be a father to the fatherless and the widow's judge. The members of the Iowa Conference have been made to feel by his departure that a great and good man has fallen in Israel.

2. Rev. THOMAS D. BOYLES was born in Randolph County, West Virginia, August 30, 1817, and died in Unionville, Appanoose County, Iowa, December 16, 1867. He was converted in Barbour County, West Virginia, in 1839, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church the same year. He was licensed a Local Preacher on Barbour Circuit, Virginia Conference, March 8, 1848; traveled Kingswood Circuit, 1851, under the Presiding Elder; was ordained a Local Deacon at Morgantown, Virginia, June 30, 1852, by Bishop Simpson, and the same year emigrated to Iowa. In 1855 he was admitted on trial in the Iowa Conference at Keokuk, and graduated into full membership in 1858 at Fairfield, and was ordained Elder by Bishop Janes at Oskaloosa in 1860. His appointments have been as follows: 1855, Boone Circuit; 1856–57, Bloomfield Circuit; 1858, Unionville Circuit, 1859–60, Sugar Creek; 1861–62, Bellair Circuit; 1863, Attica Circuit; 1864–65, Drakeville Circuit; 1866, Melrose Circuit, which was his last work. His health failed in June following his appointment to Melrose, and he was compelled to resign his charge. He then moved to Unionville, Iowa, where, after an illness of six months, he died in great peace. As a preacher Brother Boyles was emphatically practical, seeking not his own, but his Father's glory. As a son in the Gospel, he was obedient to the voice of the Church, always filling his appointments. He was with the Conference two years ago at Knoxville, but last year when the Conference met at Ottumwa he was not able to leave his room. He was granted by that session of the Conference a supernumerary relation. It was the privilege of the preacher stationed at Unionville often to be with him in his protracted illness, and, though his sufferings were great, he was never heard to utter a word of complaint, but would always say, when spoken to upon the subject, he was willing to live and ready to die. As he neared the stream he was not able to converse much with his friends. He said to his weeping wife a few hours before he died, "Weep not for me; all is well." He passed away without a struggle.

Thus has departed a kind husband and father, a good citizen, a consistent Christian, and a faithful minister. He leaves a wife, and a son aged nine years, and two married daughters to mourn his loss. The Church has lost a faithful servant; but God has recalled his own. He was buried with masonic honors.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Elijah Crane.

Rev. ELIJAH CRANE died in Litchfield, Michigan, April 23, 1868, in the sixty-eighth year of his age and the forty-seventh of his ministry. He was born at Bethel, Vermont, and was converted August 25, 1816, under the pastoral labors of Rev. Jacob Bremer. Connecting himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church in Bristol of the same State, at the age of eighteen years he was licensed to exhort. License to preach was given him in 1821, while employed as a supply on Saint Alban's Circuit. Joining the New York Conference on trial, in May, 1822, he was appointed to Chazee Circuit, and the year after to Whitehall, where he remained two years. He was ordained deacon and elder by Bishop George at the Conferences of 1824 and 1826, held in New York and Brooklyn. At the close of two years' labor on Sheldon Circuit he was married to Miss Elenthria Penniman, an estimable lady, who preceded him but a few months to the better land. Keeseville, St. Albans, Burlington, and Essex were successively blessed with his labors. In 1833, transferred by Bishop Hedding to the Ohio Conference, which included nearly all the territory of Michigan, he came to Marshall in this State. At ensuing Conferences he was appointed to Detroit, Plymouth, Marshall, Ann Arbor, Monroe District, Ypsilanti, Detroit District, Monroe, Coldwater, Constantine, Jonesville, Sturgis, Allen, South Albion and North Adams, with brief periods of superannuation intervening. In 1843 he was elected a delegate to the memorable General Conference of 1844. At the Conference of 1859 his name was finally stricken from the effective list. He continued, however, to the last his ministrations as opportunity and remaining strength permitted. Though never possessed of what might be termed a vigorous constitution, his life was nevertheless one of enterprise, of ceaseless activity. The numerous Church edifices that sprang up along his course, the powerful revivals that marked his progress as a pastor from charge to charge through all his earlier ministry, the general prosperity which everywhere attended all the interests of the Church under his supervision in later years, attest not only the native vigor of his spirit, but the just balance of his powers and the energies of a soul intensely devoted to God. But few men have ever had a higher or more just ideal as to the dignity and responsibility of the Christian ministry, and but few in the itinerant ranks have ever embodied in a more eminent degree the attributes of that high and just ideal in their ministerial character and history. The gravity of his bearing, the sacred authority of his ministrations, speaking always "as the oracles of God," the solemnity, fervor, and remarkable power of his appeals to God in prayer, constituted him, in these respects especially, a model minister. The fortitude with which he endured his last distressing sickness, the victories won by his exultant spirit over the terrors of approaching death, afforded a fitting close to a life so distinguished by divine mercy. On one occasion he said, "Do not detain me here by the expression of the slightest wish to God; I long to go;" and at another time, "I have felt for days past as though I was more an inhabitant of the spirit-world than of this." On the last Sabbath of his life, during the administration of the Lord's Supper in his sick room, his soul seemed overwhelmed with the "glorious discoveries of the atonement" made to him. "O that I could speak to these," he said, "of this wisdom of God, this glory of Christ!" The words "Glory, glory!" seemed breathed up as from a soul all on fire. Of his daughter, Mrs. Dougherty, he asked, "Do you recollect what Bunyan says of the land of Beulah?" On receiving an affirmative answer he said, "I know all about it now." Having made a final disposition of his worldly affairs, and bidden his friends farewell, with a "Thank God!" upon his lips he sank into a quiet slumber from which he waked only on the other side. Calmly as was the opening dawn, the shadows passed, and around him broke the cloudless morn of heaven.

Adam Poe.

ADAM POE was born in Columbiana County, Ohio, July 21, 1804. Such limited advantages as the times and the means of his parents afforded him for acquiring an education were eagerly embraced, and in the schools and by private tuition he secured the elements of a good English education, and some knowledge of the classics, and formed a taste for reading and study that continued through his whole life, and made him a thoroughly "well-informed man." His labors led him to circulate largely among the inhabitants of his own and sister states, and at the time of his death probably no man understood the history of the great West better than Adam Poe. He received his early Christian training and his consecration to God by baptism in the Presbyterian Church, and ever cherished for it a profound respect; but its distinctive doctrines did not find a response in his heart; and after careful examination and many severe spiritual conflicts he embraced the doctrines of religion as taught by the Methodist Episcopal Church, with the full assent of his intellect and judgment and heart, and with a soul rooted and grounded in the blessed Jesus as a Saviour for all, and with a heart thrilling with unutterable joy, he sought a home in her communion. He was very soon licensed to preach, and in 1827 became a traveling preacher in connection with the Ohio Annual Conference. Circuits then covered territories larger than some of our Annual Conferences now; but, shrinking from no toils, or sacrifices, or privations, with firm faith in the cause in which he had engaged, with a single purpose, and with a burning zeal, he labored on and on, and God crowned his labors with great success. In 1825 he married Miss Eliza Hosford, of Medina County, Ohio, who shared with him the privations and sacrifices, the joys and sorrows of his eventful career, and who now, with a son and two daughters, mourns her irreparable loss. Some seven years of his ministerial life were spent on circuits, six in stations, ten or eleven as Presiding Elder, one as Agent of the Ohio Wesleyan University, eight years as Assistant Book Agent at Cincinnati and eight as Principal Agent, and all with a determined purpose to do well the work committed to him by the Church of God. Those associated with him in the Book Concern during the sixteen years of his connection with it bear uniform testimony to his gentlemanly bearing, his wisdom, and success in managing its vast interests. Those associated with him in the regular work of the ministry declare with equal unanimity that he was true, generous, frank, unselfish, and uncomplaining. He was well versed in the doctrines and the polity of the Church of his choice, and ready and able to defend them whenever occasion required. His genial nature, his unfailing stock of reminiscences and anecdotes, and his happy manner of narration, rendered him a most agreeable companion. These resources of reminiscence and anecdote were often drawn upon by him in his pulpit efforts with singular propriety and effect. He enjoyed largely the confidence of the brethren of his Conference, and represented them seven times consecutively in the highest council of the Church. In 1862 Baldwin University conferred upon him the degree of D.D., an honor well earned, and borne with dignity and respect. Besides the successes that usually attend the labors of a faithful minister of the Gospel in gathering souls into the fold of Christ, and in building up the people of God in their most holy faith, and in which he shared very largely, he has left monuments of successful labor that shall continue to bless the world for ages to come. Bishop Clark at his funeral remarked truly, "He may almost be said to have been the founder of the Ohio Wesleyan University. His faith in the enterprise, and his devotion to it, were truly heroic. From its inception down to the hour of his death no personal or family interests were dearer to his heart than this grand central educational institution of the Church in the State of Ohio. He was a member of the Board of Trustees from the beginning, and now that he has fallen the Board will feel that its patriarch and hero has departed. Again, he was the instrument in the hand of God of the conversion of William (now Dr.) Nast, and of introducing him to the Ohio Annual Conference, by which he was received and sent out as the first missionary from the Methodist Episcopal Church to the German population of this country. That was the commencement of our German work that has spread itself all over our own country, including now hundreds of ministers and thousands of members, and has crossed the sea and planted itself in the heart of Germany and gathered a whole Annual Conference of ministers and members there in the "fatherland." Such monuments will endure.

Dr. Poe was a great sufferer. He received an injury in one of his limbs in his boyhood, which resulted in necrosis, and it is doubtful whether he saw a day during the last fifteen or even twenty years of his life in which he was free from pain. But no word of impatience or complaint escaped his lips, and he died as he had lived, loving God and devoted to his work, and hoping, as he said, "that God would have something for him to do on the other side of Jordan." He departed this life June 26, 1868.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. Hindall, W. B. Anderson, R. Holding, W. M. Evans, James A. Gunn—5.

1. Rev. WILLIAM HINDALL was born in Virginia, March 12, 1800, and died April 13, 1868, at his residence in Clinton, De Witt County, Illinois, aged sixty-eight years. He obtained the great salvation which he subsequently so long and faithfully preached to others when about twenty-four years of age. On January 30, 1823, about a year before his conversion, he united in marriage with Miss Nancy Martin, who died March 19, 1835, leaving him five children—two sons, William Henry and Thomas Hezekiah, and three daughters, Mary Leanna, Ann E., and Susan C., all of whom died before himself except Mrs. Ann E. Tidball. How long Brother Hindall officiated in the local ministry is not clearly ascertained—his widow thinks about five years. He entered upon his itinerant labors as a supply on the Carlyle Circuit, under the venerable Rev. Charles Holliday, Presiding Elder of the old Kaskaskia District, and was admitted on trial in the Illinois Conference at the close of that year, his connection with which was continued to the close of his laborious and useful life. About five years after his connection with the Conference, and in the seventh after the death of his former wife, he was married to Miss Elizabeth Morris Rucker, September 12, 1841. This marriage, like the former one, was a happy union of congenial spirits, and Sister Hindall, for Christ's sake and the salvation of souls, for which her husband labored, cheerfully shared with him the common sacrifices, toils, and sufferings incident to the life of itinerant ministers of the Gospel and their families. May the great Head of the Church graciously sustain her in this great bereavement, and gloriously compensate her companionship in those sacrifices, toils, and sufferings with her dearest of all earthly friends. In the absence of the minutes of the Conference a reliable statement cannot now be made of the various fields of ministerial labor which he occupied. Such a statement would be gratifying to many Churches and congregations he has served, and especially to those souls he has led to the cross of Christ. The following must suffice: he was five years a local preacher, twenty-six an efficient itinerant, traveling and preaching in various parts of the State, and six years a superannuated (but not exactly a "worn-out") preacher, extending his ministry at the calls of his brethren and friends to numerous places within reach of his home, preaching on Sabbaths, frequently holding two-days' and protracted meetings. Many doubtless will praise God forever for his faithful ministrations, and hundreds will recognize him as their spiritual father in Christ. Brother Hindall was an earnest Christian, a faithful minister, a good pastor, and an excellent disciplinarian. In his theological studies, next in importance to the Bible were Wesley's Sermons and Watson's Institutes. It is not, therefore, to be wondered at that he was thoroughly Methodistic; for these standard expositions of the doctrines, morals, and institutions of the Bible will make any diligent student whom God calls an "able minister of the new covenant." He was a genuine patriot. He loved his country; and, as the Gospel he preached denounces slavery of every description, and claims for God, the great Creator and Redeemer of the world, the exclusive ownership of each and every man, so he profoundly deprecated the existence of American slavery, and abhorred it as "the sum of all villainies." And perhaps no man more greatly admired President Lincoln's immortal proclamation of universal emancipation than did Rev. William Hindall. He was a regular reader of the "New York Tribune," and generally adhered to the political doctrines of that able and popular journal; but as an independent thinker he always dissented when he saw, or thought he saw, a divergence from the true or better policy. He was ecclesiastically, morally, and religiously, as well as politically, anti-slavery. From 1836, when the General Conference at Cincinnati was greatly excited by Rev. O. Scott and a few others advocating the abolition of slavery from the Church, resulting in the formation of the True Wesleyan Methodist Church, down to the great secession of Southern Methodism, (the chief corner-stone of whose "separate and distinct ecclesiastical organization" was slavery,) and all through, to the ultimate extirpation of this "great evil" from the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1864, Rev. William Hindall was always found in bold and unwavering antagonism to slavery, and the fast and earnest friend of universal freedom. When in 1859 the Illinois Conference had met in Danville, and it had been proposed throughout the Annual Conferences in one of three ways to change the General Rule on Slavery at the next General Conference, and our delegates were about to be elected and instructed in regard to the proposed change; and when the Committee of Eleven on Slavery reported in a majority of ten in favor of letting the Rule alone, and a minority of one in favor of such a change of the Rule as would make a clean sweep of slavery from the Church, Brother Hindall was one of the twenty-eight who voted for the minority report. And when, at the next session in Springfield, antislaveryism had obtained an overwhelming majority in the Conference, Brother Hindall was in the majority voting for the indorsement of General Fremont's proclamation of emancipation in Missouri. He was an affectionate husband, a kind father, a good citizen and neighbor, and most loved by those who knew him best. The writer has known and loved him since his connection with the Conference. We have been "true yoke-fellows," and labored together in the Lewiston, Bloomington, and Jacksonville Districts, and always in harmony and fellowship. Brother Hindall's illness was of about three months' duration, and from the first of it he doubted his recovery, but "throughout was greatly resigned and frequently exultant in the prospect of his home over Jordan," "abounding in expressions of joy and peace in the midst of his sufferings." About a month before he died a colored preacher visited him, and before praying with him sung hymn 1074, commencing:

O for an overcoming faith,
To cheer my dying hours;

and all through he evinced a joyful realization of the sentiments of the hymn. On the Thursday before he closed the mortal scene he shouted aloud, "Glory, glory, glory!" and triumphantly repeated the lines:

Arrayed in glorious grace
Shall these vile bodies shine,
And every shape, and every face,
Be heavenly and divine.

On Sunday, while his dear wife was standing by him weeping, he raised his hand, and wiping the tears from her eyes, said, "O give me up, give me up!" And when she answered, "I do give you up," he said, "That's right." Afterward his friends sung in his room the hymn sung on Thursday, and, unable to speak, he raised his hands in joyful triumph. On Monday a friend standing by asked him if Jesus was precious, and he gave signs of the Divine Presence. An hour before he expired Brother Howard, an old and intimate friend, at his bedside said, "He is nearly over Jordan, and I expect to meet him in that better world." He nodded assent, his countenance brightened up with joy and rapture, and he soon fell asleep in Jesus. Thus this veteran minister of Christ finished the "good fight of faith" in great peace and holy triumph. Glory to God and the Lamb!

2. Rev. Wm. B. Anderson was born in Livingston, Clark County, Ill., Sept. 5, 1837, and died in Havana, Ill., March 23, 1868. He was converted in his ninth year, appointed Class Leader when but sixteen, licensed to exhort two years afterward, and in his twentieth year licensed to preach. In 1858 he united with the Illinois Conference, and was appointed to Homer Circuit. The two following years he traveled the Monticello and Maroa Circuits. The next year he spent in Charleston Station, and the two following in Urbana. His next appointment was Pana, where he remained two years. In 1866 he was appointed to Havana, where, in his second year, he closed his earthly labors. Attacked by disease on New Year's day, he lingered for nearly three months, suffering at times severely, but sustained by Divine grace, and enabled to triumph over all his sufferings. Before his departure he said, "Tell the Conference that I fall at my post, in the full triumph of living faith." With similar messages to his congregation and Sabbath-school, triumphing over death, he passed away. Brother Anderson was a successful minister. Though he died young, he accomplished much. He remarked, while on his dying bed, that during his ministry he had been permitted to see about five hundred souls converted to God. Such a life may be short in years, but its glorious results will be seen in eternity. "He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him."

3. Rev. Richard Holding died suddenly July 1, 1868, at his home in Vermilion, Edgar County, Ill. On the Sunday preceding he seemed, as usual, to be in the enjoyment of perfect health, and rode nine miles into the country and preached twice. On his return home he complained somewhat of a pain in the region of the heart, but seemed to rest well during the night, though not altogether free from unpleasant feelings. Monday and Tuesday he walked about his house and about town as usual, but his physician had already admonished him that there might be danger in his apparently slight ailment. After going to the post-office at six o'clock P. M. on Tuesday, he went home feeling somewhat exhausted, but thought he would need no attentions for the night. He retired at his usual hour. His little daughter, about nine years of age, slept with him, and his elder daughter, almost grown, with another young lady, occupied an adjoining room. These were all that were in the house. During the night he was heard to groan slightly several times, but did not ask for any thing, and no danger was apprehended. About four o'clock on Wednesday morning the little daughter called, in an excited manner, to her sister, who immediately ran into the room and found her father dying. He breathed but twice after she entered the room, and uttered not a word. Friday his remains were conveyed to Grand View, in the same county where his sons reside, and where his wife was buried in 1866. His body was laid by that of his wife, with the rites of the Masonic fraternity. One of our very best men, and a most devoted and useful minister of the Gospel, has gone from our midst to stand before the throne. He was born in Scott County, Ky., Nov. 22, 1808; professed religion and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church Sept. 10, 1831; ordained deacon by Bishop Joshua Soule in September, 1834, and elder by Bishop Soule, also in Louisville, Ky., in 1836; was married to Miss Sarah Griffith, of Owensborough, Ky., June 6, 1837. He left Kentucky and came to Illinois in the fall of 1855, and his labors here, like those in his native State, have been abundant, and greatly blessed of the Lord. For thirty-seven years he sustained an active relation to the Conference, and in his sixtieth year he "ceased at once to work and live."

4. Rev. WILLIAM M. EVANS, son of James and Mary Evans, was born in Wayne County, Ky., May 25, 1815. In 1817 his father's family moved to Alabama, and in 1826 they emigrated to Illinois. He was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1838, or about the twenty-fourth year of his age, on the Mauvaisterre, near Jacksonville, and he began to exhort very soon after he joined the Church. He was a Local Preacher about seventeen years. He died in the fifty-second year of his age, on Pulaski Circuit, Feb. 29, 1868. All his desire was to preach the Gospel. In his last sickness he held family prayer as long as he had strength to get off his bed. He spoke of dying, and expressed a willingness to go. He was liked by all wherever he was sent. He was a faithful minister of the Gospel, a kind husband and father. He leaves a wife and eleven children, and a large circle of friends, to mourn his departure.

5. Rev. JAMES A. GUNN was born of pious parents in Morgan County, Ill., in the year 1837. He was converted to God and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church when fourteen years old, and at the age of nineteen began his ministerial life as a Local Preacher, in which position he was industrious and useful. He was employed on Wilmington Mission and Pawnee Circuit, each one year, by the Presiding Elder. In the fall of 1864 he was received by the Illinois Conference, during its session at Danville, into the traveling connection on trial, and was appointed to Pawnee Circuit, which he had traveled the preceding year. During these two years he was instrumental in a remarkable degree in the conversion of souls, in the erection of a parsonage and churches, and in advancing all the interests of the Church. In the fall of 1865 he was sent to Springfield Circuit, and was successful in his work. He was received into full connection in the Conference and ordained deacon in the fall of 1866 at Bloomington, and appointed to Concord Circuit. He entered upon his work with zeal, and was blessed with a gracious revival at Ebenezer Church the ensuing winter. During this meeting was laid the foundation of the disease which eventuated in his death. Though in feeble health, he was returned to Concord in the fall of 1867, preached some during the winter, and died in Jacksonville June 30, 1868. Brother Gunn's religious experience was clear and sound, his life was consistent, and his death full of peace and hope. He was a good preacher and a faithful pastor. About three hours before his death he was asked if he had any word to send to the Conference, to meet at Quincy. His answer was, "Tell the brethren of the Conference I died at my post, trying to do my duty." His family, a wife and four children, he said, he "left to the care of God and the Church."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. O. Wyant, A. D. Cunningham—2.

1. Rev. WILLIAM ORRIN WYANT was born in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, September 10, 1837, and was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church in Troy, Ohio, during the year 1856. In 1859 he came to Greencastle, Indiana, to acquire a collegiate education. He arrived in the city moneyless and a stranger, but, being a good saddle and harness maker, he found a noble friend in Brother William Kramer, who gave him a home in his family, and furnished him work at his trade. He entered immediately upon his studies and his labors, and by diligence and economy paid his expenses as he proceeded in his collegiate career. During his stay at Greencastle he was licensed to preach, and gave abundant promise of future success. He was married to Miss Sophronia Lee, of Greencastle, June 21, 1865, who, with an interesting little boy, survives to mourn their loss. He taught two years in the public schools of Vevay, Indiana, and graduated with honor from the Indiana Asbury University in 1865. Bishop Simpson ordained him a Local Deacon in September, 1864. At the session of the Northwestern Indiana Conference in 1865 he joined the traveling connection, and taught one year in the Thorntown Academy. At the Conference of 1866 he was appointed to Delphi Station. At the Conference of 1867 he was admitted into the Conference as a member, and reappointed to Delphi, and entered upon his work with a burning zeal, determined to witness a revival of the work of the Lord. In this he was not disappointed, for the Lord commenced a gracious revival through his labors. Taxing his energies too severely, on Thursday evening, January 23, 1868, while holding to the railing of the rostrum he grew dizzy and partially blinded, and said, "Are they putting out the lights? I cannot see." Staggering from the pulpit, he was assisted into the parsonage to die. He suffered intensely from congestion of the lungs, but was not deemed dangerously ill. The congestion, however, soon passed to his brain; a stupor ensued, from which he never revived; and on Sunday morning, January 26, while his church bell was ringing for class meeting, between eight and nine o'clock A. M., his spirit quietly fled to the heavenly world. On Thursday following his funeral took place, several of his brethren in the ministry sharing in the services. The sermon was preached by Rev. Thomas B. Wood, A. M., a warm friend of the deceased. Amid the tears and deep sorrow of the entire community he was borne to the Delphi Cemetery, and laid down to rest. Brother Wyant was respected and loved by all the clergy of Delphi. As husband and father he was kind and affectionate; as a friend he was frank, warm-hearted, and generous; as a scholar, considering his age, he was remarkable, having mastered several languages. His reading was extensive and well selected, as his large library proves. As a logician he excelled, and his sermons were masterly efforts, and models of pulpit preparation and delivery. He was a competent critic, and at home among the most profound authors, handling their grandest thoughts with the grasp of a giant. He was a prince among pulpit orators; possessed a noble form, a majestic intellect, and a Christian heart. Mysterious the providence in his removal. His mantle rests not, as yet, on the shoulders of another.

Farewell, dear brother! Shall we ever in all things behold thy like again?

2. Rev. Amor D. Cunningham was born in Ripley County, Indiana, July 12, 1833. He was early seized with an intense desire for knowledge, and applied himself with earnestness to the culture of his mind. In his nineteenth year he entered the school at Brookville, and made fine progress in his studies. For some time previous to leaving Brookville College he filled the place of assistant teacher. During his nineteenth year he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, under the ministry of Rev. Wm. M. Frayley, and was soon after converted to God. At the proper time he was received into full communion by Rev. T. M. Eddy, and soon after received license to preach.

He was married to Miss Mary M. Chafee May 1, 1855. For a time he had charge of the schools at Blooming Grove and Greenfield, Indiana, and went from Greenfield to Indianapolis, to fill the chair of mathematics in the Female College. He entered the traveling connection as a supply on Moorsville Circuit, Indiana Conference. He was next stationed at Gosport; thence transferred to the Minnesota Conference, and stationed at Prescott, and the next year was stationed at Huston. While at Huston his wife's health failed, and he returned to Indiana, and took charge of the school at Mount Carmel.

During this year, 1860, he suffered a severe hemorrhage of the lungs. His wife died at Indianapolis, April 25, 1861, leaving a little boy and an afflicted husband. Being unable to enter upon the active duties of the ministry, he edited the "Daily Indiana American" for several months, and was afterward chaplain of the Fifth Indiana Cavalry nearly one year, but resigned on account of failing health.

On December 21, 1862, he was married to Miss Laura L. Chafee, the sister of his deceased wife. He was transferred to the Northwest Indiana Conference, and stationed at Michigan City, and from there went as chaplain in the hundred days' service. He was afterward stationed at Delphi, but failing health compelled him to superannuate. Subsequently he was elected President of Northern Indiana College, at South Bend, but at the end of the second term feeble health compelled him to resign. After a short rest he took charge of Covington Station, and was, at the ensuing Conference, stationed at the Battle Ground, where he labored with zeal and efficiency, and his labors were blessed with a gracious revival.

March 29, 1868, he had a severe hemorrhage of the lungs, and never preached again. With great patience he endured his sufferings till August 9, 1868, when he peacefully fell asleep in Jesus. His remains were followed to the cemetery by a large concourse of friends, and also by a goodly number of his brethren in the ministry.

Brother Cunningham was a good man, a superior preacher, and full of the Holy Ghost. He leaves an afflicted and feeble wife and a little boy as the subjects of our hospitality and prayers.

REV. GEORGE W. BRUSH was converted to God while attending the Ohio Wesleyan University. He was licensed to preach and recommended and received on trial in the Ohio Conference in the fall of 1849. The following appointments were with great acceptability filled by him: Rehoboth Circuit, 1849; East Charge, Newark, 1850–51; Portsmouth, 1852; Marietta, 1853; Circleville, 1854–55; Walnut-street, Chilicothe, 1856–57; Athens, 1858; Wesley Chapel, Columbus, 1859–60; four years Presiding Elder of Columbus District; Centenary Agent of the Conference, 1865; St. Paul, Del., 1866–67. He was an admirable preacher; shared largely in the affections of his brethren in the ministry, and in their opinion gave promise of great usefulness to the Church, but in an unhappy hour of deep mental depression sought relief in death.

QUEST. 13. What is the Number of Church Members, etc.?

* Obituary not received.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

J. H. Brune.

JOHN H. BRUNE was born October 19, 1834, and died October 6, 1867, in Lawrence, Kansas. He was called from our midst in the prime of his life and usefulness. On the other hand, it affords us great comfort, and fills our hearts with praise and gratitude to God, who granted the deceased such a triumphant death, and enabled him to give such a clear and strong testimony of his entering into the sweet rest of heaven.

Brother Brune was known and beloved as a faithful minister of the Gospel. His meek and gentle deportment in society, and his kindness to everybody, won to him the love and esteem of many hearts, while at the same time he was firm and decided in his pure Christian principles, and of a deep piety. He was an honor to the Church, a tender husband to his wife, a kind father to his children, and an esteemed member of this Conference. He was born in the kingdom of Prussia. In his early youth he emigrated with his parents to this country, where they settled in the State of Missouri. Here he was converted to God, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1858 he entered the ministry, in which he labored faithfully and successfully until his strength failed him. He died of consumption, after long and great suffering, which he bore with much patience and resignation, in the triumph of Christian faith, at Lawrence, Kansas, on the 6th day of October, 1867.

D. Fleming, W. Ingle—2.

1. Rev. DAVID FLEMING was born in Carlisle County, Pa., May 4, 1799. When six months old he removed from Pennsylvania to Wythe County, Va. He was converted October 30, 1820, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church; was licensed to preach September 20, 1823, at Nelson's Camp Ground, Washington County, Tenn., and sent to the New River Circuit in Virginia. In the fall of 1824, at the organization of the Holston Conference, young Fleming was admitted on trial and sent to the Jonesborough Circuit. For a period of forty-five years Brother Fleming was in the traveling connection—eighteen years of this time on circuits and in stations, and twenty years on districts; and for the last seven years of his life was on the list of superannuates. December 10, 1829, Brother Fleming was married to Miss Mary Miller, of Hawkins County, Tenn., a noble woman, a true Christian, and one every way qualified to be the wife of an itinerant Methodist preacher. Without any disparagement to others, it may be said of David Fleming that he was one of the most laborious men that ever belonged to the Holston Conference. The life of Brother Fleming has now passed into history, and we give the following as the most important points in the life of this great and good man. His uniform piety made good impressions in all the social and Christian circles where he moved, and commanded for him universal respect. Throughout life, in principle and practice, he was opposed to African slavery; and when the Methodist Episcopal Church divided upon the question in 1844, Brother Fleming gave his consent to the separation as one of the evils which he could not control. And when the great struggle came for our nationality, David Fleming did not hesitate, but declared himself in favor of the government and free institutions, and on the first opportunity united his fortunes again with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Perhaps no one rejoiced more than Brother Fleming to get back again into the Church of his first love. Brother Fleming was a solid man and a useful preacher. In the circulation of our books and periodicals he stood in the front ranks. To the young preachers he was always kind, and to the children affectionate. For seven years he was a great sufferer, his memory almost entirely failing him at times, so much so that he did not even recognize his own family. In the last intelligent conversation which he ever had he remarked, in answer to a question from a brother in the ministry, to wit: "Do you feel that God is with you in your affliction?" "O yes! O yes! All the time." On August 28, 1868, this faithful man of God exchanged the toils and tented fields of earth for the rest and palaces of heaven.

2. Rev. WILLIS INGLE was born in the State of Virginia, as nearly as we can learn about the year 1798. In early life he was converted to God, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, was licensed to preach when comparatively a young man, and for nearly forty years was engaged in preaching the Gospel of Christ. For the first several years he served the Church as a Local Preacher with great acceptability and usefulness. About 1838 or 1840 he joined the Holston Annual Conference, and continued in the traveling connection until the day of his death, which occurred October 29, 1867. Brother Ingle was an excellent preacher, and faithful in the performance of all the duties of his high and holy calling. He was one of our best revival preachers, and large numbers were converted under his ministry. It is due to the memory of our departed brother to say, that through life he was opposed to African slavery, and was always devoted to the doctrines and discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church as given to us by the "fathers of American Methodism."

At the outbreak of the rebellion brother Ingle was living in Virginia. He was a firm believer in the doctrines of the Declaration of Independence, and one of the faithful among the many faithless to the cause of our government. At the organization of our Conference here Brother Ingle was one of the first to unite with us, and remained with us, doing efficient service until the Master said, "It is enough; come up higher."

Griffin Smith, B. F. M'Neal– 2.

1. Rev. GRIFFIN SMITH was born in the Province of Upper Canada—now Canada West—May 14, 1814. Brother Smith was the son of the late Rev. Isaac B. Smith, and brother of the Rev. H. R. Smith and the Rev. S. C. Smith, of the Genesee Conference. For several years previous to his conversion he was a successful physician in the West. While in the study and practice of medicine he became a skeptic—a confirmed, outspoken infidel. But during a visit of his brother, Rev. H. R. Smith, he was awakened to a sense of his lost condition in the following manner, namely: His brother proposed to pray with the family. The doctor objected. The repulsed brother remarked, "Griffin, had it not been for your father's prayers you would have been in hell long ago; when your father is gone you will be a lost man." This remark pierced the heart of the doctor, and was the means, in God's hands, of overturning his infidelity, and changing the whole shape and tenor of his life. After months of the most intense conviction, so great that he discontinued his professional business, and sought relief in travels and diversions, he at last found peace with God while praying at a hotel. When the news of his conversion reached his venerable father he exclaimed, "I have prayed for that boy every day for twenty years." Subsequently to this he came to visit his friends in Western New York, and to consult with them in regard to his religious course. He revealed to them his convictions in respect to preaching the Gospel, and after advising with several members of the Genesee Conference, he concluded to discontinue his profession in the West and to offer himself to the ministry of our Church, and was admitted into the Genesee Conference in October 1853. He has since filled the following appointments, namely: Stafford, Warsaw, Niagara-street, St. Marks, Riverside, Lockport, Pekin, and Niagara Falls. He then took a superannuated relation for one year. Before taking work the following year he observed to his friends that he considered life with him a very doubtful thing, "but," said he, "I shall take an appointment, for it is as well to die at my work as anywhere." Hence, in October, 1867, he was appointed to Scottsville, Monroe County, N. Y. He entered upon his work zealously and successfully, but after attaining the highest degree of prosperity, both as a preacher and pastor, that he had ever reached, his health utterly failed, and after ten weeks' suffering he died in the Lord April 29, 1868.

When we think of what Brother Smith was as a man, a Christian, a minister, a pastor, and friend—when we look at the toils and successes of his twelve years of ministerial effort, we might say many things in his praise, but we forbear. He earnestly and repeatedly besought us on his death-bed not to eulogize him at his funeral, or in any thing that might be written of him after his death. "Keep me back," said he; "present Christ. Keep Doctor Smith out of sight; hold up Jesus to the people." He was nothing in his own eyes; the world was nothing to him, but Christ was every thing to him. Jesus filled the whole range of his spiritual vision, absorbed all his thoughts, and commanded the unbounded confidence, admiration, and love of his heart. During his last sickness he was intensely solicitous to win souls to Jesus. He spake to every saint and sinner who visited him upon the subject of religion, and so affectionate was his manner of speaking, and so tender and touching were his words, that the hardest hearts were melted down, and eyes unaccustomed to weep wept freely there. Not content with what he could do personally for sinners, he sent tender messages to many in places where he had labored, which, when delivered, melted many to tears, and turned their broken hearts toward God and heaven. His last utterances made impressions that can never die. He said to the writer, "I don't want to get well, to get up again and sin. It is a greater thing to live than it is to die. It is nothing to die; I see it now. To live right is the great thing." With the exception of a severe conflict with the powers of darkness in the commencement of his sickness, his death-bed scene was one of continual rejoicing and triumph. Four of his brethren in the ministry, including his Presiding Elder, were present when he died; and never shall we forget when we stood in the parsonage chamber and saw our brother die. Calmly, sweetly as infancy falls asleep in its mother's arms, so fell he asleep in the arms of Jesus. We have read the poet, have oft repeated his sweet words of the departing saints, but there we realized and felt as never before that

> "The chamber where the good man meets his fate
> Is privileged beyond the common walks of virtuous life,
> Quite on the verge of heaven."

Brethren of the Genesee Conference, we miss our brother to-day, but we shall meet him again when the battle is over.

2. Rev. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN M'NEAL died of enlargement of the heart in Williamsville, N. Y., Nov. 27, 1867, aged forty-three years. Our deceased brother and fellow-laborer was born in Lancaster, N. Y., November 26, 1824. In the winter of 1843, under the labors of Rev. H. N. Ripley, in Lancaster, he sought and found redemption in the blood of Christ, the forgiveness of his sins. His conversion made a deep and solemn impression upon the minds of his young associates as they saw, in the zeal which he manifested in the cause of Christ, and his earnest entreaties to them to seek the Saviour, and his importunate prayers in their behalf, that the change was real. In the fall of 1847 he was employed as a minister on Black Rock Charge by the Presiding Elder of Buffalo District, Rev. Dr. Church. In 1848 he was received as a member on trial in Genesee Conference. The stations filled by him during his ministry and connection with the Conference were: East Porter, one year; Newfane, one year; Middleport, two years; Knowlesville, one year; Olean, one year; Warsaw, one year; Byron, two years; Aurora, one year; Tonawanda, two years; East Porter, one year; Churchville and Bergen, two years; Niagara Falls, one year; Clarence, two years; Williamsville, one year. To this last charge he was reappointed by the Bishop a few weeks before his decease. During his first year at Williamsville he was elected to the honorable position of School Commissioner of Erie County, N. Y., which office he held at the time of his death.

As a preacher, Brother M'Neal for a number of years has been numbered with the strong men of our Conference. It was in the pulpit that he excelled. In fact it was evident to all of his ministerial brethren that he was ambitious to be "a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." With what success he preached the Gospel eternity only will reveal. As a minister and fellow-laborer among us Brother M'Neal was loved and respected. The news of his sudden and unexpected death cast a gloom over our whole Conference; and strong men, as they gazed upon his manly form lying in the coffin, and carried him to his last earthly resting-place, wept like children bereaved. We mourn for him as a brother beloved; but we "mourn not as those who have no hope." His last words to his weeping wife and children were, "Do not mourn for me; God will take care of you. All is well." He leaves a wife and three children. The voice which comes up to us to-day from the quiet cemetery where lie the remains of Benjamin F. M'Neal says to all, and especially to each member of this Conference, "Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh."

DES MOINES CONFERENCE.

1. Rev. WILLIAM MONROE CALFEE was born in Franklin County, Indiana, April 16, 1825. His parents were Baptists, and they gave him religious training according to their faith; but in his seventeenth year he broke loose from parental restraints and left his father's house, and went out into the world a lone boy. Through wicked influences he soon learned to swear profanely and play cards, but the Spirit of God never left him. When in his eighteenth year he was powerfully convinced of sin, and deeply penitent, he returned home, and soon after united with the Methodist Episcopal Church under the ministry of Rev. George Havens. But before his probation expired he was caught up into the whirl of political excitement, and carried away from the Church into sin. This was in 1844. In June of the following year he again joined the Church as a probationer, and in the fall of the same year he was baptized and received into full connection by C. W. Morrow. In 1848 he moved to Marion County, Indiana. He was licensed to exhort the same year at a quarterly meeting held at Eagleville, Rev. William H. Goode presiding. He was married to Miss Mary H. Strong, of Marion County, Indiana, October 13, 1851. In June, 1852, he was licensed to preach.

Brother Calfee came to Iowa in the fall of 1859, stopping at first in Jefferson County. He was admitted on trial into the traveling connection by the Western Iowa (now the Des Moines) Conference at its session in Council Bluffs, September, 1861, and returned to Ottawa Circuit, having traveled the same the year before as a supply under R. S. Robison, Presiding Elder. The following two years he traveled the Adel Circuit. From Adel he was sent to Rising Sun, from Rising Sun to Magnolia, and from Magnolia to Mount Olive. In each of the last three named appointments he remained but one year. His last appointment was Mount Ayr. Here he fell when he had but fairly entered upon his labors for the year, January 7, 1868, full of hope, and greatly beloved by all his people.

During his second year at Ottawa Brother Calfee was elected to represent Clark County in the House of Representatives. This was in 1861. While in the Legislature he proved himself to be a staunch friend of liberty. He was a ready debater, remarkable for pungent wit and scathing sarcasm. As a temperance lecturer he excelled. As a preacher he was not refined; sometimes he was coarse. He was not brilliant, but forcible. He was a kind father, an affectionate husband, an ardent friend, and a warm-hearted Christian.

Thus lived and died a remarkable man. He is now at rest, and his works do follow him.

2. Rev. JOHN SUMMERFIELD COIT, son of the late Nathaniel Coit, of Bloomfield, N. J., and brother of Charles S. Coit, of the Newark Conference, died in Montana, Iowa, January 7, 1868, aged thirty-nine years. The morning of his life was spent at the home of his parents, within the bounds of the range of hills that mark the spot now chosen for his resting place. His parents were sterling Christians of the early Methodist type; hence in his early years our departed brother was the subject of religious conviction and awakenings. In his youthful years he is said to have been a model son, noted for obedience, honesty, industry, and perseverance. When about seventeen years of age he chose the profession of builder as the vocation of his life, and became an apprentice to Mr. Henry Leiber, of the city of Newark. At this period of his life, while attending the ministry of Rev. William P. Corbit, of the Halsey-street charge, he became thoroughly awakened, and renewed the vows of earlier years to serve the Lord, and was soon after clearly and powerfully converted. After a brief connection with the Halsey-street charge he identified himself with the young and growing society of Quarry-street, where he was rapidly promoted to the positions of Sabbath-school teacher, Class-Leader, Exhorter, and Local Preacher. He now felt it to be his duty to give himself wholly to the work of the ministry, but having succeeded his employer in his business he said, "What shall I do with this knowledge and these tools?" This question was answered by two fires, by which he lost shops and tools. The events of Providence thus clearly indicating the line of duty, he entered Pennington Seminary, where he spent a year and a half in hard study, during which he is said to have been an example of correct deportment and industry, by which he became proficient in the English branches, and so far advanced in Latin as to be honored with the valedictory at his last term. His ardent desire to be engaged in the work of saving souls, the want of young men for the work, together with an inviting call from a Presiding Elder, induced him to leave the Seminary and enter upon the active duties of the ministry. His first field of labor under the Presiding Elder was with the newly-organized society at Elizabethport. He was received on trial in the New Jersey Conference in 1853, and appointed to the Peapack charge. In the same year he was married to Ellen Harriman, of Newark, then female superintendent of the Quarry-street Sunday-school, who for fourteen years shared with him the toils and sacrifices, as also the friendships and honors of his itinerant life, and now, with five fatherless children, mourns her grievous loss. A letter written in the parsonage amid sad scenes contains these words: "Heroic woman! she is almost crushed by the loss she has sustained." In 1854–55 he labored on the Flanders Charge, and succeeded in the erection of a church at Drakestown. In 1856–57 he labored on Succasunna charge. In 1858–59 on Evartstown and Quakertown charge, where his labors were crowned with great success. In 1860–61 on New Germantown and Mechanicsville charge, where the erection of a new church was contemplated and labored for. In 1862–63 he was stationed at Clinton, where he left a beautiful monument of his industry, financial capacity, and architectural taste, that has had an influence in producing an improved style of church architecture in that section of country. In 1864–65 he was stationed at Port Jervis, where he effected important improvements in the condition of the parsonage, and a lot, beautifully located, was secured for the erection of a new church, which has been accomplished, and the church has been dedicated. During part of 1866–67 he labored on the Woodbridge charge. Increasing family necessities and the demand for laborers in the ever expanding and energetic West turned his attention in this direction as an inviting field for future years of ministerial labor. After much thought and prayer he decided to sever the ties that bound him to his brethren of the Newark Conference, and at its session of 1867 asked for and received a transfer to the Des Moines Conference. At our last session he was appointed to the Montana charge, where he met a cordial reception to the affections and fellowship of the people. Letters to his friends clearly indicate that he was pleased with his new surroundings. The vast prairies, the multiplying and growing towns of the great West, the privilege of having a part in moulding and directing the developments of society in the interests of religion and humanity, seemed to rejuvenate his ministerial life, and animate him with the hope of future years of usefulness in the cause he loved so well; but just here he ceased to work and live. Toward the close of December the typhoid fever broke in upon his family. First, two of his little daughters were taken down with it. On Sabbath P. M. of January 5 little Mary was brought to his bedside in a dying state. The father was yet conscious, and bade the departing child tearful farewells. He lingered until Tuesday the 7th, and then followed the little lamb to the presence of the chief Shepherd in glory. The bodies of father and child in one coffin were sent to his old home, where they arrived Sabbath, January 12, and the funeral services took place in the Methodist Episcopal Church on Tuesday the 14th, in the presence of a large audience, including some twenty or more of the ministers of the Newark Conference. To all who participated in it the scene was solemn and affecting, and will long be remembered by all that were present.

Brother Coit was emphatically a good man, and a humble, devoted, and useful Methodist minister. His humility and reticence often amounted to but little less than self-negation in the presence of his ministerial brethren; but he did not lack in readiness and courage when ministering at God's altars, or proclaiming the word to the congregations of his people. His preaching was sound, practical, and earnest, and instinct with the inspiration of a conscious enjoyment of the salvation he preached to others. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ and bright visions of the glory to be revealed sustained him in the approach of death. His experience was rich and full, and his hope was bright during his sickness. At one time, clasping his hands above his head, he exclaimed, "Praise the Lord! Glory be to God!" For several hours before his death he was in the land of Beulah, and was almost constantly employed in praising God, giving a literal illustration of the lines,

"I'll praise my Maker while I've breath," etc

We mourn his loss to his family and to the Church and cause of Christ. We magnify the grace of God that was in him both in life and in death. And we commend his surviving companion and fatherless children to the prayers and care of the Church.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. O. Lumsden, B. Newton Brown, C. Parkison, (last year)—3.

1. WILLIAM O. LUMSDEN was born in Alexandria, Virginia. The date of his birth we have not been able to ascertain more definitely than that it was in the year 1805. He was converted in the fifteenth year of his age, and at once connected himself with the Church. Several persons still living, acquainted with him then, speak of him as being in his boyhood an earnest, joyous Christian, full of zeal; laboring in all the ways he could to persuade others to become the followers of Christ. In 1824, ere yet he was nineteen years old, he was received into the Baltimore Annual Conference, of which he continued a member through forty-four consecutive years. For twenty-six years, in various fields of labor in the States of Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia, he exercised his ministry. As taken from the Minutes, his appointments were the following: 1824, Prince George's; 1825, Harford; 1826, Bedford Circuit; 1827, Phillipsburgh; 1828, Gettysburgh; 1829, Fairfax; 1830, Stafford; 1831, Prince George and St. Mary's; 1832–3, Montgomery; 1834, Severn; 1835, Springfield; 1836–7, Carlisle Circuit; 1838–9, Fairfax; 1840, Westmoreland; 1841–2, Winchester Circuit; 1843–4, Calvert; 1845–6, William-street, Baltimore; 1847, Whatcoat, Baltimore; 1848, Baltimore Circuit; 1849, Summerfield. For many years he was the Recording Secretary of this Conference, and the excellent manner in which he performed this service has never been surpassed. In 1850 his physical condition and other providential indications seemed to require that he should desist from the active work of the ministry. Accordingly he took a supernumerary relation, and for two years practiced his profession of medicine in the city of Baltimore. He then removed to the District of Columbia, where the remainder of his life was passed. When, however, he laid aside the pastoral office he by no means lost his interest, or ceased to labor, in the cause of Christ. During the eighteen years of his non-effective relation he was ever willing, even glad, to respond, as far as he was able, to every call for ministerial service. The great work of preaching Christ to his fellow-men was to him a growing delight even to the last. A few months previous to his death he expressed to the writer of this notice the pleasure he experienced in talking to others of "the things pertaining to the kingdom of God."

Such is the outline of a life which there is every reason to believe was filled up pleasingly to God, and profitably to his fellow-men. It ended unexpectedly. On the evening of the 14th of May, 1868, he conversed with more than ordinary cheerfulness with his family and some visiting friends. At his usual hour he retired, apparently well; in the morning he was not, for God had taken him. Without pain, without a struggle, with no consciousness, it is likely, of the article of death, he fell asleep in Jesus. While the tenement was in the hush of sleep the immortal tenant left—went to be with Christ.

2. BENJAMIN NEWTON BROWN died in Washington, D. C., January 17, 1869. He was born in Martinsburgh, Berkeley County, Va., December 19, 1808, and had consequently, at the time of his decease, passed a few days beyond his sixtieth year. He was converted early in his fifteenth year. It is a beautiful coincidence that he entered the spiritual kingdom on the same day of the same month as that on which, just forty-five years later, he entered life eternal—Sunday, January 17, 1824. In regard to his awakening and conversion he records the following: "While in a high career of youthful dissipation I was attracted to the house of God by the preaching of Rev. Jacob L. Bromwell and Rev. James G. Sansom, who were at that time traveling Berkeley Circuit. Though I had formed the purpose to be religious, it was not for some time carried into practice. Under a sermon by Brother Bromwell, from Acts iii, 19, my soul felt more sensibly the necessity of salvation; and when the invitation was given for penitents I rose, urged my way through the crowded aisle, and bowed before God as a guilty sinner. . . . I continued to seek God in private till, in a select prayer-meeting, while struggling in the agonies of the new birth, God spoke, my chains fell, the darkness fled, and my poor soul burst into joy and praise. My pardon was written as with a sunbeam, and I have never doubted of my acceptance at that hour." Though it was not till nine years after this event that he entered on the work of the ministry, impressions of duty to preach began to be felt almost immediately thereafter. Years afterward, in the maturity of his mind and in the noon of his success, he recalls the exercises through which he then passed. It may be "a word in season" to some young man who, like him, moved, but timorous and hesitant is waiting for distincter calls, to transcribe from his memoranda a part of what he says: "Between the age of fifteen and twenty-one I felt a strong and almost constant impression in favor of the ministry. But these impressions were for several years kept within my own bosom. Advancing toward maturity I opened my mind to several ministers, but could receive no satisfaction as to the reality of the call to this work. The thought has often struck me that had I been a little encouraged I should have engaged sooner in the work. One thing I had settled in my mind: not to thrust myself forward, but wait for the call of the Church. Thus I persuaded myself that the Church had no further need for my services than such as I was then endeavoring to render. Under this persuasion I was perfectly contented; for though I had felt the other a sense of duty, it was a subject from which my ignorant soul shrank with terror. . . . But from my slumbers on this subject I was suddenly aroused by the conversation of a member of my class, who expressed as her own conviction what had so long been the secret feeling of my heart. I regarded this as the voice of Providence. A train of circumstances immediately followed that led me into the work. I sustained the relation of Exhorter for a few months, and was then licensed to preach, and at the same time recommended to the Baltimore Annual Conference at its session in 1833. The ways of my heavenly Father have been strange toward me, but all, all mixed with the richest mercy. That a dispensation of the Gospel has been committed to me is certainly singular. Without education, without means, but not, thank God! without friends, I entered this work with fear and trembling. So I continue; but that which was once the object of dread has now become the source of great delight and most sublime enjoyment." For thirty-six years this joyful ministry was exercised with a zeal and success to which "a cloud of witnesses" testify. Woodstock, Springfield, Alexandria, Staunton, Rockingham, Fincastle, Lexington, Fredericksburgh, Rockingham and Alexandria districts, in Virginia; Ebenezer, Waugh, Union, and Georgetown, in the District of Columbia; Baltimore Circuit, South Baltimore, North Baltimore, and High-street, in Maryland, were the fields of labor given him to cultivate. The character of these appointments testifies to the estimate in which his abilities were held, while in them all it is true to say, he proved himself a workman needing not to be ashamed.

Brother Brown's endowments were of a high order. Strength is the single term best descriptive of his mental character. His early educational advantages were meager. But a close and diligent application to study, beginning with his ministry and lasting nearly to its close, gained him a degree of culture and a mastery of religious subjects surpassing those of many whose advantages were much greater. He was a devout and constant student of the Bible. His acquaintance with theology was quite extensive, and, in some departments, very thorough. His general reading was select and careful. As a preacher, he was sound in doctrine, clear and logical in statement and discussion, earnest and impressive in manner, and fearless in the utterance of conviction. He was a careful sermonizer. His stated ministrations were eminently edifying, while sometimes his exposition and enforcement of the cardinal doctrines of the Gospel were masterly—swayed the minds and moved the hearts of all who heard. His love for the Church was ardent and enduring. It was said by one who knew him well that "he was as true to the Church as a mother to her child." In some of his fields of labor he was called to go with her through fires of trial, and his love was purer and intenser for the testing. To promote her interest in whatever way was a special satisfaction. His mental qualities and aptitudes fitted him to judge discreetly and counsel wisely in all that concerned her welfare, and he was justly esteemed a safe adviser both in his Conference and in the Churches he was called to serve. As a man there was much in him to love. Those who saw him only in the distance and reserve of general intercourse may have taken the impression that his nature bordered on the stern and severe. But he was in reality a man of the kindliest nature. In the social circle, and still more in the intimacies of friendship, he was genial and pleasant in a rare degree. A ready recollection enabled him to make his varied experience and intercourse with men subserve the entertainment and instruction of whatever company he was in. The quiet play of humor, the spice of wit, and the occasional use of anecdote, so graced and seasoned his conversation as to make it both pleasing and profitable. In his own family he was uniformly cheerful, at times as playful as a child. It is the belief of those who have enjoyed the freedom of his changing home that it was among the brightest and happiest of earth, and he was its central light. How much has gone from it in his removal only the bereaved can know. His death was unexpected. Up to the time of his attack there was little apparent decay of physical vigor. Family and friends reasonably hoped he would live for years. But death had marked him, and in spite of the best medical attention and the most careful nursing, his disease steadily progressed to a fatal issue. For seven weeks he was a great but uniformly patient sufferer. But the religion which had sustained him in the toils of nearly half a century was his solace in the last hour. His death was one of triumph, a fitting close of a beautiful life. About two weeks before his death, in a paroxysm in which life seemed departing, a friend asked him whether he felt the presence of Jesus. "Yes," he replied, "it is a great and inexpressible consolation; it is a fountain clear, gushing, full, inviting the thirsty to quench his thirst, not in the future, but now, NOW. While sentences cannot be connected, or thought expressed, all is light and clear beyond. Glory to God! O, praise and bless his name!" He frequently called for the reading of the sixty-third psalm, and the twelfth chapter of Isaiah. Two days before his death, being asked as to his condition, he replied, "Very—very—" when his daughter, supposing he could not connect the thought, supplied the word "comfortable;" but in a moment he secured his own word, and uttered it round and clear, "triumphant, very triumphant." His last words were uttered about an hour before his death, when he was distinctly heard to say, "Christian friends—" here his voice failed, when one of the watchers by his bed, putting her ear to his mouth, caught the words, "look—fully—Christ—" as in life, preaching in death, Look fully to Christ.

3. CHRISTOPHER PARKISON was born on October 18, 1797, in Cecil County, Maryland. The only information we have of his early religious life is, that he was converted to God and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church at the "Old Bethel Church," within the bounds of what is now the Wilmington Conference, and that soon after, though the youngest member of his class, he was appointed its leader. In 1829 he was received on trial in the Baltimore Conference, and appointed to Lancaster Circuit. Thereafter the following were his successive fields of labor, namely: 1830, Clearspring; 1831, Springfield; 1832, Christiansburgh; 1833, Morrison; 1834, Fairfax; 1835, Westmoreland; 1836, Ebenezer; 1837–8, Cumberland; 1839, superannuated; 1840, Mission to Colored People, Anne Arundel County, Md.; 1841, West River; 1842, Woodstock; 1843, Augusta; 1844–5, Springfield; 1846–7, South Branch; 1848, Havre de Grace; 1849, Patapsco; 1850–1, Bath; 1852, Wardensville; 1853–4, Woodbury; 1855, Hancock; 1856, Boonsborough; 1857, supernumerary; 1858–9, Lost River; 1860–1, Charles; 1862, Bladensburgh; 1863, Baltimore Circuit; 1864, St. Mary's. In 1865 he took a superannuated relation, in which he continued until called to his reward.

His first marriage was to Miss Eliza Cross, of Morgan County, Va. Of this estimable lady he was bereaved by death in 1847. In 1849 he was married to Miss Mary T. Brady, of Hampshire County, Va., whose fidelity and affection greatly alleviated the privations and toils of his itinerant life, and who, with four children, mourns his loss.

Brother Parkison was a man of robust and uniform health until a cancer made its appearance upon his face, which, increasing in size and virulence, finally caused his death. During the last six months of his life his sufferings were almost incessant, and very severe; but the assurance that a Father's hand held the rod silenced every murmur. His sense of acceptance with God strengthened as his end drew nigh, and the last audible whisper from his lips was, "All is well." He entered into rest April 30, 1867, in the seventieth year of his age.

Christopher Parkison was appreciated most by those who knew him best. His piety was earnest and consistent. Intellectually he deserved to be ranked with the strong men of the Church. His mind, naturally clear and vigorous, was cultivated by habitual reading and much thought. He was a diligent student of the Scriptures, bringing out of the sacred treasury things new and old. His sermons were able expositions of the Gospel of Christ, less ornate than convincing, "commending him as the messenger of truth to every man's conscience in the sight of God."

This was strictly attended to, by calling over their names before the Conference.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

H. M. Johnson, Allen John, Henry F. Hurn, R. M. Greenbank, Seth S. Grove, Daniel George—6.

1. HERMAN MERRIL JOHNSON, the fourth of the seven sons of Miles and Chloe Dunning Johnson, both natives of Connecticut, was born in Otsego County, N. Y., November 25, 1815, and died in Carlisle, Pa., April 5, 1868, in the fifty-third year of his age. In early life he exhibited remarkable aptitude for learning. Being of delicate make, no hardship was required of him on his father's farm, and the less as all his tastes inclined him to books. At fourteen he taught school in a neighboring town, where some of the scholars were men six feet tall and he below the size of boys of his age. No little consternation was felt among the parents, if not among the scholars, when the boy-teacher made his appearance, but his management of the school proved every way satisfactory. He was one of the fruits of a memorable revival in the then village of Auburn, N. Y., in 1832, under the ministry of Rev. George Peck, D.D. Dr. Wentworth found him a youth of seventeen, then the eldest son of his widowed mother, a clerk in Seymour and Cherry's furniture store, one of a band of young men just converted, burning with zeal for Christ, sanguine, ardent, and full of work. One morning Wentworth said abruptly, "Well, Johnson, what are you going to do in this world?" He turned away and burst into tears. A tender chord had been touched. From nine till twelve that night they walked the streets of that beautiful village, talking over their future prospects and plans. The resolution seemed then formed for him to go to school and prepare for college. President Allen, then teacher of Oneida Conference Seminary in Cazenovia, remembers him as one of his students. He was distinguished in the Seminary for the acuteness and activity of his mind, and his facility in acquiring knowledge. "He began 'Cicero de Oratore,'" says President Allen, "with the usual lesson of three or four pages; but, soon outstripping his fellows, he increased the daily lesson to ten, fifteen, and twenty pages, and closed with a recitation of fifty pages, in addition to other studies." He graduated in Wesleyan University with the first honors of his class in 1839. That same year he was called to the chair of languages in an institution at St. Charles, Mo. Remaining there three years, he was elected to the same chair in Augusta College, Ky., where he remained two years. He was then elected Professor of Ancient Languages and Literature in Ohio Wesleyan University, and acted as President pro tem. till Dr. (now Bishop) Thomson could take charge of the institution. Here he remained six years, loved and honored by all his colaborers. The estimate of Bishop Thomson, after many years of scholastic intimacy, he sums up in these not too eulogistic words: "Dr. Johnson's mind was remarkable both for accuracy and strength, and equally fitted for linguistic, metaphysical, and mathematical studies. His scholarship was extensive and thorough. He was so familiar with every part of the college curriculum that he could occupy with ease any academical chair. In a knowledge of the ancient languages and literature it was difficult to find in our Church his equal, impossible, I think, to meet with his superior." He was elected to the chair of English Literature and Belles-Lettres in Dickinson College in 1850, and to the Presidency of the College in 1860, which position he held till the close of life. As student and educator his life was eminently a scholastic one. He was equally characterized for readiness in communicating knowledge as for his facility in acquiring it. But his life was no less eminently that of a devoted and successful minister of Christ. Dr. Holdich gave him license as an Exhorter September 9, 1839, in Middletown, Conn. Rev. J. C. Hamson licensed him to preach July 8, 1843, in Augusta, Ky. Bishop Janes ordained him Deacon August, 1847, and Elder, August, 1850, while a member of the North Ohio Conference. And during the period of his connection with Dickinson College he was a member of the Philadelphia Conference. Giving himself conscientiously to the work for which he was so well fitted, and to which he was so providentially called, the results of his life in the scholastic department of the Church were great. Believing that no Church in the land would, after a few years, so need, or could so profitably employ, educated men as the Methodist Church, he gave himself to the great work of education with a devotion and self-sacrifice rarely equaled. Connected with the Ohio Wesleyan University in the dark and laborious years of its early struggle for existence, his influence was marked, and he made himself felt as a sagacious, far-seeing counselor on whom his colleagues relied. Professor Williams says, "To no other man do we owe more for the ultimate success of the University, and I believe he was the first to suggest, and most influential in securing, the adoption of a system of cheap scholarships which at once greatly increased our endowment and gave us a larger patronage." This same work he was chiefly instrumental in doing for Dickinson. His devotion to the interests of the College was unremitted, earnest, and effective. He drafted the plan of endowment by the sale of scholarships, which was so far a success as to put the College through the crisis of our civil war and the years preceding the centenary movement, and this was its salvation as a Methodist institution. The education of the sentiment of the Church toward a proper appreciation of liberal culture and such an endowment of the college as would put it on a permanent and proper basis, were practical ideas to which he gave some of the best years of his life. Bravely did he labor toward this end. It cost him severe suffering. With an inadequate salary, he had to draw ruinously on his private means. But God spared him long enough for him to see that his labor was not in vain. A chief share in the establishment of these noble institutions are his monument, but they are the dear-bought treasure of an over-taxed spirit which sank in the battle when the victory was won. The results of his life as a minister of the word of reconciliation are no less great. As a divine he was profound, settled, and thoroughly Methodistic. As a minister of Christ he was deeply imbued with the spirit of the Gospel. Dr. M'Cabe says: "Rarely has a college officer been more interested in revivals of religion, or more deeply concerned in the conversion and sanctification of souls. His occasional articles show his capacity for successful authorship. In biblical exegesis he was peculiarly gifted. The Bible was the center of his studies, and he enriched his expositions with gems of rare wealth. His intellectual processes were clear, logical, and profoundly impressive. In domestic and social life the beauty and value of his character shone forth with special luster. He was married September 20, 1843, to Mrs. General Miller, of Florida, at the residence of her father, Arvine Clark, Esq., in Elmira, N. Y. She and six children survive him. Charley, a bright lad, had preceded his father by a few years to the better land. His family, thus linked to heaven, was a sanctuary for the display of the gentler and lovelier graces of his gentle, refined, and lovely nature. Often would he refresh himself with music at the melodeon, accompanied by the voice. The words he most delighted in, and which he sang with great feeling, were,

"Forever with the Lord."

President Merrick speaks for many when he says: "I remember him as the polished gentleman, the accomplished scholar, the sincere Christian, the wise counselor; and yet it is his friendship which I recall with the greatest of pleasure. He was intelligent, genial, communicative. With great purity was combined transparent honesty. Affectionate and sympathizing, his love was like that of Jonathan. And around all was diffused the subtle aroma of genius and the sweet fragrance of a sanctified spirit."

Death came at an unlooked-for moment. Returning from the Conference, he entered upon his college work with more than usual buoyancy. Up to Saturday he was at the post of duty. On Palm Sunday, as the college bell was calling worshipers to the house of God, his freed spirit sped to the innumerable company to be "forever with the Lord." Cardialgia, with nervous exhaustion, was the fatal disease. His physician inquired after one of his spells of exhaustion, "How did you feel in your extremity? Were you alarmed?" He replied earnestly, "Not at all." Perfect love had cast out fear. He composed himself for sleep, his wife heard a groan and was instantly by him, but he was gone. Retiring, unobtrusive, artless, diligent, he worked in the domain of the Eternal, as well as toward it, with a faith which realized that "the kingdoms are but one." He had always strong confidence in the sure mercies of God. Never, he said, could he bring himself to do any thing for his worldly advancement as a motive, but preferred, without putting forth his hand to the ark of Providence, to trust in God and be doing good. Moses-like, he had respect unto the eternal recompense of reward. Those who knew him will feel that the Church has lost one of its best minds.

2. Allen John was born in Chester county, Pa., December 9, 1805, and died in Middletown, Pa., December 28, 1868, in the sixty-fourth year of his age and the thirty-sixth of his ministry. He was converted to God and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in the eighteenth year of his age, from which time to that of his happy exit from earth to heaven his life was a most beautiful illustration of the saving power of grace divine. He had a well-ordered and cultivated intellect, and a heart full of love and tender sympathy. He was a good preacher, and a most affectionate and faithful pastor. His smiles were as sunbeams, his words like balm. The seals to his ministry were many. Though dead, he still lives in the grateful remembrance of the Churches he served. He was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference in the spring of 1833, and received into full connection in 1835. His various fields of labor were as follows: Harrisburgh Circuit; Woodbridge, N. J.; Waynesburgh Circuit; Springfield; Reading, Pa.; Asbury, West Philadelphia; New Holland Mission; Brandywine Circuit, Del.; Strasburgh Circuit; Soudersburgh; Sanctuary, Philadelphia; Pottstown; Mariners' Bethel, Philadelphia; Tamaqua; Frankford, Philadelphia; Chester; Phenixville; Milestown; Bristol; Phenixville, (second term;) Port Carbon; and Middletown, Pa., where he closed his labors and his useful life.

Brother John "was a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith; and much people were added to the Lord." His character was a beautiful moral transparency. The goodness within beamed out in beauteous rays of light. One felt in his presence that he was with a true and good man. He was most genial and reliable as a friend. Who that has grasped his hand and shared in his friendship can ever forget him? He was one of the most strictly conscientious of men. The Bible was his companion and guide. He was governed in private and in public life by his convictions of right. As a husband and father he was tenderly affectionate, and untiringly devoted to the interests of those who are now left to mourn his loss. His last sermon was preached December 6, 1868, from the text, "But it shall come to pass, that at evening time it shall be light." Zech. xiv, 7. The evening time of his day of life was most beauteously and gloriously light.

Sure the last end
Of the good man is peace. How calm his exit!
Night dews fall not more calmly on the ground,
Nor weary, worn-out winds expire so soft.

He died as those who knew him would have expected, not only in peace, but in glorious triumph. For some time before his death he felt anxious to provide for his family a place, which, after a weary itinerant life, they might fondly call home; and for a time during his last illness he held fondly to life and loved ones, and looked forward to the present Conference with peculiar interest, designing to ask a change of his relation, that he might rest a little while from labors of which his heart was fond, but in which his physical nature was weary. Grace enabled him, however, to say, "Thy will be done." Conference has come, but he has entered his heavenly rest. To some of his brethren in the ministry he said, "The Gospel I have preached to others sustains me in the last conflict. I have not left the work of preparation till this late hour." His physician inquired of him near his closing hour if all was peace. His face lighted with heavenly brightness, and he exclaimed with all the strength of voice he had, "Triumph!" When he said to him "All is over," he said "Amen." He kissed each member of his family, saying, "God bless you." When he could no longer speak he breathed upon them his parting benediction, and as they left his bedside one by one his eye followed them for the last time as they walked away. When he had thus blessed them, with the blessed assurance of a reunion in heaven, he lingered a little while, and then sweetly fell asleep in Jesus.

O may we triumph so,
When all our warfare's past;
And, dying, find our latest foe
Under our feet at last.

3. Henry Francis Hurn was born in Queen Anne County, Md., September 8, 1822, and died "at his post" in Lancaster, Pa., July 17, 1868, in the forty-sixth year of his age. His parents were pious members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, his father a Local Preacher. In his youth, with a fine manly voice, and somewhat precocious in ability to make public addresses, and withal a fine singer, his society was courted, and more than one expressed the opinion, that should he ever become a subject of grace, his appropriate place would be the pulpit. This, however, may have been a mere echo of his own facetious and playful prediction—that some day he would excel his father as a preacher. The great initial step toward what subsequently became the business of his life was taken in his conversion, which occurred at a camp-meeting near Middletown, in the State of Delaware, on the 16th of August, 1846. This important change he ever after believed was in answer to the prayers of his mother, whom in childhood he had heard agonizing in prayer in his behalf. He united with the Church immediately after his conversion in Odessa, then in charge of the late Rev. John Bishop Hagany. Though but twenty-four years of age, he ever regretted the loss of much precious time in not earlier giving his heart to God, and availing himself of the privileges of Church membership. In the autumn of this year he consulted Rev. David Shields, then on the Millington Circuit, with reference to his call to the ministry, and was duly recommended in the spring of 1847 to the Philadelphia Conference as a suitable person to be received into the traveling connection; but, as none were that year received, he was employed by the Presiding Elder on Milford Circuit. In 1848 he was recommended, received, and appointed to Seaford, Del. In 1849 he was sent to Dorchester Circuit, Md., and in 1850 to assist Rev. Anthony Atwood at Twelfth-street, Philadelphia, but was removed before the close of the year to fill a vacancy at Ebenezer, caused by the death of Rev. James Allen. His appointments since have been as follows: In 1851 at Ebenezer, Manayunk; 1852, Elkton, Md.; 1853, Centerville Circuit, Md.; 1854, Port Deposit, Md.; 1855–56, Western Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia; 1857–58, Elkton; 1859–60, Port Deposit; 1861–62, Easton, Pa.; 1863–5, Green-street, Philadelphia; 1866–67, Media, Pa.; and in 1868 to the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Lancaster, Pa., where he "ceased at once to work and live."

The subject of this memoir was thrice married: In 1851 to Miss Sallie Mitchell, daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Mitchell, of Philadelphia, a respectable and interesting lady, who was permitted to share the vicissitudes of an itinerant minister's life but a few months. In 1853 he was married to Miss Maria Torbert, of Elkton, Md, a lady every way suited to soothe him amid the cares of his calling, and who failed not to cheer him when the desponding tendencies of his mind required such aid. In less than ten years this happy union was dissolved by the death of his excellent wife, leaving him a prey to morbid sensibilities, only relieved by the pressing demands of a large and important charge assigned him in the spring of 1863. During his pastorate of the Green-street Church he was united in marriage to Miss Emma Eveland, of Philadelphia, who survives him to mourn her early widowhood, but who "sorrows not as those who have no hope."

Brother Hurn was a man of more than ordinary mental vigor, and was, moreover, a diligent student. His library contained many valuable books, which were not placed on shelves as ornaments, but were read and studied. Indeed, though of a genial spirit, and pleasant in the social circle, he was so wedded to the study, and labored so diligently to be a workman who needed not to be ashamed, that he was, probably, not as much with the people as would have been both to his advantage and theirs. He was not an impromptu speaker, either in the pulpit or on the platform; but when he had time to prepare he used it diligently, and his compositions sparkled with brilliant thoughts, as "apples of gold in pictures of silver." During the last two years of his life his heart was under the promptings of a warmer baptism than it had experienced for many years previously, and his "preaching was in demonstration of the Spirit and of power." His brain was the great organ in his physical nature, and as it was taxed most so did it suffer most. His last illness affected it so seriously that the joys of a living faith had less development than was desirable on the part of his friends. On the day of his death his mind seemed to be drawn out in constant prayer. Early in the day he appeared to be dissatisfied with himself, and requested his weeping wife and her sister to pray for him. He continued to wrestle for some time, and finally obtained the desire of his heart, and spoke of "the brightness all around him." Though suffering much in body, and in mind occasionally wandering, one who was with him says, "We trust to these indications as proof that the brightness of the Father's glory was then revealed to him." He leaves a widow and two children, one the son of his second wife, and an infant in the arms of its widowed mother. His work is done; he has fallen in his prime. Let us hear the voice of Him in whose hands are the issues of life and death, saying to us all, "Be ye also ready."

4. Richard Mason Greenbank was born in Yorkshire, England, August 12, 1793, and died in Philadelphia August 24, 1868, in the seventy-fifty year of his age. He was the oldest son of Thomas and Agnes Greenbank, who were among the earliest members of the societies formed by Mr. Wesley in the north of England. Richard was brought up under the strict religious and domestic training which Mr. Wesley had inculcated in his preaching and publications. He received his education at "Wodencroft Lodge," Westmoreland, England. He emigrated to this country in 1817, landing in Philadelphia, whence he soon removed to or near Winchester, Va., where he was engaged as a tutor in private families, and gave himself up to much gayety and irregularity of life; but early religious culture, under the influence of the Holy Spirit, which still continued to strive with him, prevailed, and in the year 1823, at a camp-meeting at "Rattlesnake Springs," near Baltimore, Md., amid deep penitence and bitter tears, he found pardon and became a child of God by faith in Christ. He immediately abandoned his worldly associations, and having removed to Philadelphia, connected himself with the old St. John's M. E. Church. He here married, and opened a school for boys and young men. Thus settled, his zeal for the Master soon called him into the active service of the Church, and he was licensed to preach as a Local Preacher. While thus engaged one of his colaborers in the Church, and one of the most useful Sabbath-school men of the day, the Rev. C. F. Stienman, who still survives, had gathered into the Sunday-school a number of neglected children, among them a small lad named Abel Stevens, the son of a widow. Mr. Stienman brought the lad's early promise of piety and usefulness into notice, and Mr. Greenbank received him into his school without charge, where he remained until his preceptor entered the itinerancy. He was accustomed to take the lad with him to his preaching appointments, where from a table or a chair young Abel would exhort the people with power and effect. The lad waxed in wisdom and strength, and in mature years gave to the Church its noblest history of Methodism.

Brother Greenbank joined the Philadelphia Conference in 1829, of which he remained a member until his decease. His first appointment was Gloucester Circuit, N. J., having for his colleague Rev. Jacob Gruber, of singular character and blessed memory. He was ordained Deacon in 1831 and Elder in 1833. His appointments were as follows: In 1829–30, Gloucester Circuit; 1831–32, Smyrna Circuit, Del.; 1833–34, Queen Anne Circuit, Md.; 1835–36, Easton, Md.; 1837–38, Port Deposit, Md.; 1839–40, St. John's, Philadelphia; 1841, Harmony and Elizabeth-streets, Philadelphia; 1842, Western Church, Philadelphia; 1843–44, Dauphin Circuit; 1845–46, Springfield Circuit; 1847–48, Radnor Circuit; 1849–50, Marietta; 1851–52, St. Paul's, Philadelphia; 1853–54, Bustleton; 1855–56, Mount Zion, Manayunk; 1857–58, Minersville. In 1859, on account of failing health, he took a supernumerary relation, laboring to the extent of his ability. In 1863 he was placed on the superannuated list, which honorary relation he sustained to the Conference until the Master called him from labor to reward. He was a man of considerable literary attainments. In 1838 he was honored with the degree of Master of Arts from Union College, Schenectady, N. Y. In 1842 he graduated at the University of Pennsylvania to the degree of Doctor of Medicine, and to the close of his life he was a diligent student of science and divinity. As a preacher he was clear, scriptural, earnest, and practical. His ministrations were oftimes attended with an unction and power which made sinners tremble and the people of God rejoice. He was remarkable for the kindness of his spirit and the guilelessness of his conversation. At his funeral it was said by one of his brethren in the ministry, "I have known Brother Greenbank intimately for thirty-five years, and I never heard him speak an unkind word of any one." During the last few years of his life, the asthma, which had clung to him from early manhood, began to make sad inroads upon his health, causing him much distress, so much so that for the last three or four years he scarce ever enjoyed a night's repose. In the spring of the past year his health commenced to fail rapidly until August 15, when he took to his chamber. He was cheered in his last hours by the presence of his family, three sons and three daughters, all of whom he had lived to see gathered into the Church. He delighted to listen to the precious promises of God's word, and rejoiced in victory over the last enemy, frequently exclaiming, "'O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? Thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.'" To his Presiding Elder, who visited him a few days before he died, he replied, in answer to an inquiry as to his prospect for the future, with deep emotion, He'll not live in glory and leave me behind."

A half hour previous to his death one of the family read to him a portion of the eighth of Romans, and prayed with him, he responding, "Glory! glory!" and waving his hands in triumph. His last words were, in response to the closing petition, "Amen! Amen! Amen!" He had apprehended strangulation in his closing moments, owing to the nature of his disease, but the Lord mercifully answered the prayers of his family and ministerial brethren, and saved him from this dreaded suffering. On Monday, August 24, about four o'clock P. M., after several hours of comparative ease, he leaned forward in his chair, (a position which he was compelled to occupy,) resting his head upon his right hand, as he was wont, and fell apparently into a gentle slumber. Remaining in this position, his family supposed he was still asleep; but his spirit had quietly departed, joining the innumerable company of angels and the spirits of the just men made perfect, his countenance beaming with light, and the place was felt to be sacred, "quite on the verge of heaven." The funeral services, which were of a deeply interesting character, were held in the Hedding M. E. Church, where he was accustomed to worship, August 27, 1868, and were participated in by a number of his more intimate brethren in the ministry. His mortal remains were interred in Mount Moriah Cemetery. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

5. SETH SITES GROVE was born in York County, Pa., March 24, 1842, and died in Bristol, Pa., December 10, 1868, aged twenty-six years, eight months, and sixteen days. He was converted to God in the fifteenth year of his age, soon after which he united with the Eutaw-street Methodist Episcopal Church, Baltimore, then under the pastoral care of Rev. R. L. Dashiel, where he continued a member until 1860, when he entered the Concord Biblical Institute in order more fully to prepare himself for the Gospel ministry, which he had now determined should be his life-work. Having spent some time at this institution he returned to his home more than ever resolved to live and work for God. In January, 1862, he was married to Miss Julia A. M'Comas, who now lives to mourn his loss. Being on a visit with his wife to Canada he became acquainted with Bishops Richardson and Smith, of the Canada Methodist Episcopal Church, who persuaded him to locate himself within the bounds of their work. He soon after joined the Ontario Conference of the aforesaid Church, and was appointed to Belleville, one of the most important charges belonging to the Conference, the Conference seminary, "Albert College," being located there. Here he labored for two years acceptably and efficiently, and was favored with a gracious revival of religion, during which many of the students of the college were brought to Christ, some of whom are now ministers of the Gospel. He very soon became a favorite with all connected with the college, and was urgently solicited to take the professorship of languages. This he declined. His mission was to preach the Gospel. Owing to the severity of the climate, and the delicacy of his wife's health, he was compelled to leave Canada and return to his home in the United States. In the spring of 1865 he was employed by the Presiding Elder of the North Philadelphia District of the Philadelphia Conference, Rev. Joseph Mason, and appointed to Naglesville. In the spring of 1866 he was admitted into the last named Conference, and reappointed to Naglesville. In the spring of 1867 he was ordained Elder by Bishop Scott at the Conference held in Harrisburgh, and appointed to Bristol, Pa., where, having labored with the greatest acceptability, he was suddenly attacked by hemorrhage of the lungs, which rendered it necessary for him to discontinue preaching for the remainder of the Conference year, during which time he traveled extensively in the West, and spent the winter in Cheyenne, Dacotah Territory. Returning east in last March with greatly improved health, and being deeply anxious to resume his work, at the last session of the Philadelphia Conference he was reappointed to Bristol. Here he resumed his labors under the most encouraging circumstances. He never looked more like living, nor felt more like laboring in his Master's cause. The Church and community at Bristol were highly gratified that they were to be favored again with his able ministrations and pastoral care. He entered upon and continued his labors with burning zeal and efficiency until August last, when he took a severe cold, which, together with general physical prostration, induced by too great exertion, rendered it necessary for him to suspend his labors, that he might recruit his exhausted energies. He went to Baltimore and visited among his relations and friends in that city and the county for several weeks, but without any permanent benefit. The following month, September, he returned to Bristol, but too feeble to resume his labors. He continued in this condition until October 21, when he had another hemorrhage, rendering him still more feeble. This was followed by repeated hemorrhages until November 30, when he had another more violent and painful than any that had preceded it. Recovering somewhat from the shock and prostration of this last terrible attack, but supposing himself to be dying, he said, "Jesus, sweet Jesus." "Good by! meet me in heaven." A number of the members of his Church being present he bade them all farewell with a smile on his countenance, which indicated the peace within, and told them to "meet him above." At different times during his last illness he gave utterance to such expressions as the following: "The fear of death is gone." "How sweet to die." "I will soon be in paradise." "Glory to the Lamb!" "I am not worthy, but Jesus is worthy." "I am ready to depart and be with Christ, which is far better." "I am praying that my sickness and death may do more good in this place than if I were to live and preach to them." "I am resting on the Rock." While some of his Christian friends sang some choruses his countenance was lighted up with joy and smiles. He said, "I hang by faith upon the promises." "I realize more fully that 'faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.'" After a painful, sleepless night he said, "Heaven seems nearer to me this morning." "Soon be home!" To his beloved wife he said, "The Lord bless you! I leave you in the hands of the Lord. Get all the religion you can. We part only for a little while. I am going above to watch over you and my darling child." "Be faithful." "I feel more than ever the vanity of life and the reality of heaven." To his Presiding Elder, a few days before he died, he said, "I feel like a summer cloud, just ready to float away." "Tell the brethren to be faithful. All is right with me." A few minutes before he died, his brother-in-law, Rev. N. D. M'Comas, asked him how he felt. He said, "I am very weak." In answer to the remark that he would soon be in the world of spirits, he replied, "Blessed be Jesus if it is so." "Is Jesus with you?" was asked. "Always," was his emphatic reply. "I believe in Christ only." Repeating, "Christ only; Christ only." Opening his eyes, which had been closed for a moment, he said, "Jesus, sweet Jesus; come, come, come! quickly! quickly! I am ready." In answer to the question, if he knew his friends around him, he said, "Yes," and he was gone without a struggle to the rest of the skies.

O change! O wondrous change!
Burst are the prison bars!
This moment there—so low—
And now beyond the stars.
O change! stupendous change!
Here lies the senseless clod;
The soul from bondage breaks,
The new immortal wakes,
Wakes with his God!

Thus has passed from the sorrows of earth to the joys of heaven, in the morning of his days, one of the purest and best of men, and one of the most promising of ministers. As a husband, as a father, as a son, as a brother, and as a friend, he was all that could be desired. As a preacher his talents were of the highest order, attracting many to the house and worship of God. As a pastor he was beloved by all who knew him. His interest, especially in the youth of his charge, was worthy of universal imitation. The bereaved flock from whose midst he passed from the Church below to the Church above, has been thus called in the mysterious providence of God to mourn the loss by death of three successive pastors: first, the eloquent and lamented Rev. William Barnes; then the pious, devoted Rev. J. H. Turner; now the young and talented Rev. S. S. Grove. Surely we may say with the Psalmist, "Clouds and darkness are round about Him; righteousness and judgment are the habitation of his throne." The funeral services were held in the Eutaw-street Methodist Episcopal Church, Baltimore, December 16, 1868, when a funeral sermon was preached, in compliance with the request of the deceased, by his Presiding Elder. They were participated in by a number of the ministers of the Baltimore Conference, among whom he was held in high estimation. His remains were committed to the tomb in the Green Mount Cemetery, Baltimore, there to sleep until the Lord shall come to make up his jewels.

6. DANIEL GEORGE was born in Kent County, Del., October 23, 1836, and died on Sabbath, March 14, 1869, in Olney, Pa., in the thirty-third year of his age and the twelfth of his ministry. He was converted to God October 21, 1851, in the fifteenth year of his age. He entered the Philadelphia Annual Conference in the spring of 1858, and served the following appointments: Wye, Md.; Sudlersville, Md.; Easton Circuit, Md.; Mount Salem, Del.; Media, Pa.; Newcastle, Del., and St. James, Pa., where he ceased to work and live. He died in the prime of his manhood and in the midst of his usefulness, and is embalmed in the hearts of many who knew his excellence and now mourn his loss.

Brother George, from the time of his early conversion to that of his death, was an exemplary Christian—the highest style of man. As a friend, he was devoted and true; as a husband and father, most affectionate and fond; as a minister of Christ, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth; as a pastor, true and devoted to all the responsible duties of the pastorate. He was a rising man. Whatever of difficulty he met in his way he energetically and perseveringly struggled with till it was overcome. He was a close student, and the result of his application was apparent in his efficient pulpit ministrations. He seemed destined to occupy a high position as a member of our Conference. His last days were days ever memorable; days of physical prostration and pain; days of great anxiety to his family and flock; but days of wondrous manifestations of divine presence and sanctifying and saving grace. His Christian experience was not only clear, but truly glorious. In the early part of his illness he said, "I have committed my body, soul, family, charge, and my all into the hands of God. All is safe. I feel no concern." His most frequent expressions were, "Jesus is precious." "Precious Jesus." To one of his brethren who was about leaving his room he said, "My faith is unwavering, my hope is full. The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth me from all sin. I feel confident that provision has been fully made in the atonement of Christ to meet the necessities of fallen humanity. Whatever may be the result of this sickness glory will be mine in the end. Bless the Lord. This is my testimony." At another time he bade his family and friends farewell and closed his eyes, expecting to fall asleep in Jesus, but after awhile he awoke and said, "How near I have been to the river. I thought I was over. My faith wavers not." To another of his brethren in the ministry he whispered, when very near his end, "Brother, the blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth me from all personal sin. I wanted to bear my testimony to you once more. Tell others this is my testimony." Soon after he exchanged earth for heaven, the cross for a bright crown of glory. Thus has passed from the labors of earth to the rest of heaven one of the purest and most promising members of the Philadelphia Conference.

Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. Cooper.

WILLIAM COOPER was born in Beaver Co., Pa., March 25, 1814; was born again about the year 1836 in Sharon, Beaver Co., Pa., at a meeting held by Rev. J. Monroe. In 1837 he was licensed to preach, and in 1840 was employed by Rev. Simon Elliott to travel on Butler Circuit. He was received into the Pittsburgh Conference at its session of that year and appointed to Butler Circuit, with Rev. P. M. M'Gowen as preacher in charge. In 1841 he was sent to Kittaning; 1842 to Murraysville; 1843 to Middlebourne; 1844 to Newport; 1845 to Butler; 1846 to Tarentum; 1847-8 to Kittaning; 1849 to Manchester; 1850-51 to Temperanceville; 1852 to South Pittsburgh; 1853-4 to M'Keesport; 1855 to Beaver-street, Alleghany; 1856-7 to Freeport; 1858-9 to Wesley Chapel, Pittsburgh; 1860-1 to Lawrenceville; 1862 to Temperanceville; 1863-4 to Peter's Creek; 1865-6 to Kramer Chapel, Steubenville; 1867 to Greensburgh. The last year of his life was spent in the service of the Western Seamen's Friend Society as an agent, for which he labored faithfully and efficiently, although tottering on the brink of the grave. Brother Cooper was of a sober, retiring disposition, yet when with acquaintances a pleasant companion, most appreciated by those with whom he was most familiar. His piety was deep and unquestioned; and, in his official work, duty was the never-forgotten rule of his life. Life's work was done as a matter of conscience in his pulpit, and in his intercourse with the people of his charge. It was his noble ambition to stand at his post, and do all his work faithfully, whether smiles or frowns awaited him. As a minister he was faithful, in his study thoroughly preparing his sermons, bringing nothing but beaten oil into the sanctuary; in the pulpit fearlessly preaching to the people just what he thought they ought to hear. At times he seemed inspired with the grandest truths, and announced them with an earnestness that made indelible impressions on the minds of his hearers; and again, his utterances in the pulpit were tender, pathetic, melting; like the wailings of a great heart over the sins and sorrows of man.

But Brother Cooper excelled as a Pastor. He was one of our very best; most successful in almost every charge. God blessed his faithful labors, making him instrumental in leading hundreds to Christ. When confined to his room, and his physician had warned him that his disease was complicated, and that he had no hope of his recovery, he said to Mrs. Cooper, "Death has no terrors for me." He calmly arranged his affairs, giving his directions as though he were about entering upon a pleasant journey. He was sometimes delirious, and then he lived over again his active, useful life, and in his lucid intervals he brought his own faith and love and hope to cheer the sorrowing ones that he was so soon to leave. In the last moments his eyes, opening, met those of his wife, who was bending over him and holding his hands; his countenance beamed with light and hope, and his lips for the last time moved on earth, but the words were heard only in heaven.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Walters Burrows, Hiram Mattison, William Stikeman—3.

1. WALTER BURROWS was born in Elizabeth, April 19, 1790, and died in Basking Ridge, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Mary H. Atward, March 4, 1869. He was led to Christ in his early manhood through the instrumentality of a pious sister. He at once connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church in New Providence, and from that time till his departure from earth walked in the commandments and ordinances of the Lord, letting his light shine to all around him. His gifts, as well as his graces, were soon perceived by the Church, and he was called out to labor publicly in the vineyard of his Lord. In the spring of 1816 he was admitted on trial in the Philadelphia Conference, and appointed to Bergen Circuit, which then included Haverstraw and Paterson, and all the northeastern part of the Conference territory. He subsequently filled the following appointments: In 1817, New Mills, (now Pemberton,) in Burlington County; 1818, Freehold; 1819–20, Asbury; 1821, Sussex; 1822, Burlington; 1823–24, Gloucester; 1825, Bridgeton; 1826–27, New Mills, again; 1828, Bargaintown; 1829–30, Cumberland and Cape May; 1831–32, Salem; 1833–34, Staten Island; 1835–36, Bloomfield and Orange. In 1837 he was placed in charge of Paterson District, where he was continued for four years. In 1841 he was appointed to Rahway District, where he remained the full term of four years. In 1845 we find him at New Providence, where his body now rests. In 1846–47 his field of labor was Keyport. In 1848–49, Allentown; 1850, Quarantine, (now Stapleton;) 1851–52, Greenville. At the Conference of 1853 he asked and was granted a supernumerary relation, and returned not again to the effective list on our Conference journal. He was, however, ready and willing to labor as he was able, and the necessities of the work required. When the Rev. E. A. Day became disabled in the early part of September of that year, he consented to take charge of the Church in Bergen, and did the work of an effective man till Conference; and when, in March, 1855, a man was wanted to organize the Hedding Church in Jersey City, Brother Burrows was found to be the man, and was appointed their first Pastor. Surveying the whole field of his itinerant life, it will be seen that his services were extended not only to every part of our Conference territory, but also through the entire of the New Jersey Conference, so that he could say what no other man in these Conferences could say, "I have preached the Gospel in every city, town, and neighborhood of the State of New Jersey." When the increasing infirmities of age required him to desist from public labors entirely, he did not lose his interest in the work by any means, but till the last continued to manifest a deep interest in the work of God, as promoted by Methodistic instrumentalities. Four years ago he was with us in Conference for the last time. His spirit was then cheerful and hopeful. When Philadelphia Conference was divided in 1826 he was one of the strong men of the body, and when New Jersey Conference held its first session in this city in 1837 we younger men looked upon him as one of our leaders, and found him a generous leader, encouraging the younger men to step forward and take part in the business of the Conference, which was then quite important, as the greater part of those who had been foremost in Conference business were on the other side of the Delaware. In reflecting upon his course in this regard, we are reminded of the late Rev. Richard Watson, who reverenced the young men, because of the thought that they would probably be employed in carrying forward the work of God when his head would be in the dust. As a Christian, he was joyous in his experience and practical in his life. As a minister of the New Testament he was respected and loved, having the full confidence of his fellow-laborers and of the Church wherever known. His "preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power." He was indeed "a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine." His administration of discipline was always tempered with kindness. The late Dr. Pitman, who was for some time his Presiding Elder, was heard to say he had not known a more judicious and successful man to be in charge of a circuit than was Brother Burrows. His intercourse with the people was marked with prudence, so as to be an example for the flock of Christ. As a husband, he was tender and considerate. As a father, judicious and faithful. The latter years of his life were spent with his children, after the departure of his wife to her heavenly home. The last two years were mostly spent in Baskin Ridge, where he breathed his last. Brother Clement, who was in charge of the Church in that place, and who had frequent intercourse with him during those years, writes: "In all this time I was reminded of a calm, bright summer evening, so calm and so peaceful was his spirit. His delight in the Lord was great, and he longed for his unclouded presence. On Tuesday, March 2, he was taken with a chill, and rapidly declined until the 4th, when he fell asleep in Jesus." Thus lived and thus died a true man and a faithful Christian minister. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

2. HIRAM MATTISON, D.D., was born in Herkimer County, N. Y., February 8, 1811, and died at Jersey City November 24, 1868, in the fifty-eighth year of his age. His parents were natives of New England, and partook largely of the distinguishing traits peculiar to the earlier settlers of that soil. In the year 1814 they removed from Herkimer County, and settled in Oswego County, near the present city of Oswego, where the subject of this sketch was reared up under their godly instructions, they having early embraced religion and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was not converted, however, till the year 1834, being at the time in the twenty-third year of his age, and the head of a young and interesting family. The details of this occurrence cannot here be given; suffice it to say that his conversion was remarkable, both for the singular providence by which it was brought about, and the thoroughness with which it was wrought. In reading Pollok's "Course of Time" he was powerfully awakened; his distress on account of sin was deep and well-nigh overwhelming; he could not sleep; his wife awaking in the night found him in tears and anguish; his cry was, "What must I do to be saved?" She exhorted him to pray; he said, "I cannot pray;" to which, with solemn emphasis she replied, "Hiram, you must pray;" and together they reverently knelt and poured out their souls to God. But though he found relief he was not satisfied with his conversion. The next night he went to a prayer-meeting three miles distant, told of the trouble through which he was passing, asked the prayers of God's people, and received the witness of the Holy Spirit. May not his deep conviction for sin and the thorough change which followed account in some degree for the peculiar stress which he was wont to lay upon conversion as containing not only the germ of the Christian life, but also the blade and the ear? His was no superficial conversion; it was deep, radical, all-pervading. It was such a conversion as reminds one of St. Paul's. His call to the ministry was not long delayed, and in the summer of 1836 he was admitted on trial in the Black River Conference. For two years he labored at Victory, and 1838–39 at Adams. While here he was called to bury his estimable wife, and was himself stricken down by the same disease of which she had died, his recovery from which seemed to his friends scarcely less than miraculous. In 1840 he received Elder's orders, and having failed in health, took a superannuated relation. In 1841 he was made effective, and appointed Agent of the American Bible Society for the State of New Jersey. It was during this year that the foundation was laid of that enduring friendship which afterward subsisted between him and many members of New Jersey and Newark Conferences. Wherever he went his preaching awakened unusual interest. Not confining himself to the routine duties of his agency, he performed no small amount of work at camp-meetings, protracted meetings, etc. On one occasion he was called upon to be a defender of the orthodox faith against the onslaughts of Arianism, and right nobly did he execute his task; the enemy was routed, and he held the field a sublime victor. His preparation for the public debate to which he had been challenged contained the seed-thought which afterward grew into a small volume entitled "A Scriptural Defense of the Doctrine of the Trinity," and which is unsurpassed by any similar work of the same compass in the language. At Dover he formed the acquaintance of Miss Elizabeth S. Morrison, who afterward became his wife. One of the six children, the fruit of this marriage, died at a tender age, but not without first accomplishing a sublime mission in her father's behalf. Her clear conversion, her intelligent faith, her joy in sickness, and her triumph in death, fully convinced him of that concerning which he had before been skeptical, or at least to which he had been indifferent; and ever after he was both a firm believer in, and an earnest advocate of, childhood conversion. In 1842–43 he was stationed at Watertown; in 1844–45 at Rome; in 1846 he became superannuated; the next year supernumerary; the next two years he was superannuated; in 1850 he was made Secretary of the Conference, and his relation changed to effective. During this and the following year he served by appointment of the Bishop as Professor in Falley Seminary. In 1852 he was elected Secretary of the Conference for the third time, and his relation was changed to superannuated. A vacancy having occurred in the John-street Church through the death of its Pastor, Rev. W. K. Stopford, he removed to New York to fill the vacancy, which he also did the next year. In 1854–55 he was Pastor of Trinity Church, and was largely instrumental in the erection of the noble edifice which bears that name. Having closed his labors here in the spring of 1856, he attended the General Conference as a delegate for the third time in succession. From the summer of 1855 till the autumn of 1861 he remitted none of his activity, but his efforts a part of this time were directed toward the building up of an independent organization, and at the latter date he formally withdrew from the Methodist Episcopal Church. Whatever may be our estimate of the reasons assigned for this course, we dare not doubt that he acted the part of an honest man; and whatever disaffection he may have contracted toward the polity and usages of the mother Church, his experience of independency during the next four years effectually corrected. It was the writer's privilege to open the way for his return among us, and to employ him as Pastor of the Trinity Church, Jersey City, its then late Pastor, Rev. S. Y. Munroe, having been elected Secretary of the Church Extension Society. It is an interesting coincidence that his welcome back to his old church-home by the Palisades Quarterly Conference in September, 1865, took place when he was on his way to visit his aged and venerable mother in her last sickness. That mother, with her husband, had been an almost life-long member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and she sighed for the return of her first-born. "I do not wish," said she, "to lay my gray head in the grave until Hiram comes back to the old Church." That wish awakened a tender echo in the heart of her son, and almost in the same act he hastened to throw himself into the arms of the Church, and then to whisper the intelligence to that dear mother whose dying blessing seemed to be waiting his return. In March, 1866, he was received into the Newark Conference and appointed to the same pastoral charge, to which he was also reappointed the next year. Last spring he entered the service of the American and Foreign Christian Union, and continued therein till he nobly fell at his post of duty. For some weeks previous to his death there seemed to be a foreshadowing of his approaching end, though he relaxed none of his efforts either of voice or of pen. He was unusually devout in his family worship, and talked much of dying. He spent his last Sabbath of active labor in Newark, preaching in St. Paul's Church, and warning the large assembly of the fearful encroachments of Romanism. With all the honesty and earnestness of a dying man he said, "I may not live a year, but you will live to see a fierce conflict between Popery and Protestantism, like the late struggle between slavery and freedom!"

On Monday evening, after a day of unceasing activity, we follow him to his own home, his last entrance there. The venerable Henry Boehm was awaiting his arrival. "Why, Father Boehm," he exclaimed, "I am glad to see you!" and such was the warm, cordial greeting which Dr. Mattison was accustomed to give his friends at his happy home. Soon a change comes over him; nature is weary and worn—worn out. He talks but little. Fearing Father Boehm might feel neglected, his wife called his attention to it. He arose, and grasping his hand said to him, "Father Boehm, you will excuse me for being so quiet; I do not feel able to talk." All who know the dear old man can readily imagine his reply. On Tuesday morning the family physician came, pronounced the disease pneumonia, and enjoined strict quietness. But his "ruling passion, strong in death," would not allow him to keep his bed or his room. A work on Romanism, just finished, was now going through the press, and he was busy writing another on "Depravity in its Relation to Entire Sanctification." He must work on that; and so each day he would pass into his study, the adjoining room, and bid his weary pen record the thoughts that struggled in his soul for utterance. During most of this time no danger of a fatal result was apprehended. The doctor gave daily assurances of his recovery; the patient himself was hopeful though not sanguine, and his visiting brethren regarded his chances as favorable. This was especially the case on Saturday, when he was visited by Rev. Brothers Dunn and Hanlon. The Sabbath came; he had ceased to write, but had said to his wife, "Leave those papers and books just as you see them." The papers were the manuscript of the work he was composing; the books were "Wesley's Notes," a volume of "Wesley's Sermons," and a volume of "Watson's Institutes," each opened and laid face down, with the passages marked which he intended to quote. It is not an insignificant fact that the last human authors consulted by him were Wesley and Watson, from whom chiefly we derive our theology—a theology of which Dr. Mattison was ever a bold and able defender. On Monday he was visited by Rev. John Campbell, who, after some preliminary conversation, said to him, "Doctor, I am sorry to see you so poorly, but you know whom you have believed;" to which, with a pleasant but earnest look, he replied, "Yes, I settled that point satisfactorily many years ago, and have no more doubt of it now than that my name is Mattison." On Tuesday morning about two o'clock he prevailed on his wife to take a little rest by lying down beside him on the bed. "How long," he asked, "have we lived together?" to which she replied, "Twenty-six years." He smiled and said, "My dear, you have forgotten, it is twenty-seven years." He then spoke of their happy life, and of the long years of bodily suffering through which he had passed, and then added, "But now I am going to leave you." When she wept, and expressed her deep anguish at the thought of his dying, he said plaintively, "Would you keep me here longer, when I am almost through my sufferings?" After a time she arose and stood beside his bed, her hand pressing his brow, wet with the perspiration of approaching death, and her heart convulsed with grief. He sought to quiet her agitation, and offered up a prayer, never to be forgotten, that his wife and children, with himself, might form an unbroken family in heaven. He then gave directions concerning his funeral: "I am a plain man," he said, "and wish to be buried in a plain way. Take me to Oswego and bury me beside my mother. Don't put on mourning for me." When she stated her own wishes he meekly acquiesced by saying, "Do as you think best; I leave it with you." He asked for water, and after receiving it said, "How refreshing! it is like the water that flows from the fountain of life." He had often expressed a wish to die in the quiet of his own home, with all his family around him. Aware of this desire, his eldest daughter, after he had become apparently unconscious, and when it was feared he would never speak again, said to him, placing her mouth close to his ear, "Pa, we are all here;" to which he responded, "Well," and sweetly smiled. O, well indeed! What a fullness of meaning was crowded into that brief monosyllable! It told of a grandly useful life, and of a death sublimely victorious, and seemed to be an echo in advance of that ravishing plaudit of eternity, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." At the hour of two in the afternoon he slept in Jesus.

His funeral took place on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26, at Trinity Church, Jersey City, attended by a large concourse of ministers and people. Appropriate addresses were delivered by Rev. Drs. Foster and Scudder, and Rev. L. R. Dunn, several other ministers also taking part in the services. In accordance with his request, his remains were taken to Oswego for interment. The services were held in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, and were conducted in the presence of a large and deeply solemn congregation by ministers representing five different denominations, namely, Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, Congregational, Protestant Episcopal, and Baptist. The burial service at the grave in the family burying-ground was read by Rev. G. H. Whitney, Pastor of Trinity Church, Jersey City. Verily "a prince and a great man has fallen in Israel." His rare versatility of talent fitted him in an eminent degree for the various positions which the Church and the providence of God called him to occupy. In the pulpit he was "an eloquent man, and mighty in the Scriptures." In authorship he showed rare powers of perception and analysis, and a remarkable readiness in composition. In debate he was quick, keen, sometimes sarcastic, always self-possessed, and seldom unsuccessful. In domestic and social life he was open and free, amiable and entertaining. In moral heroism he was firm and undaunted, possessing strong convictions and fearlessly proclaiming them. In his personal friendships he knew no caste, but had a warm heart and a warm hand for true merit wherever found. "With charity for all and malice toward none," he at last closed a laborious and useful life, strong in the faith which for thirty-four years he had recommended to others; and having passed from the shadows of earth he has attained that "immortality" of which he was wont to speak and write, in a land where heaven's "eternal sunshine settles on his head."

3. William Stikeman was born in Port Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y., August 9, 1845, and died at the residence of his father-in-law, near Swartswood, Sussex County, N. J., February 10, 1869, in the twenty-fourth year of his age. At an early age his lot was cast, by a kind Providence, with Christian men, and he is first presented to our notice as a clerk in the store of John Snedeker, at Port Richmond. His religious awakening, which occurred in February, 1861, was the result of a dream, in which he thought he was to die. A voice was heard saying to him, "Where God and his Christ are you never can come." The following day Rev. J. M. Freeman, then pastor of Trinity Church, called at the store and conversed with him about his soul. He attended religious services for about two weeks, presented himself for prayers, and was made happy in the Saviour's love. While attending a general class-meeting at Mount Horeb he was impressed by the thought that it was his duty to preach the Gospel. This impression was deepened by intercourse with Rev. C. Clark, Sr., who was doubtless the instrument employed by God in placing Brother Stikeman in the ministerial ranks. His first office in the Church was that of Sabbath-school Superintendent. He received license as an Exhorter, on his seventeenth birthday, at the Mt. Horeb Quarterly Conference, Dr. J. S. Porter presiding. On the 31st of January, 1862, he was licensed to preach. In December, 1863, he was called to supply Mt. Zion; in the spring of 1864 was sent as a supply to Swartswood; in 1865 was the colleague of Rev. R. Vansyckle, on Delaware Circuit, Pa. Brother Vansyckle being compelled to retire because of impaired health, Brother Stikeman had charge of the entire circuit from August until the ensuing Conference. His labors were arduous, but he performed them manfully. At the Conference of 1866 he was received on probation and appointed as junior preacher, with Rev. C. A. Wambaugh, to Rome and Greenville. In 1867 he was the colleague of Rev. J. Thomas at Vernon and New Milford. In December of that year he was united in marriage with Miss Emma C. Hagaman, (daughter of W. B. Hagaman, of Swartswood,) who for only a brief period shared with him the pleasures and trials of an itinerant life. In 1868 he was admitted to full membership in the Conference, ordained Deacon, and appointed to Forestburgh, N. Y., where he labored with more than usual success until August, when his ministry was impeded by a pulmonary difficulty, which gradually became more serious, causing him, in November of the same year, to retire to the home of his father-in-law. At the time he supposed his rest would be only temporary; but it proved to be final. Brother Stikeman's early advantages were limited; but he was studious, and rapidly improved in all that pertained to the education of a minister. As a preacher he was earnest, pleasing, and impressive. Particularly attractive was he to the young, whom he rarely if ever failed to interest in Gospel truth. Nor did he succeed simply as a preacher. He won the hearts of the people, as was evidenced by their deeds of kindness toward him while he lived and their lamentations for him when he died. His last charge was covered with gloom by the tidings of his death. This last charge was the first charge of which he was sole pastor, and on which he finished his ministerial work. He possessed in an eminent degree the most important element of a Christian minister—piety. At the Conference Camp Meeting held in 1866 he was convinced of the importance of a deeper and richer experience in divine things. At the following camp meeting he obtained the desire of his heart. From that time until his death he had blissful communion with God and sweet fellowship with his saints. His light shone with even increased brightness in the sick chamber. Bodily pain seemed only to press him nearer to Christ. So willing was he to suffer all that God willed, that he remonstrated against his companions praying that he might have physical comfort. Many of his last utterances will live long in the memories of those who heard them. When friends gathered round him to gladden his heart with hallowed song, his request was, "Sing first, 'O how I love Jesus,' and then sing what you prefer." A few hours before his death he took the Bible, and, opening to the last chapter of Malachi, expounded and exhorted with all the earnestness of a dying man for the space of two hours. Well might he have said:

> "Happy if with my latest breath
> I may but gasp his name:
> Preach him to all, and cry in death,
> Behold, behold, the Lamb!"

When death was stealing over his frame he took a pen, and with difficulty (his eye being too dim to trace the lines) wrote in a Bible his last message, and made his last bequest to his father and mother. What more fitting gift could have been bestowed by a dying minister than a copy of that blessed Gospel which it had been his chief work and delight to proclaim.

Funeral services were held in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Lafayette on the 13th of February. The sermon was preached by Rev. C. S. Coit, Presiding Elder of the Newton District, from 2 Cor. v, 1, and the other exercises were conducted by different brethren. The remains were placed in the quiet grave-yard between Sparta and Lafayette, where they await the resurrection of the just. Thus ends a brief history of an itinerant minister, who was cut down by death while the dew of youth yet rested upon him. He has fallen, but not without having borne foliage and yielded fruit.

In Brother Stikeman's life we have an illustration of the power of the Gospel of Christ. It attracts and saves the young. It covers the life with its own glory, and reflects through our fallen humanity the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus our Lord. It is stronger than the snares of Satan, sweeter than the pleasures of sin, richer than the wealth of the world, more enticing than the comforts of life, more enduring than human affection. It proves to us most clearly that he

"Who in life's battle firm doth stand,
Shall bear Hope's tender blossoms
Into the silent land."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

I. Winner, W. A. Brooks—2.

1. ISAAC WINNER.—The Church of Jesus Christ is not inaptly styled an army. Not only are well-trained generals needed to lead the sacramental hosts, but also keen-sighted and fearless sentinels to watch the wily movements of the foe, and to sound the quick alarm. Such was Isaac Winner. To this great work he felt that he was called, and nobly did he perform it. He was admitted into the Philadelphia Conference in 1822, from Mount Holly, N. J. He was at once assigned to the rough regions of Sussex County, N. J., and perhaps this rough country, and the stern dogmas of much of the Christianity with which he came in contact, had something to do with molding his future life. Certain it is that not more firmly, in sunshine and in storm, did the mountains of Sussex stand on their rocky base than he, however fierce the opposition, conscious of right, stood then and always firm to his convictions of truth. It may not be necessary to follow him in all his travels through circuits, stations, and districts as Pastor and Presiding Elder, or through Annual and General Conferences, for a period of forty-seven years, in order to give an analysis of his character. In all these positions he was a felt power. He was a man of unusually clear perceptions. Without the culture of the schools, with a mind naturally logical, he could grapple with the most abstruse and intricate propositions, unfold their sophistries, or detect the latent error. The clearness of his perceptions enabled him not only to detect and expose existing errors and fallacies, but to discover dangers, deadly though distant, to which existing fancies and facts, seemingly harmless, would ultimately lead. These discoveries so absorbed his intellect and soul at times, that, forgetful of every thing around him, his eloquence towered to the very skies in their denunciation, while clouds of portentous wrath gathered in blackness at his command upon all innovations. Such an intellect could not fail to be mighty in its expositions of the word of God. It enabled him to see into the hidden depths of the sacred oracles, and to explore the rich veins of golden truth which often lie concealed beneath the surface of some divine utterance, until his hearers, delighted with the unexpected discovery, or awed by the new outgush of divinity from some apparently plain text, confessed his power, and wondered at the gracious words that he uttered. In all these expositions there was a marked originality; while by the manner of their presentation, being entirely free from mannerism and true to nature, he was enabled to exert a commanding influence over the minds of his hearers, and the effect of his sermons was oftentimes tremendous. His convictions, too, were very strong. If a thing was right, it was intensely right; if it was wrong, it was intensely wrong. He was a conservative, in that he labored to preserve from injury, or the least violation, things that he knew to be right; and he was a progressive, for he never wearied in striking deadly blows at those things which he was satisfied were wrong. The sound of the sharp ax of his logic, as it struck at the root of some great theological or ecclesiastical error, could be heard through the surrounding forest until the crash declared that he had conquered; and as men heard these strokes of his muscular intellect, and beheld the demolished errors in their fallen pride, they confessed his power and honored his fidelity. In the maintenance of his convictions he was entirely fearless. He often stood upon the floor of his Conference alone, and here he would stand, if conscious that he was right, though the whole Church and world should be against him. Like the mountains of his first Circuit, however fierce and protracted the storms that beat against them, so he, amid the fiercest storms of the strongest opposition, stood in the manly glory of his quiet strength; and at all such times, however high the commotion or intense the excitement, he never for one moment lost that true dignity which ever belongs to a minister of Jesus Christ, while in his replies to arguments or personal innuendoes, even though they came from the youngest or humblest member of the Conference, he was a model of courtesy. Here was one great element of his strength. In his self-possession and self-respect he was peerless, and this commanded the respect of others. When he entered the Methodist Episcopal Church he found it, as he believed, a divinely-organized and divinely-energized institution, so nearly perfect that there was little that could be added to it or taken from it; hence he stood by the Church of his early choice with all the might of an intense affection and with all the powers of his strong intellect. He loved Methodism with an exhaustless love. Whatever injured her injured him. Her doctrines he embraced with his whole mind and heart. Her usages were, in his view, unequaled as agencies to convert the world. The doctrine of the witness of the Spirit he believed to be vital to the interests of the Church, and a clear, constant, personal knowledge of it essential to the well-being of every immortal soul. The doctrine of a divine call to the holy ministry, whether scholastically qualified or otherwise, he maintained with such overmastering arguments as none could gainsay or resist. Methodism as he found it was his ideal of a Church; hence any thing that looked like innovation upon her ancient simplicity or power must expect his untiring and life-long hostility. He considered Methodism a peculiar Church, and he thought Methodists ought to be a peculiar people. He greatly desired that this Church might pursue its self-denying course, laboring with an unconquerable zeal for God and souls; and while we should be respectful to all other Christian sects and denominations, should never turn aside to imitate, but be ourselves alone. But notwithstanding this course he was a strong friend of general education, and labored diligently to promote the interests of our colleges and seminaries of learning. He was one of the founders and fosterers of the Pennington Seminary, and gave his active co-operation and support, as one of the committee appointed for that purpose, to the institution lately founded at Vineland. But he opposed, as is well known, with all the vigor of his voice and pen, the introduction of theological seminaries in our midst. He opposed these, not on the abstract question of a theological training, (that was well enough in itself,) but as institutions he looked upon them as the prolific sources from which, in times past, had flowed all theological errors. He feared they might supersede that most important of all things in connection with the Christian ministry, a direct divine call from the great Head of the Church to that solemn and important work. He was apprehensive, too, that they would foster mannerisms, and that these young men, cast in the same literary mold, and so predisposed to imitate, would be deprived of that native ease and freedom of soul and intellect so essential to their success; and still further, that these young men, because of their surroundings in these halls of learning, would be disqualified for the rough pioneer work of the itinerancy, to which he felt the Methodist Episcopal Church was so largely indebted for her success. These convictions were strongly impressed upon his mind, and although thousands differed from him in judgment, among whom were some of his warmest personal friends, yet he maintained his positions with firmness to the end. In all his antagonisms he was generous. He never triumphed over a fallen foe. He rejoiced when measures which he believed wrong were defeated, but toward their advocate he was kind and gentle. From the storm of the most excited debate he could come down in a moment to the simplicity and sweetness of a child: To the erring or the fallen no man was ever more generous or forgiving. He delighted in blessing those whom others neglected or refused to help. The young itinerant always found in him a father and a friend. He was sometimes misunderstood, and thought to be censorious and severe; but whoever was favored to enter the secret chamber of his soul found that soul full of bright and cheerful sunshine. A multitude of souls attest the success of his ministry. While traveling a circuit in the northern part of New Jersey many years ago with Rev. C. A. Lippincott hundreds were converted; and afterward, while Pastor of the Franklin-street Church, in the city of Newark, he witnessed the conversion of hundreds more. In his various fields of labor as Pastor and Presiding Elder he incessantly wielded power from on high. His last years were characterized by great sorrows and great rejoicings. Bowed by repeated and crushing domestic afflictions, among which were the death of the companion of his life, two highly accomplished daughters, and a devoted son, just entering upon the work of the ministry, he yet maintained a sunny and exultant frame of soul. His final sickness was tedious and painful. During its weary months he had his conflicts; but, notwithstanding these, his time was spent in deep and blessed thought, dwelling with special interest upon the great subject of salvation by the cross as distinguished from a vain and heartless philosophy. Through all his afflictions he declared himself greatly comforted, often exclaiming, "Jesus is very precious!" "But," said he, "it is just as I expected, and just as I have preached to others. He gives grace and strength, and goes with us to the last. God is here; God is all around me." To his physician he said, "Doctor, there is another world; prepare to meet me there." A friend in conversation observed, "Your long life in the service of the Master is on record." He immediately replied, "Nothing purchased by me; but

> "'O what hath Jesus bought for me!
> Before my ravished eyes,
> Rivers of life divine I see,
> And trees of Paradise.'"

In response to a question as to his prospects, he said, "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory," and then added, "after many hard blows." Speaking of visions, he said, "I fell into a doze, with a desire on my mind of realizing that there are ministering spirits to those who shall be heirs of salvation, when, lo, I beheld the presence of numerous singers, white-robed, and with palms in their hands, among whom stood foremost mother, (his sainted wife,) who said, as if to encourage me in my affliction, 'See what Jesus hath done for us,' and O such singing! and then such delight as filled my soul I cannot express." Toward the closing scene he called his son Ogden, and requested him to sing the words of Charles Wesley,

> "O thou God of my salvation."

When the words

> "O how precious
> Is the sound of Jesus' name,"

were reached, he exclaimed, "He is precious!" and then continued, "O the height of glory!" When some remarks were made about his great suffering he replied, "It is all right." The last three hours of his life were free from pain, and at three o'clock P.M., July 5, he calmly slept in Jesus. Thus, one by one, the keen-eyed and warm-hearted sentinels are passing from the walls of Zion. May we who remain guard with a jealousy as sacred and a zeal as earnest the Church we so much love, then sleep as sweetly.

2. WILLIAM A. BROOKS was born in Philadelphia, Pa., July 7, 1810. At the age of twenty-two he was converted to God in a meeting held in the Harmony Church, Philadelphia. He soon felt the necessity of a more complete consecration of himself to God, and in a short time was enabled to say, "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth me from all sin." His first license to exhort was given him in 1836. In the spring of 1837 he was called by Father Neal to labor as a supply on Cohansey Mission. At the Conference of 1838 he joined on trial, and was appointed to Salem Circuit, with F. Ford preacher in charge. His appointments from that time were as follows: 1839, Haddonfield; 1840–41, Gloucester Point; 1842–43, Tuckahoe; 1844–45, Cape Island; 1846, Gloucester; 1847–48, Tuckerton; 1849–50, Blackwoodtown; 1851, Cumberland Circuit; 1852, Port Elizabeth; 1853–54, Bridgeport; 1855–56, Englishtown; 1857, South Amboy; 1858–59, Riceville; 1860, Squan Village; 1861–62, Titusville. During all this time he was an earnest, faithful laborer in the active work of the ministry. At each of his appointments his labors were successful, and at Allowaystown, Tuckahoe, and Bridgeport there were revivals of unusual interest and power. At the Conference of 1863, on account of failing health, he was compelled to take a superannuated relation, and soon after moved to his farm in Cape May County. While sustaining this relation he was not an idler in the Lord's vineyard. As health permitted he labored still for the salvation of precious souls. During the winters of 1867 and 1868 he traveled through Cape May and Ocean Counties as Agent for the American Bible Society. He entered upon the work earnestly, preaching when opportunity offered, visiting schools and families, distributing Bibles and circulating tracts. While thus engaged he accomplished much good, and sowed much seed, the fruit of which will be garnered in eternity. At the last Conference his relation was changed to that of supernumerary with work, and he was assigned to Cape Island Charge in connection with Rev. E. Hewitt. He was taken sick with a fever in the latter part of August last and lingered until September 12, when he sweetly fell asleep in Jesus. His funeral service was held in the Asbury M. E. Church, Cape May, in which he preached his first and his last sermon. During his sickness his Christian experience was clear and satisfactory. To one of the brethren he said, "I am just hanging upon the atonement." To another, "I am resting upon Christ." When asked what he wished to have said to his brethren in the ministry he replied, "Tell them I am happy in God. Tell them not to be afraid of the doctrine of holiness; it is a power in the Church and in the world." When able only to answer a direct question he was asked, "Is Jesus precious?" "Yes." "Is all well?" "Yes;" and thus resting on Jesus he sweetly passed away to his home above. Brother Brooks was a strong advocate of the doctrine of Christian Perfection. He enjoyed it in his heart, and exemplified it in his life. He was a man who prayed much. Every matter relating to either spiritual or temporal matters was made the subject of prayer. He possessed strong faith in God. He took hold of the promises of his word and expected them fulfilled. He was noted for his cheerfulness. Meet him at any time, he was always cheerful and happy. He was also noted for his liberality. As God gave him ability he gave to the Church. By his death his family have lost a kind husband and a fond father, the Church an earnest, unwearied worker, and the world one who labored for its good; but there is one more among those who who have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb—one more harp and voice to swell the song of triumph in heaven.

J. E. Elliott.

JOHN E. ELLIOTT was born in Centerville, Queen Anne County, Md., in 1838, and died in Snow Hill, Md., November 8, 1868. He was converted to God, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1856, under the ministry of Rev. Charles Hill. When moved to take upon him the work of the ministry, after receiving license to preach, and traveling a short time under the Presiding Elder, he entered as a student at Concord Biblical Institute. Such was his industry and application that he performed the work of two years in one. In 1859 he, with twenty-seven other brethren, was admitted on probation in the Philadelphia Conference, and appointed to Springfield, Pa. In 1860 he was appointed to Hillsborough Circuit, Md.; in 1861 to Willow Grove Circuit, Del.; in 1862 to Easton Circuit, Md.; in 1863 to Sudlersville Circuit, Md.; in 1864 to Smyrna Circuit, Del.; in 1865-66 to Queenstown, Md.; in 1867-68 he found his home amid the warm sympathies and genial hospitalities of the people of Snow Hill Circuit, Md. On Sabbath, two weeks before his death, he preached three times, and took a chill, followed by intermittent fever, which proved fatal. A short time before he died one of his members, visiting him, remarked he thought him much better. He replied he thought he was going to die, and if so he felt all ready. His illness was short, but severe, and on the above-named day he fell asleep in Jesus. On the day of his burial, after appropriate services, his remains were interred in the Methodist Episcopal burying ground attached to the church in Snow Hill. A young wife of but a few years mourns him, and the people of his late charge sympathize in her great grief.

Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Samuel Tupper.

SAMUEL TUPPER was born in Cornwallis, Nova Scotia, December 19, 1820, and died at Greenfield, Mass., January 11, 1869. His parents, Nathan and Rachel Tupper, were worthy and respected members of the Wesleyan Society, and under their example and teaching his mind was early drawn to serious reflection, and at the age of twenty years he gave evidence of personal piety. Immediately uniting with the Church, he began to exhort, "having received a license from heaven." In the mean time he was engaged with his father in mercantile pursuits, in which he acquired the accurate business habits which distinguished him through life, and in which also he gave promise of becoming a successful business man. Regarding his occupation as fixed, he determined to change his relations in life, and was, on the 23d of April, 1841, united in matrimony to Miss Mary Ann Bill, of Cornwallis, who, with seven of the nine children with which they were blessed, survives him. With tastes inclining him to business, he nevertheless, from the date of his conversion, felt that it was his duty to preach, and, however inconvenient after his settlement in life, he resolved to venture. The Church, witnessing his gifts and grace, did not hesitate to approve by giving him a license as a Local Preacher. Impelled by this conviction of duty, he determined to renounce business and devote his life to the ministry. As his own Conference was overcrowded, he concluded to remove to the States, where a broader and more promising field opened before him. Accordingly, in September, 1843, he came to Massachusetts, and was appointed by Reuben Ransom, then Presiding Elder of Springfield District, to fill out the year at Enfield, a new and difficult charge, which he served with great acceptance. At the ensuing Conference, held at Westfield, he was admitted on trial, and reappointed to Enfield. His subsequent appointments were: 1845–46, Lunenburgh, where he built a parsonage; 1847–48, Hubbardston; 1849–50, Leominster, where he enjoyed a good revival and remodeled the Church; 1851–52, Townsend, where they purchased and remodeled the Unitarian Church, paying every dollar of indebtedness; 1853–54, Fitchburgh, where the church was enlarged and filled with hearers; 1855–56, Webster, where he built a parsonage, and enjoyed an extensive revival; 1857–58, Holliston, where one hundred adults were converted and added to the Church; 1859–60, Meridian-street, Boston, where he was quite useful in harmonizing the elements and increasing the membership of the Church; 1861–62, Roxbury, where he remarked that the first year was as dark as Egypt, but the second was a time of miracles, financially and spiritually; 1863, East Cambridge, where he removed the debt from the Church, and increased the numbers and interest of the Sabbath-school; 1864–66, Church-street, Boston, where he performed his greatest work, as he canceled an old debt of over $14,000, saw two hundred conversions, and had three hundred added to the Sunday-school; 1867–68, Greenfield, where he commenced a great work, but was prevented by sickness from carrying out all his plans. In the midst of his labors, in January, 1868, he took a severe cold, which resulted in a fever from which he never recovered, though he improved, and for a time the hope was cherished that rest and change of climate would restore his health. With this hope he visited Minnesota in the summer, but returned in the autumn without improvement. From the date of his return the decline, though steady, was constant and irretrievable. With wasted strength, but indomitable courage and energy, he attempted for a few Sabbaths more to preach; but when, on the approach of cold weather, he was obliged to relinquish his work, his strength rapidly vanished, and he sank to the tomb. Fully conscious that he was walking through the valley of the shadow of death, he feared no evil, having the rod and staff to comfort him, while his feet, like those of the Pilgrim, pressed the rock below. As became such a life, his end was not only tranquil but hopeful and triumphant. Regretting to leave his loved employment and the members of his household, he yet remarked that to him rest with his Redeemer would be sweet. As a man Brother Tupper was greatly respected and beloved by all who knew him. Pure and unselfish in spirit, he made many and fast friends, no enemies. All felt that he wished to do them good. By these qualities he was able to reach many outside the Church, and of his stated congregations, especially the young, many of whom were through his labors brought to Christ. As a minister he was in labors more abundant, as the above record shows, excelling especially in social and pastoral gifts. With a mind well balanced, practical, earnest, ingenious in expedients to do good, he was able always to bring forth from his treasury truths "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness," but followed the more public teaching of the sanctuary into the social meeting and to the fireside. The enemy was conquered in detail, and his strong works reduced by regular siege. With something of impulse, he yet depended for success upon hard and constant labor. A worker himself, he possessed the gift of inducing others about him to work, and thus contribute to the general tide of prosperity. Nor were his labors confined to any one department of duty. Trained in business, he was a good manager of the finances of the Churches he served, broad and wise in plan and energetic in execution, thus restoring many waste places and opening to the Churches higher possibilities of usefulness. As a minister, however, he rejoiced most in the possession of those gifts which enabled him to lead sinners to Christ. The power he possessed with men was used to secure their salvation; his crown will be decked with many stars. If he went "forth weeping, bearing precious seed," he has no doubt returned with joy, bearing with him golden sheaves into the presence of his Lord. Of him, as of Barnabas, may we say: "He was a good man, full of the Holy Ghost, of faith," and of patience, and through his instrumentality "much people was added unto the Lord."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

C. Battersby, T. M. Curry, I. Ferris, A. Brundage—4.

1. CHARLES BATTERSBY died in the city of Brooklyn May 29, 1868, aged thirty-two. He was a native of Manchester, England, and came to this country in the ninth year of his age with his parents, who settled in the town of Durham, Greene County, N. Y. Here he spent his early youth, receiving, under the guidance of pious and exemplary parents, that mental and moral training which fitted him, under God, for a life of usefulness in the cause of Christ. Though exhibiting in early childhood marked susceptibilities to religious impressions, and leading a strictly moral life during the period of his earlier youth, it was not until his nineteenth year that he made a full surrender of his heart to God and became the subject of converting grace. While engaged in teaching near Saugerties, N. Y., he attended the ministry of Rev. O. P. Matthews, under whose powerful appeals he became deeply awakened, and was soon after happily converted. So powerful were his convictions for sin, and so marked the transition from the depths of sorrow to the thrilling joys of the new-born soul, as to leave no room for future doubt as to the nature and reality of the change that had passed upon his spirit. He commenced at once to labor for the salvation of others, going from house to house exhorting them to seek the Lord. A number were soon converted through his efforts. Calling his Pastor to the scene of his labors, a series of meetings thereupon commenced, which resulted in a powerful revival of the work of God. Soon after this Brother Battersby entered the State Normal School at Albany, where he graduated in February, 1858. He then resumed his profession of teacher at Gravesend, L. I., and soon, having been licensed, commenced to exercise his gifts as a Preacher. Being invited to take charge of a vacant Church in the place he accepted the call, and labored with great acceptance until the year 1864, when he entered the mission field, which he occupied until his death. In April, 1865, he joined the New York Conference at its session in New York city. At the time of his admission to Conference he was laboring as Missionary of the Sixth Ward, New York city, in connection with the City Mission and Tract Society. Yielding to the earnest solicitations of the management, and his own convictions of duty, but looking forward with ardent hope to the time when he should enter fully into the regular itinerant work, he received his first appointment to the Five Points Mission, and his three subsequent ones as Chaplain to the City Prison. Taking up his residence in the immediate vicinity of the prison, his life was one of incessant toil among the prisoners and in the abodes of poverty and wretchedness in the surrounding neighborhood, until, his system overtasked with labor, and vitiated by the pestilential atmosphere of the place, he fell a victim to typhoid fever, and a martyr in the cause of unfortunate and suffering humanity. His life work can be duly estimated only in the light of that day when the Master shall say, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these ye have done it unto me." Brother Battersby was extremely modest and retiring in his deportment, charitable and generous almost to a fault in his judgments of others, unflinching in the discharge of duty, ardent in his personal attachments, and loving and cheerful, even to playfulness, in his domestic relations. His intellect was active and discriminating, his literary attainments more than ordinary, his pulpit utterances impressive and interesting, accompanied by a quiet earnestness of manner that seldom failed to reach the hearts of his hearers. His piety was deep and all absorbing, with no tinge of asceticism, seeking its highest manifestation in the activities of Christian benevolence, in unselfish devotion to the welfare of others. His whole character seemed near akin to that of "the disciple whom Jesus loved." When attacked by disease he was found resting calmly, sweetly in Jesus, but without any apprehension of its fatal character. As the malady progressed his mind wandered to the scene of his daily toils; he imagined himself in the Mission preaching, praying, and giving counsel, literally crying in death, "Behold the Lamb!" Then sinking gradually away, on the eighth day of his sickness his pure and gentle spirit winged its flight to that elysium where

> Gleams eternal o'er their ways are flung,
> Who fade from earth while yet their years are young.

2. T. M. CURRY.—Death never strikes us with more impressive force than when one in the full vigor of manhood, and sustaining the dear and sacred relations of friend, husband, father, and pastor, is smitten down and translated from labor to reward. Just as friends had learned the beauty of his character; just as an endeared companion had estimated his worth; just as little ones had learned to lisp his name; and just as the Church had come to prize him as an earnest, faithful, and successful minister, Rev. Thomas Moore Curry, on September 17, 1868, at the age of thirty-seven, waves back the token of his triumph, and "enters through the gates into the city." He was born at Yorktown, Westchester County, N. Y., February 13, 1831. His ancestors for two or three generations have been members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and his father, for many years, a Local Preacher. At twenty-one he was converted and joined the Church at Shrub Oaks, then under the pastoral charge of Rev. A. N. Mulnix. Soon after he united with the Church. Feeling a call to work in the vineyard of the Lord, he entered, and, for several terms remained in, the New York Conference Seminary. Anxious to arm himself fully for the work of the ministry, he resolved to enter the Indiana Asbury University, then in charge of Rev. Dr. Curry, his uncle. All preparations were made, and he had actually started for the University, when the illness and subsequent death of a sister changed the current of his life, and in the spring of 1856 he joined the New York Conference on trial. That and the succeeding year he was stationed at Dover Plains, then a mission. He subsequently filled the following appointments with acceptability and usefulness: 1858–59, North Castle; 1860–61, Duchess; 1862, Gardnertown and Galeville; 1863–65, Goshen. During the early part of his third year at Goshen he was removed by the Bishop to fill a vacancy which had occurred in Jane-street, New York, where he remained that and the two succeeding years. Here, in the winter of 1867, his health failed. He continued to work up to the full measure of his strength, and even beyond it. Such was his anxiety to labor that it was difficult to restrain him. At the last session of the Conference, at the earnest solicitation of his friends, he asked and obtained a supernumerary relation, and removing his family to Portchester, he sought in relaxation from pastoral care and labor the coveted health which would enable him again to stand side by side with his brethren to battle for the Lord. There did appear to be temporary relief; he seemed like one putting on the armor afresh—even began to preach. But how often the sweetest hopes of life are illusive, and the brightest visions are soonest to fade. A treacherous disease lurking at the heart soon shook the slender form with paroxysms of pain, and the tenement fell, but the spirit triumphantly ascended. His last sermon was preached in Portchester, August 9, from Deut. xxxii, 47: "For it is not a vain thing for you, because it is your life." The theme was, "Religion our life." While preaching he felt that this might be his last sermon. The message fell with power upon the congregation, moving many to tears, and others to exultant shouts of praise. During the same Sabbath he attended Sunday-school, and in the evening took an active part in the prayer-meeting, triumphantly exclaiming in the midst of his exhortation, "I shall live for ever!" On Monday evening he was at the prayer-meeting again. While returning home he was suddenly seized with hemorrhage, and fell to the ground. He was conveyed to his home. In a few days he partially recovered; but a relapse soon followed, and all hope of recovery fled. When informed by his physicians that he could not live, he said, "It is all right, it is all right; I am not afraid of death. No, no; I have no fear on that subject." From this time until the end the vale was full of light. He often said, "I have not so much ecstacy, not so much holy joy, but constant peace." Better things were in reserve for him. How often God cheers his dying saints with glad visions of the coming glory. Brother Curry was thus favored. At one time it seemed for awhile that the vail had fallen between him and his friends, or that the cloud of glory had shut him from their view. He appeared unconscious. Suddenly the cloud parted, the ascending chariot and the triumphant guest became visible for a little, and these words were shouted back by the victorious saint: "Glory to God! Glory to God! Halleluia! This is the happiest hour of my life. I have had a glimpse into eternity!" After this vision of his heavenly home he lingered for a little along the shore, suffering severely, and yet rejoicing; at times expressing a most ardent desire to win souls to Christ, and to preach as never before. He still went on and talked: "Tell my brethren that I am trusting in Jesus. He supports. I shall be saved, not because I am worthy, but through the merits of Christ. He is my foundation, and I rest upon him. I have no doubts. I shall make a safe landing." To a really good man the hardest struggle in the vale of death is to part from friends. Yet even here our brother was conqueror. To his beloved wife he said, "I would like to live to care for you and my dear children. It has been my sorest trial to give you up. But isn't it wonderful, wonderful! I have gained the victory. Much as I love you, I know Jesus can take better care of you than I can, and I give you all to him." Then taking his infant son in his arms and pressing him to his heart, he said, "Pa is going to live with the angels; you must be a good boy." Calling his oldest son to his bedside he said, "You must be good to your mother; do all you can to help her, for pa is going away to live in heaven." His work was now done. Turning his face toward the Celestial City, he said to his wife, "Sing, sing!" She sang,

My latest sun is sinking fast,
My race is nearly run;
My strongest trials now are past,
My triumph is begun.
O come, angel band,
Come, and around me stand;
O bear me away on your snowy wings
To my immortal home.

While this chorus was sung his soul was in raptures, and he shouted the praises of his redeeming Lord. Just before the end he exclaimed, "I am almost home! Glory to God, I am almost home! 'I long to be there, and its glory to share.'" Soon after he fell asleep. Brother Curry was a warm friend, a genial companion; blameless in life, and marked by unswerving integrity. He was an earnest minister, studious in his habits, and ambitious of success. His religious life was marred by no gloom or cant. He was amiable, cheerful, and full of the spirit of brotherly kindness. When living he was very dear to us; now that he is gone, his memory is sacred to our hearts.

3. Ira Ferris died March 12, 1869, in New Hamburgh, N. Y. He was no ordinary man. He was tall, had a noble form, a fine, intelligent countenance, over which sweet smiles often played. He was distinguished for soundness of mind, clearness of intellect, and artless simplicity. There was a frankness about him worthy of admiration. Brother Ferris "was an Israelite indeed, in whom there was no guile." Also for genuine humility, for a devotional spirit, for decision of character, his heart being fixed, and for strong courage. He was

Bold to take up, firm to sustain,
The consecrated cross.

Blessed, also, with great kindness of heart, he had an eye to pity, a heart to feel, and a hand to relieve. He was also marked for loyalty to his Church, his country, and his God. He was an able minister of the New Testament. He studied to show himself a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. He was divinely called to the work. Necessity was laid upon him. He felt, "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel." Like Paul, he reasoned; like Apollos, he was mighty in the Scriptures. He was an able theologian, and was well acquainted with the writings of Wesley and Fletcher, and greatly admired them. Brother Ferris had some of our hardest fields of labor, and yet he cheerfully cultivated them. He was a successful minister—successful in cultivating Immanuel's land, in winning souls to Christ. He turned many from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God. Many of his fields of labor were poor; the work was hard, the support lean. For forty-four years he was engaged in the regular work of the ministry, never turning aside nor stopping to rest. He never thought of resting till the heavenly land unfolded its boundless loveliness, and welcomed him to its rest and refreshment forever. He never thought of locating till he located in the neighborhood of the throne of God. His grand object was to die on the field of battle; his highest ambition "to finish his course with joy, and the ministry he had received of the Lord Jesus to testify of the Gospel of the grace of God." He attended the session of each Conference from the time he was received till 1868. On Monday, March 15, his funeral was attended at New Hamburgh, and an appropriate address was delivered by his Presiding Elder, Rev. J. B. Wakeley. Drs. Osbon, Crawford, Miley, Revs. Philip L. Hoyt, L. M. Vincent, and Peter C. Oakley took part in the exercises. After the funeral service was read by Philip L. Hoyt, the old hero of a hundred battles was laid quietly to rest on the banks of the beautiful Hudson. None can doubt but that he will be found among those who, having "been wise" and "turned many to righteousness," will shine in brilliancy that is cloudless and eternal.

Redeemed from earth and pain,
Ah! when shall we ascend,
And all in Jesus' presence reign
With our translated friend?

4. Abraham Brundage was born in Cornwall, Orange County, N. Y., January 19, 1820, and died November 22, 1868, in Mongaup Valley, Sullivan County, N. Y. He was converted at the age of thirteen, and was soon impressed with a conviction of duty to enter the ministry, yet for years hesitated for the want of suitable qualifications for this great work. The Church licensed him to preach in 1850, thus confirming the correctness of his impressions. He was admitted into the New York Conference and appointed to the following places: Gilboa, 1852; Middletown, Delaware County, 1853; Callicoon Mission, 1854; Monticello, 1855; Rochester, Ulster County, 1856–57; Woodstock, 1858–59; Fallsburgh, 1860–61; Grahamsville, 1862–63. On this charge his health failed, and reason became impaired, making it necessary to send him to the Utica Insane Asylum. Here he remained several months, and was partially restored. He was not able to perform effective service until 1866, when he was appointed to Mongaup Valley, in the Ellenville District. The laborers of the pastorate were too severe for his nervous temperament, and before the year closed he again broke down, and was obliged permanently to retire from active work. In 1867 and 1868 he was granted a superannuated relation. In October, 1867, through the liberality of kind friends, he was sent for medical treatment to the city of New York. At first he appeared to recover rapidly, and his friends hoped for his permanent restoration. They were doomed to a painful disappointment. In May, 1868, he was brought home in a helpless condition, and continued to fail through the summer and fall. On Tuesday, November 17, his right leg, which was greatly diseased, was amputated; death ended his sufferings the following Sabbath. The deceased was eminently qualified by nature for hard labor and consequent success, yet both in their desired measure were denied him. Possessing a fine physical development, few have suffered more. His latter years were a constant struggle with disease until a merciful God permitted death to close the scene. His mental organization promised as finely as the physical. When he was Abraham Brundage few could do more work, do it more cheerfully, or more efficiently. His impulsive temperament was modified by an open frankness, a warmth of love that gave him a strong hold on the affections of his brethren, and the respect of the unconverted. In all his fields of labor he had seals of his ministry, and many admirers of his character as a man and a Christian minister. In his lucid intervals he enjoyed a constant participation in the rich fruits of the Spirit. The writer, a few weeks before his death, administered the Lord's Supper to him. Brother Brundage found the occasion one of great spiritual profit; he told us of his perfect trust in God as to the present and the future. Nature was weak but grace was powerful. Death found him wasted and maimed, with reason dethroned, a wreck nearing the shore of life. God received him to a home where the glorified saint shall be as his Lord. The widow and three fatherless children are commended to the sympathies and prayers of the Church.

Laban Clark, E. Sands—2.

1. LABAN CLARK.—The New York East Conference records this year the decease of its senior member, the venerable and honored Laban Clark, D.D., whose personal history comprises a large and highly interesting portion of the history of American Methodism in the Eastern States from the beginning of the present century. He was born July 19, 1778, at Haverhill, N. H., but spent his childhood and youth at Bradford, Vt. His parents were rigid Congregationalists, and his education was strictly Calvinistic. His thoughtful mind, however, early questioned some of the tenets of the theology prevalent around him. An interesting Wesleyan family had made its way across the ocean to the interior of Vermont, and had brought with them Wesley's sermons and other Methodist books. These works, and the conversation of their pious owners, had no little influence on his dawning mind some time before the arrival of the first Methodist itinerant who penetrated the State, and young Clark was prepared to welcome the new sect every-where spoken against. The story of his conversion, as given by himself, is simple but very full of interest. In 1799 Rev. Joseph Crawford, who was that year appointed with Elijah Chichester to Vershire circuit, arrived and preached at the house of the Wesleyans. "I left my work," wrote Mr. Clark, "and went to hear him. He dwelt upon the ample provision in the atonement; the liberty of all to come; the manner of coming by faith; that the sinner was to come because he was a sinner, and not tarry to make himself better; and, in conclusion, sung the hymn, 'Come, ye sinners, poor and needy.' Here the first light was shed upon my mind, and this was the first consistent view that presented itself to my understanding of a sinner's coming to Christ. It was several weeks before I had an opportunity of hearing him again. When he returned he came to my father's family. They collected together, the itinerant gave an exhortation and prayed, and in taking leave he took each person by the hand, and addressed a few words to him individually. When he came to me I was so affected that I could not refrain from weeping. He held on to my hand, exhorting me to receive Christ by faith; and, lifting up his voice, he prayed earnestly to the Lord to bless me. Of a sudden my burden was gone, my tears ceased to flow, and I felt a perfect calmness. I wondered at myself, for my mind was as easy and free as if I had never had a thought that troubled me. I was sensible that I had gained some victory over myself and sin, but what to call it I knew not. At this time a class was formed, and I gave myself to God and to his Church. Our numbers increased gradually, and we enjoyed precious seasons in our little society, though not without opposition. I felt it my duty to converse with my young associates, and many became serious, and were anxious to hear. In 1800 he was licensed as an Exhorter, and employed by the Presiding Elder. The next year he was received on probation in the New York Conference at John-street, New York, whither he had traveled 340 miles on horseback. His first circuit was that of Fletcher, Vt. His subsequent appointments form a numerous and striking list. They were, in 1802, Plattsburgh, N. Y.; 1803, missionary in Lower Canada; 1804, Adams, Mass.; 1805, Lebanon, N. Y.; 1806, Whitingham, Vt.; 1807, Buckland, Mass.; 1808, Granville, Mass.; 1809–10, Litchfield, Conn.; 1811, New York city, with Nathan Bangs, P. P. Sandford, Joseph Crawford, and others; 1813–14, Troy, N. Y.; 1815, Pittstown, N. Y.; 1816–17, Schenectady, N. Y.; 1818, New York city again with Seth Crowell, Thomas Thorp, Aaron Hunt, B. Hibbard, S. Merwin; 1820–21, Redding, Conn.; 1822–23, Stratford, Conn.; 1824, New York District, on which he continued four years. In 1828 he took charge of the New Haven District, and superintended it during the ensuing four years; 1832, agent for the Wesleyan University; 1833–34, New York city; in 1835 he was returned on the supernumerary list, but the next year he resumed active service, and was appointed to the Hartford District, which he traveled till 1841, when he was sent to Wethersfield, Conn. The following year he was again on the supernumerary list, and resided at Middletown, Conn. In 1843 he took an appointment, and labored at Stepney and Weston, Conn. The following four years he superintended the New Haven District. In 1848 he was appointed to the Long Island District, in which work he remained until the Conference of 1851, when, having completed his half century in the ministry, he accepted a superannuated relation, and retired from the active work. He located his home finally at Middletown, Conn., having been a principal founder of the Wesleyan University there, an institution which became one of the dearest objects of his interest, and over which he watched with the solicitude of a parent for his most darling child. He clung to it with all his characteristic tenacity to the very end of his life. But there was no important interest of the Church which did not share his sympathy and co-operation. He was active in its earlier academic educational schemes. He was one of the founders of the Missionary Society, which was organized at his suggestion when he was Pastor in New York in 1819. His influence in the General Conference was important for many years. He was a leader in the old New York Conference, and died the patriarch of the New York East Conference.

As a preacher he was sound, instructive, and, in his prime, frequently powerful. He was argumentative, and sometimes controversial; but he was also eminently practical. He read much, and having a remarkably retentive memory, was ready and instructive in conversation on almost any topic. His serene temper and a natural and amiable politeness protected him against offensiveness of manner. There was, indeed, a peculiarly tranquilizing and richly entertaining spirit in his conversation. He loved to talk, but never talked nonsense; he was fond of good stories, and had a rich treasure of them, and told them with a charming pleasantry, and not without humor. His piety was calm, steady, and deep. Methodism in theology and its practical workings were paramount to him. He died at Middletown, Conn., on Saturday, November 28, 1868, in the ninety-first year of his age, a noble, venerable, and beloved hero of American Methodism, and an eminent Christian minister. He died in great peace, and with a clear and steady hope of immortality.

2. Elisha Sands was born in the city of New York in 1830, and died in the city of Brooklyn in 1868. He was converted to God in the Greene-street Methodist Episcopal Church during the ministry of Rev. R. S. Foster, D. D. He soon began to labor for God in exhortation and preaching. He joined the New York East Conference, and labored in Orient, Greenport, York-street, Jamaica, Warren-street, and Patchogue; in all of these places he was popular and useful. His ministry was owned of God in the conversion of souls, and much lasting good was done in every place. In early life he was not favored with an education for the ministry; but by his natural gifts, and a diligent attention to reading, study, and personal improvement, he became an eloquent, impressive, and useful minister. He had a vivid imagination, a fluent utterance, and a pleasing manner of address. His preaching was earnest, attractive, and sometimes very powerful. He was an acceptable preacher of the Gospel. His career was short, but brilliant, and blessed of God. He was naturally cheerful, gentle, confiding, and loving. These qualities made him a great favorite with the people, and they gratefully remember him. His piety was sincere, devout, and earnest. "He was a good man, full of faith and the Holy Ghost, and much people were added to the Lord." In every relation of life, as husband and father, minister and friend, he was loved and honored. He continued to labor till within three months of his death. When his physician informed him that he could not live many hours, he meekly replied, "The will of the Lord be done. Then I must go home. All is well with me." The consolations of God to him were neither few nor small. He desired to live to care for his family and to labor in the Church of Christ; but his work was done. When his end drew nigh he took the hand of his wife and said, "Do you know I am now crossing the river?" She replied, "Yes." "Then," said he, "nerve yourself for the battle. I hope we shall walk together the golden streets of the New Jerusalem." He sent messages of love to all his family relations requesting them to meet him in heaven, and commending his wife and children to the care of God and the sympathies of the Church, he exclaimed, "Blessed Jesus!" and without a sigh or a groan he sweetly fell asleep in Jesus.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

George W. T. Rogers, Jacob Stevens, Orlando Hines—3.

1. GEORGE W. T. ROGERS was born in Holderness, N. H., February 2, 1812, and was converted in March, 1830. In 1832 he became a clerk in a dry goods store in Great Falls, and subsequently a partner in a bookstore. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1832. As a member and Class Leader he was faithful and useful. He preached his first sermon as a Local Preacher in 1838, and after a course of literary and theological studies at Newbury, joined the itinerancy in 1843. He filled with acceptance and considerable usefulness the following appointments, namely: South New Market, New Ipswich, Enfield, Derry, Sandown, Raymond, Salem, Seabrook, Henniker, Londonderry, and Hampstead. In 1864 he was supernumerary, but preached a part of the year at Rye; in 1865 was made effective and stationed at Rye, and in 1866 at Croydon; in 1867 he was superannuated, and, after a lingering illness, died at the house of his son in Salem the next year. Brother Rogers was a Christian gentleman, and a good pastor and preacher. He was blameless in all his relations as husband, father, and Christian minister, and in death triumphant. He has left an afflicted widow and one son (an excellent member of our Church) to mourn his loss and follow him to heaven.

2. JACOB STEVENS was born in Epping in 1809, and converted in early life. He joined the New Hampshire Conference in 1835, and was stationed as follows: At Sandown, Bellows Falls, Vt., Salem, Portsmouth, Dover, Sanbornton Bridge, and Claremont. In 1848 he was brought near to death with a pulmonary complaint, from which he never fully recovered. He sustained a superannuated relation from that time until 1868. During these years he resided mostly in Newburyport, Mass., and engaged in mercantile pursuits. Some three years since he removed to Epping. In 1868 he was made effective, and stationed at Fremont. He died at his house in Epping, March, 1869. Brother Stevens was a preacher of good abilities, and of uncommon excellence in the Sunday-school department. He filled all his appointments with acceptance and usefulness, and his memory will long be cherished by his widow and his surviving brethren in the ministry.

3. ORLANDO HINES.—This venerable patriarch, after serving his generation, fell asleep in Jesus March 1, 1869. He was born in Sandwich, N. H., April 4, 1782, and converted at the age of twenty-three in Portland, Maine. Soon after he connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church in that place. In 1806 he was married to Mary Brackett, who, with three sons and two daughters, survive him. He was licensed to preach in 1809, and joined the New England Conference in 1810. His first appointment was on the Portsmouth Circuit with John Williamson. In 1811–12, Poplin; 1813–14, Needham, Mass.; 1815–16, Providence; 1817, Needham; 1818, Marblehead; 1819, Malden; 1820–21, Poplin; 1822–23, superannuated; 1824–25, Poplin; 1826–29, Epping; 1830–31, Amoskeag; 1832–34, Pembroke; 1835–36, Bow; 1837, superannuated; 1838, Loudon. In 1839 he received his final superannuation. In 1832 he located his family in Chichester, where he died. He was in feeble health, but to the extent of his ability labored for the cause. He greatly loved the ministers and members of our Church, and also its discipline. He daily walked in the fear of God and the comfort of the Holy Ghost. He was a man of great personal dignity and urbanity of manners, with a heart full of Christian sympathy. He had no enemies, but many and warm friends. The few members of the Conference who knew him, and especially those stationed on Chichester Station, can all testify that they found in him a warm-hearted Christian friend and father, and a safe adviser; always ready to assist, without assuming to lead. Father Hines was ordained Deacon by Bishop Asbury, and Elder by Bishop M'Kendree. He died as he lived, in peace with God and man, and in blessed hope of heaven.

John C. Lyon.

JOHN CHRISTIAN LYON was born in Leonsberg, in the Kingdom of Wirtemburg, Germany, February 11, 1802, and died in Catonsville, near Baltimore, Md., May 16, 1868, aged sixty-six years, three months, and five days. Every period of his life is marked with events of interest. At his birth he was so feeble that it was thought he could not live, and he was, therefore, baptized without delay by a godly "pietist" woman. He survived, however, and his pious mother brought him up in the fear and admonition of the Lord. He attended school, as is the custom in Germany, until he was fourteen years of age, and was then confirmed in the Lutheran faith without having experienced a change of heart, or even having received any lasting impression, according to his own statement. Not long thereafter, May 1, 1817, he emigrated with a colony from the neighborhood of his native place, and, followed by the benedictions which praying parents tearfully bestowed upon him, he landed in Philadelphia August 21, 1817, full of fears in regard to the future, being almost penniless, as well as friendless. In his distress he sought refuge with his heavenly father, and, while engaged in prayer, he felt as if a voice from heaven was saying to him, "Fear not, God will provide." And, indeed, a kind Providence had watched over him hitherto. Before he was twelve years of age he was so much injured by a fall that he lay unconscious for twenty-five days, and yet he was restored. God had brought him through dangers and difficulties across the mighty waters; would he now cast him off? No, the same Providence was manifested in his future as well as in his past life, rescuing him once from a watery grave after he had sunk for the third time into the Susquehanna River, and another time from the hands of highwaymen, who had robbed him; and right bountifully did his heavenly Father deal with him in temporal blessings. In regard to his spiritual life we learn from him that he was always God-fearing, even while he was not yet converted, and that in this state a veteran of the Methodist Episcopal Church found him out and guided him to the cross. The poor penitent, beholding it with the eye of faith, heard the blessed message from on high, "Thy sins are forgiven thee, thy faith hath helped thee," and his thirsting soul was filled with the joys of a renewed spirit in the Holy Ghost. This was in the month of March, 1826. Brother Lyon was now twenty-four years of age when he began a new life. Uniting with the Methodist Episcopal Church, he was soon thereafter appointed a class-leader, and one year later, after hard inward struggles and misgivings, he began to preach Jesus and the resurrection. As to his call to the ministry he says: "I felt a strong inclination to preach the Gospel from my early youth, and often, in great anxiety and with many tears, I besought the Lord for whole nights to guide me into the way to satisfy that ardent desire. After my conversion I had no rest until I was proclaiming the word of salvation as an embassador of Christ. And hard he studied and diligently he labored in order to become a "workman that needeth not to be ashamed," and the burden of his prayer was sanctifying grace, "lest he should preach to others and himself should be a castaway." Thus he continued in the active ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church for thirty-four years, in both the English and German departments, and received consecutively the following appointments: 1828, Baltimore Conference, Huntington; 1829, Gettysburgh; 1830, Carlisle Circuit; 1831, Baltimore; 1832–33, Baltimore, Sharp-street and Asbury; 1834, superannuated; 1835, Lexington; 1836, Lewisburgh Circuit; 1837–38, Rockingham: 1839–40, Augusta; 1841, York; 1842–45, New York Conference, Second-street German Church: 1846–48, Philadelphia; 1849–52, Presiding Elder of New York German District; 1853–54, East Baltimore; 1855–56, New York, Second-street; 1857, Fortieth-street; 1858–59, Philadelphia; 1860, Frederick City; 1861, East Baltimore; 1862–68, superannuated.

Some years ago, in 1861, at his last station in Baltimore, the hand of disease was suddenly laid upon him; a paralytic stroke disabled him. He recovered from it to some extent physically, but his mind was so far impaired as to prevent his preaching, or even leading in any spiritual exercises. Yet whenever possible he was in his place in the house of God, and was always pleased to pronounce the benediction, or to assist in the administration of the Lord's Supper. Toward the close of his life his spiritual prospects became very bright; death appeared to him, as he was wont to say, only as stepping across the river into Paradise, into the presence of his Master. About a week before his death a member of the Baltimore Conference, and an old associate, visited him, and upon that brother remarking that he had a presentiment of his near death Brother Lyon answered, "I have that presentiment always; I am only waiting for the call of the Master." And on the very day in which this call came he spoke to some one of the necessity of keeping our lamps trimmed and burning, as the Lord sometimes cometh in the morning, sometimes at noon, and again in the evening, and we know neither the day nor the hour of his coming. Presently the Master called him. Between six and seven o'clock P. M. he was found apparently dozing. A physician being sent for, he found that he had an attack of apoplexy, in consequence of which he, without suffering, at last fell asleep softly as a child, and at five minutes past three o'clock on the next morning, May 16, 1868, ascension day, his spirit took its flight to be with the Lord. He had often desired to go up to glory on that blessed day, the ascension day of his dear Saviour. His wish was granted. As the day was dawning the angels came to conduct his blood-washed spirit to that God who gave it.

Brother Lyon was an earnest, faithful worker in the Gospel, never tiring, esteeming all labor light which served to advance his Master's glory. Being a man of strong emotions, he was not particularly gifted for practical purposes, and for the administration of the Discipline; but he was a mighty man of God in the pulpit, a devout and holy man in life, a pleasant companion, a kind husband, a good father, a sweet singer in Zion, a useful laborer, turning many to righteousness, and he is therefore now, we confidently believe, shining in a blissful sphere in eternity, as the sun and the stars shine in the firmament. His precious remains await—in the London Cemetery in the City of Baltimore—the second coming of the Lord, when we hope to join our beloved brother again among the apocalyptic multitude, singing for ever the new song of redemption in the golden city of our King.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

J. T. Crowell.

JESSE T. CROWELL was born in Villanova, Chautauqua County, N. Y., April 2, 1839. He was converted to God in his boyhood, and thenceforward was an exemplary and earnest Christian. He had the misfortune to lose his eyesight by cataract about the time of his conversion. For seven years he was unable to read or write; but, having a retentive mind, he acquired knowledge rapidly from listening to conversation, sermons, and literary lectures. He lived for several years during this period in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, in the neighborhood of the Iowa Wesleyan University. Here he availed himself of attending lectures and recitations, and the influence of the college atmosphere effected great improvement in his tastes and intellectual processes. He soon began to feel an earnest desire for usefulness in the cause of Christ, and finally graduated to the position of a Local Preacher. A surgical operation on one of his eyes restored him to partial vision. With the help of a strong magnifier he was enabled to read, and pass through, and thoroughly study a considerable number of theological and scientific works. He was now an acceptable preacher; but not being able to find his way across the prairies, he came among us with the hope that he might labor as an itinerant preacher in a country where there were highways and prominent way-marks. He was directed by his uncle, Dr. George Peck, to the Wyoming Seminary, where he spent a year, and under all the disadvantages of defective eyesight he prosecuted more than the usual course of study, and ranked the highest in all his classes. During this time he assisted in supplying Sabbath appointments on the Hyde Park and Lackawanna Charge, performing one half of the pulpit labor of the charge to the universal approbation of the congregations. In 1862 he was received on trial by the Wyoming Conference and appointed to South Canaan Charge, where he labored two years. He greatly endeared himself to the people, and saw fruit of his labor in the conversion of souls. In 1864 he was appointed to Moscow Charge, where he remained two years, and labored with success. In 1866 he was appointed to Dunmore Charge, where he also labored two years, and saw fruit likewise. Toward the close of his time on this charge his health evidently declined, and his friends were alarmed at his loss of physical strength and the presence of a distressing cough, which indicated disease of the bronchial tubes. His habits of study were such that it was difficult for him to observe due moderation in his application to books. It was thought that a change to a rural charge, where he could ride, might be beneficial to his health. Accordingly, in 1868 he was appointed to Harford and South Gibson Charge. But all this availed not. The vital organs were too deeply affected, and he continued to decline until God discharged him from the field of toil.

Brother Crowell had a decided metaphysical taste, and loved to grapple with the more difficult problems of philosophy and theology. Unembarrassed by defective vision, he would probably have taken a position among the strong men of the Church. As it was, he was an uncommon scholar for his years, and could scarcely be puzzled with the most recondite questions of theology or science. Brother Crowell was emphatically a good man, a man of strong faith and much prayer. His mind was hopeful and joyous; he was patient and submissive. As he approached his end his soul seemed to soar far above this world's objects and interests, and to be satisfied only in intimate communion with God and the fellowship of the spiritual and the pure. He had expressed a desire, if it should be the will of God, that he might die without a lingering sickness. In this God granted him his request. After moving about the house as usual, on the 18th of February, 1869, he repaired to his bedroom, lay down upon his bed, folded his arms, closed his eyes, and fell asleep in Jesus. He has left a bereaved widow and two children to be cared for by the Church, and to participate in her warm sympathies. Never was there a more decided specimen of the pursuit of knowledge under difficulties, and of marked success in the prosecution of the studies which are necessary to qualify a man to serve the Church and his generation.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

S. L. Stillman, Norris Mihill, A. Wade, Isaac Parks*—4.

1. STEPHEN L. STILLMAN was born April 15, 1795, in Burlington, Conn. He departed this life, in the heroism of a spiritual victor, April 2, 1869, within twelve days of the round age of seventy-four years. Of the early life of our deceased brother we have no other knowledge than that, under the power of early religious instruction, he made a profession of justifying faith at the age of twelve years. Not until six years thereafter, (1813,) and, doubtless, because of the widely prevailing errors of those times in reference to the conversion and Church-membership of children, did he make an open confession of Christ in the ordinance of baptism and a union with the Baptist Church. At a camp-meeting held September 1814 he struggled into an entire consecration of himself to God and his cause. This deeper and richer experience, at the age of nineteen years, gave character and direction to his entire subsequent life—long, honorable, and useful in the ministry of salvation. August 12, 1816, is the date of his first marriage, when Miss Sarah Sperry became the prospective partner of his early toils in the ministry. Identifying himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1817 at Schenectady, N. Y., he was three years later, in the same place, licensed to exercise the office and gifts of an Exhorter. Proving himself qualified to serve the Church in a still higher capacity, he was licensed as a Local Preacher at a Conference held in Burlington, Conn., February 5, 1822. One year later, to a day, he was recommended by the Quarterly Conference of that Church, Rev. Samuel Merwin presiding, to the New York Conference for admission to the traveling ministry. Being so received in 1823, he was appointed as associate preacher to the Burlington Circuit, having his residence in that place of his nativity, at which time and place began in earnest the chief work of his life. The field was large, embracing twenty-eight appointments in the wide range of fifteen townships and one hundred and fifty miles. At each of these places he and his colleague were expected to preach once each in every four weeks, making the average of one sermon a day and three on Sundays. In 1824 he traveled the Winstead Circuit in Connecticut, which had about eighteen preaching places, and extended into seven or more townships. In 1825 he was on the Wethersfield Charge of twenty-three appointments. In 1826 he was admitted into full connection, and ordained Deacon May 14 by Bishop Hedding, and for the two following years was stationed in Brooklyn as assistant, for one year each, of Revs. Thomas Burch and Samuel Luckey. Being ordained Elder in due course of time by the same Bishop, (1828,) he was appointed two consecutive years preacher in charge of Kingston Circuit, which numbered over twenty preaching places. In 1830–31 he was stationed at Newburgh; in 1832–33, at Hudson; 1834–35, at Hillsdale; 1836–37, at Poughkeepsie; 1838–39, at Eighteenth-street, New York; 1840, at New Haven, Conn. In 1841 he was transferred to the Troy Conference, and, by request of the official board, was appointed two consecutive years to the Garrettson Station, Albany, where his labors were largely successful in an addition to the Church of about five hundred persons, making the aggregate membership, at the close of his term, about nine hundred, many of whom survive to mourn his death as that of a father. In 1843 he was stationed at Washington Avenue, the same city; in 1844–45 at North Second-street, Troy; 1846–47, at Ballston Spa; 1848–49, at Union Village; 1850–51, at Waterford; 1852–53, at Shelburne, Vt. In 1854 Brother Stillman, being left at his own request, because of failing health, without an appointment, settled his family for a time on a small place purchased and fitted for a home in the town of Bethlehem, near Albany. Continuing his residence there, he was the next year chosen and appointed Chaplain of the Albany Bethel for Sailors and Boatmen. In 1856–57 he was appointed to Bethlehem, where he succeeded in reviving and strengthening the Churches; 1858–59, at Castleton, Vt.; 1860–61, at Salem, N. Y.; 1862, at Clarksville and New Salem; 1863, at the Free Central, Albany; 1864, at Hagaman's Mills; in 1865 was returned supernumerary without an appointment; 1866, supernumerary, with an appointment to Washington Avenue, which relation and appointment—the Church having removed to their new chapel called Trinity—he continued up to the time of his death.

A review of this long, somewhat eventful, and useful life, numbering so many years in our itinerant ministry, can but awaken within us emotions of profound gratitude to the Head of the Church for such a heroic colaborer in our work—a work having peculiar trials, requiring special sacrifices, and calling for almost constant self-denials. The twenty-eight years of his mature strength and revered age, of his genial intercourse and ministerial labors, of his annual greetings in Conference, bound him very dearly to many, and induced from all a high regard. The history of his forty-six years of pastoral work, in every variety and class of appointments, is worthy a record longer and better than we now give. Our admiration of his character, our wonder at his heroism, unknown to many of his younger brethren, our love for his social qualities, our sympathy with his zeal and labor, would lead us to say more, and to say it more enthusiastically than time or occasion may now permit. His public life is worthy the emulation, as the practical wisdom of his experience and age and the fervor of his piety challenge the admiration, of all. Having had no side employments, except as the demands of later life rendered them advisable and justifiable; never stepping aside from the proper limits of his divine call; never violating the spirit of his ordination vows, he gave himself—in times more trying than these, and in places less inviting than the garden-spots made ready to our hands—to the rough and arduous toil of primitive times. True, there was with him a consciousness of the lack of early mental discipline and of an educational foundation for scholarly attainments, as there was—because of the nature of his early work—a want of opportunity for a severe application to the study of science and philosophy; yet he was a diligent and varied reader. He had a quickness of perception, a nicety of taste, an adaptation to the popular mind, and a genial, gentlemanly bearing which, with his kindness of heart, rare conversational powers, and noble bodily person, gave to him in the days of his vigor power as a preacher and friend. His better monument is the unwritten labor of his life. His truer fame is that of a "good and faithful servant." His memory will be long and fondly cherished. A complete portraiture of our sainted brother would be made up of his simple, cheerful, and earnest piety intensified by experience and age; his long and faithful ministry, unbroken by the allurements of wealth or of fleeting honor; his easy and attractive conversational powers, entrancing alike to the young and old, to the refined and unrefined; his power in prayer; his noble impulses incarnated in a manly bearing and in a tall and erect form, unbent by his threescore and fourteen years; his finely molded head, covered with a silvered "crown of glory," making him conspicuous in any assembly. To this might be added, as a lesser ornament, the glow of a native though uncultured genius which, under early discipline and practice, had made him sure of an attainment desired by many, as his few efforts in later life clearly show. These foundation elements and cultivated traits—more natural than acquired, more religious than studied—made Stephen L. Stillman loved as husband and father, as neighbor and friend. From habit as from choice he was a man of the one work to which he gave the fifty-six years of his religious life. To the Committee of the Albany Preachers' Meeting appointed to bear the sympathies of his brethren and to counsel him, he said, "Tell my brethren in the ministry that I die in the full faith of the Gospel I have preached." Giving many other assurances of his readiness to depart, our brother laid by his armor for a crown. He has left a wife who for about twenty years shared with him in the duties and pleasures of the itinerancy, and sons and other kindred who will share in our condolence and prayers. On Tuesday, April 6, his funeral was attended from the Hudson-street Church,

2. NORRIS MIHILL was born in Sheffield, C. W., and died of typhoid fever in Beekmantown, N. Y., October 3, 1868, aged 45 years. He was converted at Wilmington, N. Y., when about eighteen years of age, and at once commenced such evangelistic labors as gave much promise of future usefulness, establishing and conducting prayer meetings, and leading his young associates to Christ. About this time an infidel scoffer laboring beside him in the iron works greatly annoyed him by his outspoken and virulent opposition. Young Mihill planned a noble revenge. He invited his young Christian brethren to meet him on a given evening at this man's house, and going in together they asked permission to hold a prayer meeting. It was readily granted, and the boys opened their meeting. In a few moments the hardened sinner began to melt, and fell at once upon his knees begging for mercy, and before the meeting closed he rejoiced in the Lord his Saviour. Previous to his conversion Brother Mihill had sometimes felt that the Lord desired him to work in the vineyard, and now these convictions returned with increased strength. But his natural modesty set before him in frightful array his great want of mental culture and general unfitness for the work, and he shrank from the responsibility. About twelve or fourteen years ago, however, he accepted license to exhort, and soon after his brethren tendered him license to preach. He now commenced work in earnest, supplying destitute places in the region around him, preaching every Sabbath and frequently during the week. Five years ago he was placed in charge of West Peru Circuit, which he served with marked acceptability for two years. At the end of this time he joined this Conference on trial, and was sent to Beekmantown, where he was serving for the third year with great efficiency at the time of his death. Early in September last he contracted a severe cold at the camp-meeting at West Chazy, from which he went home to die. Patiently he endured the raging fever for three weeks, frequently saying to his brethren who called to see him, "I don't know how it's going to turn with me; but it's all well, for Jesus is my Saviour." He left a wife and four lovely children (a model Christian family) to mourn his loss, committing them solemnly yet hopefully to that kind Benefactor who feedeth the young ravens when they cry.

3. ALPHEUS WADE was born in Pawlett, Vt., June 14, 1801, and died in Amsterdam, N. Y., July 26, 1868, aged sixty-seven years. He was converted when about nineteen years of age, and soon after licensed as a Local Preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church. His first license is dated September 21, 1821, and signed Henry Stead, Presiding Elder, Saratoga District. Brother Wade remained in the ranks of the local ministry seventeen years, being much of this time employed under the direction of the Presiding Elder. He was ordained Deacon by Bishop Hedding August 30, 1835, and Elder by Bishop Roberts June 21, 1840. In the spring of 1838 he was received on trial in the Troy Conference, and appointed to the Luzerne Circuit. His subsequent appointments were as follows: 1839, Ticonderoga, N. Y.; 1840, Jay, N. Y.; 1841, Alburgh, Vt.; 1842–43, Sheldon, Vt.; 1844–45, Monkton, Vt.; 1846, Northampton, N. Y. His health becoming much impaired in consequence of a severe rupture occasioned by a fall from his horse, he was granted a supernumerary relation at the Conference of 1847. This relation he continued to hold until 1852, when he was returned superannuated. Immediately upon his retirement from the active ministry he settled on a small farm in the town of Amsterdam, N. Y., where he continued to reside till the day of his death.

Though laid aside from the regular work for so many years, Brother Wade continued to labor and preach as his health and circumstances would permit. He was a man of deep piety, and had the confidence of all who knew him. The influence which he exerted in the community where he so long lived was indeed blessed. His death occurred suddenly on a beautiful Sabbath afternoon. He appeared unusually well and cheerful in the morning, and at 2 o'clock P.M. attended service at the West Amsterdam church, his accustomed place of worship. By invitation of the Pastor he made the opening prayer, and, after the sermon, delivered an exhortation of unusual power, urging the Church to duty, and sinners to repentance. At the conclusion of the service he remarked to the Pastor that he had seldom felt so deeply for sinners as at that time, and that he believed a glorious work of grace was about to be accomplished. On returning home he sat down with his family to the tea-table, invoked the Divine blessing, and immediately thereafter sank in his chair, and expired without a struggle or a groan.

"Sure the last end
Of the good man is peace. How calm his exit!
Night dews fall not more calmly on the ground,
Nor weary, worn-out winds expire so soft."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

E. Pettengill, P. N. Granger—2.

1. ERASTUS PETTENGILL was born in Newport, N. H., July 7, 1805; was converted in Orford in 1824, and was baptized by Rev. Nathan Howe, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He received license to preach in 1835, and labored that year on the Bethlehem Charge under the direction of the Presiding Elder. He united with the New Hampshire Conference in 1836, and was stationed at Bristol. His subsequent appointments were as follows: In 1837, Androscoggin Mission; 1838, Stratford; 1839, Bethlehem; 1840-41, Lunenburgh, Vt.; 1842-43, St. Johnsbury; 1844-45, Barton; 1846, Newbury; 1847-48, Londonderry; 1849-50, Hartland; 1851-52, East Barnard; 1853-54, Norwich and Hartford; 1855, Union Village; 1856, Bellows Falls; 1857-58, Hardwick; 1859-60, Irasburgh; 1861, Corinth; 1862-63, Williamstown; 1864–66, Union Village; 1867–68, Barnard. While laboring faithfully and with great acceptance on this his last appointment he was stricken with fatal disease, and after weeks of suffering, borne with great patience and Christian fortitude, he died March 8, 1869, aged nearly sixty-four years. For nearly thirty-three years he was in the traveling connection, and sustained an effective relation through the whole course of his ministry. Having ended his labors, relying upon the divine promise and trusting solely in the merits of Christ, he peacefully passed to his heavenly rest.

Having previously buried a most worthy companion, of whom we have been unable to obtain any definite information, in 1846 Brother Pettengill was married to Mrs. Lucretia A. Russell, who, together with five children, still survives him. He was a good man, a sound preacher, a faithful minister. He was successful in his work, and much beloved by those with whom, from time to time, he labored. He was most highly appreciated by those who knew him best. He was an affectionate husband and a kind father, a true and sympathizing friend, possessing a cheerful and genial spirit, was modest and retiring in his habits, in honor preferring others to himself. Patience and meekness were leading traits in his character, and perhaps few Christians, or Christian ministers, have less defects and possess more excellences, exhibit a more upright walk, and leave a better example than Brother Pettengill. But he has laid his armor by, his earthly toils are ended; he "rest from his labors, and his works do follow him." Thus, after long and faithful labors, one after another the fathers are falling asleep, and the sons—strong young men—are rising up to take their places, and fill for a time the thinning ranks of the sacramental host, and do valiant service upon the field of honorable conflict. "God buries his workmen, but carries on his work."

2. Pliny Nye Granger was a son of Rev. Washington Granger, a Local Preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was born in Brompton, Canada East, July 17, 1807. He was the subject of religious impressions early in life, and was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church when about fourteen years of age. After his conversion he declined in a measure in religious enjoyment, but never abandoned his hope in Christ. He studied preparatory to entering college, but instead of pursuing a collegiate course he turned his attention to the study of medicine. At the age of twenty-two or twenty-three years, being fully reclaimed from his religious decline, and feeling called to the Christian ministry, he abandoned the idea of practicing medicine, obeyed the divine call, and united with the New Hampshire Conference as a probationer at Great Falls in July 1837, and was appointed junior preacher on Stockbridge Circuit; in 1838 he labored on Chelsea Circuit; in 1839 he was ordained Deacon by Bishop Hedding, and appointed to Washington and Orange Circuit; in 1840 to Rochester; in 1841 he was ordained Elder by Bishop Soule, and stationed at East Corinth; 1842, at Derby and Holland; 1843, at Derby; 1844–45, at St. Johnsbury; 1846–47, at Sutton and Burke; 1848–49, at Irasburgh; 1850, at Waitsfield; in 1851 he took a supernumerary relation, and labored at Bethel; 1852–53, at South Royalton and Sharon; 1854, at Washington; in 1855 he was returned superannuated; 1856, he labored at Norwich and Hartford; 1857, at Rochester and Granville; 1858, at Bethel; 1859–60, at Corinth; 1861–62, at Lyndon; 1863–64, at Moretown; and from 1864 to the time of his decease he sustained a supernumerary relation. In 1837 he was married to Miss Laura S. Russell, who died in 1844. In 1845 he was married to Miss Jane Calder, who still survives him. After a brief but distressing sickness, he died of typhoid pneumonia November 19, 1868, aged about sixty-one years, leaving a son in the ministry—Rev. N. M. Granger, of the Vermont Conference—and two other children, besides the wife before-named.

Brother Granger was a preacher of good ability—was correct in principle, sound in doctrine, firm in faith, and when once settled in his convictions, seldom changed. He was favored with revivals on many of the charges on which he labored, especially at St. Johnsbury and Irasburgh. Brother Granger's religious experience was not so much characterized by the emotional and joyous as that of some Christians. He fully embraced in theory the doctrine of Christian holiness, but did not attain it in experience as a permanent blessing until his last sickness. He then gave himself up fully to God, and soon found, to the joy of his heart, that the "blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth from all sin." From this time until his death his experience was clear and marked, and he frequently exhorted his family and friends to praise God aloud. All was bright before him. His peace, love, and joy were inexpressible. "Glory to God! Halleluia! Jesus reigns! Zion's King reigns, and will reign forever!" were among his last rapturous expressions. Thus he passed triumphantly away from a scene of toil and conflict to a state of rest and reward.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. N. Pearne, J. B. Benham—2.

1. WILLIAM N. PEARNE died in Kingston, N. Y., April 30, 1868, in the seventy-fourth year of his age. He was born in Rochester, England, and came to this country some forty-six years ago. He resided at New York Mills some years as the principal business agent and accountant of a large manufacturing establishment. We are not able to state at what time he became a member of our communion. Most likely it was before his coming to this country. His relations in England, both socially and Methodistically, were of the first class. Dr. Paddock, then stationed in Utica, formed a class in his house and made him leader. He sustained an unblemished character, and his powers rapidly developing, he soon became an able minister. He was calm and dispassionate, but there was enough of emotion and of thought to command a deep and profound attention. In 1833 he joined the late Oneida Conference, and soon filled acceptably some of the most important appointments, among which were Binghamton, Cortlandville, and Utica. He was possessed of an amiable disposition, was a faithful friend and a Christian gentleman. As a minister he was clear, chaste, practical, and fearless, and a passionate admirer of the beautiful. His poetical productions found admirers, and as an amateur painter in his later years he manifested a measure of genius. When inquired of concerning the state of his mind in his last hours he exclaimed, "Happy! Happy!" while his beaming countenance and uplifted eye told better than words could do the rapture of his closing hour. He was brought to Cortlandville for burial, where, with those of his kindred who had gone before, he awaits the coming of his Lord. He had the happiness and honor of giving to the ministry of the Church of his love two sons well and extensively known, Rev. William Hall Pearne, of Memphis, and Rev. Thomas Hall Pearne, D.D., of Knoxville, Tenn.

2. JOHN B. BENHAM was born at Rome, N. Y., September 20, 1806, and died at his residence in Newfield, N. Y., May 1, 1868, of bronchial consumption. He was brought into the kingdom of God at the early age of seventeen, and his heart and mind were very soon drawn into the work of an evangelist. Using assiduously the means within his reach, he sought to grow in knowledge and grace with a view to meet any claim that might be made upon him by God and the Church. Two years at Cazenovia Seminary completed his preparatory efforts, and in the spring of 1828 he started as a missionary to the Indians of Upper Canada. He remained there about five years, preaching to the red men, and rejoicing with them in the blessings of a common salvation. No beautiful temples, no cultivated homes, no refined circles were there, yet Jesus was with him, and his banner over the missionary and his family was love. Events transpired which caused him to return to the States, and in 1834 he was received on trial in the Oneida Conference. He filled successively and successfully several charges in the Conference, and then he was again separated to the work of a missionary, this time in an important and distant field. When the African Mission was first proposed to him, it was a critical question to settle, but after much prayer he decided to go. In his letter offering himself to the Missionary Board he says with heroic faith, "As to dangers, sacrifices, privations, and death, we can say emphatically, 'None of these things move us.' The question most difficult to solve has been, 'Is it duty?' This being ascertained, we have no fears, for the path of duty is the path of safety." The offer was accepted, and he was appointed Superintendent of the Liberia Mission. He hastened to this field, and entered upon his work with characteristic zeal, but with all the energies of his powerful constitution and will he was compelled to leave at the end of two years. Fevers had broken his health and brought him, once at least, in close proximity to death, and reluctantly he bade adieu to Africa with its swarthy millions, though not without leaving a missionary's blessing in that land of missionary graves. His interest in the missionary cause continued till his death, and in his will he made a handsome bequest to the Missionary Society. After his return home he was enabled to do effective work some of the time and served several charges, last of which was Newfield, where he finished his active labors and his earthly life.

For some time before his decease it was obvious his end was nigh. Calmly he watched the approaching hour, conversing freely and cheerfully of his departure. He spoke with humility, but with the greatest assurance, of his future prospects, and at times his feelings reached a point of rapturous praise. Such expressions as these fell from his lips within a few days of his decease: "Steadily looking to Jesus." "The sting of death is gone." "Mansions, mansions, gone to prepare mansions." "Victory, victory, through the blood of the Lamb. Glory!" He expressed great sorrow to leave his companion, but commended her to the care of the kind Master, and then added, "We have proved many times that the grace of God is sufficient; that promise is valid yet." His last words were, "O how sweet it is to sleep!" With these farewell words he passed to the rest of the saints.

In reviewing the character and life of our brother we find much to honor and commend. If we mistake not, a vital religious experience characterized his whole Christian career. As to his outward life, his work will show his fidelity. In the ministry his earnestness and devotion will not be questioned when it is remembered that he occupied some of the most difficult and hazardous posts of duty, and cheerfully suffered the peculiar trials of missionary life. He left two works ready for the press, one on "Mission Life in Western Africa," and one on "Indian Missions." But this minister and missionary of the cross rests from his labors. The fields he has cultivated are whitening to the harvest, and to him will belong no small honor of the present success of Methodism in this and other lands. "He being dead yet speaketh."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

C. W. Timmons.

C. W. TIMMONS died at Bourbon, Ind., January 14, 1869. He was walking the street, apparently in good health, when he fell to the ground and was carried to the parsonage, where he died in a few hours. A post-mortem examination revealed organic disease of the heart. He had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church twenty years, was licensed to preach in 1860, and was sent as a supply to Warren Circuit by the Presiding Elder, Rev. S. Lamb. In 1861 he was received on trial into the North Indiana Conference, and was appointed to Montpelier Circuit; 1862, to Camden; 1864, to Harlan; 1866, to Bourbon, where he was returned the third year. He was a good and faithful minister of the Gospel, discharging with commendable zeal and fidelity the functions of his calling. He was beloved and respected by all who knew him. He devoted ten years of his life to the work of the itinerancy, and at the early age of forty-two, in the prime of life and in the midst of great usefulness, was stricken down. But "his works do follow him," and he "shall doubtless come again, bringing his sheaves with him." His afflicted family have the sympathy and prayers of this Conference.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

M. Thrasher, W. B. Joice—2.

1. MORENUS THRASHER died in Palermo, Oswego County, N. Y., July 13, 1868, in the fifty-fourth year of his age. He was born in Sidney, Midland District, Canada West. He was converted while a youth at the age of seventeen. His convictions that he was divinely called to the work of the ministry were greatly confirmed and strengthened at a camp-meeting in Le Roy during the month of September, 1834, at which he received a powerful baptism of the Holy Spirit. He was licensed to exhort in 1835, after which he became a student of the Governeur Wesleyan Seminary, where during one year he studied to secure a preparation for the work of the ministry. He was received on trial in the Black River Conference in the year 1841. His appointments were Sprague's Corners, Hopkinton, Bangor, Hammond, Liverpool, North Manlius, Oneida Lake, Victory, Philadelphia, Williamstown, Moira, Vermillion, and Volney. In connection with these facts concerning our departed brother, which we have gathered from the records given us of him, we would now give an expression of our appreciation of his character as a Christian brother and a minister of the Gospel. We esteemed Brother Thrasher as a Christian brother conscientious, faithful, and true. As a minister of the Gospel he won our love by his piety, zeal, fidelity, and moral heroism. The souls which he won to the Saviour will remain undecaying monuments to his memory when this written memento shall have been destroyed and forgotten. His death was not only peaceful but triumphant. Just before he took his final departure our beloved brother was able to say, "I have peace with God through Jesus Christ, joy in the Holy Ghost, and fellowship with the saints. All is triumphantly clear." This Conference and the Church mourn their loss, and sympathize with the bereaved family of our departed brother.

> But we hope to meet again,
> Meet ne'er to sever,
> Where love will wreath its chain
> Round us forever.

2. WILLIAM B. JOICE was born in Huntersland, Schoharie County, N. Y., April 16, 1820, converted to God in the summer of 1839, and came into the town of Palermo, Oswego County, N. Y., in the fall of 1846. He held an Exhorter's license nearly ten years; was then licensed to preach, and was soon after employed by Rev. George Gary, of sainted memory, then Presiding Elder of Adams District, to supply Henderson Charge. At the session of the Black River Conference in the following spring he was admitted on trial in the Conference, and returned to Henderson. In the spring of 1852 he was appointed to Ellisburgh; in 1853 received into full connection, and appointed to Martinsburgh, Lewis County, after which he served the following charges: Champion, South Rutland, Lorraine, New Bremen, Collamer, each for two years; Central Square, one year; Vermillion, two years; Depauville, nearly two years, from whence he departed this life as a faithful Christian minister on the 17th day of March, 1869, aged forty-eight years and eleven months. His remains were conveyed to Vermillion, Oswego County, N. Y., where they rest in hope of a glorious resurrection.

Brother Joice was one of those men who must be known to be appreciated. A casual observer would fail to discover the excellences of his character. Quick to plan, and prompt in execution, he was enabled to accomplish much in a limited time. Keenly alive to all the interests of the Church of his choice, and zealous for its honor, he allowed no opportunity to pass unimproved where those interests might be advanced or its honor promoted. He lived, labored, and died in the Master's service a faithful Methodist preacher. The last two years of his life were the most successful of his ministry. He has gone to his rest, leaving a good record with us that he had fought a good fight, finished his course, and kept the faith. Gone

Where all the ship's company meet
Who sailed with the Saviour beneath,
With shouting each other they greet,
And triumph o'er sorrow and death.
The voyage of life's at an end;
The mortal affliction is past;
The age that in heaven they spend
For ever and ever shall last.

This was strictly attended to, by calling over their names before the Conference.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

U. Rideout.

URIEL RIDEOUT was born in Bowdoin, Me., July 26, 1816, and died at Cape Elizabeth Ferry August 30, 1868, aged fifty-two. Another burning and shining light has passed from earth to heaven. The luxuries and advantages of affluence were not his to enjoy in his youthful days, but, what was far better for his future character, he was trained to habits of industry, economy, and self-reliance. Early piety—for he was converted at the age of fifteen—was the crowning excellence of his maturing years. Thus prepared he became a worthy model of filial affection in assiduously caring for his widowed mother until she fell asleep in Jesus. Possessing rare business talents and marked facilities for obtaining wealth, he freely left all in obedience to the call of God, "Go preach my Gospel." He well understood the toil and sacrifice of the itinerant, but having respect to the recompense of reward, he was not disobedient to the heavenly vision, and gave himself wholly to the ministry. After traveling one year under the Presiding Elder, he joined Conference in 1846, and was stationed at Kittery two years. In 1848 he was appointed to North Gorham and Standish. The next year he located, being oppressed with a sense of his need of a more thorough mental and ministerial training, and entered the Concord Biblical Institute. Resuming his place in the Conference in 1850, he was successively appointed to Scarborough, Cape Elizabeth Ferry, Cumberland and Yarmouth, South Berwick, Saccarappa, Bowdoinham, Kendall's Mills, Cape Elizabeth Depot, South Berwick, Bethel, and Cape Elizabeth Ferry. In all these appointments his labors were characterized by zeal and discretion, by ability and ministerial fidelity, and many were the souls that turned to the Lord as seals of his ministry. He bore an unblemished record, and was highly prized by his compeers, not as much as he would have been had not a retiring disposition prevented his being fully known. Combining clearness and strength of mind with purity and warmth of heart, he was well fitted to command the respect and confidence of his several charges. At the last session of our Conference he asked and received a supernumerary relation, and supplied for three months the people of his last charge; but his work was done. His disease, assuming a new power, rapidly brought him to death. Brother Rideout had often expressed a desire to "cease at once to work and live," and this desire was granted. During his brief illness of ten days his ministerial brethren were often at his bedside, and to them he expressed his willingness to go, and assured them that all was well, that to die would be to be with Christ. "I have been long looking forward to such an hour as this, and have endeavored so to live as to have nothing to do but pray, praise, and trust." In the last hours of his life (he died on the Sabbath) he was heard to repeat in notes of confidence and victory these words:

"There's not a cloud that doth arise
To hide my Saviour from my eyes.
All is well. All is well."

He leaves to mourn his loss his companion who had participated with him in the toils and triumphs of the itinerancy, and who cheered his heart and ministered unto him as an angel of mercy unto the last. Three children survive and lament his loss and bless his memory.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

George D. Strout, James B. Crawford, Daniel Clark*—3.

1. GEORGE D. STROUT, the son of Elisha and Lucy Strout, was born on Cape Elizabeth January 24, 1802, and died in Pittston October 22, 1868, in the sixty-seventh year of his natural life, and the forty-second year of his ministry. From his journal we extract the following relating to his conversion: "In the summer of 1819, as I was at work alone, I thought some one behind me uttered these words, 'Death, Judgment, Eternity.' The voice seemed so audible that I immediately turned round to see who it was, and to my surprise found no one in sight; at the same instant the impression was made on my mind, this is the Spirit of the Lord. The effect produced was so powerful I was forced to sit down, the words, Death, Judgment, Eternity, still ringing in my ears. The thoughts of dying without God, and of going to judgment as a guilty criminal to receive the doom of banishment from the Divine Presence, were awful. After a long and severe mental conflict I commenced reading the New Testament, praying for light. All was darkness and doubt until I read Christ's reply to Nicodemus, 'Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God.' Here the conflict ended. I saw, I felt one must be born again or never see the kingdom of God. Then I resolved to seek Christ until I found him. Soon after I was filled with a heavenly calm and peace, and received unutterable views of the goodness and love of God manifested in Jesus."

Some time after his conversion he became acquainted with the doctrines and discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and forming an ardent attachment for them, he united his interests with hers. On the 23d of April, 1820, he was consecrated to God in holy baptism by Rev. Timothy Walcott, and admitted to full membership in the Church of his choice. In 1825 he removed to Thompson Pond Plantation, near Poland. Here he was as a torch amid fuel. A glorious revival followed his labors, and a class was formed, over which he was appointed leader. In 1827, being recommended by his class, he was licensed an Exhorter by Rev. Stephen Waterhouse, which license was renewed by Rev. David Kilburn, with the approval of the Quarterly Conference of Poland Circuit. In September, 1827, he was licensed a Local Preacher. In 1829 he traveled Durham Circuit as the assistant of Rev. R. J. Ayer. In 1830 he was received on probation in Maine Conference. In 1832 he was admitted into full membership in the Conference, and ordained a Deacon by Bishop Roberts. In 1834 he was ordained an Elder by Bishop Hedding. From the Maine and East Maine Conferences he received the following appointments: 1830, Baldwin; 1831, Buxton; 1832, Baldwin; 1833, Poland; 1834, Otisfield; 1835–36, Elliot; 1837–38, Baldwin; 1839–40, Durham; 1841–42, Cape Elizabeth; 1843, Buxton; 1844, Richmond; 1845–46, East Pittston; 1847–48, Winslow; 1849–50, East Vassalborough; 1851–52, Georgetown; 1853–54, Bristol; 1855, Woolwich; 1856–57, Cherryfield; 1858–59, Calais; 1860–61, Eastport; 1862–63, Castine; 1864–65, Union; 1866, Orono; 1867–68, Pittston.

October 17, 1826, he was joined in marriage to Miss Annie Ayer, of Danville, who survives her companion. Precious in the family circle is his memory as a companion and father. As a man he possessed good common sense, ardent affections, and courteous manners, which introduced him to all classes, and gave him great influence over those with whom he associated. As a Christian his walk was close with God; for many years he professed and exemplified the blessing of perfect love. As a pastor he was diligent and faithful, never forgetting his high calling. As a minister he was serious and firm in his convictions of truth, industrious, persevering, interesting, instructive, and ofttimes eloquent in the inculcation of the same. Of such a man it is almost needless to say his ministry was one of unvaried success. He commanded and received the respect and esteem of the Churches he served, and of his brethren in the ministry, whom he represented in the General Conference of 1864 at Philadelphia. His death was a fitting close of such a life. We strike his name from our roll; angels add it to theirs. We miss him in this our annual gathering; angels greet him amid that throng who "have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb," and who "are without fault before the throne of God."

2. JAMES B. CRAWFORD was born in Durham, Maine, December 22, 1828, and died in Bucksport, Maine, March 31, 1869. Brother Crawford was converted at the age of eleven years under the labors of Rev. G. D. Strout. The spiritual father and son have joined hands in the better land. He obtained his education at Kent's Hill, at the price of much toil and sacrifice. He commenced preaching in 1862, joined the East Maine Conference held at Waldoborough in 1866, and was ordained Deacon by Bishop Janes. He commenced his labors at Bucksport Seminary in 1859, and was connected with this institution for ten years. Says one, "He was a determined foe to dullness in Church and Sunday-school, and sought to kindle enthusiasm in every department of labor. He was an incessant worker." His influence over those placed under his care was powerful for good. With ability to instruct the mind, he possessed a power to win the affections, and this power was used for the noble purpose of training souls for heaven; and many there are who came to the Seminary without a saving knowledge of Christ who can now bear testimony to the saving power of the Gospel. He was not satisfied with merely cultivating the minds of his pupils, but he also aimed to impress them with a sense of their higher obligations of life, which were of greater importance. We quote from a sermon preached at his funeral: "Bringing a great and loving heart to his work, his presence was a constant inspiration to his pupils. He loved them, they loved him; and he not only made them love himself, he made them love whatever is noble and good. His influence will not cease with his living presence. In coming years a great many will lead nobler lives because they have been under the teaching of James B. Crawford." As a preacher he excelled. To large natural abilities and a well-cultivated mind there was added an earnestness of address that enlisted the sympathies of his hearers and won their affections. He was a "a workman who needeth not to be ashamed." "Congregations loved to hang on his words, and were sorry when the discourse was ended. There was a sweet music in his tones, as if he had been talking with Jesus, and brought words of cheer from heavenly places. Somehow those who heard him went away refreshed and braver to bear the trials of life. His great heart had power to carry along a thousand hearts and inspire them with hope and courage." The secret of his power was not altogether in mental qualifications—though these were a powerful aid—but in God was his strength. A heart renewed by the power of the Divine Spirit spake out through the lips, and congregations felt that here was the secret of his success. His last hours were in keeping with his life. The same faith that had sustained him in life's arduous labors sustained him then. God was with his servant. Hear him speaking as from a full heart, "I would like to do something more before I go." He penciled the following words a short time before he died: "Brother William, all is well; my mind has been peaceful through all. Jesus is mine. I would like to live for my family and Church, but the rest of heaven looks sweet." In the sermon referred to is this description of the closing scene: "He was very happy. The clouds were all gone. He knew he was going. He took his family and friends by the hand and tenderly bade them farewell. 'Wife, kiss me, and bring the children to kiss me; I shall soon be with Bertie. Glory! Glory! Blessed Jesus! This is sweet dying.' And with these words he passed away."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

W. S. Hartley, Joseph Gatch, Arza Brown,* Moses Smith*—4.

1. WILLIAM S. HARTLEY was born in the city of Cincinnati, on the 8th day of March, 1833. There was nothing remarkable in his early history or education. Growing up amid influences of city life, his mind seems not to have been very early aroused to the consideration of his obligations to God and his relations to society. It was under the ministrations of Rev. Asa Brown, while stationed at Christie Chapel, that young Hartley's heart was first deeply moved with religious emotions. He then joined the Church, and subsequently was converted at the mourner's bench, side by side with Rev. John W. Mason, now an effective member of the Cincinnati Conference. Soon after young Hartley's conversion he felt moved by the Holy Spirit to preach the Gospel. But to mere human vision there seemed to be insurmountable obstacles in his way. He was naturally of a modest and retiring disposition; he felt the want of an education necessary to fill successfully so important a position, and he was without pecuniary means with which to obtain such an education. These, added to the fear of doing wrong in assuming the obligations and responsibilities of so sacred a calling, all greatly disturbed and oppressed his mind. Said his brother Robert to the writer, "Never did a man try harder to get rid of preaching than William." But his convictions followed him, and increased in clearness and force from month to month, until he consented to be obedient to the heavenly calling; saying, with Paul, "Though I preach the Gospel I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me if I preach not the Gospel." 1 Cor. ix, 16. Having once obtained the consent of his mind, he immediately set about the work of preparation, and was soon at Delaware University. He received his first license to preach from Carr-street Quarterly Conference, then under the Ladies' Home Mission, and was subsequently recommended to the Cincinnati Conference by the same Quarterly Conference, as a suitable person to be received into the traveling connection. His first field of labor was as a supply on Lewisburgh Circuit, Dayton District, in 1855. His name first appears in the Minutes of the Conference held at Ripley, October 1, 1856. In answer to the first question, "Who are admitted on trial?" the following names are given: Henry Krill, George Schwinn, George Reiter, Evan P. James, Geo. H. Dart, John P. Waterhouse, Milton Keck, John W. Mason, John Gregg, William S. Hartley, William B. Moler, John S. Jackson, Edward M'Hugh, John H. Middleton, John G. Black. It appears from this list that Brother Hartley is the second one that has fallen, brother John S. Jackson having died March, 1858. At the above-named Conference Brother Hartley was appointed assistant preacher on Concord Circuit, Dayton District, with Rev. M. Marlay, Presiding Elder, and Rev. Thomas W. Tipton, now United States Senator from Nebraska, as preacher in charge. In 1857 he was sent to Red Lion and Germantown, with Rev. Wesley Webster as preacher in charge and Rev. John P. Waterhouse as one of the assistant preachers. In 1858 he was appointed to Winchester Circuit, with Rev. Isaac Neff as preacher in charge. In 1859 he was stationed at Raper Chapel, Cincinnati. In 1860 he was stationed at Cumminsville. In this appointment God owned and blessed his labors in a very remarkable manner. For months together he preached to crowded houses, and on almost every occasion God was manifest in saving power. In 1861 he was appointed assistant preacher at Port Union Circuit, with Rev. George W. Fee as preacher in charge. In 1862 he had charge of North Bend Circuit, W. G. W. Lewis as an assistant. In 1863 he was stationed at Finley Chapel, Cincinnati. In 1864 he was stationed at Eaton, Ohio. In 1865 his declining health required he should take a superannuated relation. In 1866, having somewhat recuperated by a year's rest, he was appointed to Columbia and Pendleton. In 1867 he was again compelled to take a superannuated relation, having suffered from a severe hemorrhage of the lungs during Conference. During 1867, however, such was his desire to work for his Master, to the extent of his physical strength, that his Presiding Elder and the preacher in charge of North Bend Circuit, Rev. B. Kelly, made an arrangement for him to preach, at stated times, at Cheviot, and this he did with acceptability until the close of the Conference year. As the session of the Annual Conference approached his desire to be put upon the effective list increased, and he often talked with the writer on the subject. He earnestly pleaded if it was possible, without injuring the work, to have some work given him. For himself he seemed to have little thought—he was all absorbed in the thought of saving others. Few ministers, if any, ever had a more burning desire to preach Christ with their latest breath than William S. Hartley. More than once the writer has seen his eyes overflow with tears, and his feelings overcome him, as he would talk of his want of physical strength to labor for the salvation of souls as he once did.

It was immediately preceding the Annual Conference of 1863, on the 31st of August, that he was married to Miss Lizzie Luckey, of Fairmount, who now, with two beautiful and interesting boys, respectively five and three years of age, survive to mourn his early death. On Friday, preceding his death, which occurred about 4 P. M., Sabbath, the 7th of February, 1869, he sent for the writer to administer to him the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and to dedicate, in the ordinance of baptism, his last born to God. On this occasion his soul was wonderfully drawn out in spiritual worship, and greatly rejoiced, as prayer was offered at the conclusion of the sacramental service. He gave every assurance of his entire preparation for the change. Sweet tempered in life, he was doubly so in death.

An incident occurred only a few days before he was taken down with his last illness, which beautifully illustrates the impression Brother Hartley left on the minds of those making no profession of religion, in the several fields of labor where he had preached during the twelve years of his ministry. One of the present United States Assessors for Ohio was one of his hearers for one year, and so favorably was he impressed with our deceased brother's manly bearing and integrity, that immediately on learning he was unable to preach, he offered him an appointment in his department, but it was too late, death had marked him for a victim, and only a few hours elapsed between the reception of his commission and his departure to a better land and a better service.

Brother Hartley was a man of high-toned principle, amiable and cheerful in disposition, a true friend, a devout Christian, an earnest and faithful preacher, a considerate and affectionate husband and father. His death was quiet and peaceful as one passing into a sweet sleep. Mr. Wesley said, "Our people die well." Brother Hartley's death is an illustration of what the writer has observed as a fact for at least twenty-five years past, namely, our preachers die well. To the protection of a kind Providence and an appreciative Church we commend his sorrowing widow and children.

2. JOSEPH M. GATCH was born near Milford, Ohio, June 30, 1821, and died at the parsonage of this his native place on the 13th of February, 1869. He was the son of Conduce and Margaret Gatch, who carefully guarded the steps of his youth and taught him the way of salvation. Having been educated in the Methodist Episcopal Church, he early in life sought the pardon of sin in the blood of Jesus. He was led to repentance by the ministry of Rev. John A. Baughman when only ten years of age. On the 17th of May, 1842, he was licensed to preach at a Quarterly Meeting for Milford Circuit, held at Zoar meeting-house by Rev. William H. Raper; and by the same Quarterly Conference, three months afterward, was recommended as a suitable person to be admitted into the traveling connection in the Ohio Annual Conference, and was accordingly admitted the September following, and appointed to Georgetown Circuit with Rev. John W. Clarke, preacher in charge. The next year he traveled Batavia Circuit, with Rev. Greenbury R. Jones for his colleague. In 1844 he was ordained, and set apart to the office of Deacon, received into full connection, and appointed, with Rev. Levi White, to North Bend Circuit. The year following he traveled Frankfort Circuit, and in September, 1846, was ordained an Elder, and appointed to Jacksonville Circuit, which he traveled for two years. He subsequently filled, in the order named, the following appointments, namely, Milford, Amelia, and Madisonville Circuits. When the Ohio Conference was divided into the Ohio, Cincinnati, and Kentucky Conferences, Brother Gatch fell into the last-named, and was appointed to Covington Station for two years consecutively. He afterward served the Maysville Station and Orangeburgh Circuit in the Kentucky Conference, and was transferred to the Cincinnati Conference, and appointed to the Highland Circuit. He was next appointed to Hillsborough Station; afterward to New Lexington, Mainville, Madisonville, New Richmond, and Bethany. He was then employed as Agent for the Western Seamen's Friend Society, and finally, in the fall of 1867, stationed at Milford, Ohio, where, surrounded by friends, relatives, and familiar scenes, he closed his laborious and useful life, and, with his body lying upon the very spot where he had been converted to God, his funeral sermon was preached by the Presiding Elder of the District from the draped desk from which he had lately descended to die.

In the year 1843 he was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Mitchell, who, with three children, survives him. In the domestic relations he was kind and indulgent, yet earnestly solicitous for the salvation and exalted Christian character of his household. His ministry was of the mild and persuasive order, rather than boisterous and denunciatory, and his gentle words and manner in his sermons, or his sweetly-melodious voice employed in holy song, came stealing over his congregations like a baptism of love, and led many penitent and inquiring souls to Jesus. While others preached the terrors of the broken law of God and drove wretched sinners to the sin-avenging judgment-seat, Brother Gatch waited about Gethsemane and Zion until he moved his hearers to repentance by the soft, sweet pathos of the garden and the cross. He fully consecrated himself to God, and daily experienced the approving smile of Heaven. He was a faithful minister of Jesus Christ, who rightly divided the word of truth, and made the chosen work of his life a happy success. Although he was a man of comparatively little physical strength he was faithful in his pastoral work, and carefully instructed the children in every place, and did not cease until about ten weeks previous to his death, when infirmity had laid him upon his dying bed. During his affliction he often gave utterance to his intense desire to be again in the pulpit to preach Jesus and the resurrection, and it was long before he could realize that he was not to be thus gratified. Yet when he became fully aware of the fact that he was on the margin of the cold, mysterious river that forms the boundary of time, he did not fear or tremble, but enjoyed many assuring foretastes of the bliss upon which he was soon to enter. Two days before his death he said to some of his brethren in the ministry with rapturous emotion, "I am on the Rock, the everlasting Rock, and I have been wonderfully sustained." The Saturday on which he died was bright and cheerful; and as he looked out in the morning, and saw the smiling sky, he said, "What a beautiful day God has given me on which to go home." Having called his family around his bed, he summoned what strength he had and gave to each one his dying charge, sent messages to several friends who were absent, gave directions for his funeral, selecting the twenty-sixth verse of the Eighty-sixth Psalm for the text, the 1076th hymn and that beginning "Joyfully, joyfully, onward we move," named the preacher who should officiate, the place where the services should be held, and where his remains were to be buried; then, turning upon his side, he closed his eyes to earth, and fell asleep in Jesus as gently as the pause of the slightest breeze, or the hush of the wave that dies along the shore, illustrating the Scripture assertion, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright! for the end of that man is peace."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

C. Elliott.

CHAS. ELLIOTT, D.D., LL.D., was born in Donegal Co., Ireland, May 16, 1792, and died in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, January 6, 1869. When quite young, not more than sixteen, perhaps, he experienced a change of heart, and joined the Wesleyan Society, soon after which he was licensed as a Local Preacher in their ranks. He now began a thorough course of preparatory study, and thus laid a foundation for his subsequent career of usefulness. Nothing daunted that he was refused admission to the Dublin University, because he could not conscientiously submit to the established test, he continued to pursue the college routine of studies until he felt himself master of them all. In 1814 he emigrated to America, and four years after was received on trial in the Ohio Conference. His first four years were spent on large circuits. We next find him missionary to the Wyandot Indians at Upper Sandusky, and then Presiding Elder on the Ohio District for four years. He was then elected Professor of Languages in Madison College, which he held for four years, two of which he was a regular stationed preacher. Then he was stationed at Pittsburgh, and the two ensuing years Presiding Elder. In the winter of 1833-34 he began his editorial career in connection with the Pittsburgh Conference Journal. In 1836 he was appointed Editor of the Western Christian Advocate, which position he filled until 1848. He was then stationed successively at Springfield and Xenia, Ohio, and appointed Presiding Elder of Dayton District. In 1852 he was reappointed Editor of the Western Christian Advocate. Here he remained four years longer. In 1857 he became connected with the Iowa Wesleyan University, and the next year was chosen its President. In 1860 he was elected Editor of the Central. In this position he continued four years, during a part of which he was also President of the Iowa Wesleyan University, giving such time to it as he could consistently with his other duties. After retiring from the Central his entire time was given to the Iowa Wesleyan University, until increasing age and infirmity compelled him to desist.

As an author he was justly celebrated, most of his works adding permanently to the literature of his country. His great work on Romanism is more highly prized to-day in England than in this country.

Dr. Elliott had a warm and loving heart, which was always aspiring to do good to his fellow-men. We all remember with what peculiar weight the countries trodden down by Romanism rested upon his mind. He had even offered himself as a missionary to the "Eternal City." During the last days of his life this was the burden of his mind. He saw the vail lifted, and light dawning on that land, and rejoiced greatly. His closing hours were, as you might expect from a great and good man, full of calm peace and joy. It was good to converse with him, for he was always cheerful, always happy. Thus passed away this great and good man.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

H. Vredenburgh.

HECKALIAH VREDENBURGH was born in Westchester County, N. Y., May 10, 1790, and died at the residence of his son-in-law, Rev. — Rowley, in Wisconsin, January 23, 1869. In 1817 he settled in Terre Haute, Ind. In 1820 he united with the Missouri Conference. His first appointment was Okaw Circuit. In 1821 he was appointed to Wabash; 1822, to Honey Creek; and in 1823 to Vermillion. In 1824 the Illinois Conference was formed, Brother Vredenburgh being one of the original thirty-two members, of whom two only are now left, the venerable Peter Cartwright of Illinois, and Aaron Wood of Indiana. He was returned the second year to Vermillion. In 1825 his appointment was Crawfordsville, and the next fall he was granted a location. In 1831 he was readmitted into the Illinois

Conference, and appointed to Logansport Mission. The next year the Indiana Conference was formed, and his field of labor being within its bounds he became a member of it, and continued identified with the Conferences in Indiana until his death. In 1832 he was appointed to Washington Circuit; 1833, to Lafayette; 1834–35, to Pine Creek; 1836, to Monticello Mission; 1837, to Dayton; 1838–39, to Greencastle. In 1840 he received a superannuated relation, which he retained until death, with the exception of one year, 1851, when he traveled Prairieville Circuit.

Most of Brother Vredenburgh's itinerant life was spent in the valley of the Wabash. From its mouth almost to its source he preached, organizing new societies and circuits, carrying the Gospel message to the scattered settlements, and enduring all the exposures and privations of pioneer life. In one of his charges no house could be found to shelter his wife and children while he traveled his circuit of three or four hundred miles round. Rather than leave his work he took possession of a deserted log stable, and, fitting it up with his own hands, made that the parsonage for the year. At other times he was compelled on his rest days to cultivate a small piece of ground to supply his family with food, the pittance received being barely sufficient to furnish them with clothing. But amid all these privations and dangers this faithful minister was always at his post, rarely missing an appointment, and never deserting his trust. He was much attached to Vermillion County, being one of the first, if not the very first, to carry the Gospel there, for he preached at Butler's Point as early as 1823. When failing health compelled him to ask a superannuation from his Conference he removed to Danville, hoping to spend there the remainder of his days; but as age and infirmities increased upon him he was compelled to break up housekeeping and spend his time with his children. Before his death his sight had become dim, and his body exceedingly feeble, yet his mind was clear and strong, and his memory of the incidents and labors of his itinerant life unimpaired. On the day before he died he was attacked with a severe pain in the chest, which continued about thirty-six hours, when death released him from his suffering. When told by his physician that he could live but a little while, and that he had better prepare for death, he replied, "I have been doing so all my life." His aged companion, who shared with him the privations and toils of the itinerancy for near fifty years, still survives.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

S. Reed.

SAMUEL REED was born in Union County, Ohio, November 18, 1816. His first field of labor as a traveling preacher was the Peru Circuit, which he supplied in 1838. He was admitted into the Conference and traveled Auburn Mission in 1839-40, Frankfort in 1841-42, Vincennes in 1843, Evansville in 1844, Bedford in 1845. North Indiana Conference, Covington in 1846-47. This fall he went to St. Louis and remained one year; returned with impaired health, and was superannuated for five years following. Was again made effective, and appointed to New Harmony in 1853, to Petersburgh in 1854, New Albany in 1855, and to Bedford in 1856, where he remained to the close of that conference year, when he superannuated a second time. He says, "This closes forever my public labors in the ministry. When I look back I bitterly regret that I have not been more efficient in the vineyard of the Lord; but regrets are of no avail now; it is all over, and eternity will develop it to all. It now remains to me to suffer the will of God and await my discharge, which is nimble in approach. Through the abounding mercy of God I have been kept in perfect peace; never have I felt for one moment to repine at my lot. . . . I would not alter my condition if I could; I leave it all in the hands of God."

Brother Reed was a sufferer for many years from pulmonary affection, and bore his protracted pain with cheerful submission, always wearing a pleasant countenance, indicative of inward peace. He was a man of unswerving integrity, holding to truth and right with an unfaltering hand and heart. As a preacher he was superior; and it was often said of him that he could say more in a short space of time than most men. As a counselor he was wise and prudent, and in all the relations of life he maintained a most exalted and stainless character. He was confined almost entirely to his room during the winter before his death, and they who visited him can testify "how near of kin, that place, to heaven." To one friend he said, a few days before his departure, "If I can, when I am dying, as I go out into the stream, I will signify my condition." To another he said, "If I should not be able to speak when dying, don't think it is because there is darkness, for there has not been a happier man in the State than I have been for the last six weeks." He spoke of his death as a pleasant prospect, and with great assurance. As a sunset without a cloud, he fell asleep in Christ February 6, 1869. His funeral sermon was preached on Sabbath, February 7, to a vast concourse of people, at the Methodist Episcopal Church in Newburgh, from Malachi ii, 5, 6. On Monday, February 8, his body was laid in the Cemetery at Evansville by the Masonic fraternity.

This was strictly attended to, by calling over their names before the Conference.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

J. Hazzard, T. Barkdull,* O. Mitchell, W. Boggs,* G. W. Breckenridge—5.

1. JOHN HAZZARD died in peace, West Salem, Wayne Co., O., January 7, 1869, aged ninety-one years and six months. He was admitted in the Genesee Conference in 1811, located in 1816, readmitted in the Ohio Conference in 1828, was superannuated in 1830, made effective in 1831, located in 1834; readmitted in the North Ohio Conference in 1841, superannuated in 1842, which relation he sustained till his death. Father Hazzard loved God with all his heart for sixty-five years, and his goodness was a proverb. He loved the Church, prayed for its prosperity, and rejoiced in its growth.

2. ORIN MITCHELL was born in Granville, Licking County, Ohio, January 18, 1809; born again, January, 1829; licensed to preach by Rev. William B. Christie, in 1833; received on trial in the Ohio Annual Conference in 1834, and appointed to Danville Circuit. He traveled on Plymouth, Grand River, and Lapier Circuits, in Michigan. In Ohio he received appointments to the Station of Maumee and Perrysburgh; to the Circuits of Portland, Mexico, Bucyrus, Norwich, Frederick, Clarksfield, Amity, Jeromeville, and Fairfield. In 1854 he received a superannuated relation, which relation he sustained until death. In 1834 he was married to Miss Cypha Taylor, of Perkins, Huron County, Ohio, who, with five children, survive him to mourn his loss. He was favored with such colleagues as Abner Goff, James M'Mahon, John Hazzard, Sanford C. Parker, and Hibbard P. Ward, who have passed on before him from labor to reward. Blessed with such company and counsel, such patterns of piety and usefulness, he endeavored to copy their virtues and follow them as they followed Christ. If Brother Mitchell excelled in any one thing it was as pastor. Here was his forte. Not only the members of the Church received his religious care, but the wayward, whether rich or poor, whether dwelling in their humble cabins or more splendid homes, shared alike in his visits. Habitations of poverty, where, perhaps, the voice of prayer had never before been heard, have been visited and blessed by the intercessions at the throne of grace and pious instructions of our departed brother. As he lived, so he died. After suffering for only two days with inflammation of the bowels, he was, on the — day of August, 1869, released from the labors of life to the rest of the ransomed in heaven.

3. GEORGE W. BRECKENRIDGE was born September 26, 1812, in the town of Charlotte, Chittenden County, Vermont, and died February 26, 1869, in the fifty-seventh year of his age. In 1818 he removed with his parents to Monroeville, Huron County, Ohio. Here, August 4, 1833, at a meeting held by Rev. H. O. Sheldon and Dr. (now Bishop) Thomson, he was converted. He was licensed to exhort by Rev. Leonard Hill December 9, 1834, and licensed to preach January 9, 1836. In August, 1835, he was united in marriage to the wife who survives him. On the 20th of January, 1836, he left home with Rev. L. B. Gurley, his Presiding Elder, for St. Mary's Mission, where he was employed until the ensuing session of the Michigan Annual Conference at Mansfield, at which session he was received on trial, and appointed, with Rev. H. Whiteman, to Findlay Circuit. His appointments thereafter were as follows: In 1837 to Dexter, a two weeks' circuit, with fifteen appointments, in Michigan; in 1838, to Spring Arbor Circuit; in 1839, to Albion Circuit; 1840, stationed at Northville; 1841–42, Tiffin Circuit; 1843, Bucyrus Circuit; 1844, Norwich Circuit; 1845, Melmore Circuit; 1846, Mount Vernon; 1847, Plymouth Circuit; 1848–49, Maumee District; 1850, superannuated; 1851–52, Milan Circuit, the name of which, the second year, was changed to Monroeville Circuit; 1853, Republic Circuit; 1854, Florence Circuit; 1855–56, superannuated, and honored with an election as Delegate to the General Conference of 1856; 1856–57, Florence Circuit; 1857–58, Berea; 1859–60, Brunswick Circuit; 1861–64, Mount Vernon District; 1863, elected as a Delegate to the General Conference of 1864; 1865–68, Sandusky District, in which work he closed his efficient and valuable life. For years before his death he suffered from bronchial affection, which increased until it brought to a close his life on earth. That close was a peaceful one. Near it he said to a brother beloved: "My work is all done, and I am waiting. I may linger awhile, but I am ready. I love all the brethren; I love my Conference, and would gladly remain with them, but I am ready to depart." His "trust was in God;" he had the witness that he was accepted. Just before his departure, bidding farewell to loved ones of his household, he exclaimed, "O blessed rest, blessed hope of immortality!" At his funeral, before a large auditience, including ministerial brethren from different and distant parts of his Conference, Rev. A. J. Lyon, of Sandusky, preached an excellent sermon, and read an interesting sketch of his life and labors.

Brother Breckenridge was an upright man. In all the relations of private and public life the language of the Psalmist is appropriate, "Behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace." The practical and vital interests of the cause of God and of man, through his whole Christian life, lay near his noble heart. He was courageous in defense of what he considered principle and duty. His was a strong character, strong in intellect, will, and affection. He loved with deep devotion his family, the institutions of liberal learning, the Church of his choice, and his native land. He was a faithful minister, prompt and punctual; a straightforward, practical, and able preacher; and, as a leader in his Conference, honorable, safe, judicious. He leaves to the Church and to the world the legacy of a noble example. He walked with God, and, by means of angel bands, he was translated to the "inheritance of the saints in light."

W. Todd, J. F. Dorey—2.

1. WILLIAM TODD died at Erie, Pa., May 15, 1869, on his seventy-eighth birthday. He was born in Armagh County, Ireland, May 15, 1791. At the age of fifteen he was converted and joined the Wesleyan Methodists, among whom he held the office of Class Leader for several years. In the year 1818 he emigrated to the United States, and in 1823 was received as a probationer into the New York Conference. In 1825 he was admitted to full connection, and ordained Deacon, and in 1828 was ordained Elder. His appointments were as follows: In 1823-24, Chazy; 1825, Whitehall; 1826, Pittsford; 1827-28, Sheldon. By a change of boundary he fell into the New England Conference, and was appointed in 1829 to Hampshire; in 1830 to South Hampton, and in 1831 to Gill. In 1832 he located and went west, and in 1833 joined the Pittsburgh Conference, and was appointed to Springfield. In 1834 to Frederica, in 1835 to Youngsville, in 1836 to Westfield, N. Y. In 1837 he was transferred to the Indiana Conference, and stationed at White Pigeon, in 1838 at Prairie Round, in 1839-40 at Allegan, when by a change of boundary he fell into Michigan Conference. In 1841 he superannuated, and three years later removed to Erie, Pa., where he resided till death. At the division of the Michigan Conference in 1856 his name was placed upon the records of the Detroit Conference. He was married in 1835, and had one son, who was converted before his death. He was a warm-hearted Christian, and manifested a deep interest in the cause of Christ during his long period of superannuation, as well as during that of his active ministry. He attended communion for the last time but a few days before his decease. We have reason to believe that his spirit rests in the embrace of Jesus.

2. JAMES F. DOREY died at the residence of his parents in Manchester, August 2, 1869, aged thirty-two years. His conversion, which occurred at the early age of twelve years, was the result of faithful parental instruction aided by that of the Sabbath-school. His Christian character was consistent and uniform, his faith unclouded, and his experience deep. Developing such a Christian life he soon began to feel that his place, by divine appointment, would ultimately be in the ministry. Accordingly in 1858 he received license as a Local Preacher, and the following year, by appointment of the Presiding Elder, traveled Rome Circuit, where he labored with great acceptability. Affliction caused him to desist from traveling the following year, but in 1861 he was again employed on Rome Circuit, where his labors were attended with success. In 1862 he was admitted into the Detroit Conference as a probationer, and two years later into full connection. His appointments in the Conference were, in 1862, Fairfield; 1863-64, Southfield; 1865, Northville; 1866-67, Trenton; 1868, Oxford. In 1866 he was married to Miss Emma Clisby, who in less than a year departed for the better world. Notwithstanding he was constantly afflicted with weak eyes, his habits were very studious, and he aimed to read none but the choicest works. His elocution was easy and forcible.

His sermons were generally well prepared, and seldom failed to produce a salutary effect upon his congregation. He aimed to reach the hearts of his people, and in this he succeeded, as the revivals which attended his labors on a number of his charges abundantly testify. Though a young man of more than ordinary promise, by a mysterious providence he was cut down just as the Church began to anticipate for him a glorious future. But though stricken down at the very dawn of his usefulness, we have reason to believe that God has taken him to himself. He takes away the workmen, but as in the past, so we trust in the future, he will carry on his work.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

John Thatcher, W. W. Mitchell—2.

1. JOHN THATCHER was born in the State of Connecticut, A.D. 1806, and was reared mostly in the State of Pennsylvania. He served out his minority under his father as a hard-working farmer, with scarcely any advantages for acquiring an education. During this period of his life he used to take his books with him into the fields, and seize every spare moment to pore over their valuable contents. At the age of twenty-one he left the old homestead to shape his future course according to his early convictions of duty. We do not know the time, place, or circumstances of his conversion, but have reason to believe it was in early life, as he was licensed to preach while engaged in teaching, between the twenty-first and twenty-eighth years of his age. At the age of twenty-eight, there being a pressing demand for preachers in the then "far West," he determined to leave Pennsylvania and enter the itinerancy in those distant parts. In 1835 he entered the itinerancy in the Missouri Conference, where he labored for ten years, the latter part of which as Presiding Elder on Lynn District. In 1845 the Missouri Conference elected to adhere to the "Church South," and as Brother Thatcher could not conscientiously adhere to that body, he came to Illinois and united with the Illinois Conference. In the division he fell into the Southern Illinois Conference, in which he remained a faithful member until death.

Brother Thatcher was a fine, self-made scholar. He was a good Greek and Hebrew scholar, and was also well acquainted with German. His piety was deep and uniform, his zeal was always fervent, and he abounded in the work of the Lord. He was a sound and safe theologian. His sermons abounded with plain, strong sense, sometimes ornamental, and though generally delivered in a plain style, yet sometimes they were thrillingly and beautifully eloquent. His appearance and manner in the pulpit improved with age, and he increased in usefulness until the day of his death. His last appointment was Mount Erie Circuit. He commenced his labors with his usual zeal, and continued to work until about the twelfth of March. Becoming enfeebled by his labors, he supposed a few days' rest would restore him; but he continued to sink, until, on the seventeenth of March, he gently fell into the arms of Jesus.

Brother Thatcher was a living witness of the truth that "the blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all sin." To this great truth he bore witness for twenty years, and he exemplified it in his calm, peaceful, and triumphant death.

2. WILLIAM W. MITCHELL was born in Virginia, February 16, 1815, and died in Richview, Washington County, Illinois, March 7, 1869. He was the son of James Mitchell, Esq., of Belleville, who died at an advanced age a few days before his son. His grandfather, Rev. Edward Mitchell, was an early emigrant to Illinois from Virginia, and an excellent Local Preacher of our Church. In early life the father of Brother Mitchell designed him for the bar, and educated him for that purpose; but while pursuing a classical course of studies in Yale College he was happily converted. This changed the future course of his whole life. His father designed him for the bar, God designed him for the pulpit. When he returned home and told his father that he must preach the Gospel he reluctantly consented, but said if he had known that William would have become a Preacher he would not have given him a classical education. He was admitted on trial into the Illinois Conference at its session in Mt. Carmel in 1834, and appointed to Lebanon Circuit as the colleague of John Van Cleve. He continued on Lebanon Circuit about six months, and was then removed to Vandalia Station to fill out the unexpired time of Rev. S. H. Thompson, who failed for want of health. While in Vandalia in his pastoral visits he met with several persons who professed to enjoy or were earnestly seeking the blessing of perfect love. He became deeply interested in this blessing, and never rested until in his own experience he could say, "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all sin." This gave stability to his character and experience, and he was always pleasant in his intercourse with men, and happy in the love of God. He filled many important appointments on circuits, stations, and districts, all in Illinois, except one year in Kentucky.

Brother Mitchell was a good rather than a great preacher. He always preached to the heart. His last appointment was to Edwardsville Station. During his second year in this station he became severely afflicted, so as to disqualify him for pulpit labors. He consequently resigned his charge and removed to Richview, where, after severe suffering for almost a year, he left the world in triumph, and was doubtless "carried by angels to Abraham's bosom." Of him it may be truly said,

"Servant of Christ, well done!
Rest from thy loved employ;
The battle fought, the victory won,
Enter thy Master's joy."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

L. Hill.

LEONARD HILL was born in England, 1789. He commenced his public life as a supply on the Knox Circuit, 1829. He was received on trial in the Ohio Conference, 1830. He was in the active work twenty-five years, and was superannuated fifteen years. He preached four thousand five hundred and eighty-nine sermons, and traveled seventy-five thousand and sixty-nine miles. To reach his appointments he traveled roads that were new, where the mud was deep, with churches scarce and cabins cold, yet he counted not his life dear, having respect unto the recompense of the reward. To support himself and family he received seven thousand four hundred and sixty dollars, being less than one cent per mile. He was a clear, instructive preacher, a thorough disciplinarian, meeting every engagement exactly at the time, and always with a dignity becoming his sacred calling. In the purity and consistency of his life he honored his profession and position, always guarding with greatest care the characters of the ministry and members of the Church. During the six days that he was sick he constantly triumphed through the Lord Jesus Christ. His prospect was clear, and his path grew brighter as each moment brought him nearer to his home.

Father Leonard Hill fell asleep in Jesus on the thirteenth of April, at the ripe age of eighty years, an honored, loved member of this Conference, hated by none and loved by all.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Andrew Lotton.

ANDREW LOTTON was born in Ohio County, Indiana, May 2, 1833, and departed this life October 10, 1868. At the early age of ten years he professed faith in Christ, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. His punctuality in attendance upon the means of grace, his fervent devotion, his zeal for Christ, and his humble boldness in the discharge of duty, were from the first remarkable. He early gave promise of the gifts and usefulness that characterized his mature years, and at the age of twenty-one, first as an Exhorter, and afterward as a Licensed Preacher, he was employed as an assistant on the circuit in the bounds of which he had been raised. Being urged to enter the traveling connection, he declined until he should secure that preparatory training that he felt necessary to make him a workman that needeth not to be ashamed. We are told fortune had not favored him with wealth. His studies were pursued and his character formed in the midst of adversity. He entered the Moore's Hill Collegiate Institute as a student, and there, by prayerful and diligent application to books and study, he acquired that mental discipline and culture that contributed so largely to his subsequent acceptability and usefulness. In the fall of 1861 he was admitted in this Conference on trial. His fields of labor were North Madison, Manchester, Acton, and Rushville. In each of the first three he remained two years; to Rushville he was returned the second year, during which he closed his brief, but useful and happy, career as a Christian minister.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Emmor Elliott.

EMMOR ELLIOTT was born in Chester County, Pa., October 4, 1827, and died at Barry, Ill., October 25, 1868. He was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church December 29, 1848. In the spring of 1849 he removed with his parents to Illinois, and settled near Payson, Adams County. He was licensed to preach January 22, 1853. In the fall of the same year he was received on trial in the Illinois Conference, and appointed to the Perry Circuit. His second appointment was Pittsfield Station. At the ensuing Conference he was ordained Deacon by Bishop Janes, October 14, 1855. The next two years he traveled Milton Circuit; was then ordained Elder by Bishop Scott, October 4, 1857. He then traveled Kinderhook Circuit one year. The next seven years he was stationed as follows: Quincy, Fifth-street; Havana; Rushville; Quincy, Fifth-street; and Griggsville. Then for four successive years he was appointed Presiding Elder of Griggsville District, but soon after commencing his fourth year he was suddenly called away. He left home on Friday morning, October 16, to attend his District Stewards' meeting, to be held in Barry. On the way his horses took fright, and running, threw him from his buggy. He was taken up and brought to the parsonage in Barry in a state of unconsciousness, in which state he remained for ten days, when his imprisoned spirit took its flight to the paradise of God. This was indeed a solemn hour. Many friends had gathered around his dying bed, and his wife, who had watched over him from the first, had earnestly prayed for his recovery; this was not granted. Then she prayed that he might speak one word, and she could give him up; this was not granted. At last her fervent petitions ascended for sustaining grace, which was graciously answered, and she was enabled to triumph in this hour of darkness.

Brother Elliott was an evangelical minister, a faithful pastor, an earnest Christian, a true friend, a kind husband, a tender parent. In labors he was abundant and successful; many souls under his ministry have been brought to Jesus; and, though he leaves no dying testimony, he leaves that which is far better, the testimony of a consistent Christian life, and a name embalmed in many hearts. His last Quarterly Meeting, which was in Griggsville, was a precious season. Many spoke of his last sermon as being unusually full of power and holy unction. All felt it was good to be there. The text from which he preached was John xvii, 4: "I have glorified thee on the earth; I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do." He had many warm friends among his brethren in the ministry; the esteem in which he was held by them was manifest in that he was chosen one of their representatives in the last General Conference. Brother Elliott left a wife and five children to mourn their sad bereavement. Two of these little ones have since joined their father in heaven. May He who doeth all things well grant to these stricken hearts to say, "Even so, Father, for so it seemeth good in thy sight."

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

T. O. Hollister.

T. O. HOLLISTER, for sixteen years a member of the Wisconsin Conference, died at Salem, Kenosha County, Wis., March 13, 1869, aged forty-seven years. Brother Hollister was born at Sharon, Conn. He was soundly converted to God in early life, preached under the Presiding Elder in the State of New York, removed to Wisconsin twenty years ago, married Miss Emily L. Larabee, and joined the Wisconsin Conference in 1852. His appointments have been: Summit, Fort Atkinson, Lake Mills, Greenbush, Sheboygan Falls, Fond du Lac Station, Fond du Lac District, Oconomowoc, Waukesha, Hart Prairie. He was truly a laborer in God's harvest, zealously affected always in every good thing, serving the Lord most emphatically with all his heart and soul and mind and strength, yea, even beyond his strength. Physically he was a strong man, and yet died in the prime of life—died of a disorder sadly too prevalent among our best Methodist ministers, the reaction of an overtaxed brain, pushed beyond its proper limit by an earnest, devoted soul seeking the good of others. He was obliged to retire from the ministry near two years ago. This was one of the greatest trials of his life, his Gethsemane, for his whole soul was in the Master's work. His quiet, unaffected humility, earnest zeal, and unselfish devotion, are known to all the Churches of his labor. He attained a point of Christian excellence difficult to reach even by ministers of the Gospel; a point where he could rejoice to see others preferred before himself. The opinion of the Church always went before his own in the estimation of his abilities. The standard of Christian beauty and perfection to him was the living and the dying Christ. The summit of his ambition was to please God. There was a heavenly, glowing light within his soul, and yet there was no "make-shine" about him. He simply let his light shine, backed, indeed, by one of heaven's best reflectors, a pure and spotless character. The gift of power was his. He was one of God's noblemen, a host in prayer, a prevailing Israel. His native talent was good, his mind logical, his imagination vivid. He mightily moved the people, for the Spirit of the Lord was upon him. Hundreds were converted under his ministry. His theme was Christ crucified, to the Jews a stumbling-block, to the Greeks foolishness; but to those that believe, the power of God and the wisdom of God. He was self-educated, making no pretense to great learning, yet, after God's definition, was a very wise man. He died in the Lord, leaving an affectionate Christian widow and four children, but only for a little while, and in God's care.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

J. Y. Rusk, P. V. Ferree—2.

1. J. Y. RUSK was born January 10, 1842, in Perry County, Ohio. His parents were pious, and he had early religious instruction. His father, Rev. J. L. Rusk, was for years a Local Preacher in the bounds of Zanesville District. Three years ago the family removed from Muskingum County to Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. Brother John Y. Rusk was converted and joined the Church under the labors of Rev. J. W. Stump. He early manifested an ardent desire to have an education. His father had not then the means of sending him to school; but Brother Rusk earned for himself the necessary money, sometimes acting as teacher in a common school, and sometimes as a clerk in a store. In 1861 he first went to the Ohio Wesleyan University, where he continued most of the time until he graduated with the class of June 28th, 1866. During the last two years of his college life his father was able to help him to some means, and a friend of his, a good man, lent him enough to complete the course of study, with the understanding that he should pay it back when he had entered the ministry and was able. In the midst of his struggle for an education, a room-mate of his, who was wealthy, and a partner in a large and lucrative business in the West, offered to lend him all the money that was necessary to obtain his education if he would agree to enter as a partner in business, after which he might repay the money at his pleasure. But he chose to depend upon his own energy, and when done at college he gave himself to the ministry. He was licensed to preach by the Uniontown Quarterly Conference, Sept 15th, 1866, Rev. D. D. Mather, Presiding Elder. He joined the Ohio annual Conference September 27th, 1866, on trial. Was first appointed to Rushville Circuit, Zanesville District, Rev. R. B. Bennett being in charge, Rev. T. H. Phillips Presiding Elder. He was appointed to this work the second year. During his first year he was married to Miss L. E. Jump, of Huntsville, Ohio. His two years upon Rushville circuit were years of prosperity and happiness. He entered heartily into the work, and found his highest happiness in promoting the interests of Zion. In the year 1868, at London, he was ordained Deacon by Bishop Morris, and was appointed to New Holland Circuit. He began his work with energy, and the Lord graciously blessed his labors, and many were converted and added to the Church. Here his wife died, and he was left alone; yet not alone, for God was with him. This stroke had doubtless a sad effect upon his health, already feeble. During the year he was afflicted at times with slight hemorrhage at the lungs, and it was thought by many he would be compelled to cease labor; but the energy that was characteristic of the man kept him up. During a camp-meeting held near his charge he labored earnestly, perhaps beyond his strength. When the meeting was over he returned to his home, and in a few days was taken with the disease that at once cut short his labors and his life. He died on the 25th instant at the M. E. parsonage in New Holland. It is safe to say that no minister was ever more loved by his people. Had he lived he must have become a great power for good. His sad and early death was peaceful and full of hope. With few helps, by his own energy he was finding his way to the front ranks of usefulness and distinction. His disease was typhoid fever. What may have been the exact state of his mind when he died we may not know; but true to its cherished object, like the needle to the pole, he died preaching Jesus. Just before he passed off he prayed, and then tried to sing,

> Happy, if with my latest breath
> I may but gasp his name.

When he could no longer speak he waved his hand, and was gone. No wife, or father, or mother, were there to witness the closing scene. He died among strangers: though they loved him. In vain we strive to fathom the mystery of the Providence that removed him. The temple is going up. The workmen are the Lord's. He removes one now and then, and buries him in the shadow of the walls, and puts another in his place. Ere long they shall all awake, and rejoice together in the brightness of the last morning.

2. P. V. FERREE, of the Ohio Annual Conference, died at his residence in Somerset, Perry County, Ohio, October 3, 1868, in the forty-seventh year of his age. He was born in Hagerstown, Md., in 1822. He was connected several years with the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, as an itinerant minister. He was ordained Deacon in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, by Bishop Soule, on the 6th of September, 1847. In 1848 he became professor in the military school at Frankfort. He was ordained Elder in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, by Bishop Soule September 16, 1849, at Shelbyville, Ky. He held his connection with the military school up to the year 1851, when he was married to Miss A. E. Bonney. For some years after this he practiced medicine in Felicity, Clermont County, Ohio, and also in Cynthiana. During the year 1855–56 he traveled Deer Creek Circuit as a supply, Rev. A. Westerman having charge. He joined the Ohio Conference, and traveled the Richmond circuit, 1857–58; Hamden, 1858–59; Pleasanton, 1859–60; Somerset, 1860–62. Here his health failed, and he was no longer able to preach and labor for the cause he so much loved. His lungs were greatly affected, and his general health was gone, and he was left, not to labor, but to suffer for Jesus' sake. During the war Brother Ferree could not endure to be idle. He loved his country; he honored the brave men who went forth in defense of his country's life. He read with delight their glorious deeds, and conceived the idea of writing a book to perpetuate their memory. The "Heroes of the War," was the result. Upon this work he spent much time and labor. Had such a work been published at any other time than amid the surging events of the civil war, it would have found its way to popular favor. The result of the publication was a loss, financially, to the author, and involved him in pecuniary embarrassment, that served to make his life laborious beyond his strength, and no doubt hastened the end.

Brother Ferree was a devoted scholar, an indefatigable student, and was never idle. He wrote all his sermons and lectures. Being a fine reader, he could thus deliver a sermon with such force and power as to disarm all prejudice against the mode on the part of the hearer. The last three years of his life he spent as teacher in the public schools of his town. During this time he seldom preached, nor could he take any active part in the enterprises of the Church. He continued to write much, and has left manuscript sermons and essays and lectures to the amount of several hundred. Some of these have been published, and have been received with great favor by the public. He died of consumption. For months he had been a great sufferer; but, as his sufferings increased and the end drew near, his faith in Jesus grew stronger, and his prospect of heaven brighter and brighter. The Saviour he had preached to others was his Saviour, and on his arm he leaned and found comfort. His end was peaceful. His work was done. He assured his Pastor, and his wife and children, that all was well. His favorite expression was, "Living or dying I am Christ's, and he is mine." He left a widow and two children to mourn their loss. He was an honest and upright man, and an independent thinker. He could thrill a congregation with the thoughts that stirred his own mind. His works do follow him.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

F. M. Smith,* A. A. Matthews—2.

ALFORD A. MATTHEWS was born in Mercer County, Pa., July 11, 1838, and died August 1, 1869, at the age of thirty-one years and twenty days. He emigrated from his native state to Wethersfield, Ill., in 1855. Here he sought the Lord and joined the Missionary Baptist Church. In the winter of 1862–63, under the labors of Rev. S. L. Hamilton, now of the California Conference, the Lord greatly revived his work in the Methodist Episcopal Church in Wethersfield. In this series of meetings Rev. A. A. Matthews became very much interested, and began to think seriously of joining the Methodist Episcopal Church. After advising with Rev. S. L. Hamilton, with his own Pastor, and members of his own Church, he deliberately made choice of the Church in which he died. Soon after he received license to preach. In the spring of 1864 the health of Rev. S. A. Elliott, Pastor of the Buda Circuit, failing, the circuit was vacated, and the Rev. J. Chandler appointed Rev. A. A. Matthews, Pastor. At the close of the year, the Conference being held in Rock Island, he was admitted on trial into the traveling connection. From his admission on trial until the fall of 1866 he was Pastor of the Buda charge. From the Conference of 1866 to that of 1868 he was in charge of the Tiskilwa Station. At the Conference of 1868 he was appointed to Chillicothe. While Pastor of the Buda charge he had the pleasure of seeing the membership increased from eighty-three to one hundred and eighty-one, and a good church, valued at $5,000, erected. He greatly endeared himself to the people of Buda by his diligent and earnest efforts to build up the cause of God among them. As Pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Tiskilwa he was also very successful. The membership, including probationers, was increased from forty-six to ninety-five. In this charge he was also very highly esteemed as a Christian man and as a Pastor. On September 3, 1868, he was joined in marriage with Miss Margaret A. Kirkpatrick by Rev. H. Summers, Presiding Elder. He entered upon his duties as a minister of Christ for the fifth year of his admission into the travelling connection with strong faith and true zeal, and during the winter saw in his charge, the Methodist Episcopal Church in Chillicothe, the pleasure of the Lord prospering in his hands. The Church was greatly revived, and a considerable number of persons were converted. In almost every particular the Church under his care was in a very prosperous state at his death. Last March he assisted Rev. F. R. Boggus in a revival in Wethersfield, where he had great joy of seeing his aged father come to Jesus. In the meeting many of his old neighbors were converted. Soon after the meeting he was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs. Himself and friends hoped that it was but temporary. He desisted from preaching, thinking that rest and careful attention would soon restore him to soundness. On August 1 he went into the Church, not to preach, but to attend service. At the commencement of the service his lungs commenced bleeding, and he arose and went to the Parsonage. Meeting his wife he spoke but a few words, when the blood flowed freely from his mouth. Greatly frightened, she gave the alarm, and members of the congregation came to his assistance. Near the close of his struggle he was heard in prayer to commit his wife and child to the care of God, and to repeat the prayer of Stephen, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." In fifteen minutes from his leaving the church he was dead. A funeral sermon was preached in the church in Chillicothe by Rev. A. Keller, and at Tiskilwa by W. Underwood, immediately after which he was buried in the cemetery near the place last named. A few weeks later a funeral sermon was at the request of his friends, preached in Wethersfield by Rev. F. R. Boggus. He leaves a wife and one child, a father, mother, and two sisters, to mourn his loss. He was to his parents a very faithful son, and to his companion a very dear husband, and an affectionate brother to his sisters. From his boyhood days he was a diligent student; from his espousal of the cause of Christ, a devoted Christian; and from the time he received license to preach, a very zealous and successful minister of the Gospel. While at Buda, his first charge, he sought and found the blessing of perfect love, and lived in the enjoyment of the blessing until the day of his death.

1. D. W. VORSE was born in Smyrna, Chenango County, N. Y., July 16, 1812. He experienced religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in June, 1830. He was married to Carolina M. Pollock in M'Kean, Erie County, Pa., September 26, 1833. He was licensed to preach at a Quarterly Conference on Wesleyville Circuit in June, 1837. In February, 1839, he was employed by Rev. J. Chandler, the Presiding Elder on the Erie District, to supply a vacancy on the Cambridge Circuit, and in August of the same year was received on trial in the Erie Conference, at the session held in Mercer, Pa., and was appointed to Hendersonville Circuit; in 1840–41, to New Castle; in 1842, to Cambridge; in 1843, to M'Kean; in 1844, to Napoli; in 1845–46, to Gerry; in 1847–48, to Youngsville; in 1849–50 he was supernumerary; in 1851 he went to Girard, at the close of which year he took a superannuated relation, and sustained that or a supernumerary relation to the time of his death. During all these years he labored to the extent of his ability, heartily co-operating with the preachers on the charge where he resided in promoting the interests of the cause of Christ and building up the Church. His early Christian life was marked with zeal and fidelity, and, when called to the work of the ministry, he "conferred not with flesh and blood," but entered at once upon the work, and prosecuted it with success. As a minister and pastor, in all the charges where he labored, by his faithfulness he commended himself to every man's conscience in the fear of God, and now that he is gone, all who knew him unite in saying that he was a good man, and faithful to all the trusts committed to his charge. He was called suddenly; in an unexpected moment he passed away, we doubt not, to the rest of the faithful in heaven.

2. LORENZO D. PROSSER was born in the State of New York in the year 1805. He was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church when but a youth. In 1827 he was received on trial into the Pittsburgh Conference, and successively appointed to the following circuits, namely: Butler, Grand River, Mercer, Hartford, Twinsburg, Windsor, and Columbiana. In 1836, when the Erie Conference was formed, he fell into its bounds, and received from it his appointment to the following fields of labor, namely: Ellsworth, Cleveland, Harmonsburg, M'Kean, Wesleyville, Chardon, Chagrin Falls, Wesleyville, Edinborough Mission, M'Kean, Albion, and Springfield.

Brother Prosser was of a nervous temperament, and his burning zeal led him often to exert himself beyond his strength. His preaching was with power, and at times his exhortations were overwhelming. From excessive labor and a feeble constitution he was frequently on the superannuated list. The preachers of his earlier years in the ministry had not the comforts and conveniences enjoyed by us of the present. Large circuits, hard roads, and hard fare, was only too often their lot. Notwithstanding all these difficulties, he did effective work twenty-one years. He received his last appointment from the Conference in 1862. The next year he became superannuated, and continued in that relation until his death, April 13, 1869, in his sixty-fourth year, and in his forty-second year in the Conference. His last illness was short, but severe. He was seized with inflammation of the lungs on Thursday night, and on the following Tuesday morning he ceased to live on earth; but we have no doubt he lives in heaven. To an intimate friend and brother in the ministry, in answer to the inquiry of his prospects, he said with great earnestness, "If I die I shall go to the good world! I shall go to the good world!" emphasizing it by the repetition. Between his life and his dying testimony there was a beautiful agreement. He has gone from labor to rest, from the land of the dying to life for evermore.

3. C. E. WOODWORTH was born in the town of Conewango in the year 1841. He was converted at a camp-meeting held in Napoli in 1858; licensed to preach in 1860; duly recommended and received into the Erie Annual Conference on trial in 1862. He was ordained Deacon and Elder in regular order of time. He had nearly completed his seventh year of itinerant labor, one on the Ellington, one on the Villanova, two on the Leon, and nearly three on the Delanti Charge. This was his last. He preached at Delanti on Sabbath morning, May 16, and proceeded to his appointment on Chautauqua Hill in the afternoon. He commenced the services, and stood up, a noble form, in the pulpit, a bold archer, with his hand on his bow of strength, adjusting the arrow, when death struck him. He had preached his last sermon; his work was done. He lingered but a few days, his frail constitution struggled with the terrible fever until Saturday morning, May 22, when it yielded the contest, and our brother fell asleep in Christ.

*Obituary not received.

Our dear Brother Woodworth was among the most promising young men of our Conference. He studied, he toiled, to be thoroughly furnished to every good work. To his dear young wife he said, as she stood by his dying bed and asked him if they must be soon separated, "I have had a hard struggle, but it is nearly over. If Jesus calls let me go, for I am all ready now." Beautiful visions of heaven seemed almost constantly to occupy his mind during his short illness. Thus at twenty-eight years of age, full of promise, talented, eloquent, rich in grace, with his record of a youthful minister golden with precious fruits, the lamented brother C. E. Woodworth ascended from his pulpit to his home in glory.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

J. W. Dorsey.

JOHN W. DORSEY was born of pious parentage, May 20, 1827. He was converted in early life, and was licensed to preach some twelve years since in Illinois. He joined this Conference on trial five years ago, and labored faithfully and successfully until his death, which occurred August 30, aged forty-two years three months and ten days.

Brother Dorsey was a good, wise, earnest, competent man; a most acceptable preacher, and faithful pastor; always contented with the lot assigned him. His memory will long be cherished with affectionate interest by the people on the charges where he labored. He was pre-eminently a man of peace, and by his tender, gentle, loving deportment, exhibited the spirit of the Master. The life of God within him shone through him; the testimony of his words and ways being that he had been with Christ and learned of him. Stricken in the midst of his work with typhoid fever, he lingered for a few weeks in weariness and pain; and then realizing that around and underneath him were the Everlasting Arms, he peacefully, exultantly, triumphantly, passed "over the river," and entered into the "joy of his Lord," saying as he departed, "Jesus is still precious."

Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

Constantine Stineley.

CONSTANTINE STINELEY was born May 20, 1829, in Sophierhaf, in the kingdom of Wurtemburg, Germany. Even at an early age he manifested a great desire for mental and moral improvement, and was much attracted by good books and wholesome reading. He was educated in the Roman Catholic Church, and was very diligent and persevering in acquiring a thorough knowledge of all the branches of study in which he was taught, and especially on the subject of religion, so that his teachers bestowed great commendations upon him. On the 15th of June, 1849, he came to America, and after various changes settled in September, 1850, at Liberty, Mo. There he became acquainted with the living God. He heard the preaching of the Gospel from a Methodist preacher, and soon after the spiritual sense of the word of God became clear to him. The light of faith as revealed from God became a matter of consciousness in his soul. He now learned the way by which God is pleased to save men. It was in November, 1850, that he left the Roman Catholic Church and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. From the time of his conversion he served the Lord and his Church with much zeal, love, and self-denial. He was active as Class Leader, Exhorter, and Local Preacher till the year 1855, when he entered the itinerant ranks. It is seen from his day books that he was exceedingly punctual and conscientious in the discharge of his duties. He gained the love and respect of all who knew him, and labored on all his appointments with much success and acceptability. He improved faithfully his time, talents, and opportunities. With much energy and perseverance he pursued his studies, and gained a vast store of theological and secular knowledge, which he employed very effectively in preaching and writing. For several years past he suffered much from a lingering disease, but he labored on as long as his enfeebled frame held out, and died at his post on the 4th of January, 1869.

QUEST. 12. Who have Died this year?

James Cumming.

JAMES CUMMING, for a long series of years, went in and out among us as a citizen of high repute, as a man of devout piety, and as an able and laborious minister of the Gospel. He loved the cause of Methodism, and heartily subscribed to the doctrines, economy and usages of that branch of the Church of Christ with which he identified himself, and ably, by his pen and otherwise, defended the peculiarities of that Church. He now, after a long life of toil and suffering, rests from his labors. He died in faith. His life, as a man of piety and devotion to the Christian ministry, is worthy of our imitation.

CINCINNATI CONFERENCE.

1. Rev. Arza Brown was born in Hampton, Mass., August 13, 1792. His religious impressions began at a very early period of his life, and so thorough were the operations of the Spirit on his heart that he ever cherished the belief that he had experienced the renewing power of divine grace. In 1805 his father and family moved to Plattsburgh, N. Y., where, amid the absence of moral and religious privileges and the temptations of a comparatively new country, young Arza relapsed into the neglect of duty and wandered from God. Subsequently, in 1816, the Holy Spirit revisited his heart, and, at a prayer-meeting, January 9, 1817, he was reassured of pardon and divine acceptance. This work was so thorough, pervading his entire nature, and developing in the actions of his life, that a glorious revival ensued, resulting in the conversion of a number of souls, who were formed into a class, of which Arza was appointed leader. Such was his growth in grace, and so clearly was the indication of the great Head of the Church of his call to a higher and wider field of usefulness, that he was soon licensed, first an Exhorter, and subsequently a Local Preacher. In the meantime, in 1819, he moved to Sandusky City, Ohio, and then, in 1820, to Licking county, Ohio.

In 1822, convinced that it was the privilege of the believer to enjoy a richer baptism of the Spirit, even to "know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, and be filled with the fullness of God," he earnestly sought the attainment of that blessing, and became the happy recipient of a living witness of the truth, "the blood of Jesus Christ, his Son, cleanseth from all sin." Under this divine influence he entered his life-work, first as a Local Preacher, and subsequently, September 2, 1824, he was received on trial in the traveling connection of the Ohio Conference. During the early part of his ministry he enjoyed the society of Jacob Young and Russel Bigelow as Presiding Elders, by whose wise counsels and holy lives he profited greatly. His itinerant ministry began on Zanesville circuit, and his subsequent fields of labor were the following: 1825, Straight Creek circuit; 1826–27, Sandusky Circuit; 1828–29, Detroit station, Michigan, then in the bounds of the Ohio Conference. Of the high estimate in which Brother Brown was held while stationed in Detroit, it is sufficient to remark that, unsought on his part, he was elected chaplain of the Territorial Legislature, then in session in that city. August 12, 1830, he was married, by Rev. L. Scott, to Miss Mary, daughter of Joel Hyde, of Farmington, Trumbull County, Ohio, a lady eminently qualified, by mental culture and grace, for the position of a minister's wife. For nearly thirty-nine years the now bereaved wife contributed, by her wise counsels, faithful labor, and purity of life, to the successful ministerial efforts of her husband.

Brother Brown's itinerant career covered a large extent of territory, as will be manifest, not only from a survey of the appointments mentioned above, but more particularly from those which follow, namely: 1830, Oakland Circuit, Detroit district; 1831, Columbus Circuit, Ohio: 1832, Dayton station; 1833–34, Piqua; 1835, Xenia; 1836–37, Marietta; 1838–39, Athens; 1840, Chillicothe; 1841, West Union Circuit; 1842, Greenfield; 1843, Frankfort Circuit; 1844, Parkersburgh, Va.; 1845, Barlow Circuit, Ohio; 1846–47, Hamilton; 1848–49, Christie Chapel, Cincinnati; 1850–51, South Charleston; 1852, North Bend Circuit; 1853–54, Lockland; 1855, Raper Chapel, Cincinnati. He was elected a member of the delegation of the Cincinnati Conference to the General Conference which sat in Indianapolis May 1856. For thirty-one consecutive years he sustained an effective relation in the ministry, but, prostrated by protracted illness and infirmity, he was finally compelled to request the Conference, at his session in Ripley, Ohio, October 1, 1855, to grant him a superannuated relation, which he sustained the balance of his life. From this period (1856) the pen of an intimate and long-tried friend has faithfully sketched the remainder of his labors with a thrillingly joyful narrative of the closing scene of his earthly pilgrimage: "In 1858 he removed to Chicago, and settled in the West Division, on West Indiana-street. He served, by appointment of the Presiding Elder, West Indiana-street for three years with great usefulness. In 1863 he and his wife were appointed as delegates, by the Christian Commission, to labor among the soldiers in the army. They went first to Nashville, Tennessee. In 1864 he was authorized to open a branch of the Christian Commission in Natchez, and for two years and a half labored among the soldiers in the camps and hospitals, and then among the freedmen in Natchez, Vicksburgh, and Baton Rouge. In the spring of 1868 he greatly enjoyed the company of many of his old companions whom he met during the session of the General Conference in Chicago, Illinois. In the fall of 1868 he went South again, and spent some time in labor in New Orleans. In January last he and his wife left New Orleans and went to the St. Mary's Parish, on the Teche, and labored in the Orphans' Home. Here he was able to do but little. He had a settled conviction, from the first attack, that he would never recover, and greatly desired to return to his home in Chicago to die. He was conveyed on his bed from the Orphans' Home to the boat by four colored men who loved him dearly. Carried by strangers from the boat to the cars, he found his way home. Shortly after his arrival home, he, feeling that his time was short, asked to have a number of the ministers invited, that he might with them once more celebrate the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Bishop Thomson conducted this service. For eight months he was not able to help himself in the least, and yet from his lips escaped no complaint. He rejoiced continually in the Lord, even in the midst of the greatest agony. He had asked an old friend, whom he had known since 1825, to be with him in his last hour, to close his eyes and comfort his family. This friend watched with him during the last night, and whenever the name of Jesus or heaven was mentioned his face would light up, and he would exclaim, 'Precious Jesus! Glorious heaven!' Toward morning his daughter said, 'Father, do you feel that you are going?' He answered, 'Not now, but I shall go very soon;' and then continued: 'The blessed Saviour said, "If I go away, I will come again and receive you to myself; that where I am, there ye may be also." O how blessed it will be to be with Christ! to see him as he is, and more blessed to be like him!' He then added, 'I am all ready, waiting the descent of the chariot of the Lord, to go home to heaven.' He lingered until noon. He and his wife had often talked about the possibility of seeing Jesus before the soul left the body, and she asked him in some way, when first he saw the Saviour, if he did so before he left the body, to let her know. Just before the last, as he was reclining upon his pillow, with eyes closed, he exclaimed, with a full voice, 'Life! Life!' and his spirit departed. May it not be that this was the signal given when first he saw, with unvailed vision, the blessed Jesus? Thus died Rev. Arza Brown, in the seventy-seventh year of his age, the fifty-third of his Christian life, and the forty-fifth of his ministry. As a preacher, he was eminently practical and useful. He was loving and gentle in his life, kind and affectionate in his family. His whole life was a pure commentary upon the Gospel he so loved to preach." Appropriate funeral services were observed at the Indiana-street Church, Chicago, Illinois, Monday, August 2, 1869, and thence he was borne to his final resting-place, his body sleeping in Jesus and awaiting the resurrection morn. Precious is the memory of the departed who sleep in Jesus!

2. Moses Smith, D.D., of the Cincinnati Conference, was born in Chatham County, North Carolina, February 28th, 1817, and died in Newton, Jasper County, Iowa, August 25, 1869. His parents were devoted Christians, members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and from his very childhood taught him the fear of the Lord. From his infancy he learned to pray; this molded the habits of his after life. When two years of age his parents brought him to Highland County, Ohio, where he was trained up in the hardships of pioneer life. His father's cabin soon became the home of the weary itinerant. The Gospel which they preached reached the heart of young Smith. In his seventeenth year he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, under the ministry of Rev. Henry Turner and Rev. Samuel Clark, then on the Hillsborough Circuit. For two years he sought the Lord in great agony of mind. At last, when on the brink of despair, he was happily converted in a grove near his father's residence. At once he felt a burning desire to bring his fellow-men to Christ. To prepare himself for usefulness he entered Augusta College, then the only college under Methodist control in the West. Here he remained for five years, and graduated in August, 1842. During his college life he was a model Christian, always ready to work or suffer for his Master. He was for years superintendent of the Sabbath-school and leader of a class. His room was a chapel, where thirty or forty souls were converted. Few students have acquired such an influence for good during their college life. He was licensed to exhort in 1840, and preached his first sermon in Concord Church, near Felicity, Ohio, which will never be forgotten by those who heard it. He was licensed to preach in Minerva, Ky., by Rev. Isaac Collard, of the Kentucky Conference, January 31, 1842. Immediately after his graduation he went south to teach in a seminary. He was providentially hindered, and returned to Ohio. On September 27 he was admitted on trial in the Ohio Conference at Hamilton, and appointed to the Milford Circuit with Rev. W. H. Fyffe. With a burning zeal they entered upon their work, and nine hundred were added to the Church, and as many were converted to God. His next appointment was Eaton Circuit, with G. W. Maley as preacher in charge. Here he was successful. In 1844 he was received into full connection, and ordained Deacon by Bishop Soule. In 1846 he was elected to Elder's orders, and was ordained by Bishop Morris. He was stationed on the following charges: Finley Chapel, two years; Asbury Station, Cincinnati, one year; Augusta Circuit, Kentucky, one year; Lebanon Station, two years; Lancaster Station, one year; Bethel Chapel, Cincinnati, one year; Troy, two years; Hamilton, three years; Finley Chapel, two years; Xenia Station, two years; Lockland Station, two years; Raper Chapel, Dayton, two years; Hillsborough, three years. Catawba was his last appointment; here his health failed him, and he was compelled to desist from his labors. His labors were much blessed in all these charges. He was blessed with wonderful revivals at Augusta, Hamilton, Xenia, and Hillsborough charges. His journal shows that more than three thousand were added to the Church in his several fields of labor, and more than that number were converted to God. In 1847 he was married to Miss Eliza Jane Demerest, of Dayton, Ohio. For twenty-seven years he was constantly engaged in his Master's work, making full proof of his ministry, and enjoying the confidence and love of all who knew him. He was blessed with a vigorous constitution; but his arduous labors, and close application to study, impaired his usefulness years before his death. Soon after he retired from his last appointment he lost his youngest daughter. His wife soon followed the child, and then his eldest daughter, a young lady of great promise, followed the sainted wife and mother to the grave. This was too much for his shattered frame; his mind, as well as his body, became impaired. With the hope of some relief, he visited his sister, Mrs. Mary Duncan, at Newtown, Iowa. When he reached this place he was almost completely exhausted. In his prayers and conversations he expressed a strong desire to preach the Gospel a little longer, but was resigned to the will of God. When informed by his sister that there was little hope of his recovery, he exclaimed, "Then we must trust in God and await the result." When asked if the Gospel which he had preached to others supported him, and the Saviour in whom he trusted was with him, he bowed his head and looked upward. He held his youngest son by the hand, and sweetly fell asleep in Jesus in the fifty-third year of his age. His disease was dyspepsia.

In person Dr. Smith was tall, noble, and dignified. He possessed a voice of great compass and sweetness. His mind was somewhat metaphysical. He wrote and published a work on "Mental Science;" and also a work on "Moral Science," which has not been published. But when aroused he was surpassingly eloquent. Thousands at such times would hang with speechless wonder upon his eloquence. He was a revival preacher of the highest order. The terrors of the law and the melting scenes of Calvary were his favorite topics. He occupied the highest position in the temperance movements of Ohio. He was twice elected a delegate to the General Conference, and enjoyed the highest place in the confidence and affections of his brethren. The Conference, while in session, received the news of his death with profound sorrow. How strange this providence! Three sons and one daughter survive him. He "rests from his labors, and his works do follow him."

EAST GENESEE CONFERENCE.

1. John Shaw departed this life January 16, 1869, in the sixty-second year of his age, at Himrods, Yates County, New York. He was born in Bristol, Ontario County, New York, July 11, 1807, and was converted in Henrietta, Monroe County, at the age of eighteen, where he was received into the Methodist Episcopal Church by Rev. James Hemmingway. At what period in his religious life he was moved upon by the Holy Ghost to give himself to the work of the Gospel ministry we are not advised; but it must have been in quite an early one, as he was received on probation in the Genesee Conference in 1831. He was ordained, both as Deacon and Elder, by Bishop Hedding, the former in 1833, the latter in 1835. He was married to Miss Lucinda Livermore, of Hornellsville, on the 30th day of October, 1833; who, with six of the eight children which were born to them, survives the husband and the father. His appointments in the two Genesee Conferences, during the thirty-six years of his effective ministry, (he was superannuated one year,) were Prattsburgh, one; Canisteo, one; Southport, one; Bath, one; Hornellsville, two; Ellicottville, one; Springville, one; Gainesville, two; Castleton, two; Sodus, two; Tyre, one; Canoga, two; Mecklenburgh, one; Millport, two; Tyrone, one; Wellsville, two; Lawrenceville, one; Cokesbury, two; Henrietta, one; Barrington, one; Dresden, two; Mount Morris, one; Charleston, one; Wellsborough, two; Springfield, two. Near the close of his second year at Springfield he had a severe attack of congestion of the lungs; he also suffered from a distressing bronchial affection: yet as the session of his Conference drew nigh he resolved to attend it. He was with us on that occasion, in great feebleness; and though very much against his wishes at that time, his name was placed among the superannuated. From Conference he went to Dresden, and spent a week with his daughter, Mrs. Hazen. He then returned to Springfield, and after giving attention to the packing of his goods, he went to Hornellsville and to Mount Morris. After spending some ten weeks in these places, (he has a daughter at the latter,) he reached Himrods on the 25th of November, and was again permitted to enjoy the peace, the quiet, and the dear attentions of home. We visited him there soon after his arrival. He could then sit up, come to the table with his family, and converse with comparative ease. He made grateful mention of brethren who had kindly remembered him in his sickness and want, fervently expressed his strong attachment to the Church and to his brethren in the ministry, and earnestly declared his unwavering faith in Jesus the Saviour. He still thought that he should get well, and that by the next session of the Conference he should be able to take an effective relation. I think it was not until the 10th of January, which was the last time we were permitted to converse with him, that he relinquished the hope of recovery. Then he saw that his work was done, and, after alluding to the fidelity with which God had helped him to keep his marriage covenant, and one of the most tender and touching expressions of affection for his family, he told me where he desired to be buried, that he wished me to preach the funeral sermon and write his obituary, adding, "No eulogy, brother; I have done a good deal of hard work, and would gladly do more. I have dabbled some in metaphysics; but the Gospel, the Gospel, is enough for any one to preach." At this point his son, the doctor, said, "Father, this is too much for you, please rest awhile." Turning his eyes toward heaven, he said, "Bless the Lord, O my soul!" "There," said he, "the words have passed my lips, 'Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me, bless his holy name!'" Then, turning his face toward us, he closed his eyes, while the big tears indicated other great and good thoughts which he could not then utter. From this time his strength failed rapidly. Beautiful visions of departed loved ones were given him, and the thin partitions which separate the spiritual from the earthly grew thinner still, until just before the spirit fled he was heard to repeat, "There's a land far away," and we will doubt not that the soul of our brother has found that "land," and is now shining and singing with its endlessly-blessed inhabitants.

As a preacher, Brother Shaw was always good, and occasionally great. An unusual, or an unexpected demand on him as a speaker, generally developed an ability which surprised even those who knew and loved him best. As a man, he was chaste in thought and conversation, and, in the estimation of some, generous to a fault. He was a kind and faithful husband, a tender and very affectionate father, and a warm and confiding friend. As a Christian, he was usually cheerful and hopeful, humbly and sincerely believing in the "only wise God our Saviour," and confidently expecting eternal life with him in heaven, as the fruit of "his death and passion." We commend his truly worthy widow, little Jessie, (aged seven years,) and the family as a whole, to the prayers and sympathies of the Church, and "may the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with them evermore. Amen."

2. JOHN J. WILSON died in Macedon, Wayne County, N. Y., November 28, 1868, aged twenty-nine years. He was born in Richmond, Canada West. Under the influence and prayers of his mother, he was converted in his thirteenth year. His religious experience was of a most thorough and radical character—his whole heart seemed to be consecrated to God and his service. He inquired in the spirit of true consecration, "Lord, what wilt thou have me do?" and gave his heart and life to the cause of Christ. He was early impressed with the conviction that he was called to preach the Gospel, and believed that he was inwardly moved by the Holy Ghost to take upon him the office of the ministry in the Church of God. He spent some time at Victoria College, preparing for his chosen life work. He united with the Wesleyan Conference in Canada, and labored for a brief time in connection with that body, when his health failed, and he was compelled to retire from the active ministry. He came to this country some years since. He united with the East Genesee Conference at the session held in Hornellsville in 1867, and was appointed to the Richmond charge, where he labored with great acceptability and usefulness during six months, when his health again failed, and he was compelled to retire finally from his cherished mission. At the last session of this Conference he was continued on trial and received a nominal appointment in connection with the Macedon charge. His health continued gradually to fail, notwithstanding every effort to arrest its progress, until his transfer to the Church triumphant. He died in the triumphs of faith, and enjoyment of the peace of that Gospel he had so faithfully preached to others.

John J. Wilson was a young man of great promise, and in his early death there is a mysterious providence which, we doubt not, will be explained in the final day. Until then we bow with submission to the mandate of the Master, who cannot err.

NORTH OHIO CONFERENCE.

1. THOMAS BARKDULL, of the North Ohio Conference, closed his earthly life at Shelby, Ohio, January 4, 1869. He was born in Columbiana County, Ohio, June 24, 1813, and was therefore in his fifty-sixth year. Struck down in the vigor of his matured manhood, apparently but little past the prime of life, and in the midst of labors more abundant, his death will be felt as a severe loss by his Conference, and thousands among whom he has ministered the word of life. Brother Barkdull was received into the Church in his nineteenth year. His consistent piety and glowing zeal soon indicated that he was a "chosen vessel." Accordingly, on February 24, 1834, when not quite twenty-one, he was licensed to exhort; on the 25th of April, 1835, was licensed to preach; and in the fall of the same year admitted on trial in the Ohio Conference at Springfield, and appointed to Elyria Circuit. In October, 1836, he was married to Miss Caroline Hendry, who has since been the faithful companion of his toils and sacrifices, and who, with three sons and two daughters, now deeply feel their irreparable loss. With the exception of his fourth year, during which he was superannuated, he filled in succession, and without interruption, the following appointments, namely: Elyria, Norwalk, Portland, Mount Vernon, Wooster, Canal Dover, Norwalk and Milan, Maumee district, Tiffin district, Wooster district, Plymouth, Shelby, Elyria, Cleveland district, Agent for the Ohio Wesleyan Female College two years, Norwalk station, Mount Vernon district. This was his last appointment, which he held for three years.

Before entering the ministry Brother Barkdull was for some time a student in Norwalk Seminary, then under the care of Rev. J. Chaplin, a man eminent for zeal and ability. Here his correct deportment, studious habits, and amiable disposition greatly endeared him to his fellow-students, among whom were John Pitezel, Wm. L. Harris, and J. Wheeler, now President of Baldwin University, and others who have done good service in the Church. Although not one of the very first laborers in the field, yet he was early in the work, and may justly be regarded as one of the pioneer preachers of Northern Ohio. Six years before he joined Conference, one district of twelve charges, occupied, with slight exception, the entire territory now covered by two Conferences. By far the larger portion of the work was in the deep forest, only here and there broken by the ax of the pioneer settler. The temples of worship were cabins, log school houses, and the shadowy woods. In such places the young itinerants of those days learned to draw the Gospel bow, cheered on and led by such noble spirits as Ruark, Finley, M'Mahon, and Bigelow, all of whom have gone to their rest and reward on high. The fall of 1835 gave to the Ohio Conference a notable reinforcement of thirty-seven preachers, a remarkable number for one year, but fully demanded by the rapidly extending settlements of the State, and of the Territory of Michigan, then included in the bounds of the Conference. Among those who enlisted that year are found the names of Solomon Howard, William Nast, and the now sainted Uriah Heath, of precious memory. With this large class of devoted men our lamented brother took his stand to do battle for God, truth, and the souls of men. His youthful aspect, slender frame, and modest air, at first sight, not unfrequently awakened sympathy and fear in his behalf, rather than confidence in his ability; but it was soon evident that he studied to show himself "approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to ashamed," and thenceforth through his entire ministry he was honored, useful, and beloved. He filled some of the most important appointments in the different conferences to which he belonged, and was honored with the office of Presiding Elder sixteen years, just one half of his entire effective ministry. He was a delegate to the General Conference held in Boston in 1852. He was a man of decided opinions, and in the annual conferences mingled freely in debate; yet he was considerate of the feelings of others, and was generally listened to with attention and respect. As a preacher, he was popular and useful. His usefulness, under God, was the result of a combination of qualifications, natural and acquired, no one of which, viewed singly, might be regarded as extraordinary, but which, combined as they were in him, constituted a well-rounded and symmetrical character. His religious experience was deep and evangelical; hence he knew how to direct others to the cross, and to the atoning blood. His call to the work of the ministry was clear and imperative, and his consecration to the work cordial and entire; hence the energies of his soul were not wasted, or its fires damped by questions of expediency, or computations of pecuniary loss or gain. A deep solicitude for the salvation of souls was apparent in all his labors as Pastor and Presiding Elder. His sermons were evangelical, earnest, and logical. Moreover, his efforts in the pulpit were supplemented by his life without. His deportment was dignified, courteous, and agreeble. In temperament he was warm hearted, open, and generous—a most kind, genial, and lovable man. But he has gone to his rest; the fields where for thirty-three years, in summer heat and wintry storms, he traveled and toiled, are left to other hands to cultivate. It is generally known that last April, while preaching at one of his quarterly meetings in East Delaware, he had a stroke of paralysis; from this he so far recovered as to be able to preach frequently. He greatly desired to take work at his last Conference, but it was not deemed prudent to lay upon him the burdens of a pastoral charge. Some two weeks before his death the writer of this spent most agreeably an afternoon with him in Delaware at the house of his son-in-law, Professor Perkins, of the Ohio Wesleyan University. His health appeared quite good. We talked of former days and early friends—of Ward, and Disbro, and Cooper. Alas, how little did I think he would so soon join them on the eternal shores! The Sabbath but one before his last attack he preached twice at Shelby. He still cherished the hope that he would again be able to take work, and have years of successful toil. It was the hardest struggle of his life to see the hand of Providence closing the gates through which his youthful feet had so gladly entered the Gospel field, and sometimes a temporary shadow would becloud his soul; but he was for the most part cheerful and resigned. On New Year's day he, with his wife, visited a friend a short distance from Shelby. Soon after his arrival, while perusing the Christian Advocate, the fatal messenger came once more; the glasses fell from the hand that held them; he was led to a lounge, uttering as he passed his last words, "Is any thing the matter with me!" In a few moments he became unconscious, and remained so until the ensuing Monday, when he ceased to breathe. Death has many ways to open the door for the imprisoned spirit, plumed for immortality. It matters not. What cares the caged eagle what hand breaks the bars of his prison, and gives his pinions to the wooing sun? No matter how or where the Christian dies, he goes not alone through the dark valley. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints." His son, from the New York Book Rooms, arrived in time to witness his departure, and the other members of the family were all present. A large concourse attended the funeral services. A number of the ministers of the North Ohio Conference were present. A sermon was delivered by the writer from Daniel xii, 3. Brothers Whiteman, Kennedy, and James Kellam took part in the services. Many were the tears shed around his cold remains. May all who looked upon that pale and placid face be prepared to meet him where there is no more death!

2. WILLIAM BOGGS, of the North Ohio Conference, died near Cardington, Ohio, June 7, 1869, in his fifty-eighth year. Brother Boggs was born in Belmont County, Ohio, May 17, 1811. In the prime of his young manhood, when about twenty-one years old, he was converted and sought the fellowship of the Church, and found a congenial home in a society near Gambier, Ohio, the well-known site of Kenyon College. He was educated at the Norwalk Seminary; but to him the Bible was the great repository of divine truth, and in the depths of the forest which surrounded him, beneath the spreading beech and quivering aspen, he studied it with an eagerness and an earnestness seldom surpassed. Here, too, in the deep solitude of the woods, did he retire to pour out his heart to God, and the light-footed hunter has often been startled by the echoes of his voice in earnest supplication, and reverently turned his footsteps another way that he might not interrupt his devotions. Thus was cultivated and developed his gift of prayer, and in this was the hiding of his power. In the fall of 1841 he joined the North Ohio Conference, and filled successively the following appointments, namely: Paris, Richwood, Belfontaine, Pulaski, Clinton, Fairfield, Waldo, East Union, Newcomerstown, Richwood, Delhi, Caledonia, Cardington, Westfield, Marseilles, Newton. In eight of these charges he remained two years. In 1864, while on Newton Circuit, his health gave way, and at the ensuing Conference he was obliged to take a superannuated relation.

As a man Brother Boggs was upright, straightforward, and guileless. He was frank, candid, modest, and obliging to all. Humble in his pretensions, he esteemed others as better than himself, and was careful of the reputation of his brethren. As a preacher, he was plain and scriptural; his logic was, "Thus saith the Lord." Familiar with the Scriptures, he wielded the sword of the Spirit with no feeble hand. His solicitude for his flock was always apparent, and his zeal was as a "lamp that burneth." In his relations as husband and father he was exemplary and affectionate. During the four years after his superannuation he resided on his farm, and preached frequently; but his health declined gradually but steadily. Some four weeks before his departure he saw the Jordan near. He was in the "land of Beulah," and was filled with joy unspeakable, and proclaimed to all around him the brightening prospect before him. Long will the name of William Boggs remain a "sweet savor" to those who knew him best. The large concourse assembled at his funeral attested the profound respect and affection of his neighbors. May the dear family be supported by divine grace, and meet him at last where there is no more death!

CENTRAL ILLINOIS CONFERENCE.

FIELDON M. SMITH, of the Central Illinois Conference, was born near Hodginville, Hardin County, Ky., June 16, 1833. In 1840 his father removed to Warren County, Ill., and settled near Monmouth, where Brother Smith grew to manhood. On the 5th of January, 1851, he joined the Church as a seeker of religion under the ministry of Rev. B. Applebee. A short time after he received the evidence of his acceptance with God, which continued to grow brighter till the day of his death. He was licensed to preach some time in the Conference year 1853–54, and was immediately employed by the Presiding Elder, the late Rev. M. Bourne, as assistant on the Oquawka Circuit. At the session of the Rock River Conference, September, 1854, he was received on trial, and appointed, with Rev. E. Ransom, to Ottawa Circuit, and successively received the following appointments: 1855, Whitefield; 1856, Pontoosuc; 1857, La Harpe; 1858, Snatchwine; 1859–60, El Paso; 1861, Chenoa; 1862–63, superannuated; 1864, Mackinaw; 1865–66, Knoxville; 1867, Avon, to which he was returned by Bishop Janes in 1868, where he closed his useful life in holy triumph on the morning of December 20, 1868. He was ordained Deacon by Bishop Janes at the first session of the Central Illinois (then Peoria) Conference, in Peoria, September, 1856, and Elder by Bishop Ames, in Bloomington, 1858; was married to Miss Juliette Cornwell August 31, 1859, who, with three little daughters, mourn the loss of a most devoted husband and father. In stature Brother Smith was small, and of rather feeble constitution; yet on every charge to which he was sent he was "in labors abundant." Just two weeks before he died he preached twice, though quite unwell. He tried to go to a third appointment in the evening, but was too sick to reach it. Thus ended his public labors.

Brother Smith was an able preacher, though his talents were of a useful rather than a brilliant character. In the pulpit he sought not to attract attention to himself, but to the cross. As a pastor he excelled. He "preached Christ from house to house," as well as "publicly." In every relation of life the predominating traits of his character were kindness and humility, which greatly increased his usefulness. In his daily life he walked very closely with God, and had reached a maturity in Christian experience that reproved many of his seniors in the ministry. During part of his sickness his mind wandered, but for several hours before his departure he was perfectly sane, and conversed most cheeringly of his assurance that all was well. When the death damps were already on his brow, and the ominous rattle in his throat, the attending physician, a local preacher, said, "Brother Smith, you are dying; are you aware of it?" "Yes," he answered in a calm, clear voice. His brother Francis asked him immediately, "Fieldon, do you know you are going to live forever?" "Yes," he responded, "that is the best of all," and tried to quote Mr. Wesley's dying words, "The best of all is, God is with us;" but his voice failed, and the good man was with the Saviour he loved. On Monday, December 21, the church in Avon, where he had so lately ministered, was crowded with a sympathizing and deeply affected congregation, to which Rev. Peter Warner preached a very appropriate sermon. The day following the body was taken to Abingdon, where, after the reading of the burial service, we laid him down to sleep till the "heavens be no more."
